

Chapter 175

A few minutes later, they sat in the office.

"Does Hunter Group have five million now?"

"No." Alyssa said without hesitation, "A few days ago, Ocean Park III transferred two million for the construction of the small park. Now the only money that can be used on the books is more than three million, and this is still a payment received just yesterday."

Alyssa told Leon about the situation in the finance department, and when she saw Leon's gloomy face, she asked softly, "What's wrong?"

"Nothing. Have you checked the accounts of the finance department during this period? Are there any problems?"

"I've checked before, and there's nothing wrong with the accounts. What makes you think of this?"

"I think there are still problems with the accounts of the finance department. Since there are problems, we should conduct an in-depth investigation. Some money seems to have slipped away somehow."

"I'll go check it out now."

Alyssa also found it strange. Hunter Group's accounts seemed to be in order, and there was no problem at all.

But Leon was the president of Hunter Group. He must have sensed something to say that.

On the one hand, she felt she had been careless and wanted to fix it, but on the other hand, she wanted to find out if the situation was as Leon had said.

The problem was in the finance department, and she had to figure it out. So, she said, "I'll go check it out now and see what the problem is."

"There's no hurry now. It's too late today, so let's go back and rest."

"This is quite serious, and I really want to figure it out. If this is truly as serious as you said, we must hurry to figure out the situation and must solve the problem as soon as possible."

Alyssa felt that it was her responsibility even if a penny slipped away from her eyes. All she wanted to do now was to get the money back in a hurry.

Leon looked at Alyssa's nervous look with some regret.

Why did he just tell her about it?

He should bring it up tomorrow.

Now, Alyssa had to work overtime for this matter.

He knew Alyssa. She was not impatient, but she found the problem and wanted to solve it as soon as possible.

If he didn't let Alyssa work overtime, Alyssa would definitely take her work home with her.

Before, he didn't understand why Hassan wanted Alyssa to work at Citic. Now, looking at Alyssa's determination, he felt that she really deserved to be appreciated by her superior for her efforts.

Alyssa worked hard and studied hard.

She was smart and humble.

Who wouldn't like someone like her?

Alyssa soon went to the finance department and started her review work.

As Leon watched Alyssa get busy, he knew there was no point in him saying anything now. He happened to have a lot of work left to handle. So, he went back to work as well.

Leon didn't realize how late it was until after 1 a.m.

He went to the finance department. Seeing that Alyssa was busy, he knocked on the door.

Alyssa looked up when she heard the knock. Seeing Leon standing at the door, she smiled at him with a pale face, "What are you doing here? Are you done?"

"Yes, I'm done."

"You're so fast. This time, you're kind of faster than me. I haven't finished yet. Why don't you go back first? I might have to stay up all night today."

Alyssa said as she took a sip of water. She had been looking at the accounts for three hours, but she had only finished a fifth of them. Even until dawn, she couldn't finish checking Hunter Group's accounts.

"Let's do it tomorrow!"

Alyssa shook her head, "It takes time to export the accounts, too. I'll try to read as much as I can now. Besides, the accounts are pretty clear. But Leon, I've read through so many projects and haven't found any logical errors, which is somewhat strange."

"Hmm?"

"There's no logical problem with the accounts at all, so there must be something else."

She didn't believe that a company's books didn't have any logical errors.

This was impossible, basically.

The better it was done like this, the more there was something wrong!

Alyssa just sensed that something was wrong, and at the same time, she knew that this would make checking the accounts much more difficult.

"I'll check with you." Leon had understood Alyssa's meaning. It seemed that it was not easy to check the accounts.

"You are already very tired. You'd better go back and rest first! I'll do it myself."

Alyssa felt that Leon was already tired after working all day. This was her profession, and it was better for her to do it.

Leon refused, "I'll work with you."

This was clearly a serious tone.

But he sounded pouty.

Alyssa didn't expect to hear a pouty voice from Leon's mouth.

She looked up at Leon and suddenly wanted to compromise.

"If I go home with you, what about these accounts?"

"We'll deal with them tomorrow."

"You seem to be in quite a hurry."

"If I can't, I'll mortgage the house first."

"Is it that serious?"

"MJ needs us to show our sincerity."

Hearing Leon's words, Alyssa dared not be careless even more. She said, "Then I'd better keep checking the accounts! I'm not sure when these accounts will be finished. Besides, it's not just a matter of checking the accounts. I have to analyze how these accounts are not logically wrong at all. Did Hunter Group hire a professional accountant to balance the accounts before?"

