

Catch Me If You Love Me Chapter 143

Zoey Gu closed her eyes, pulled away her nightgown by the man's big hand, and set fire on her wantonly.

After closing her eyes and hesitating for a few seconds, she stretched out her hand and climbed on the man's shoulder little by little, and she trembled involuntarily.

Suddenly, in the huge room, gasping and heartbeats were entangled.

There was a faint smell of blood in the air.

She closed her eyes, her body tensed, nervously waiting for the beginning of all the pain and nightmares.

But he didn't notice at all, Liam Lu under him painfully endured the waves of pain in his body, treated her tenderly and exhaustedly, just wanting to give her a good experience.

Gradually, Zoey Gu's rhythm became chaotic...

The man's burning lips kissed her ears all the way, gasping.

"Be good, you won't hurt anymore..."

The long asking and entanglement finally ended in Zoey Gu's almost hoarse voice of resistance.

too many times.

So afterwards, Zoey Gu couldn't tell whether Liam Lu wanted her because of the pain in his body, or he wanted to do it with another purpose.

After the end, the two people did not speak for a long time.

After a long time, Zoey Gu calmed down her breath, stretched out her hand to push Liam Lu away, turned her head and glanced at the white sky.

"It's almost dawn, you should go. Mr. Fu always gets up early, don't let him find you."

After she finished speaking, she just thought of getting up, but Liam Lu buckled her waist and pressed it back.

"Zoey."

Liam Lu looked at her with profound knowledge, as if there were thousands of emotions in his eyes.

In the next second, he pulled off the thing hanging from his neck and forced it into her palm.

Zoey Gu frowned and stretched out her hand, and saw a red string with coins and rings lying quietly in his palm.

She was taken aback, her eyes quickly turned cold and red.

Liam Lu raised his head and leaned against the bed, unable to see her expression when she lowered her hair in a daze, and said in a hoarse voice.

“This time apart, I don’t know when I can see you. You keep this. If I come back, I will give you a perfect wedding again. We...”

Before he finished speaking, Zoey Gu, with her head down, suddenly raised her hand and threw the thing in his hand without hesitation.

Snapped!

“Liam Lu, no one cares about your perfection!”

Zoey Gu’s eyes were red, her chest was rising and falling, her eyes fixed on Liam Lu, and she gritted his teeth and said.

“What kind of tricks are you playing this time? Liam Lu, I’m tired, and I don’t want to be cheap, I don’t want to continue to be the clown that you play, trample, and trample on!”

Too many times, countless times, even if she was a heartless fool, she should feel pain after he hurt her so much.

Liam Lu stared at Zoey Gu with scarlet eyes, and an obvious injury flashed in his deep vision.

“Zoey, don’t you believe me?”

Zoey Gu sneered and asked, “Should I believe you?”

She gritted her teeth and got up, put her back on the bathrobe he had fished aside, and when she lowered her head to tie the belt, both hands were shaking inexplicably.

She didn’t see, Liam Lu looked at the ring and coin that had been ruthlessly knocked down on the ground, a flash of red in his eyes.

The next moment, he closed his eyes severely and said in a low voice in a hoarse voice.

“Zoey, did you know? Men from the Lu family have a short lifespan.”
