

Catch Me If You Love Me Chapter 144

Hearing this, Zoey Gu's hand trembled vigorously, and she suddenly looked back at Liam Lu, looking at him incredulously.

"what did you say?"

Liam Lu smiled, leaning his head back against the bed, a mocking arc at the corner of his mouth.

"A fixed illness on the 15th of every month is the best proof."

Zoey Gu stared at him, realizing that every sentence and expression he said didn't seem to be joking with her, so he raised the volume and asked harshly.

"Liam Lu, what the hell are you talking about?!"

Liam Lu was still indifferent, and he swept his head to the ring on the floor, his eyes a little regretful.

"Marrying you is not revenge against you, nor is it for Anna Yun. It is purely because that person is you, which is what I have always wanted to do."

He remembered that on the morning of the wedding, the person who ordered the ring called and said sorry. When the ring could not be delivered on time, he was so furious that he felt funny.

He raised his finger to the ring that was thrown on the floor by Zoey Gu and whispered.

"This one is the wedding day. I really want to wear it on your hand. I personally designed it. The simple style you like."

After he finished speaking, he narrowed his eyes to look at Zoey Gu, but his eyes couldn't help but deepen.

"So, I regret it."

"I regret clearly carrying the fate of the Lu family man, but I didn't spend the limited time loving you well."

Zoey Gu listened to him quietly, her eyes flushed suddenly, and she stood there stiffly, staring at him.

After a long while, she clenched his fists and choked out.

"Liam Lu, I didn't believe you for a long time. Don't try to say these things, I will be as stupid as before, and the moths will come back to you!"

The words and sentences, like a poisonous arrow piercing the heart, hit Liam Lu's heart time and time again.

He raised his head and closed his eyes severely and exhaled heavily before reaching out to support the ground and staggering to his feet.

"I know." He gave a wry smile.

How much he hurt her in the past, how much she resists him now, everything is cause and effect, I can't blame her.

but.

"I know I don't deserve your trust. But Zoey, the last time I took a gamble on myself, wouldn't it be better if I win the bet?"

He walked up to Zoey Gu and saw her step back subconsciously. He reached out his hand to clasp her face, and put his forehead against her.

"If we can all go back to Berven City smoothly this time, come back to me again and be my wife Lu, okay?"

"Give me a year, and I will prove to you that the man who walked with you to the end in this life must be me."

Zoey looked at him resolutely, tears streaming out all of a sudden.

There was confusion in her mind, and the only clear thought was that she wanted to ask, "What if you can't prove it?"

"Then let me..."

Before he finished speaking, there was a sudden movement downstairs.

"Go and see, has anyone come in? There are traces of being touched on the net protection net."

"Check upstairs, especially Miss Gu's room, don't let the bad guys in!"

They found it!

Zoey Gu's heart was tense, he subconsciously pushed Liam Lu, and said hurriedly.

"You go away, they will find you right away! Come on..."

Liam Lu in front of him suddenly reached out his hand to clasp the back of her head, pressed her thin lips hard, and kissed her hard before separating.

The bedroom door was suddenly opened without warning...

“Miss Gu...”
