

Chapter 162

The man's eyebrows hinted at his displeasure at the words.

"So, you'll be away from home for a long time?"

Jenny was stunned, and that seemed to be it.

She tilted up her little face and smiled at Biden Lu.

"It's just a few months, get over it, the time will pass quickly."

Biden Lu smiled gloomily.

"Heh! What about your earlier promise to accompany me back to Kyoto?"

Jenny: "....."

emmmm.....

Can she say that she really did forget it by accident?

Seeing the man's face darken at a visible speed, she even squared up, "There are still a few days until you enter the group, so I can accompany you now."

To prove her determination, she also immediately pulled out her phone and looked at the tickets.

"It shouldn't be too late to book tickets for tomorrow morning."

Biden Lu sneered and ignored her at all, turning around and walking upstairs.

Jenny: Boing Boing.

I thought the man was angry, but not before he came down the stairs in a few minutes and tossed her a stack of travel documents.

"Pick a place and leave tomorrow."

Jenny: "???"

Biden Lu's face was a little uncomfortable.

"But I'm having a hard time getting a few days off and I don't want to go out?"

Jennyton's eyes lit up.

"Of course I want to."

She was busy carrying those files over to the top to find where she wanted to go.

Asking him even as you search.

Biden Lu didn't have any requirements, but he just saw that the little woman was going to the crew, and he definitely couldn't go over there every day to look for her because of his work.

It's bound to take a while to separate.

Because I can't bear to part with her, I'll just spend a few days with her beforehand.

Jenny was fast, after all, she had been to a lot of places over the years.

He quickly found a few places that were suitable for sightseeing and wouldn't be too crowded, and piled them in front of him like a treasure offering.

"Here's a few places I used to pick out when I wanted to go out by myself, they're all nice and perfect for this time of year, so take a look and pick one."

Biden Lu slow and methodical paddle pulling the tablet, look at it, are some very good scenery, very suitable for small couples to go out to travel and relax, the heart of a slow, slightly sinking, chose one of them.

"This is the place! It's got mountains, it's got water, it's near the beach, it looks great."

Jenny leaned over and took a look at it, smiling so hard his eyes narrowed, "I like this one the best too, so it's a deal, that's it."

"Well." Biden Lu nodded his head with deep meaning, "I'll arrange a specific time in the evening, and I'll tell you then."

The itinerary was thus decisively finalized, and after dinner, Jenny happily returned to his room with his tablet and continued to study the travel guide.

That night, Biden Lu made arrangements to go out for three and a half days and leave early tomorrow morning.

Jennyton was so happy that he agreed to go out, and after agreeing to do so, he began to prepare the things he wanted to bring with him.

They chose a coastal town in a neighboring country, not in China.

But that town has a great reputation because of the scenery, the environment and the fresh air, and many people travel there.

Best of all, it's spring, just the right time for a fun trek.

The temperature difference between day and night on the small town side is quite pleasant, but it is a pleasant climate.

Jenny had prepared many things that the two of them could potentially use.

After getting ready, the next morning, Biden Lu went to the company to take care of some things, and then he came straight back from the company, picked her up, and headed to the airport.

The first time to travel with a man, she was still very excited, until the airport, only to find that the ride was actually Biden Lu's private jet.

"It was too quick to book a flight in time, so it was quicker to take this."

As to why he flew on a private plane, Biden Lu explained.

Jenny nodded, so there was no doubt about it.

When I got on the plane, I was told that the flight was three hours long, so I closed my eyes and prepared to take a break.

Biden Lu was reading an investment plan beside him, he was very busy, and although he took a holiday, because he was in a high position, there are many things that you can't just take a holiday if you want to.

People are not in the company, but there are some that should be dealt with.

Thinking of him, Jenny couldn't help but feel a little sorry for him, and in order not to disturb her sleep, the window panes in the cabin were pulled down, and only the front lights were on.

In the meantime, his handsome eyebrows will be slightly knitted from time to time, occasionally signing or circling something on it.

Jenny watched in fascination, thinking that such a handsome Biden Lu was really handsome, no wonder all those women pounced on him like bees when they saw him, because he was really charming.

And what on earth could she, an ordinary person, do to stand by his side and enjoy his favor?

Jenny thought of this, and became even more determined to work hard to advance, to strive to one day be able to stand righteously by his side and never embarrass him.

The cabin was quiet, no one spoke, and she lay down on the soft recliner, leaning over slightly and placing her hand on his waist, circling it slightly before closing her eyes.

Biden Lu moved, lowering his eyes to look at the hand on his waist.

Turning his head, he saw the girl on her side, sleeping with her eyes closed, a hand on his, a uniquely dependent gesture, and a softness in his heart.

He shook her hand, leaned over and k*ssed her on the cheek, and whispered, "Go to sleep."

