

Chapter 163

"Well, your brother seems to be pretty great. He's at Venture Corporation, right?"

Jamie was relieved to hear Alyssa's words, "My brother is a researcher. He's very good. Mrs. Hunter, do you want to meet my brother? That's easy. I can help you contact him."

"Great, it's better if I can meet him right away. Let me buy him a coffee! There's a cafe right downstairs. It's a nice place, okay?"

"Sure. I'll call him right now."

Jamie turned around and went to make the call.

Watching Jamie go out to make the call, Walter smiled ingratiatingly at Leon and then hurriedly followed her out.

Watching their backs, Alyssa couldn't help but laugh.

Leon smiled and said, "Are you going to see Nash later?"

"I didn't expect it to go this well."

"Do you need me to go with you?"

"No, I'll just go alone."

"Really?"

Alyssa looked up at Leon and wondered if it was just in her head, but she felt as if Leon wanted to go with her.

She looked at Leon's face and suddenly did not want to reject him, "I do need you."

Hearing Alyssa's words, Leon nodded in satisfaction.

His woman needed him, and nothing would make him happier than that.

An hour later.

The cafe downstairs at Hunter Group.

Leon and Alyssa sat together.

Nash, Jamie, and Walter sat across from them.

Nash looked at the two strange people in front of him and felt a little strange.

Before, Venture Corporation did work with Hunter Group, but he was in charge of scientific research and would not be involved in contract negotiations at all.

So why did they want to see him?

His intuition told him that it wasn't Mr. Hunter who wanted to see him.

It was the woman beside him who wanted to see him.

But the woman looked very strange. She was pretty, but he was sure he didn't know her.

Nash was still lost in his thoughts when he heard the pretty girl across the table say.

"Mr. Johnson, hello, my family is in the trade business. The filtered water fountains in the commercial building are all going to be replaced. I heard from Mr. Hunter that your company's products are very good. Can I go to your company to have a look at the products? If so, we can sign the contract immediately."

Alyssa wanted to go to Venture Corporation to see the inside of it. Before, she hadn't had the opportunity to go. Now, she must seize this opportunity.

"So you guys come to me because of this. I'll give you a phone number, and you can call him. He can take care of the signing for you."

Nash was expressionless. He wasn't in charge of the contract signing. He gave Alyssa the phone number of the marketing department directly.

Alyssa looked at the phone number Nash had given her and got suspicious instantly.

She said she wanted to use Venture Corporation's products.

He, the developer, didn't even look happy.

It was as if he didn't care.

If the company made money, he should be able to get more money too.

His attitude was so strange.

Alyssa thought there was something wrong with Nash. She had to go to Venture Corporation today, and she smiled and said, "Mr. Johnson, can you show me your company's products today? I've heard that your products are very fast at filtering water. No other company in the market has a product like yours, so I'd like to take a look."

"There's no need to look at that. Sorry, I have something to do. I'll go first."

Nash simply stood up and left.

Seeing Nash leave, Walter hurriedly stopped him, "Don't you go! They just want to see your products. You're not allowed to leave."

"I have something to do." Nash looked at Walter impatiently, and when he didn't let him go, he pushed Walter out of his way and walked away.

Walter walked back in disgrace. He couldn't help but blame Jamie, "Your brother has become too arrogant after winning the lawsuit. He doesn't take me seriously now. If I hadn't helped him in the first place, would he be like this now?"

Jamie didn't say anything and just kept her head down.

Alyssa was in no hurry to go now that there was nothing more to do. She just sat and watched them, trying to see something about them.

However, she didn't find anything. When facing Leon, they seemed kind of ingratiating.

She felt that there was no point in staying. So, she whispered something to Leon.

Leon nodded and took Alyssa away.

Seeing Mr. Hunter leave, Walter rushed to catch up with him. However, Leon glared at him, and he didn't dare to go forward.

Ten minutes later.

Alyssa was in Leon's office talking about her analysis.

"Walter has a problem with this, too."

"Because of what he said in the cafe?"

"Right." Alyssa looked at Leon, "Can I look into Walter?"

"You can go to the personnel department and his department to find information about him. If you don't understand something, you can ask me too."

"Okay."

Alyssa felt that she had made the right decision to come to Hunter Group. She quickly began to investigate.

Walter was the head of the Hunter Group's southern district project.