Alyssa knew that many accountants worked part-time.

Some companies would hire professional accountants to balance their accounts at the end of the year to avoid tax problems.

However, Hunter Group was a listed company, so there should not be such a problem.

Leon also denied, "Hunter Group has its own finance department. Even if our accountants are not selected carefully, they are quite rigorous in their work. We won't get other accountants to balance the accounts. The lack of logical errors also shows that they are precise in their operation."

"I'm not true!"

Alyssa disagreed. It wasn't a matter of how good their operation was.

There should be no logical errors under normal circumstances. But those accounts looked like they were filled out randomly. She looked at Leon and explained, "Leon, the accounts I saw don't match the amount you spent on your contract. This computer not only has the accounts, but also the corresponding contracts. I can check the accounts through these contracts. Before, it was my carelessness that I forgot the numbers on the contract, which led to such a big mistake."

Hearing this, Leon finally understood Alyssa's analysis.

Seeing that Leon had understood some of it, Alyssa said softly, "Or you can go back first! I have to figure out the wrong part."

"I'll stay with you. It just so happens that I have some work to do."

At Leon's words, Alyssa smiled, "Okay, I didn't know how to check these accounts before. Now, I have some experience. I should be able to finish these accounts soon. You can wait for me for a while. Maybe I'll be able to finish them later."

She said these words to comfort Leon, and she also wanted Leon to stay.

Leon's presence by her side made her feel more at ease.

Seeing Leon go to his office, Alyssa started to work again.

She quickly found out something.

Since the beginning of this year, there had been problems with the accounts.

Not only did the accounts not match the actual contract amounts, but many expenses were not right.

Although there were not many wrong accounts, the problems still existed.

Alyssa went to Leon after obtaining evidence, and he was still busy. When he heard footsteps, he looked up and saw Alyssa.

"I haven't finished reading all the accounts, but I've found some problems. Why don't you look at this and see if the account is right or not."

Leon read it and nodded.

The accounts and the contract expenses didn't match.

"You must find your former finance director and ask him who did this account. There are only two possibilities at this point. The first kind was the newbie who was careful at every turn. The second kind was ... the veteran who had been doing it for years."

Leon nodded, "Let's go back first."

"Okay."

Alyssa originally thought that it was okay for her to stay up late. But now that she was pregnant, she needed to get some rest.

A few minutes later, Leon took Alyssa's hand and got into the car.

Alyssa was very sleepy as soon as she got in the car. She wanted to drive originally. However, under the current situation, she couldn't drive the car.

She looked at Leon, "You drive today. I'm a little tired and want to sleep in the car."

"Okay."

Leon nodded. They had just left the downtown area when they were stopped by a car.

Alyssa looked at the car that stopped them and froze for a moment. The car appeared so suddenly that it caught them off guard. Looking at the two men who got out of the car, Alyssa nervously grabbed Leon's hand.

Looking at Alyssa's nervous look, Leon patted her hand, signaling her not to worry.

Probably because of Leon's encouragement, Alyssa really wasn't as scared as before.

When Alyssa relaxed, several cars came behind them. Alyssa was completely relieved to see the bodyguards in black getting out of the cars. They were Leon's men.

No wonder Leon wasn't scared at all.

So he had prepared everything.

Leon looked at Alyssa, "I'm fully prepared. This is the way you taught me. I've been waiting for them. They probably think we've let our guard down, so they decide to attack us tonight. I actually noticed them when we came out. It will be fine soon. Don't worry."

Alyssa nodded. At this point, she really relaxed. So Leon had been prepared for a long time. She really thought that something would happen to them.

Leon started the car.

Half an hour later.

Leon took Alyssa back to the villa.

At the same time, he received a call from his bodyguard.

The two men who intercepted them before had been caught.

Leon told Alyssa the situation.

Alyssa was more relieved to hear Leon's words.

Before, she had been worried about what those people would do. Now, she didn't have to worry at all.

That night, Alyssa slept soundly.

Looking at Alyssa's sleeping face, Leon couldn't help but go over and kiss her on the cheek.

When she didn't respond, he joyfully moved closer to her, hugged her tightly, and quietly kissed her body.

He loved her very much. Even though she already knew, he still wanted to keep letting her know.

Leon felt so happy to have Alyssa by his side.