Jenny slept incomparably at ease this sleep.

Three hours later.

As the plane landed at its destination, Jenny was shaken awake by Biden Lu, then rubbed her eyes and followed him off the plane.

Biden Lu brought her out temporarily this time, knowing very few people, and even less people around her, but to be on the safe side, he still let Mo Nan follow.

After getting off the plane, the car that came to pick them up was already there.

The man led Jenny to the car that picked them up, and then drove off to a farming manor that Jenny had previously personally chosen.

The town's name is Cosma, which means fairyland in their language.

They sat in the car and looked out of the window together, but they saw a beautiful landscape, a quiet environment, and a patchwork of short red-roofed houses with local characteristics.

On both sides of the street there are rows of very large pear trees, the fragrance of flowers, someone riding a bicycle passed under the flowering trees, the sound of laughter pleasant, look leisurely and happy.

Jenny quickly became intrigued and kept looking out the window of the car.

Biden Lu slightly lifted the corner of his lips and took her hand.

Half an hour later, we finally reached our destination.

This side of the destination is close to the sea, and the estate, though small and not very luxurious, looks secluded and elegantly furnished, perfect for a relaxing holiday.

They were in a hurry to get out, plus they wouldn't be staying long, so they didn't bring much luggage.

Chapter 163

Biden Lu then carried the luggage behind him, and Jenny Jing ran forward with a small bag leaping forward.

Entering the door, I was immediately attracted to the vegetable garden planted in the yard.

She had seen pictures on it and knew that there were vegetables that they grew themselves and they could pick them and cook their own food like regular farmers if they were so inclined.

There was also a market nearby where you could buy meat and spices, which made it even more exciting.

Living with Biden Lu is used to the life of a noble family, and occasionally experiencing the life of an ordinary lover is something else.

Biden Lu followed behind, looking at her happy face, and was also infected by his excitement, taking a few quick steps to carry the luggage into the courtyard.

"Biden Lu, it's so beautiful here, you should go inside, you'll like it."

Jenny went in for a stroll and ran out to hug his arm and beg him for a good time.

Biden Lu took a glance around, although it was a bit crude, it did have a feeling of seclusion and nodded his head.

They went in with their luggage and put it down, and here was a quaint little cottage with a duplex first floor.

Jenny strolled around the house and ran outside, seeing that there were actually many flowers planted in the back yard, and was even more delighted.

"The owner here must be a very interesting person to live with."

She ran down and looked at the various gardens and said.

Biden Lu stepped down the stairs with two cups of water and handed one to her.

"There are gardens in the house too, more flowers than here, prettier than here, and I don't see you saying I have an interest in life."

"Can that compare?" Jenny gave him a blank look.

"It's not like you planted those flowers, Auntie Liu had them taken care of, when you're in a good mood, just go walk around and visit them, usually you don't even bother to look at them, it's not the same at all, okay?"

Biden Lu knew that she was telling the truth and didn't argue with it.

"Are you hungry? Do you want to go out for a walk and get something to eat on the way."

Jenny nodded, "Good."

They went back to their rooms and both changed their clothes.

The clothes were prepared by Jenny, who was intent on changing him, and even more so wanted him, the high and mighty CEO, to experience the feeling of ordinary people falling in love, so she prepared the couple's outfit.

Biden Lu finished changing clothes and came out, it was a set of white casual clothes, wearing on him, reducing that stern temperament a little bit, lining out a lot of sunshine.

Jenny was dressed the same as him, just a few sizes smaller, with a pillow on her head, and the two of them stood together, matching each other to perfection.

When Biden Lu saw the clothes she had changed into, his eyes swung a warm colour, took her hand and walked out together.

With the idea that they would eat wherever they went, they walked out of the manor a short distance and saw a fine little restaurant.

At this time of the year, there are not many tourists in town, and the restaurant is a bit quiet, but it has a unique flavor thanks to its exquisite decoration and elegant environment.

Jenny Jing and Biden Lu walked in and found a seat.

The restaurant is owned by a middle-aged couple, both looking young, in their thirties, with a six-year-old son.

It was fortunate that they were also from Warsaw, and settled in this place simply because they liked the scenery of this town.

Opened a restaurant to do some hometown flavors to attract tourists.

The owner's name was Su Hong, and she was very enthusiastic about having them call her Sister Hong.

.

It was happy to meet an old friend in its hometown, and Jenny was happy to be called from goodwill.

Su Hong greets them with their orders and Jenny asks her what her specialties are.

She introduced some of them, and after Jenny sought Biden Lu's opinion, she ordered two or three.

Su Hong reported the order to her husband, who was busy in the kitchen, and then she came out to chat with them while pouring water for them.

