

Chapter 181

When Alyssa got a little closer, she realized that the person was no other than Kevin!

She walked to him in a panic.

But just as she walked over, the headlights suddenly came on in the distance.

She turned her head to look at the headlights not far away.

Leon stepped out of the car and looked at her with a very startled look.

She was just about to tell Leon that Grandpa was here too, but before she could say anything, sirens suddenly sounded around her.

Soon, several police cars drove by and parked around.

The police came out from inside and walked over and grabbed Alyssa.

Alyssa suddenly panicked, "What are you doing? What are you doing with me? Let go of me! Let me go!"

"Mrs. Hunter, someone called the police and said that you deliberately killed Mr. Hunter. Please come with us."

Soon, Alyssa was led in the direction of the police car.

Alyssa knew instantly that she had been set up.

She turned her head to look at Leon, "Leon, help me. I'm being set up, Leon ..."

She thought that Leon could save her, but Leon ignored her and just looked at her with a very strange gaze.

She looked at Leon's gaze and suddenly panicked.

Leon couldn't really believe that she was going to kill Kevin, could he?

How could that be possible!

She never wanted to do that!

No, she couldn't be taken away from them now. She looked at Leon, "Leon, there's no reason for me to do this. Grandpa has been so good to me. Why should I hurt Grandpa?"

Leon was speechless for a moment when he heard Alyssa's words.

Alyssa suddenly panicked when she looked at Leon who did not say anything.

Her intuition told her that he seemed to suspect her.

How could he suspect her?

How could she do such a terrible thing? This was Kevin!

Alyssa looked at Leon and was suddenly a little disappointed. It was obvious that she was framed!

They had been married for so long. How could he know so little about her?

"Leon, I really didn't hurt Kevin. I was attacked earlier at the villa and my jacket was taken off. I ..."

Before she could finish her sentence, another policeman suddenly approached her with her jacket. In the headlights, she could see that her jacket was actually stained with blood.

Seeing the jacket she wore stained with blood, Alyssa also froze!

"It was found from nearby, probably discarded by the suspect. Captain, do we gather the team now?"

"Let's go back with the evidence. With the evidence, she can't deny it."

"No, it's not me. Leon, help me explain to them. I wouldn't do that. It really wasn't me. Leon, you have to save Kevin. Grandpa must know who hurt him. It's definitely not me."

Alyssa was pulled and forced into the police car.

Leon didn't seem to react until the police car left. He walked to his grandfather and clearly saw a knife wound on his chest. Suddenly, he didn't dare to move. He immediately called for an ambulance.

Half an hour later.

Hospital.

Kevin was in the emergency room. Leon had calmed down.

This thing was so strange from the very beginning.

He asked someone to check the surveillance in front of his villa and also the old house.

The results soon came out. Both of the surveillance was destroyed.

The murderer must have done it.

But the murderer was not necessarily Alyssa.

Leon calmed down and felt that this was a very strange thing.

He did not believe that Alyssa would do such a thing, so he must investigate it thoroughly.

However, not long after, the doctor who was in the emergency room came out and informed Leon that Kevin's life was saved. However, because of the severity of his injuries, Kevin might be in a coma for a while. They were not sure exactly when he would wake up.

Leon heard the news and stood still for a long time.

Interrogation room.

Alyssa sat in the interrogation room and was forced to look up at the police.

The police officers hated Alyssa, who had been caught in the act but did not admit her guilt.

They hadn't rested all night, but this woman just wouldn't admit it!

"Say it!" The policeman, now out of patience, banged his fist on the table.

Alyssa heard the bang on the table before she came back to her senses. She looked up at the cold police officer in front of her.

"Tell me the truth, then you won't have to sit here. You will go where you need to go." The policeman began to persuade Alyssa as he watched her lift her head.

Alyssa looked up with a firm gaze, "Why should I admit something I didn't do?"

"We have the evidence. I advise you to admit it."

"How can I admit something that I didn't do? Do you know the fact? I repeat I didn't hurt anyone. Also, I'm pregnant. It's not right for you to treat a pregnant woman like that. I'm going to sue you."

"You ..." The police officer's face darkened when he heard Alyssa's words, "You can't do whatever you want just because you're pregnant. You have to be punished for breaking the law. Everyone is the same. Why should you not be punished?"

"I never said that criminals don't need to be punished. I just said that I didn't do what you said I did!"

Alyssa was insistent.

She couldn't admit something she hadn't done.

