

Chapter 144

"No, I'll be fine on my own."

Alyssa was actually grateful that Ella didn't make a surprised face after knowing she was pregnant.

But Ella usually still took care of her, not treating her like a normal person at all.

Because of her attentive and warm way like this, Alyssa felt so happy.

Now, she had to go to Ryan, and she couldn't let Ella know about it yet.

Alyssa looked at Ella and whispered, "Ella, I'm really okay. I'll be back in a minute."

"That won't keep me any longer. I still have to go with you. Alyssa, you're not feeling sick, are you?"

"No, I'm really fine." To keep Ella from following her, she simply said, "I was trying to make a call with Leon. We have some personal things to say, so ..."

Ella nodded, feeling that she had influenced Alyssa to make the call, "So that's it."

"I'll go make the call then."

"Okay."

Ella nodded. She'd better not interrupt their call.

Watching Ella nod, Alyssa hurriedly turned around and went out.

She went out and dialed Ryan's number directly.

"Where are you?"

"Alyssa ... Alyssa, it's really your voice! You haven't called me in a long time. Alyssa, did you miss me?"

"Yes! I miss you." Alyssa was expressionless. Her face gradually turned gloomy.

"I'm in my apartment right now. Why don't you come over! Alyssa, I really miss you. I haven't seen you for so long. I really miss you."

When she heard Ryan's voice, Alyssa pulled the corner of her mouth, "Okay."

She still couldn't forgive him.

If she had the chance to kill Ryan now, she would not hesitate to do so.

Ryan was undoubtedly an asshole. But she couldn't let Ryan ruin her future. She tried to restrain her emotions and kept thinking in her mind about the purpose of her visit to Ryan.

After calming down, she went to see Ryan.

Ten minutes later.

Alyssa knocked on the door of Ryan's apartment.

Ryan heard the knock and immediately came to the door.

As soon as he opened the door, Ryan grabbed Alyssa's hand. He was about to pull Alyssa inside, but she raised her hand and slapped him to the side.

He looked at Alyssa with his head cocked in shock, wondering what Alyssa was trying to do.

BAM!

The door was slammed shut.

Ryan looked at Alyssa's expressionless face and suddenly thought of the way Alyssa had held a knife to him long ago.

He stepped back nervously and looked at Alyssa with fear.

Her eyes were like a knife against his neck. He didn't even dare to move.

"Who told you to follow me when I was at school?" Alyssa lifted her head, her harsh gaze directed at Ryan.

"I ... no one ..."

"If you don't tell the truth, believe it or not, I will get you killed."

"I ... Alyssa, I owed a lot of money recently. I really have no money, so I promise those people to keep an eye on you, but I didn't do anything. I just watch you and see what you do all day. Alyssa, can you give me some money? If you give me some money, I can no longer do what they want."

Ryan knelt on the ground and looked at Alyssa nervously.

Looking at Ryan's beggar-like expression, Alyssa walked over and bent down slightly, "How much do you want?"

"One hundred thousand."

"How much?"

"Ten thousand! You just give me ten thousand! I don't really want much money. I just want to get it all paid off. Alyssa, it's scary being chased. They chase me with knives. I'm really scared."

"How much money do you owe?" Alyssa suddenly felt that Ryan had changed completely. In the past, Ryan did not know how to gamble. But in this life, Ryan had learned to gamble.

Moreover, Ryan's eyes were very strange. Every word he said seemed to be not true. There was no way to ask anything from a person who didn't tell the truth.

She was suddenly a little disappointed, thinking she might have made a trip for nothing.

Maybe she was just too sensitive. This matter had nothing to do with Emily.

Since Ryan chose to destroy himself, there was nothing she could do.

Just let him destroy himself!

Why should she get her hands dirty?

Alyssa figured it out and wanted to leave. Ryan quickly ran up to Alyssa when he saw that she was about to leave, "Alyssa, for the sake of the fact that we were a couple before, can you not leave first? You give me some money, okay? I'm begging you! Otherwise, I will tell everyone that we have been together before. You and Leon are together. I won't break you up, but you have to give me money."

BAM!

Alyssa swung her fist and punched Ryan.

Ryan fell straight to the ground.

"Do you want money or do you want to die?" Alyssa walked up to Ryan. Looking at the fruit knife Ryan had placed on the table, she picked it up and put it against Ryan's neck. Ryan was so scared that he stepped back and knocked his head against the wall. He looked at Alyssa in fear, "Alyssa, I ... really have no choice. You just give me some money!"

Alyssa used some force, the knife directly cut the skin on Ryan's neck, and blood flowed out. Ryan also felt it, "Alyssa, if you kill me, your good life now is gone. It's not necessary, is it? I just want some money."

Hearing Ryan's words, Alyssa suddenly realized that she had been affected by her last life's feelings again.

Before she came, she just wanted to ask Ryan why he had followed her, instead of continuing the hatred from her last life.

At Ryan's reminder, she instantly came to her senses. She let go of her hand and the fruit knife fell to the ground.

She didn't want to let Ryan go like that, but she pulled Ryan's collar and gave him a hard slap.

The slap was so hard that her hand hurt.

She glared at Ryan, "I won't give you a penny. You'd better be clear about this. In the future, you do not follow me again. If I find that you follow me again in the future, don't blame me for being unkind to you."

Alyssa said, turned around, and left.

As soon as she turned her head, she saw two men in black blocking her way.

One of the men in black walked to her. He held her down and prepared to take her away, but she suddenly clenched her fist and punched him in the face.

The man in black didn't expect such a slender student to be able to attack in such a way. His face immediately turned dark. With the humiliation of just being beaten, he swung his clenched fist towards Alyssa.

Alyssa hurriedly backed up.