Perhaps because it wasn't the time for dinner, they were the only customers at the restaurant.

Su Hong warmly greeted: "We are doing hometown dishes here, and I don't know if you are used to eating them, but all the guests who came here said they were delicious. Later on, if you guys think the taste is not good enough, just bring it up and I'll make it up again for you."

Jenny laughed, "Then you're going to lose a lot today, it's okay if it's not delicious, if it's delicious in order to eat more, there's nothing wrong with having to pick two out for you."

Su Hong waved her hand, "Girl, I'm not saying this to anyone, you guys aren't that kind of scoundrels at a glance."

I said, pausing and squeezing my eyes shut with ambiguity, "You're all still students, I suppose? At first glance, it looks like a young couple who skipped school to come out and fall in love."

Jenny Jing's old face flushed and turned his eyes to glance at Biden Lu.

Biden Lu was good-looking, saber-browed, and inherently ageless.

Today I'm wearing a particularly youthful white casual dress again.

Plus, being out with her, it seemed like there was a deliberate effort to take some of the momentum out of her body, so it really did look like a big boy.

"Red, you guessed wrong, we're not students."

"Oh, yeah? Oh, I see the gentleman is very young, you are very board, and I thought you were all students."

Jenny secretly slandered, she is at least 24, Biden Lu is five years older than her, are running three people, still students.....

Biden Lu, however, was very satisfied with Su Hong's words, especially the line that said he and Jenny Jing were very good match.

When also a lot more pleasant, ordered two bottles of drinks, he does not drink those, they are pushed to the Jenny fabric, let her stay a bottle to quench her thirst later when out and about.

Jenny Jing saw that Su Rouge was nice, so she smiled and asked, "Sister Rouge, do you know what fun places are around here?"

"Lots of fun! To the east you can walk to the sea of smoke, especially close, the scenery there is the best, the sea is smoking, it looks like you are in Penglai fairyland, to the north is Cosma God Mountain, there is a temple on the mountain, the temple is dedicated to the Mazu Matriarch, I heard that it can be a good place to make a wish."

"Nine out of ten tourists come to town, a lot of young couples go over for dates, if you want to go you can wait until tomorrow, it's a bit late today. It's at least a half-day's climb from here to the top of Mount Cosma's mountain."

"Hey, by the way, I heard there's a meteor shower over here tomorrow isn't it?" Jenny asked with quite a bit of interest.

Before she came over, she did a lot of strategy on it and checked the weather forecast, etc., and it was on it that she read that there was a meteor shower.

"A meteor shower?" Su Hong frowned, then shook her head, "Not that I've heard, if you guys want to see it, you can go over there, there's plenty to play on the mountain anyway, whether or not you can go play all of them."

Jenny nodded approvingly.

At that moment, the food came up, so Su Hong stopped disturbing their meal and took her son to the back to do his homework.

The restaurant is small, but the food is really quite good.

It's not as sophisticated and expensive as the big restaurants, but it has a home-cooked feel and is particularly cozy.

Chapter 164

After eating, they bid farewell to the boss and his wife and headed out together.

It was already about four o'clock in the afternoon, and the owner's wife suggested that they go straight ahead, saying that there was a night market that would be set up at five o'clock, and that it was quite lively over there, so they decided to go for a stroll.

Biden Lu had never visited a night market in his life and was a little curious.

And seeing Jenny's face in high spirits piqued his interest even more, as they walked and strolled.

Someone riding a tandem bike passed by on the side of the road, and Jenny saw it and yelled that he wanted to ride it too.

Biden Lu had to go to a shop on the side of the road to rent one, and after pushing it out, he was embarrassed to discover that he didn't seem to know how to ride a bicycle.

Jenny puffed out a laugh and held his belly.

Who would have thought that CEO Lu, who can do everything, wouldn't know how to ride a bicycle?

The face of Biden Lu is a bit dark, he was raised with respect, naturally has the world's top luxury car to pick him up, where do you need to know this crap?

Jenny saw his black face and could only forcefully hold back his laugh.

Instructing him to sit in the back, she can ride in the front and he just needs to pedal his wheels to the rhythm.

Biden Lu very reluctantly stepped into the car, and Jenny Jing called out to go, so he stepped up.

Two people riding a tandem bicycle, traveling on the road, the wind blowing, the girl's hair flying, brushing the face, bringing a fragrance, different people intoxicated.

Biden Lu was infected by this pure atmosphere and felt relaxed and at ease in his heart.

Jenny hadn't ridden a bike since graduating from junior high school, and now that he was riding again, his skills hadn't deteriorated, and he was happy about that.

As I rode, I hummed a tune I had learned while reading.

The tune she hummed was high and low, intermittent, and because she was carrying one person, it was harder to pedal the bicycle, so the level of singing was simply inferior compared to what she usually did.

