

Chapter 1511-“Trash! B*tch! Why’re you so arrogant!?”

Waverly looked over and saw Natasha stomping on the grass furiously, scowling to herself, “Curse that Charmine Jordan! One day, I’ll crush you with my feet!”

Waverly’s brows raised the moment she heard Charmine’s name uttered.

She did not expect Charmine to be hated by everyone. 2 She smiled coldly, as she was about to go in, an idea chimed in her mind as she strutted toward Natasha in her heels. “You’re being bullied, and all you do is hide here to lash out at the plants?” she spoke haughtily.

When Natasha heard a voice, she glared toward the owner instinctively.” That’s none of your business!”

It was then she saw the woman in her entirety: She was dressed in a beige dress, looking elegant and expensive, and the bag in her hand was Charnel’s latest limited edition.

She was obviously a well-known upperclasswoman.

Natasha wanted to say something else, but she could only swallow them back down.

She had no status and money; she could not offend this woman.

Noticing how intimidated the woman was, Waverly became even more arrogant.

“You’re okay with her bullying you?”

Natasha looked at Waverly, confused. “What are you talking about?”

Of course she did not want Charmine to trample all over her, but what else could she do?

Her status was not as high as hers. How could she fight her?

Waverly said, “If you want to win this round, I have an idea for you.”

Natasha looked at her in shock.

This woman in front of her looked very wealthy. If she would support her, what was there that could not be done?

She asked, “What idea?”

Waverly’s lips curled up coldly as she spoke, “We join forces to crush her and put her below our feet so that she can’t even look up.”

Natasha could not register that train of thought. “What do you mean?”

Waverly had a look of disgust in her eyes.

“People online like to side with victims. Think about how arrogant and wild she is! A lot of people hate her online. If you have a conflict with Charmine and show yourself as the victim, everyone will side with you and rebuke Charmine. She won’t even dare to come out of her house! By then, who else would like her?”

Still not grasping the entire idea, Natasha asked, “For example...?”

Waverly looked even more disgusted at that.

This woman was a slowpoke. Of course she was bullied!

Waverly leaned toward her ear and told her the plan.

When Natasha heard the plan, she finally understood and nodded. "Are you sure it's going to work?" "Yes," responded Waverly. "I'm not sure about the others, but if you talk about that annoying kid, she'll surely get angry!" 1 "Okay!"

responded Natasha. "I will listen to you."

That afternoon, there was a scene between Charmine and Natasha.

The scene described Natasha's second female lead challenging Gem but ended up getting slapped by Gem out of anger, and several times at that.

Since there were many slaps and Natasha was terrified in the morning, the director asked them to pretend instead of act out.

However...

Charmine finished her line, and as she was about to fake-slap Natasha, Natasha glared at her evilly and said to her in a volume that only both of them could hear, "B*tch! I want you and the disgusting kid to be dead! I wish he gets run over by a car and dies without a complete body!" 1 Chills ran down her entire being as she exuded cold, frigid malice. Charmine lifted her hand in anger and slapped Natasha harshly.

Slap!

A crisp and loud sound resonated in the set, and Natasha was thrown a few meters away from the slap. 1 She flew into a hard rockery face-down into the sharp part of the stone and instantly bled.

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 1512-Natasha looked as if half of her soul was gone. She fell to the floor and spat out a mouthful of blood.

It felt as though a knife drew a gash across her face, and she was in so much pain that she lost her senses...

The crowd watched in terror as their jaw dropped, gazing at the blood- smeared Natasha.

What just happened? Was this part of the scene, or was it real?

Even the director remained transfixed on the spot.

Did he not ask for them to fake it? Why did it seem so real?

Why did Charmine seem as if she hated Natasha a lot, that she smacked her so hard?

Meanwhile, Charmine was still livid. She walked forward and grabbed Natasha by her collar, warning her dangerously grim, "You can do anything behind my back, but if you speak anything bad about my son, you might as well be dead!"

Natasha's lips began to bleed, i Already so weak at that point, Natasha passed out.

Everyone finally understood this was not a show.

"Cut!" the director shouted and pulled Charmine away, glaring at her in displeasure. "What's the matter? I said, fake it!"

