

Chapter 165

Saying that, he took a monkey mask and put it on his face, turning his head and making a face at him.

Jenny Jing's words warmed Biden Lu's heart slightly, and nodded in a half-sentence, "You're right, it's good to buy a blessing."

Jenny took off his mask and smiled brightly at him, squeezing his face, "That's right!"

Biden Lu's expression stiffened.

For the first time in his life, he had a weird feeling about being pinched in the face.

Jenny, however, put down that monkey mask and picked up a piggyback one to put on his face again.

Turning to Biden Lu, "Fairy, do I look good to you, old pig?"

Biden Lu was so amused by her that he tensed up, "Ugly!"

"Fairy, go back to Gao Lao Zhuang with Old Pig!" Jenny came up to catch him.

Biden Lu knocked her on the head and taught her a lesson, "Who is called Fairy?"

"You, look yourself in the mirror and see if you're as beautiful as you look."

"That's describing a woman!"

"There aren't many women in the world as good looking as you."

Biden Lu: "....."

He actually didn't know whether to feel sad or happy, praising a man for looking better than a woman, was that a compliment?

Jenny took off his mask and handed it to the vendor, "How much is this? I'll take it."

"What are you buying this for?"

"Play."

Jenny smiled at him, gave him money, took the bag from the vendor, took out the mask and put it back on, having fun.

Biden Lu followed her, feeling that such a woman was actually never more vivid and vivid than the one in Visterdem.

Before, what kind of good things he had prepared for her, women love jewellery, cosmetics, clothes, bags, all big international designers private custom, but she has never been so happy so smile.

However just now bought two cheaply made silver rings from a small stall, but it was like a treasure.

He felt that this woman seemed even more lovely than he had imagined, and that he couldn't help but want to worship her as a treasure.

Not for a golden strand of clothing, but for a lover.

The two of them wandered around the night market for a long time, and eventually, Jenny got a little tired, so they hit the road.

The weather in the town had a big temperature difference between day and night, and Jenny felt a little chilly when he went back.

Biden Lu took off his jacket and draped it over her shoulders, and when they passed the restaurant where they had eaten during the day, they were both a little hungry, ready to go in for a late night snack before going home.

But unexpectedly, as soon as I reached the door, I saw the owner and the owner's wife inside clearing away the tables and chairs, looking like they were about to close.

"Huh?Are you guys done shopping?"

Su Hong put down the broom in her hand and walked towards them.

Jenny was embarrassed and nodded, "Well, are you guys closed?"

"Yeah, it's almost eleven and we're getting ready to leave work. You guys want something to eat?"

Jenny nodded again.

"Oh, that can't be helped now, the food is sold out, you'll have to go back up in the morning, I have some bread and yogurt here that I just bought this afternoon, you can take it."

After saying that, Su Hong turned to go to the refrigerator to get bread and yogurt, Jenny even waved his hand.

"No, no, no, you're open for business, how can I take what you have for free?"

When Biden Lu saw this, he drew three notes from his money clip and prepared to hand them to her.

Su Hong got a little angry when she looked at it.

"What are you doing? Just a few pieces of bread and a carton of yogurt, we met in a foreign land, it's all destiny, can't I even afford to buy this much food?"

Jenny blushed and felt even more embarrassed, but it was hard to refuse someone's good intentions.

"We didn't mean it like that."

"Whatever that means, take it! I'll tell you what, when you head back this way, there are no shops or restaurants there, and if you don't take it, you won't be able to buy anything to eat tonight."

Jenny na na out, "So ah."

"Yes! It's too late at night, you'd better not go out either, there's a lot of transient people in tourist places, it's cold after midnight, everyone's gone home, there's nothing interesting out there, it's dangerous to go out."

Jenny nodded, "Yes, thank you then."

"Don't be polite don't be polite."

Biden Lu had to take the money back.

The owner's wife was very friendly and sent them out the door, Jenny hugged the yogurt and bread, feeling really kind and warm like a big sister, and was touched.

On the way back, she then couldn't help but exclaim, "There are still many good people in the world, I never thought I would meet such a kind couple here."

Biden Lu looked at her with soft eyes, "A few pieces of bread and a box of yogurt bought you off?"

Jenny glared at him like a white-eyed wolf, "What are you talking about? Is this about a few loaves of bread and a carton of yogurt? It's a strong sense of fellowship from the other country, do you understand?"

"Well, I understand, it's the land of the living, and I gave you a few loaves of bread and a carton of milk, so why don't you appreciate the gratitude I've given you for how much bread and how many cartons of milk?"

Jenny choked.

Halfway through, grunting, "Who made you so capitalistic!"

Biden Lu didn't hear, picked up his tail and hummed.

Jenny Jing didn't dare to offend this stingy man and could only smile and flatter, "Thank you, I'm especially grateful to you."

