

Chapter 179

Alyssa drove directly to Hunter Group.

She arrived at Leon's office just in time to see Leon see off a client. The client was none other than Mr. Jones.

Mr. Jones smiled when he saw Alyssa, "Miss Graham, I didn't expect to see you here."

Mr. Jones said, and even extended his hand to shake hands with Alyssa.

Alyssa didn't expect Mr. Jones to shake her hand. She was flattered to extend her hand and shook hands with Mr. Jones.

"Mr. Jones, I didn't expect to see you here either. We are really destined to meet."

"Yes, I didn't expect Miss Graham to leave Citic and work for Hunter Group. Miss Graham, you have a good vision. Hunter Group is growing fast. Mr. Hunter is a rare talent."

Mr. Jones smiled at Leon and said, "I've kept Miss Graham in my company several times before, but she refused me every time. I was surprised that Miss Graham came to Hunter Group. You're so amazing!"

Leon smiled at Mr. Jones' words. He put his arm around Alyssa's waist, "Mr. Jones, you misunderstood. Alyssa is my wife, not my employee. How can I let Alyssa work for me?"

Mr. Jones froze.

After thinking for a moment, he understood. Then he smiled and said, "Oh, I see. Leon, you have a good eye to find such a capable wife! Alas, people are so different from each other."

Mr. Jones looked at Leon and Alyssa and thought of his son Davis.

He wasn't mean to Davis and wanted to give Davis everything he had. His youngest son Aldo was still too young to take on such a big responsibility. But he didn't expect Davis to conspire with others to frame him and try to take away Jones Group.

Thinking of his son, he was in no mood for greetings and left in a hurry.

Looking at Mr. Jones' old back, Alyssa turned her head to Leon and smiled.

"Mr. Jones doesn't look as vigorous as he used to. He doesn't seem to be the same as before."

"People are definitely a little different after going through something."

"Actually, it hasn't been that long since I last saw Mr. Jones."

"Hmm."

Alyssa nodded and looked at Leon.

"What are you looking at me for? You're looking at me like you're new to me. What are you thinking?"

"I just went to see my grandfather and talked to him for a while. Leon, from now on, no matter what happens to you, you have to stay with me."

Hearing Alyssa's words, Leon wanted to kiss her very much.

But with so many people in the company, he forced himself to hold back. He dragged Alyssa to his office and kissed her.

He didn't stop until his secretary knocked on the door and bumped into them kissing.

Alyssa walked awkwardly to the window. Leon put away the papers and glanced at the secretary.

The secretary blushed when he saw Leon's gaze, and turned and ran in fear.

Leon knew that Alyssa was shy. He didn't talk to Alyssa and went to read the papers.

Alyssa watched Leon's busy back from the glass of the window and sighed in relief. Feeling that her face was not as red as before, she turned her head and cautiously glanced at Leon.

But as soon as she turned around, she saw Leon looking at her. His gaze made her nervous. She hurriedly turned back, not daring to look at Leon.

She shouldn't have looked back at Leon just now!

Then she wouldn't be so embarrassed now!

At that moment, she suddenly saw two men in black downstairs looking upstairs. She actually felt that the two men were looking in her direction. But she was the only one over here.

Those men wouldn't be watching her. There was no point in watching her. They should be watching Leon.

Alyssa turned her head to look at Leon, and this time, finding Leon still looking at her, she didn't turn around.

She walked to Leon and whispered, "Someone's watching you, you know?"

Leon smiled and then nodded.

"At this point, you can still smile. You probably can't do anything to the people watching you, so you don't care anymore. How long are those people going to stalk you anyway?"

"Let's do our things and leave them alone."

"Are you going to throw the handle after the blade? Leon, are those your uncle's people?"

"Yes." Leon had long known that those people out there were Colton's men.

"Will he take you and force you to go back the Koherrs?"

Leon was surprised at first, then quickly nodded, "So you knew all about it."

"Yes! Before, I asked grandpa, and grandpa also told me about the Koherrs. I also think that this matter is not simple. Leon, what exactly are you thinking? I think your uncle should be very difficult to deal with. Should we think of a way to solve this matter?"

"What's your solution?"

"Let's go talk to uncle about this, okay?"