Natasha's assistant ran over as well. Looking at how pale Natasha was, passed out and wet with blood, the assistant scowled at Charmine," Charmine, are you even a human? You scared Natasha with the horse in the morning, and now you even attacked her! She was the female lead, and you took that away from her.

"She didn't mind that and relented in being the second female lead, but you're still not satisfied with that? You've been attacking her since the first day, and you beat her one time after another! She doesn't have money or status like you, so you think you get to bully her? Just because I don't have power and can't fight against you, you think you can do anything you want?"

Everyone was shocked.

Although Charmine seemed nice, she always appeared cold and arrogant.

Since everyone came from a lower class, they felt for Natasha and instantly pointed at Charmine in anger.

"How can she be so evil? She beat her up?!" "She always seems so proud. I didn't expect her to be so wild and arrogant!" "She snatched Natasha's role from her, and she even beat her up!" "How could anyone be so cruel?!" "Natasha is so pitiable. All she wanted to do was to work, and now she's bullied!" "This woman is so arrogant. We must call the police to get her locked up!"

When the director heard that, he frowned.

When Charmine first came, she did slap Natasha once. He had already felt quite sorry that he had to give Charmine Natasha's original role, but seeing that Natasha was bullied by Charmine, he could not help saying, "Charmine, apologize to Natasha now!"

Seeing that everyone was scowling at her, she did not appear apologetic at all.

In fact, she glared at Natasha coldly and scoffed, "She asked for it. She didn't filter her words!"

With that said, she ignored everyone's gazes and left arrogantly.

Everyone was furious.

How could anyone be so rude in this world?

Somehow, the clip of this was uploaded online.

As if it was manipulated by people, within a few minutes, the clip of how Charmine bullied Natasha was seen all over the internet. Everyone saw it, and the clip went viral.

Instantly, the netizens started criticizing Charmine.

[Gosh! She just has some money. Why so arrogant?] [She snatched someone's female lead role and still bullied her? She even sent her to the hospital by hurting her so severely!] [How could Charmine be so evil? She wanted Natasha dead!] [How pitiful... Charmine is so evil! So disgusting!] Each comment was crueler than the other, and Charmine became the most discussed topic.

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 1513-Some people online even felt so bad for Natasha that they came to the filming set, insisting that Charmine kneeled and apologized.

The show had to stop filming. None of them spoke up for Charmine.

Charmine, however, could not be bothered to explain and stayed in the resting lounge.

Chris was coming out of the hotel to the filming set when he heard the noises outside.

Seeing that everyone was protesting with boards held up, he was baffled.

Nonetheless, he would never permit anyone to scold his Mommy!

He wanted to walk up to those people and snap at them, but Sofia quickly pulled him back. "Kiddo, now isn't the time for you to speak out. Just stay low and your Mommy will fix this."

Chris pursed his lips, and his face contorted grimly. He could only turn to the resting lounge.

He believed in his Mommy.

Even if Charmine slapped that woman intentionally, she was not wrong.

Still, it must have hurt Charmine that these people came at her like that. He had to comfort her on his father's behalf.

Before Chris got to the resting lounge, he saw Maurice halting in front of the door for a while before entering.

Charmine was sitting on the sofa, nonchalantly eating some cake slices.

Nothing fazed her.

She was always so nonchalant, cold, and proud.

Maurice walked in and sat in front of her. He looked at her worriedly and said, "Gem, could you tell me why you slapped her?"

He saw Natasha sent to the ambulance earlier. She was severely hurt!

Charmine looked up at Maurice coldly and said, "I did her a favor by not killing her." She cursed at Chris! Did she want to die?

If Anthony heard what Natasha said, he would shoot her!

Hearing Charmine's response, Maurice understood that she did not want to say anymore, thus said, "I trust you for having your reasons for doing so. You won't beat her up for no reason, and you're not what they assumed you to be."

Charmine looked at Maurice, and her lonely heart grew warm inexplicably.

Chris, who was outside the door, overheard everything. He could not help being charmed by this old man and liking him more.

This grandpa was too caring.

He could not help feeling touched, let alone Charmine!

Since Grandpa was comforting Charmine, Chris felt reassured...

Chris thus walked into the hotel. He wanted to find out what happened.