Biden Lu knitted his brows.

The little woman was obviously looking pleasing and flattering, but why did he feel a little off the more he heard this?

Naturally, Jenny wouldn't be stupid enough to explain to him, so before he could react, he carried the bread and hurried ahead.

A good night's sleep.

The next day, Jenny Jing and Biden Lu inquired about the nearby market and went there to buy food.

After all, the purpose of coming to a small country town is to experience the life of ordinary people.

That's why it's essential to buy and cook your own food at the request of Jenny.

Although she wasn't very good at it, since she had seen the man's handiwork before, she was comfortable entrusting this important task to Biden Lu.

Biden Lu didn't object, and after changing his clothes, he went out the door with her, and they went to a small market nearby.

Jenny is no good at cooking and is an amateur at grocery shopping.

The first thing you need to know about a man is that he's too cold to pick and choose, and he's too cold to bargain, so he'll take whatever he sees, no matter how expensive it is.

Lightning fast, decisive and crisp, the aunts at the market looked on.

The two handsome men and women came together to stroll through the market, which was originally very noticeable.

Although the town is often visited by tourists who come to buy food and enjoy the idyllic life, they have never come to look so good.

It took most of the half hour of shopping for the two to buy the ingredients for the lunch to be made.

On the way back, Jenny ridiculed, "Did you see the way those aunts and sisters looked at you just now? Like a wolf that would love to eat you."

Chapter 166

Biden Lu looked at her with a faint cold glance.

Jenny continued to tease, "I'm telling you, you'll have to follow me every inch of the way these days to save yourself from being carried away by a wolf, follow me, I can still protect you, haha."

After she said that, she laughed, but Biden Lu stalled slightly.

He was a bit helpless, who would have thought that he, the president of the Lu Group, would one day be molested like this.

Off to the side, he still couldn't get a word out.

Eventually, all one could do was bounce the girl's head helplessly, "You! I can't help you. Come on, let's go! We're going to go to Cosma God Mountain after we eat."

Together they walked quickly in the direction of the manor.

At noon, when Biden Lu was cooking in the kitchen, Jenny Jing consciously went over to give him a hand, washing vegetables, dishes and so on, the two of them were really a little bit of a couple.

After washing the dishes, Jenny had nothing else to do, so she moved a small stool to sit in front of the kitchen to watch the man fry the food.

She found that handsome men are good-looking no matter what, even with messy hair and aprons, they have a kind of heroic spirit that radiates from the inside out.

The posture was easy and skillful, and the spatula in his hand that wasn't a spatula was a descending dragon and tiger staff.

It is not a pot either, that is, it is a point and click talisman, left and right, commanding the world, intent and the best of the best.

Her lips curled up in a smile, and she was indulging in fantasies of men looking down on her, when suddenly, there was a bang.

Jenny was shocked and bounced off the stool, and then he saw Biden Lu's hands and feet throwing the lid on the pot to cover it, the meat inside thumping and exploding loudly.

Jenny looked at him deeply, seeing the flicker of relief on the other's face.

All right!

She was the one who thought too much, but actually Biden Lu didn't cook much, but relied hard on his strong common sense of life and logical thinking to put things together and cook them.

When the rice was ready, although it sold really miserably, it tasted pretty good, so the two of them finished their meal, packed their bags, and headed out in the direction of Cosma God Mountain.

Cosmo God Mountain was an hour's drive from the estate where they were staying, so they took a taxi nearby and arrived at the base of the mountain an hour later.

There were indeed many tourists from all over the world gathered there, and Jenny and Biden Lu headed up the hill together.

It was in the afternoon, the sun was shining, this side was not too far from the sea, and the sea breeze was blowing over the plain, which was very pleasant.

When they climbed halfway up the mountain, it was already four o'clock in the afternoon, Biden Lu has been working out for years, but he felt fine, but Jenny was so tired that he was panting heavily.

"Can you still climb?" Biden Lu held her and took a bottle of water from his backpack and handed it over.

Jenny took a few gulps of it and nodded, "It's still good."

She must climb up there, determined not to make a fool of herself halfway through.

Jenny held her breath as she tried to climb up, and Biden Lu followed behind, partly to protect her, and partly because she didn't want her to see the derision under her eyes.

"Hey, what's that over there?"

Jenny suddenly straightened up and pointed to a large tree covered in red ropes not far away and asked.

There were already quite a few tourists heading that way, and Biden Lu stopped to look around and said, "I'm not sure, it seems like someone is lecturing Zen or something there."

Jennyton got in the mood, "Let's go, let's go over and take a look."

They went over to see what was there and realized there was a small sky pool.

At the back of the Tianchi was a large banyan tree filled with red wooden plaques, and in front of it sat a young sandalman in his twenties, wearing an extremely tattered robe, sitting cross-legged, chanting sutras and taking a seat.

