

Chapter 125

Hearing Alyssa's words, Leon moved close to Alyssa and whispered in her ear.

Alyssa froze for a moment and looked at Leon, shaking her head, "No way."

"You doubt my ability?"

"Then why did you just ... do that thing to me if you knew all about it? You should restrain yourself, shouldn't you?" Alyssa felt very shy and her face was red.

Leon immediately turned around and walked away, "I was guessing. I don't know if I'm right."

The fact that women bled for 12 months of the year was already strange.

Besides, her previous menstrual cycle was irregular. She was on medication for it.

He did ... just guess!

Anyway, every time he saw her, he couldn't help it.

Leon turned around with a red face and walked away.

Alyssa looked down at her stomach and then looked up at Leon.

She thought in place for a moment, then turned and walked to the door to get dressed.

Hearing the sounds of her hasty footsteps and change of clothes, Leon turned his head, only to see Alyssa running out quickly.

A few minutes later.

Alyssa returned with a black plastic bag in her hand.

She hurriedly took the black plastic bag to the bathroom.

An hour later.

Leon sat in his study restlessly.

The papers in front of him had turned into Alyssa's face. His mind was also filled with Alyssa.

Would her legs and feet go numb after an hour had passed?

Leon couldn't wait any longer. He walked out, and as soon as he opened the door, he saw Alyssa standing at the door and about to knock on it.

Seeing Leon's anxious expression, Alyssa frowned slightly. What was wrong with him?

"Is something wrong with you? You look quite anxious!"

Leon took Alyssa's hand, "How is it?"

Alyssa looked down and handed Leon a pregnancy test. She didn't expect Leon to take the side that showed the result and read it.

Looking at Leon, she suddenly didn't know what to say.

The side that Leon held was covered with her urine!

But he didn't even seem to know about it.

She looked at Leon awkwardly, feeling that it was inappropriate to tell Leon this now, but even more inappropriate not to.

Leon, in addition to seeing the pregnancy test as a long item, also saw two red lines on the long thin strip inside.

He turned his head to look at Alyssa who was a little embarrassed and thought to himself that he should have guessed wrong.

But, never mind. They could keep trying again!

He didn't want kids now anyway.

He wouldn't have known that Alyssa wanted to have a child if he hadn't seen her prescribe so many herbal remedies.

Now that he knew, he naturally had to cooperate with her.

Besides, once Alyssa had their baby, she could never escape.

To cooperate with her, he observed her period carefully. Her period had been delayed for almost two weeks. The last time Ella had a birthday was around the time she was supposed to have her period. But until today, her period hadn't come yet.

He had been keeping an eye on her recently, hoping that she could find out that something was wrong by herself. As a result, she still didn't find out until today.

It seemed that he had guessed wrong. Leon was a bit frustrated for a while. Several of his friends had children soon after they got married. Take Kole for example, he had a child immediately after marriage. How did it become so difficult for him to have a child?

He and Alyssa had been married for almost six months.

But ...

His face darkened. He looked up and noticed that Alyssa had been looking at him awkwardly.

She probably really doubted his ability.

He became more and more embarrassed and looked down and said, "It's normal to not be pregnant. You're still on the medication, aren't you?"

Hearing Leon's words, Alyssa looked surprised.

She wasn't pregnant?

The pregnancy test was clear, wasn't it?

She was also worried that it might be an oops, so she had just spent a long time in the bathroom studying it.

And, she tried three times altogether. She made sure she was really pregnant before she told Leon about it. But he didn't seem to know how to read a pregnancy test at all ...

Looking at Leon's disappointed face, Alyssa said awkwardly, "It's not that I'm not pregnant."

"Huh?"

"Wait a minute."

Alyssa turned around and went to get the instruction for the pregnancy test and handed it to Leon.

Leon immediately took the instruction booklet and looked at it. After reading it, he looked at the result shown on the pregnancy test with wide eyes. Then he looked at his hand again before he finally looked at Alyssa.

Alyssa could see that he had understood the instruction. She smiled at him shyly, "I had no idea that you didn't know how to use this. Why don't you wash your hands first, and then we'll talk about the rest."

She was still a little embarrassed.

However, the next moment, Leon immediately came over, picked her up directly, and hurriedly ran in the direction of the bedroom.

Alyssa felt her suddenly rise into the air and then be held in a pair of large, gentle hands. Soon she was delivered to the bed, tightly wrapped in the covers.

Alyssa looked at the man in front of her in confusion.

He should have rushed to wash his hands, shouldn't he?

Did he just read the instruction?

Did he know that his hand had touched her urine?

Alyssa looked at Leon, and the next moment she was in Leon's arms again.

For a moment, she was still a little confused.

What was going on here?

Why was this different from what she had imagined?

"You ... don't you go wash your hands?"

"What do you want to eat?" Leon looked at Alyssa seriously.

"I already ate dinner. There's nothing I want to eat right now." Alyssa told the truth. It was really early for her to find out that she was pregnant. Her period had only been delayed by half a month.

She didn't have any feelings before. If Leon hadn't told her this, she wouldn't know that she might be pregnant.

Sure enough, Leon really loved her very much. Otherwise, why would he pay attention to these things about her!

Alyssa was happy at this thought and smiled at Leon.

Leon stared at her smile, captivated.

Alyssa lowered her head in embarrassment and whispered, "It's getting late. Let's go to bed!"

Leon nodded and hurriedly turned off the light.

Alyssa:?

He really didn't wash his hands?

In her impression, he was a very clean person. But it looked like he really didn't want to wash his hands.

She still felt the need to remind him. After all, he was still hugging her, "Well ... honey, shouldn't you go to the bathroom and wash your hands first?"

Leon stayed still.