Maurice looked at Charmine and spoke like a senior with a gentle tone, "Gem, although I trust you, even though you're furious at her, you shouldn't have been so impulsive. Now that this matter is so severe, do you regret it?" Charmine's lips curled up into a cold smile. "I regret slapping her so lightly. If I get another chance, I would've done the same!"

Maurice smiled helplessly. "Oh, look at you..."

Although he was hopeless, he took out his phone to upload a status on Tweeter.

[I believe Charmine wouldn't intentionally hurt anyone. Before you learn the complete truth, I hope you can stop speculating and blaming an innocent lady.

She's a kind person.] With that said, Maurice was pushed up the trending list for siding with Charmine.

A very small portion of fans stood with Maurice's belief.

[Yes, Maurice! We believe in you and Charmine! We'll wait for the truth to be out.] [Yes. We've followed you for so many years, we know you, and we won't make any judgement before the truth is out.] [I believe Charmine wouldn't hit someone for no reason. Who knows what plot twist will be shown. Let's sit and wait!] However, most of the netizens scrutinized Maurice, who had never been scrutinized before...

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 1514-[Kind? Maurice, are you blind? Didn't you see how she bullied Natasha? She was fine, but now her face is injured. She's innocent!] [Maurice, are you seduced by this mean woman?] [The clip is the truth! Everyone saw how your girlfriend bullied a small actress with no status, and you're siding with Charmine?] [I'm blocking you! I can't imagine you can't tell right from wrong.] [Maurice, I'm so disappointed in you and how you're siding with Charmine. I worshipped you for ten years! Goodbye!] With that, Maurice's initial ten million fan-count dwindled to a few million within an hour.

Maurice was unfazed. Despite seeing many come after him for siding with Charmine, he did not regret his choice nor was he infuriated.

He sat in front of Charmine, afraid that she might not feel well after seeing the comments. He did not leave her side.

Standing at the balcony, Waverly's red lips curled up in satisfaction as she read the online news.

Everything was within her control.

She masked the aloofness in her gaze and walked downstairs, where Anthony was watering the plants in the front yard.

She looked at the flowers with jealousy evident in her eyes. She moved the plants and he got angry the other day, all because these were Charmine's favorite flowers. He planted these flowers so that when Charmine moved in, she could see these flowers when she woke up and walked out on the balcony.

Waverly smiled coldly when she saw this. Charmine would never see this in her life!

She walked to Anthony, as if she did not know anything, and said innocently, "Anthony, don't worry about how Charmine is doing. Look at what she's done!

Even so, Maurice sided with her. I'm even jealous of her."

With that said, she remained unperturbed as she showed him the news.

Anthony glanced at it and read Maurice's post. His pupils went darker instantly.

That man was serious about it?

Anthony could barely fight back the anger that flared within him.

His worry, however, exceeded his fury. Everyone lambasted Charmine, wronging her, but who was supporting her?

Anthony clenched on the pipe tightly while he maintained a distant disposition, coldly remarking, "It doesn't concern me what he does to her. Also, how does this have anything to do with you? Instead of minding others' businesses, why don't you improve yourself?"

With that said, he tossed the pipe aside and walked past her to go upstairs.

Waverly's face turned black.

Was Anthony calling her uneducated!?

Charmine was with another man, yet he was not over her!

She did not believe Anthony would be so generous. She had to make him hate Charmine, one step at a time.

Inside the room...

Anthony repressed his anger and brought out his phone to read the news. After watching the clip, his face darkened.

Charmine would not hurt an innocent person; he believed that.

That woman must have triggered her.

He also saw the clip of Charmine's horse losing control, and the ferocity in his gaze grew colder.

Luckily, she was okay. Otherwise, he would take the entire crew down with her.

Anthony held on to his phone tightly, unable to repress his anger at how Charmine was treated. He walked to Nial's room and kicked open the door.

Nial was sitting in front of the computer, going through some documents when this happened. He jumped in shock, patting his chest as he turned toward the door.

Nial felt somewhat intimidated as he watched walking toward him angrily, wondering if he had offended him in the past two days.

He did not.

He could not help stretching his back upright and said, "Bro, what are you doing? This door is worth a hundred thousand bucks!"