Jenny didn't know what this meant, so he quietly asked Biden Lu, "What's he doing?"

"Practice." Biden Lu said in a low voice.

"Discipline?" Jenny was slightly surprised, but Biden Lu saw that she didn't understand, so he continued to explain.

"They are ascetic monks, this side of the Buddhist culture thrives, unlike the Mahayana Buddhism of China, which thrives more on Hinayana Buddhism, cultivating themselves, there are many monks who have been born at a young age, with a devout heart to seek the Buddha, treading the great rivers of the motherland with one foot, never stopping, no matter how cold it is in winter or summer, and practicing hard, hoping to transcend soon."

Jenny Jing was slightly stunned, which was when it dawned on him.

Following that, he asked him, "So what's up with these mahogany signs?"

In the meantime, Biden Lu said, "I don't know, I guess the people saw the monk here and wanted to seek peace. It's dry all around, but he's got some wetness there and a lot of dents, he must have been seated here for a few days."

"How many days? Won't he eat, drink and sleep?"

Biden Lu shook his head, "I only know a little bit about these, but not much more."

Jennyton was smiling and flattering, "The fur also knows a lot more than me, give you a little credit."

Biden Lu shook his head quite helplessly when he saw her looking like a dog's leg, and they continued to walk up the hill.

They walked until it was completely dark before they climbed to the top of the hill.

Jenny was already so tired that she didn't even want to move a finger, so Biden Lu dragged her to a cooking restaurant on the top of the mountain to eat something, which was how she regained some of her strength.

"Girl, sir, would you like concentric locks? Go outside and tie a concentric lock!"

Then a gray-haired old woman came up to them with many locks of even more different sizes and shapes hanging from her body and sold them.

Jenny asked curiously, "Concentric locks? What is it?"

"Write down your names and hang them on the marriage bridge outside, and you will grow old together forever and never be separated."

Jenny's eyes lit up slightly.

Turning his head, he asked Biden Lu, "Shall we have one?"

When Biden Lu nodded, Jenny Jing took one from the old lady and asked, "How much?"

"Twenty dollars."

Biden Lu paid a hundred, indicating that she didn't have to look for it.

The old lady was delighted and grateful, and attached to them a this is a hundred children and a thousand grandchildren lock, locked in the marriage bridge, will certainly be a hundred children and a thousand grandchildren, children and grandchildren.

They took it with great commitment, and after paying the bill, they walked together to the marriage bridge that the old lady had told us about.

After about half a kilometre of walking, I finally saw a soft bridge ahead over a waterfall that had dried up.

The bridge should be some years old, it was filled with different concentric locks of different sizes, Jenny flew over and saw that those locks had names written on them, some of them also wrote love messages.

"So there's a way to play this, how refreshing!"

Biden Lu slightly lifted his lips, walked over and asked her, "Where do you want to hang up?"

Jenny pointed to a place, "Here!It's less likely to be touched here and preserved longer."

When Biden Lu saw this, he took a pen from his pocket and wrote their names on the lock face.

Chapter 167

Jenny Jing swept over the lock face and saw that he had written the words carefully and neatly, his eyelashes trembling slightly.

After Biden Lu wrote his name, he saw that people had written love words on their locks, so he asked Jenny Jing in a kind manner, "Do you want to add a sentence on it?"

Jenny asked rhetorically, "What do you think would be a better phrase to add?"

Biden Lu made a difficult decision.

He was not of a very carnivorous and passionate nature, and it was only when he faced her and the love was strong that he would say something warm and carnivorous.

But at this time of year, in the middle of nowhere, he was asked to think of a love sentence to come out.

But the words were out of his mouth and he didn't want to give up, so he thought about picking up his pen and writing on it in a gust of wind and finished.

Jenny leaned over and read it, only to see that it read: sleep with her forever!

Jenny: "....."

Master Lu, you're so funny!

Biden Lu was very satisfied to hang up the lock, Jenny Jing has a hundred children and a thousand grandchildren lock, Biden Lu snatched over and wrote two names on it, and then also hung up on the concentric lock that was just hung up.

Jenny asked him, "What did you write?"

"Name."

"Name?" She opened her eyes blankly, "Whose name?"

"Our children's."

Jenny: "....."

She didn't think much of it, but took Biden Lu's meaning to be that of a future child.

When Biden Lu locked the lock, he led her back, Jenny Jing's face was a bit odd, and Biden Lu ignored her.

They walked back to the place where they had just eaten and asked around, only to find out that the meteor shower that had been rumored to be up there was real.

The Bureau of Astronomy did report a meteor shower tonight and, already, many people have come up early and set up tents on the hill just waiting to see it.

This wasn't the first time she'd seen a shooting star with him, and he'd taken her to see one just a short while ago.

