

Chapter 140

After finishing her words, she heard the sound of the water boiling and hurriedly said, "Hurry up and eat! Honey, the shrimp is okay. I'll peel it for you."

Alyssa took the shrimp and naturally helped Leon peel it.

Watching Alyssa help Leon peel the shrimp, Hassan blushed slightly.

He wasn't angry, nor did he feel awkward. He just felt his face turn red as he watched them.

What kind of feeling was that? He had never felt like this before.

Was this what love felt like?

Hassan frowned and looked down to take a bite of the spicy sliced meat. If people asked him why his face was red, he would say the meat was too spicy.

With a reason, he was less nervous. He looked up at Alyssa, only to see that Alyssa had peeled several shrimps and brought them in front of Leon.

Leon didn't say anything the whole time and kept eating the shrimps Alyssa gave him. With Alyssa talking, he didn't have to say anything at all. She had already said everything that needed to be said.

Today he realized that Alyssa's hands were really small and cute. Her hands peeled the shrimps for him. She was still peeling the shrimps for him very carefully. In fact, he had already eaten a lot. But he would eat all the shrimps that she peeled.

Seeing one more peeled shrimp on the plate, Leon quickly ate it.

Seeing that a plate of shrimp was almost finished, Alyssa asked in a small voice, "Do you want to eat more?"

Leon shook his head, "That's enough."

Alyssa still asked in a low voice, "So what else do you want to eat? I'll get it for you."

"What do you want to eat? I'll give you some."

...

In a space with only three people, no matter how low their voices were, he could hear them.

They were totally making out in front of him!

Hassan couldn't stay any longer. He was rejected by an intern, and now, he was forced to watch their live show.

He had never been so angry in all his life.

If he didn't have to maintain his cool, he would have left.

But he still wanted to leave a good image to Alyssa.

It must be because Alyssa was so capable.

He always admired talented people.

Alyssa was a very talented person.

With this in mind, Hassan simply put his head down and ate the meat. When he looked up again, he just saw Leon helping Alyssa with the food. He gave Alyssa a lot of meat. Alyssa's little mouth was bulging, which looked very cute.

She was ... so cute.

Hassan glanced at Alyssa and then he saw Leon glaring at him.

He lowered his head as if he had done something bad.

Seeing that Hassan wasn't staring at Alyssa anymore, Leon hurriedly gave Alyssa some vegetables, "Eat some vegetables."

Alyssa refused, "I want to eat meat."

"You've already eaten a lot of meat today. The doctor said you need to eat more vegetables too."

"Please give me more meat." Alyssa looked at Leon pitifully.

Looking at Alyssa's pitiful face, Leon had to give her a few slices of meat. As long as she was happy, his previous principles instantly disappeared without a trace. Soon the cooked meat was piled up in Alyssa's bowl, like a small mountain.

Hassan became more and more embarrassed.

They definitely did it on purpose.

But he didn't even leave before, and he couldn't leave now.

Otherwise, he would be too ungentlemanly.

He somehow still wanted to maintain a good image in front of Alyssa.

They finally finished the meal.

Hassan asked Alyssa again before he left, "Alyssa, are you sure you don't want to work for Citic, which can offer you the best employee benefits? As long as you are willing to come to work, everything is negotiable. If you are determined to just be a hostess at home, then all my previous investment in you will probably be wasted."

"Thank you, Mr. Wood, the investment will not be in vain. Some things are never forgotten. I have no plans to work for the time being. It's getting late and we have to get back to rest early."

Alyssa smiled and looked at Hassan, "Mr. Wood, goodbye."

"Bye!"

Hassan watched as she and Leon walked away into the distance.

Hassan didn't look away from her for a long time.

This was Alyssa. She was determined, intelligent, and had a plan for her future.

Even if he said a lot of things, she would not change her mind.

She was a very smart girl.

Hassan looked at her back as she walked further and further away. Instead of hating her for rejecting him, he appreciated her more and liked her more.

It was not until Alyssa's back disappeared that Hassan turned to leave.

Just at the moment he left, he saw a figure hiding in the corner.

He could tell right away that guy was rushing in Alyssa's direction. However, he didn't know if he was aiming at Alyssa or Leon.

In any case, he seemed to have a reason to call Alyssa.

Thinking this way, he immediately got into the car and dialed Alyssa's number.

Alyssa's phone rang just as Leon received a message from his bodyguard.

His bodyguard said they were now being followed by several cars. There were probably three or four cars following them now. Their men were also around. If Leon gave the order, they would soon be able to control the people following them.

Leon put down the phone and Alyssa answered Hassan's call.

"Alyssa, you've probably offended someone. You have someone following you behind your car." Hassan noticed that the people who had just followed Alyssa were gone, "They're moving pretty fast. Be careful. Do you need my help?"

"No, thanks, Mr. Wood, we've got someone to take care of this. You should go home early and get some rest."

Alyssa hung up the phone.

Hassan frowned.

She had hung up the phone.

But fortunately, he had already reminded her. Now that she knew about it, she would be fine.

Hassan started the car and drove towards home. Without realizing it, all he could think about was Alyssa's figure.

Alyssa sat in the car and looked at Leon, "I just got a call from Mr. Wood. He said we're being watched. What do we do now?"

"My people have sent me a message. There are many of my people. Don't worry. I'll protect you." Leon looked at Alyssa.

Alyssa smiled, "I'll protect you too. No matter what happens, I will protect you."

She also wanted to protect Leon. No matter how hard it was, she wanted to protect the people around her.

Leon felt warm. His grandfather who brought him up had always taught him to be self-reliant. He had to learn how not to be bullied by others, and how to figure things out on his own.

However, Alyssa was different. She wanted to protect him.

She was the one who needed protection the most.