Anthony glared at him coldly.

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 1515-"Clear up the news online. Find out what happened between Charmine and Natasha."

Nial was speechless.

He rushed in to ask him to fix Charmine's scandal?

Nial could not help blurting, "Bro, if you're worried about Charmine, go and fix it for her yourself! If you do it secretly, how would she ever know?"

Anthony looked at him coldly. "Have you been too bored? You talk so much.

They lack a translator in Yindia, and you seem to suit-" "Fine!" Nial cut him off quickly. "I'll get to the bottom of this."

Countless reporters stood outside Natasha's ward in a hospital.

When she woke up, everyone rushed in, and countless microphones pointed at her.

"Ms. Natasha, what's going on between you and Charmine?" "Out of so many people, why is she targeting you?" "Why did she hurt you so many times? Did you call the police? Did you hurt her before?"

Natasha would have usually evaded such pointed questions.

However, even though this was not positive news, she wanted others to remember her name. How would she let such an opportunity to get famous go by? She could pile all the blame on Charmine!

Natasha's face was pale; she remembered what the woman told her. She put on a pitiable expression as she said listlessly, "We didn't have any interaction before filming 'Recovery'! I don't know why she's against me, but she's hit me once before for no reason, and I dared not tell anyone. She's powerful, while I don't have any resources nor status. If I go against her, she'll make sure I get kicked out of the entertainment industry." 2 The reporters gasped. They sympathized with this lady.

Still with her innocent expression, she continued, "I worked hard to get the female lead role in this show, but one day before the show, she took it from me.

Just like how she scared me with the horse, I dared not say anything. I'm merely a powerless and small actress who has to keep my job to feed my family, thus I have to endure the hurt. The director had asked her to fake-slap me, but she slapped me with all of her strength. I don't know why..."

With that said, she sniffed and started sobbing. Her assistant quickly said," Perhaps Natasha had once praised Mr. Maurice in public. However, she did it out of respect and admiration! Perhaps Charmine mistook that as Natasha's crush on him, and that's why she's against her."

The reporters were shocked again.

All Natasha did was admire Maurice, but that resulted in her getting attacked and nearly losing her life?

Charmine was such an evil woman!

Jotting down Natasha's statement, the reporters then left.

When the door closed, the assistant's pained expression instantly vanished. She sat by the bed and looked at Natasha's scar-riddled face. "How are you feeling, Natasha?" she asked worriedly. "Does it still hurt?"

Natasha shook her head. "I'm fine."

The assistant was then relieved. She said, "This is worth it. Since you're now trending, I've received more than ten calls offering sponsorships and shows."

Natasha's lips curled up into a satisfying smile, but because her face was wounded, her pale face grew stiff.

Still, it did not trouble her. Her eyes were filled with delight.

It seemed that this was her chance.

Both of them were chatting when they heard footsteps getting closer.

Following that, a knock ensued...

Maurice was standing outside her ward, his gentle voice heard, "Ms.

Natasha, are you resting?"

Natasha and her assistant exchanged glances, the two of them frowning in unison.

Maurice actually came...to visit her?

Had he figured out how evil Charmine was, and that he was willing to spend time with her instead?

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 1516-Natasha quickly removed the look in her eyes and instead made herself visibly, severely hurt. "No," she replied lethargically, "please come in."

Maurice came in and saw the person in the hospital bed.

There was a bright scar on Natasha's face, and she was bandaged all over, including her hands and legs.

Maurice walked toward her and asked caringly, "Ms. Natasha, how are you feeling?"

Natasha was touched at how caringly he asked about her.

Was her love coming to her, right after she scored a hit on Charmine?

Her hands clenched tightly under the blanket as she tried to contain her excitement. She retrieved the lovestruck look in her eyes and said, "It doesn't matter that my body is hurt, but my face..."

She put on a painful look and reached out to feel her scar, sobbing, "I'm scared that no director will ever ask me to shoot..."

Still at her bedside, Maurice looked at her face gently and said, "Ms.

Natasha, don't worry about this. The scar on your face is a small issue; the scar won't stay there. Since your acting skill is good, the directors won't give up on you just because of a mild scar."