But since it's all here and happens to be available today, there's no reason not to see it.

Jenny swept away the frustration and ran up the hill to see the shooting stars.

But the meteor hadn't appeared yet, and there were quite a few people, mostly couples, sitting on the grassy slope of the hill.

There were also families of three who came together, and the atmosphere was quite peaceful as they snuggled together in groups.

"I wish I had binoculars, I'm sure I could see better." Jenny sighed.

Biden Lu raised his eyebrows at the words and pointed to a vendor not far away, "There seems to be someone selling over there."

"Yes?"

Biden Lu nodded, and the two of them walked over to that small stall, seeing that all they were selling were some very poorly made obsolete astronomical telescopes.

The vendor saw two young, distinguished-looking people who looked like rich people, and tried to sell them.

And that there will definitely be a meteor shower tonight, and that you'll see it better and more beautifully with this.

Jenny couldn't make up her mind, she didn't understand this stuff, so she left the choice to Biden Lu.

Biden Lu picked and chose a few on the stall, and without asking the price, all of them were taken apart, and the hand and foot nimbly selected the components themselves and assembled them.

He was so quick, like running water, that before the vendor knew it, he had demolished three or four of them and was in a hurry.

"Hey, sir, don't tear it down if you don't buy it, how can I sell it if you tear it down?"

Biden Lu's expression was light, "The shoddy products that are eliminated, it's fine not to sell them to other people."

The vendor was in a hurry and wanted to theorize, but Biden Lu had quickly put the disassembled parts back together and put them in front of his eyes to try.

The results are not satisfactory, but the limited hardware can only do so much, and at least it's better than it was.

He took a dozen from his wallet and threw them.

To the vendor, he took binoculars and a cushion from his stall, and then he took Jenny and left.

Biden Lu led Jenny Jing to a more open area and spread the cushion on the ground, so they sat down on the spot.

Jenny took the binoculars and tried it, not trying to get a feel for it.

Biden Lu told her to wait until later when the meteor came, and she would know the difference between it and a normal telescope.

When Jenny saw this, he put the binoculars down and they sat on the grass and waited.

"Hey, I heard that when a meteor lands, it makes the best wishes, what do you want to wish for later?"

Jenny poked him in the arm and asked.

Biden Lu smiled, "Didn't I say that wishes can't be said, and that saying them won't work?"

Jenny thought about it.

Accosted, "All right!"

Biden Lu saw that she was a bit sickly and worried that she was tired, indicated his shoulder and said, "You should rest, it's probably going to be a long time."

Jenny was indeed a bit tired after climbing all afternoon, and leaned back at the news.

Biden Lu reached out and brought her into his arms, and the two of them snuggled close together.

The night was quiet, the air flowed with the sweet aroma of grass, Jenny quietly leaned into his arms, feeling the man's strong heartbeat and steady breathing, his heart was at peace.

"Do you get cold?" She asked.

Land's deep whispered, "No."

"Let me know if you're cold and put some clothes on so you don't catch a cold."

"Well, hug you, it's not cold."

The two of them snuggled quietly, Jenny moved to a comfortable position, resting her head on his lap, Biden Lu's hand on her waist, the atmosphere was peaceful.

"If you're sleepy, take a nap." Biden Lu saw the fatigue between her eyes and said in a deep voice.

Jenny shook his head, "I won't sleep, I'll stay with you."

The man's eyes warmed, not refusing her kindness, Jenny said softly, "You find a topic, we'll chat, and we won't get tired of talking."

Biden Lu thought, "What do you want to talk about?"

"Talk about anything."

"So...tell me something about when you were a kid?"

Jenny was stunned.

When she was a kid?

Subconsciously I wanted to open my mouth, but when the words came to my lips, I suddenly remembered my dead mother and my eyes dimmed.

What is she going to say about her childhood?

No matter what, you can't seem to avoid that wound.

Jenny passed in silence, and only after a long moment of thought did he say, "I won't say."

Biden Lu unexpectedly raised his eyebrows and looked down.

Only the girl's eyes were clear and clean, with a hint of complexity, and her lips were pursed, exhibiting a stubborn curve.

His eyes were complex, and after a long time, he said in a taboo way, "Is there something humiliating that you're embarrassed to say?"

Jenny stagnated, his mood, which was still somewhat low, was suddenly brought down by his words.

"You're the shame!"

The man couldn't help but chuckle softly.

"Actually, even if you did, I wouldn't dislike you."

Jenny looked up at him, then continued to shrink back, "Then I won't say anything either."

Biden Lu saw the situation and did not force it.

The wind on the mountain is very cold, the man hugged her, the two people quietly snuggled, actually also expelled a lot of coldness.

The man's fingers unconsciously tangled in a strand of her hair and whispered, "If you're tired, squint for a while, I'll call you when the meteor comes."