He hadn't been given any other assignments since the completion of the south district project.

During this time, he had no assignments.

He was relatively free every day.

Alyssa looked carefully at Walter's information. Suddenly, she realized that he had been absent from work a lot three months ago, and there was no record in the Hunter Group's system of Walter's attendance. During that time, Walter was not scheduled to travel either.

If he wanted to go out, he could just drive away. It was hard for her to find out where he went after he went out.

Even so, Alyssa wanted to give it a try.

Alyssa was surprised to find on surveillance that Walter had a combination box in his office. The surveillance footage showed him carefully blocking the combination lock and opening the box.

As a vice president, he was in charge of the project. There were no confidential documents that needed to be kept.

What would he need such a combination box for?

Walter's words in the cafe rang in her ears again.

Alyssa began to investigate Walter carefully, and she accidentally found out that he was the one who made the collaboration between Hunter Group and Jones Group happen, and that he and Alice, the design director of Jones Group, had agreed on the designer, Chloe!

How did this matter come back to Chloe?

Alyssa was vaguely uneasy. She felt more and more that this thing was not simple.

She was about to leave the file room when she suddenly saw a figure flashing in.

She immediately ducked into a corner, only to see Jamie quickly rummaging through the files.

Alyssa saw that Jamie quickly found the files she just saw and quickly held them away, replacing them with some new ones.

Alyssa took out her cell phone to not only take a picture of Jamie's hurried back, but also to record the process of her exchanging the files.

After Jamie left, Alyssa went to see the files Jamie had put in. The files had all been changed and were no longer authentic. Luckily, she had already seen the real ones.

Alyssa prepared to go to Leon, and when she saw that Leon was still working, she waited outside his office.

With nothing else to do, she simply took out a piece of paper and sorted out the relationships she had just come up with.

She soon figured out a large chain of interests that involved piracy and copyright infringement.

Maybe there were other companies involved, but so far she had only found it to be connected to Hunter Group, Jones Group, Sky, and Venture Corporation.

Leon was very busy. After he was done with the project team, he started preparing for the video conference.

The video conference was about the Hunter Group's collaboration with MJ.

MJ's requirements were very strict. Many details were done by Leon himself with the team. But even so, MJ was still not satisfied.

Meetings were frequent. Because of the time difference, Leon had to accommodate MJ.

Seeing that Leon was still in the conference room and wasn't going to come out, Alyssa decided to go to Jones Group first.

Mr. Jones' office.

Alyssa said the purpose of her visit.

Mr. Jones hesitated for a moment before saying, "After the last incident, Jones Group has undergone a major restructuring. Many of the original workers are no longer in the design department."

"What about Alice?"

"Alice resigned, too."

"All those designs she handled are still here, right?"

"Naturally, there are some records."

"Mr. Jones, can I look up those records?"

"Miss, you're here to check the materials of Jones Group. Does Hassan know that?"

Hassan?

Hassan didn't know.

Alyssa didn't know if this was a violation, but she felt it was necessary to come to Jones Group.

Based on what Mr. Jones called Hassan, she guessed that they had a good relationship.

She inexplicably remembered that Hassan had used her last time.

Alyssa pursed her lips and smiled at Mr. Jones, "It's true that Mr. Wood doesn't know about this. However, Mr. Jones, my investigation into this matter is definitely good for your company. Last time,

Jones Group's reputation still suffered because of the leaked design of Jones Group and Hunter Group, right?"

"This is over."

"Mr. Jones, you don't think this chain of interests is over, do you! If it is not over, then similar things will happen in the future again. By then, Jones Group will only have more trouble. Mr. Jones, have you ever thought that one day your entertainment companies will have their posters copied or something like that? As far as I can see, Jones Group is already behind other companies in terms of design, relying on three entertainment companies for support."

Hearing Alyssa's words, Mr. Jones smiled instead of being angry, "The person Hassan chose does have something. Since you said so, I have nothing to say. You go check it out! If you do find out anything, don't forget to let me know."

After saying that, Mr. Jones handed the pass card to Alyssa.

Alyssa nodded, took the card, and went to the resource room.

She had been to the Jones Group's resource room before.

Her trip was no different from the previous one.

While Hunter Group's, Sky's, and Venture Corporation's records might have been manipulated, Jones Group's should not. Previously, Jones Group had been restructured once, so she could be able to conduct a thorough investigation.