Leon hugged Alyssa and kissed her forehead. After a long time, he said, "I've met my uncle before. I've made my stand clear to him, but it doesn't seem to work."

The result in front of them was proof.

It was useless for them to talk for another hundred times.

Nothing would change.

Alyssa understood Leon's meaning.

She looked at Leon, "So can we use the money to get rid of your uncle? We have money ..."

"Alyssa, the Koherrs are in a mess right now. My grandfather is still sick, but no one cares about my grandfather anymore. Earlier, when I met with my uncle, he made it very clear. My grandfather wants me to go back."

Alyssa nodded.

It seemed that money could not solve the problem.

Money was sometimes not helpful at all.

Alyssa couldn't help but laugh at this thought.

"What's wrong? What are you thinking about?"

"I was just thinking about the fact that people in the world are wondering how to make money. They think that money is important, even more important than life. But right now what we are experiencing just can't be solved by money. Money doesn't seem to be that useful."

"It might be harder without money. Don't think so much about it, okay?"

"Well, then I'll go first. I can't do anything. I'll just cause trouble for you."

Alyssa felt that she was useless. She would only bring trouble to Leon by staying here.

Leon never felt that Alyssa was a trouble. He stopped her to keep her from leaving.

"Hmm? Do you have something else?"

"Stay with me a little longer. I feel so much better when you're with me. If you leave, I'll feel quite bored."

"You have a lot of work to do, don't you?"

"You stay with me."

Worried that Alyssa would just walk away, Leon walked over and lifted Alyssa onto the desk.

Alyssa sat up high and noticed that there were many people staring at them outside.

They had just been seen by the secretary when she and Leon were kissing. It must be the secretary who told them.

Thinking this way, she started to blame Leon again.

However, this was Leon's company. Besides, she had come to pick him up from work more than once before. Those people had seen them together a long time ago. They were a couple. Their closeness would only let people know that they had a good relationship.

When she thought about it, Alyssa felt better. She looked at Leon and smiled.

"What are you smiling at again?"

"Those little girls in your company are going to talk about us behind our backs again when you treat me like this. I don't feel good about those gossips. Do you want to hear those gossips?"

"Do you think I would let you sit at my desk like this if I care about that?"

Leon looked into Alyssa's big eyes and just couldn't help but kiss her.

She seemed to have a charm about her. He just wanted to hold her and kiss her hard. The feeling of kissing her couldn't be better.

Watching Leon come over, Alyssa was ready to kiss Leon. She sat on the desk, her body pressed down by Leon.

The office was quiet at this moment with only the occasional sound of them touching the corner of the desk.

At this time, no one came knocking on the door. They kissed in peace.

The frosted glass of the office door reflected their entwined bodies.

Even without saying anything, the adults knew what was going on inside the office. They naturally did not dare to make a sound.

After a long time, they finally stopped.

Alyssa looked at Leon, unable to sit up at all. She was inevitably a little angry. This man was too much.

Leon watched Alyssa unable to move and was a little sorry. He carefully picked up Alyssa and said softly, "I'm sorry. I didn't mean to do that just now. Did I hurt you?"

"What do you think? We're in your office now, and so many people are out there! If we were seen by others just now, it would affect your image!"

"I don't think that would affect my image at all. You're my wife. Do I have to pretend that you're not my wife and not get close to you?"

Leon didn't care what others thought now.

Looking at Leon's indifferent look, Alyssa suddenly felt very excited that they might have just been spied on. Looking at his relaxed look, she couldn't help but want to tease him. Then, she would stop abruptly, leaving him tickled.

With this in mind, Alyssa wrapped her long, slender arms around Leon's neck and pulled him up to her.

Leon didn't expect Alyssa to do this. He was in an excited state by Alyssa pulling him over and being kissed by her. He was about to respond to Alyssa when he suddenly saw someone standing in the doorway. He didn't hesitate and simply lowered his head to kiss Alyssa.

The person outside probably saw that something was wrong and left without knocking.

Leon kissed Alyssa even more recklessly until he felt that Alyssa was about to run out of oxygen, then he stopped.

"When did you become so stupid that you even forgot to breathe?" Leon looked at Alyssa's red face and gently touched her cheek, "Are you better?"

To be continued