But spare a thought, because her voice itself sounded good, so she sounded okay.

After listening for a while, Biden Lu asked, "What kind of tune is this?"

"Ah, Adrienne by the Water, haven't you heard of it?"

Biden Lu: "....."

You can hum "Adelina by the Water" like that and have the nerve to ask if he's heard it?

Seeing that Biden Lu was silent, Jenny Jing kindly explained, "This piece was originally called Poem to Adeline and was played by the famous musician Richard, who used to win the Golden Piano Award..."

Biden Lu slightly darkened her face and interrupted her, "I know."

Jenny gave an oh-so-sweet shrug, then shrugged his shoulders, "I forgot, you seem to be playing the piano okay."

They rode their bicycles and soon arrived at the night market that the owner's wife, Ling, was talking about.

Now the night market has just opened, many people have not yet put out the goods, Jenny pulled the land Biden first to go to the front of a high rating on the snack shop to eat ice cream, while eating, while waiting for the night market to open.

The shop plays relaxing, laid-back music and the owner, a Turkish man, makes fancy ice cream at the door to attract tourists.

Jenny finished one, got bored sitting around and didn't want to hang out right now, so he walked to the door and watched him do it.

The Turk saw her coming together and asked her if she wanted to try it.

When Jenny hesitated, her boss encouraged her to try it, so she took over the shovel and cone and began to roll the flowers as he taught her.

She would use the cream to dot flowers on the cake and learned this quite differently, and with the owner being patient, it didn't take long to learn.

Jenny bought the one she made herself, then ran back with ice cream in her hands and handed it to Biden Lu with joy, "Here, it's for you."

Biden Lu raised his eyebrows and looked at the crookedly made ice cream in front of him, though his hand reached out to receive it, he still couldn't help but dislike it, "So ugly, are you sure you made it?"

Jenny nodded, "Yes! You don't like it? Don't like giving it back to me."

I said I was going to reach for the ice cream.

Where the man would let her take it, biting off half of it in one bite, he snorted, "What's the point of giving it to someone and still wanting to take it back?"

Jenny couldn't help but snicker when she saw how he continued to eat even though he obviously disliked it.

And not bothering with him anymore, he continued on ahead.

Outside now the lights were on and the night market was fully open.

When really as Ling sister said very lively, not only tourists, locals out to stroll a lot.

In the meantime, Jenny pulled Biden Lu to look east and west, and the man followed her like a little sidekick, with a slight frown the whole time.

Jenny saw that he was a little disgusted with the messy surroundings, so he simply stopped paying attention to him and ran ahead to stroll without him.

Biden Lu was worried about her safety and could only endure the feeling of being disliked and quickly followed her.

"How much for this, boss?"

Following up, he saw Jenny crouching in front of a stall, picking up a silver ring from the floor and putting it on his finger.

"This, ah, two hundred."

"Two hundred? So expensive?"

"It's not expensive anymore, this is not silver plated, it's solid silver, and the red thread wrapped around it was made up by our own hands, and we all took it to the Mazu Matriarch to make a wish that it would bless you with a long life."

Jenny Jing smiled, "I borrowed your auspicious words, in that case, give me another one, two for two hundred is fine, I'll take it if I sell it."

"Two hundred bucks won't do it. I'm losing money!"

"Add up to twenty, if it works, but if it doesn't, I don't want it."

"Oh my, why is the little girl so good at bargaining, one hundred and twenty a piece, I don't make any money..."

"All right, all right! Uncle was nice and kind, so he sold it to me." Afterwards, he took the money out of his pocket and handed it to him.

The vendor took the money as he saw it, "Alright, alright, for the sake of the pretty little girl, I'll sell it to you."

When she finished, she pulled a man's from the back of her bag and handed it to her.

Jenny smiled like a treasure and said thank you to him, taking the ring and preparing to leave.

The vendor saw that she was quick to pay, so he stopped her and asked with a smile, "What's an earring, girl? Look at these earrings, they were also just taken down by a wish from Mother Mazu."

Jenny thought those earring styles were too old-fashioned and shook her head, "No thanks, I'll just take these two rings."

After Jenny said that, he returned to Biden Lu and put that silver men's ring on his middle finger.

Biden Lu frowned in disgust, wanting to reach out and take it off, but Jenny Jing stopped him.

"Don't pick it, it's a wish from Mother Mazu that will bless you with a long life."

Biden Lu very much despised that merchant's sales tactics, and at the same time despised Jenny Jing's intelligence even more, "You believe such words?"

"Believe it, why not?"

Jenny Jing walked over to another stall and studied the few hand-made masks placed on top of it, saying carelessly, "But whenever it's a good word, then if you can believe it, then at least you can buy a blessing even if it's not true, right?"