This was serious. Once she confessed, she was guilty of murder.

She believed that Leon was just confused at the scene earlier and hadn't fully reacted to what was going on.

When he calmed down, he would come to her rescue.

Leon was not stupid. Everything would be okay.

Alyssa reassured herself as she calmed down. She was sure that this matter would soon come to light. She looked up at the police officer in front of her, "I repeat I did not do this. I didn't hurt anyone. I was knocked unconscious. I still have marks on the back of my neck from being knocked out, and it still hurts. Kevin will be fine. You can ask Kevin when he wakes up if you don't believe me."

If they didn't believe her, they could ask Kevin.

Kevin was an understanding person and wouldn't accuse her wrongly.

The police were furious with Alyssa, but she wouldn't confess, so they had no choice but to send her elsewhere for the time being.

Alyssa was sent to a dark room.

The room smelled like mold.

She covered her mouth but still threw up.

She was tired. After being interrogated all night, she had long lost her spirit. But she felt so nauseous now that she couldn't sleep at all.

She wondered if she was too nervous. She vaguely felt some pain in her stomach.

She touched her stomach to make sure there was nothing wrong with her. Maybe she was really just too nervous.

She told herself to take it easy. Right now, she needed to rest. When she got enough rest, she could figure out how to get out of here.

Besides, even if Leon couldn't figure it out, Grandpa and Mom and Dad would definitely know after such a big event. They would definitely save her.

Ella would definitely find a way to get her out when she knew about it.

With this thought, she relaxed.

As her body relaxed, she soon became tired. Then, she fell asleep against the wall.

The next day, word got out that something had happened to Hunter Group.

The Grahams were eating.

The first person to deliver the news was the butler.

Milo's hand shook when he heard the news. The chopsticks in his hand fell straight to the floor.

Jalen and Azul also froze for a moment.

"Alyssa is so stubborn to do such a thing. I ... I'm going to teach her a lesson right now." Jalen was so angry. He didn't expect his daughter to do such a heartless thing. He had long known that Alyssa didn't like Leon, but before Alyssa had said she would get along well with Leon, hadn't she?

He had always taught Alyssa to be a good person.

But why did she suddenly become like this?

Jalen was about to leave, but Azul hurriedly stopped him, "What are you ... doing? Something happened to Alyssa. Can you not convict Alyssa so quickly? We don't know what happened to Kevin yet. Leon didn't inform us when something happened yesterday. Did he just abandon Alyssa? If he doesn't care about Alyssa, what should we do?"

Azul was worried about her daughter.

She already knew that her daughter had been taken away by the police, but she didn't know her daughter's current situation.

Her daughter had been spoiled since she was a child. How could she stand that kind of place? She was probably crying inside!

Azul couldn't help but shed tears when she thought of this.

"Why are you crying?" Jalen saw Azul crying and quickly said, "It's all because you spoil her too much. Now she even wants to kill someone! I've never seen such a vicious woman before! She's really gone too far! She deserves it even if she dies!"

"Bullshit!" Milo shouted immediately when he heard his son's words.

Jalen and Azul didn't dare to say anything.

Watching them stop talking, Milo thought for a few seconds. Then, he looked up at them, "Would Alyssa do something like that?"

Jalen and Azul both froze at Milo's words!

"Would Alyssa give Leon a baby if she didn't like him? They're already married. How could she possibly do something to hurt Kevin? Alyssa is a smart girl. She wouldn't do something that only a stupid person would do."

Milo looked at them calmly, "What's important now is that we must know exactly what happened at the Hunter's earlier. Only if we know what happened can we help Alyssa."

Milo's calmness soon infected Jalen and Azul.

Jalen also calmed down, "Dad, you're right. Alyssa is pregnant. Moreover, her attitude before was very clear. She is willing to be with Leon. If Alyssa didn't like Leon and wanted to leave the Hunter's, it wouldn't be hard for her to escape now. After all, with her pregnancy, there would be fewer people watching her."

"In that case, I also think it's strange. Alyssa is pregnant. She will definitely have trouble moving around. How can she hurt someone else? When I was pregnant with Alyssa, it was very difficult for me to walk around."

The more Azul thought about it, the more she realized that something was wrong with it.

As a mother, Alyssa couldn't have done something like that to hurt people. Her heart was supposed to be soft.

"Since you all think something is wrong, we first need to see Alyssa and ask Alyssa what is going on."

"Okay."

They were going to ask Alyssa what was going on first.
