

Chapter 148

"What did you say?"

Emily didn't expect Alyssa to say these words at this point.

"Even if you want to kill me, you must want to know exactly what method I used before, right? I can tell you which method I used, actually."

"What method did you use?"

Hearing Emily's words, Alyssa knew that she did it. Her stall tactic worked.

She took a deep breath and said carefully, "It's actually particularly simple. Come here, I'm a little out of breath, so my voice is a little low, come here ... come here for a second ..."

Alyssa deliberately lowered her voice.

Emily could not hear Alyssa's voice and immediately came over to her, "Tell me! I'm here. Make it clearer. How did you do it and what kind of scheme did you use?"

"You come closer. I'm afraid I can't speak clearly. I'm running out of energy and I'm going to fall. If I die, it will be a secret. In the future, it will be impossible for you to know if you want to ..."

Emily wondered if knowing Alyssa's scheme would allow her to know what Alyssa was thinking.

She was curious about how Alyssa did it? If she knew, would Leon like her?

Thinking of this, Emily came close to Alyssa as if she was under compulsion.

When Emily came over, Alyssa took Emily's hand. She tugged hard and Emily was immediately pulled down by her.

Leon only saw the window above shake for a while. There was only Alyssa there. Then, suddenly, there was another person there.

He quickly distinguished that person as Emily.

At that moment, the rescuers had arrived. They immediately began to prepare tools to rescue them.

Leon immediately ran to the warehouse. At this moment, his people had basically controlled Emily's people. Moreover, Emily suddenly disappeared. They instantly lost their backbone and were quickly subdued.

Leon stepped on the small barrels and immediately went to the window, prepared to save Alyssa up.

"Alyssa, hold me." Leon reached out to grab Alyssa's hand. But his attempts failed to grasp her hand.

Seeing Leon, Alyssa was instantly relieved.

She tried to grab Leon's hand, but she couldn't do it either.

Looking at Emily, who was still holding onto the railing next to her, she let go of her grip on the edge of the window and reached out to Leon.

But even so, she and Leon were still too far apart.

She glanced at Leon apologetically, and her eyes suddenly turned red. She immediately felt her body falling.

Suddenly, her body stopped falling!

Alyssa was startled and looked up, finding that Leon's body was nearly out of the window, just to grab her hand.

"Are you crazy? You're going to die. Are you out of your mind? Let go of my hand! You'll fall too."

"Alyssa, I got you. I'm not going to let you fall. Don't move. I'll bring you up soon."

Alyssa tried to get Leon to let go, but she suddenly felt a tug on her ankle. She looked down and saw Emily clutching one of her ankles. She then realized why Leon had gotten most of his body out. Even if she was thin, the weight of two women would be a heavy burden for Leon.

They were in a special position. Now, both she and Emily relied on Leon to pull them up. It was a miracle that Leon didn't fall now.

Alyssa did not dare to move. When she moved, Leon would be in danger.

But if she could move, she really wanted to kick Emily.

If it weren't for her, how could they be in this situation?

But right now she couldn't do anything. She could only ask Leon to let go. If Leon didn't let go, then she could let go.

She raised her head to look at Leon, trying to keep her movements steady and less stressful for Leon. But the moment she raised her head, she still saw Leon's struggling look.

His forehead was covered with sweat. His previously injured arm had reopened and was bleeding.

For a moment, Alyssa suddenly felt that Leon now was nothing like she remembered.

His hand gripped her tightly and firmly.

Alyssa's eyes were suddenly red.

Suddenly, she didn't want to let go of his hand. Looking at his determined expression, she tried to discuss with him, "Leon, why don't you get me a rope that I can hold onto. Your wound is split open. The doctor said you can't use any force. You go find a rope. You and I both hold on to the rope so I won't fall."

Hearing Alyssa's words, Leon suddenly laughed, "Do you think I'm stupid? I just need to grab your hand, not the rope. The rope is not you. What if I grab the rope and you let go?"

Alyssa sniffled, feeling aggravated. This was the first time she had ever felt aggravated with Leon.

"Alyssa, you must grab my hand. Someone will come soon and pull you up. As long as you don't let go, I'll go out with you. We haven't gone out since we got married! You hold on to me, don't think about anything, and don't cry. Did I ever tell you how ugly you look when you cry!"

Hearing this, Alyssa suddenly froze. She couldn't care about the effect her gravity caused on Leon and looked up at Leon, "You ..."

"Do you remember who saved you when you fell into the water? Alyssa, you must hold on to me. I will pull you up. You trust me, I will pull you up." Leon was worried that Alyssa would give up and said what happened a long time ago.

Alyssa heard this and immediately cried, "You think I don't know that person is you, don't you? In fact, I already guessed that person was you. But I knew it too late. I was wrong about the person. I mistook Ryan for you before. Oh, Leon, you are too much. Why are you talking about this at this time? I suddenly can't let go of you. I can't let go."

Leon usually hated to cry. But now watching Alyssa cry, he suddenly found that he did not hate her at all, as long as she clung to his hand.

At that moment, the rescue team came up and helped Leon pull Alyssa and Emily up. Emily sat on the ground and looked away in shock.

Leon held Alyssa and looked at the wound on Alyssa's forehead. He carefully treated the wound on her forehead.

He lowered his head and saw Alyssa staring at him.

"Does it hurt?" Leon hugged Alyssa, "I will take you to the hospital now. Don't be afraid. We're going to the hospital now."