Natasha let go of her hand and looked at him with her watery eyes, feeling her emotions stirring.

Gosh!

Was she dreaming?

Why was Maurice praising her so gently?

She sniffed and asked in disbelief, "Maurice, do you actually mean this? Or are you saying so to merely comfort me?" "I meant it." Maurice added, "If the directors no longer sign with you, I'll introduce you to the directors that I know. I'll help you get the roles that suit you."

Natasha looked at the gentle man in front of her, feeling perplexed. She thought she was hallucinating.

Was it because her assistant told the reporters that she admired her, and it moved him?

Had it sunk into him that Charmine was an evil person, that he no longer liked her?

Delighted, Natasha turned to exchange a look with the assistant.

The assistant understood her and went out of the ward knowingly to give them some space.

After the door was shut, she looked at Maurice with her watery eyes and said, "Thank you, Maurice." "It's okay," replied Maurice kindly, "I'm doing what I should be doing."

Natasha pursed her lips and seemed visibly shy. Just as she was about to say something, however, Maurice spoke again, "Ms. Natasha, since you're feeling okay, and it won't affect your career, could you please stop attacking Charmine?

Declare to the press that she didn't harm you intentionally."

Natasha was still lingering in Maurice's kindness, but when she heard what he said, her entire expression changed.

She looked at Maurice incredulously.

“Maurice, what are you talking about? What do you mean, ‘stop attacking her’?”

She’s the one attacking me all along, can’t you see it? She hit me the other time, and you were there to have seen it, too! How could you say such things?”

Maurice pursed his lips and said, “Ms. Natasha, the reason Charmine hit you was because you invoked her anger first. She tried to be kind to you.”

The truth was that Maurice did not know anything. He only remembered what Charmine told him and vaguely guessed it: that Natasha was the one plotting the waterweed incident under the lake.

Although they had no evidence, as long as Charmine said it, he would believe her even without proof.

Natasha’s expression changed, and she had a look of guilt in her eyes.

Maurice knew she was the perpetrator? How?!

That person would not expose her at all! How would they find out?

With that in mind, Natasha put on a perplexed look and pretended as if she knew nothing. “Maurice, what are you talking about? What do you mean that I angered her first?”

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 1517-“Before entering the crew, Charmine and I never had any interaction. How could I trigger her? She was the one bullying me!”

Maurice pursed his lips. True, he had no evidence for the time being.

He spotted the gleam of guilt in Natasha’s eyes, however, and he was more certain.

He did not budge as he said gently, “Ms. Natasha, you know what you’ve done. I didn’t come here to hold them against you. I only hope that you can explain to the press on Charmine’s behalf. Stop repeating your mistake.”

Natasha smiled coldly. “Maurice, it’s not that I don’t want to agree to you- it’s just that Charmine is a big bully! I did nothing, and she attacked me. Everyone saw that! Even if I speak up on her behalf, nobody would believe her!”

Maurice thought for a few seconds and said, “If you’re willing to let off Charmine, I’ll say yes to one thing you ask for.”

Natasha looked at him and felt very bitter.

He was willing to beg her for Charmine?!

Regardless, his maturity and gentleness had won her over.

“I can try to speak up for her,” she relented, “on one condition.”

Maurice looked at her. “What is it?” “Be my boyfriend.” Natasha raised her chin and said, “If you’re my boyfriend, I’ll hold a press conference to explain to everyone that I tripped by accident. And the times when she hurt me, I can explain that those were just rehearsals.”

Natasha was already famous at that point, with an onslaught of gigs waiting for her. Even if everyone berated her, as long as she had Maurice, she won the world!

She would even quit her job to be Maurice's wife willingly!

There was a whirl of emotions evident in the way Maurice looked at Natasha as he then asked, "Do you have any other request?"

Natasha said, "I only want this!"

She was quite confident about herself.

Since Maurice knew how evil Charmine could get, it was natural that he would stop liking her.

Furthermore, he was so gentle to her when he came in. He cared for her.

Also, she was not too shabby compared with Charmine in terms of her looks.

Natasha lovingly waited for Maurice to nod, but...

Maurice merely said, "In that case, Ms. Natasha, rest well. I'll leave you for now." 1 Natasha looked at him, bewildered. Her face was incredibly pale as she looked at him with disbelief.

