Chapter 132

"Really, I eat as much as I do at home. Leon finds me so many delicious foods when I'm at home, all of which are the things I like. I eat a lot every day. Don't worry!"

As she ate the meat, Alyssa figured out why her dad reacted in this way.

He was just worried that she wouldn't get enough to eat.

But her dad didn't know how good Leon was to her.

She had to say how good Leon was to her, so her dad would be relieved.

Sure enough, Jalen was relieved to hear Alyssa's words. However, he still looked up at Alyssa skeptically, "Really?"

"Really, if you don't believe me, you can go to my house tomorrow and take a look."

Jalen thought for a moment and looked up at Leon, "Leon, Alyssa is pregnant. You must take good care of Alyssa. Come here, I want to talk to you for a few minutes."

Leon hurriedly nodded.

He followed Jalen to the side.

Hearing what Jalen said, he nodded, "I will take care of Alyssa."

Alyssa heard these words when she was about to eavesdrop on them.

Hearing Leon say that he would take care of her, she felt as if her heart would immediately melt in place.

Ten o'clock at night.

They came back from the Graham's.

When they came back, they also brought back a lot of things from the Graham's.

Leon's car was not enough.

The Grahams sent a special car to deliver those things.

As soon as they got home, they left the arranging to Wendy, and then they rushed to the bedroom.

Seeing them go to the bedroom, Wendy was worried that Mr. Hunter might not be able to hold himself during Mrs. Hunter's special time.

She rushed upstairs, and to her surprise, they left the door open, and the image of Mr. Hunter and Mrs. Hunter hugging and kissing each other appeared directly in front of her.

She blushed and turned around to run away.

Alyssa saw Wendy's back and remembered that she was pregnant. Something might happen if they continued kissing. So, she hurriedly stopped Leon, "Leon, no."

"Just now it was obvious that you took the initiative to kiss me." Leon was unsatisfied.

He hadn't touched her since he knew she was pregnant.

Just now his whole body was numb from the kiss.

His heart almost melted.

He was upset to end it like this.

"I'm pregnant." Alyssa reminded in his ear.

Hearing that, he frowned, "You morally kidnapped me."

"How dare I! It's obvious that you emotionally kidnapped me. Otherwise, how could I be pregnant! Honey, just be patient. After I give birth to the baby, you can do whatever you want."

Couples' affairs couldn't be more normal.

Besides, with Leon, she only felt warm.

Hearing Alyssa's words, Leon pulled her into his arms and kissed her gently, "Okay."

For her sake, no matter how hard it was, he had to endure it.

Alyssa felt Leon's hands relaxing. She looked up at the reluctance in his eyes and reached out to gently hold him in her arms.

Even though her arms were a little short, she tried her best to hold him into her arms.

Sensing that it was a little hard for Alyssa to hold him, Leon reached out and hugged Alyssa.

They held each other for a while before separating. Alyssa leaned against Leon's shoulder, thinking about the figure she had just seen when they returned. She whispered, "I think I saw a figure when we came back. I didn't see what that person looked like, but would you believe me if I said that person was Emily?"

"I will." Leon didn't hesitate.

Alyssa, however, was depressed. The more Leon trusted her, the more she wanted proof that it was Emily she had just seen.

But she really only saw a figure.

Women often relied on intuition and had no evidence. But men were generally very rational.

"How are you so sure of what I said?"

Leon looked at Alyssa's puzzled look and whispered, "Look at this."

Leon took out his phone and gave it to Alyssa.

Alyssa quickly saw a small red dot in Leon's phone.

It was a locator device.

She didn't think Leon would be so bored to install a locator device for her. Besides, if he did put a locator device on her, he wouldn't let her know about it.

So, this was Emily's location.

It seemed that Leon still took this matter seriously.

She looked at Leon, "This is Emily?"

Leon nodded, "She's been near us for the past few days."

"When did you follow her? How did you install the locator device?"

Leon told Alyssa about how he found a hacker and used the app to plug into a surveillance system on Emily's phone.

Alyssa nodded. She was happy that Leon felt insecure.

However, she wanted to solve this at first.

She was too much of an afterthought. Now, she was pregnant. She shouldn't be able to keep an eye on Emily.

Leon saw Alyssa's frustration, "I'll do such a dangerous thing. You just need to get some rest now. I promised your dad to take good care of you."

"So that's what my dad told you."

"Yes." Leon nodded.

"When my dad asked me to marry you before, he didn't even tell me in advance. Now, he told you to take good care of me."

"It was too early for me to propose."

"No."

"Then are you willing to marry me?"

"You don't need to ask! I'm willing to give you a baby."

Alyssa looked at Leon and smiled.

Leon was shrewd.

But sometimes, the questions he asked were silly ones.

After being with him, she realized he was only smart in business.

He didn't seem to have shown any other extraordinary talent in other aspects.

And why did she feel that he was a little proud of himself when he mentioned her pregnancy to her father just now?

She glanced at Leon, only to see his handsome face tilted to the side.

She was still defeated by his handsomeness.

Forget it, she'd better not look at him. Otherwise, she would be the one who couldn't stand it later.

She lay on the bed, her slender thighs peeking out from her pajamas, her tiny toenails moving slightly. Because she was pregnant, she was worried that the nail polish would affect the baby, so she had removed it long ago.

Alyssa was relaxing when she suddenly felt that there was someone else beside her.

She turned her head and saw Leon lying next to her. She then leaned to the side.

Watching Alyssa keep moving backward, Leon reached out and hugged Alyssa.

"I'll take care of you."

"Okay."

"Alyssa ..."

"Hoo hoo ..."

Leon was about to say something. But not only did he hear Alyssa's heavy breathing, but he also felt something faintly heavy in his arms. He looked down and saw one of her hands clutching his shirt, but Alyssa had fallen asleep.

She was probably too tired, and now she slept so deeply.

Watching her sleep like a child, he joyfully came to her side and kissed her gently.

She slept soundly.