Did he just turn her down?

She did not know if she should be happy or sad.

She was happy that he did not do it for Charmine and felt good about it.

However, she was already so upfront about her feelings, which was utterly embarrassing for a lady like her, and he turned her down!

Natasha glared at the tightly shut door with hatred in her eyes.

'Maurice, are you even a man!?' He turned down such a beautiful lady like herself?!

Maurice walked out of the hospital. His usually calm eyes had a first hint of chill in them.

He took out his phone to contact his assistant, "Find out what happened between Charmine and Natasha. Tell me afterward."

He believed that Charmine would not hurt someone innocent for no reason.

Just like the incident under the lake, it almost cost her life, yet she did not attack Natasha for that.

She was livid this time. Natasha must have done something even more severe.

He would not let Charmine to endure the blame. He had to find out the truth to clear her reputation.

Chapter 1518-Nial had wiped out every condemnation regarding Charmine, but a few minutes later, reporters published the interview with Natasha.

The video showed Natasha, littered with scars and looked subjugated, pitiable.

She acted as if Charmine was very intimidating, and she won everyone's sympathy.

The video was shared and reposted vehemently. Charmine became the center of hatred once again.

Enraged were the people on the internet as they went to Charmine's feed and left scathing remarks on her.

[How could you be so cruel? Just because she said she admired your boyfriend, you harmed her so gravely?] [You're so evil!] [So disgusting! I used to like your cold and wild temperament, but now you're just pure evil! I want to throw up just listening to your name!] [You're pure cancer-so arrogant! get out of the entertainment industry, and stop harming others. Get out of Burlington!] [Don't trigger her! Clean your eyes, Maurice; this woman will only bring you harm!] Each comment was more violent than the other. Everyone was furious; they wanted to kill Charmine for the sake of the people.

Following that, someone posted the following: [What did Natasha do to deserve this? It's so sad. Her acting is good. I want to be her fan!] With that, everyone went on to Natasha's feed to praise her.

[Everyone, check out the shows Natasha was in. Her acting skill is good, and she just lacked an opportunity.] [How pitiable. She worked hard to get the female lead role, but Charmine snatched it from her and even harmed her!] [Don't be scared, Natasha. We'll all support you and stay by your side. We'll make you stronger!] Natasha only had a few hundred thousand fans before this, and due to this scandal, her follower count shot up to a few million and counting!

Out of the blue...

Just as everyone sided with Natasha and decided to be her true fans, a clip made it to the trending list, 1 There were three parts to this clip.

The first part consisted of Natasha talking to another actor. When they talked, the glint in Natasha's eyes was completely different from the innocent look she had been putting on.

What was so alarming about this clip was that this actor dived into the lake at midnight to tie up the waterweeds.

This resulted in Charmine caught up by the waterweeds the next day during the shooting, nearly drowning because of it.

The second clip was of Charmine riding the horse handsomely. Behind the course was a person under an unnoticeable tree, who tossed out a sharp stone at the horse.

This causes the horse to lose its calm and control.

The perpetrator was the same actor in the first clip!

The third clip was during the filming when Charmine was supposed to fakeslap Natasha.

However, the curse Natasha said to Charmine was amplified. Everyone could hear Natasha cursing at Charmine and the innocent child.

Netizens were amused.

There lied the truth.

What a plot twist!

Charmine had smacked Natasha because she was plotting against her.

Secondly, Charmine scared Natasha with the horse because she made the horse disoriented in the first place.

Thirdly, since Natasha said such cruel things to Charmine, she triggered her and thus slapped her in public!

The plot twist went viral on Tweeter, and everyone online reeled back in shock, never expecting Natasha to be that sort of woman.

How cruel!

Natasha pulled all that stunt while pretending to be the feeble victim, twisting lies into supposed truths.

What an evil and cruel woman! 1 Natasha's supporters were ashamed as they watched the clips, and all of them apologized to Charmine.

[I'm sorry, Boss Jordan. You were kind and innocent after all.] [Yes, I'm sorry!

Natasha was trying to kill you, and you forgave her out of kindness!] [If I were you, I would've killed her right away!]
