

Chapter 187

"Silly girl, if Colton could give up, he probably wouldn't come to Leon. However, it's good that Leon is not stupid and has his solution. Otherwise, this matter can be troublesome."

"Then what should we do in the future? Grandpa, do you mean Colton will come back to Leon later?"

"Yes, and he will." Milo finished and pushed a file folder to Alyssa.

Inside the file folder was the Koherrs' recent history. She knew that the Koherrs' internal strife was getting worse.

The Koherrs had several incidents of injuries due to the power struggle.

And, with this growing trend, there might be more incidents in the future.

"This is what I asked your father to check when you were in the prison."

"I'm sorry, Grandpa. The Koherrs is so dangerous. We shouldn't have any involvement with them. I'm really sorry."

"Enough about that, the purpose of me showing you this is to discuss one thing with you. According to the current situation, you might as well get out of here with Leon. I just got the news that Kevin has woken up. He can actually manage the company. Besides, Leon is not here, but as long as he keeps in touch with Kevin, he can handle the company. At this critical moment, you might as well leave A City with Leon."

"How can this work? Even if we leave, you and Kevin are still in A City. Colton has the nerve to attack Kevin. What if he really goes crazy and turns on everyone?"

"Silly girl, let me ask you, what is Colton's ultimate goal?"

"To bring Leon back to the Koherrs."

"Leon isn't here, so will Colton go after him? I am rather worried if you will be in danger after you leave. So, I have arranged a route for you. You follow my route, and there shouldn't be any problem."

Milo had prepared everything long ago. He took out a few letters and handed them to Alyssa, "I had a lot of comrades before, and they are all very powerful now. You can go to them when you are at their place. They all go into business."

Alyssa took the thick pile of letters and got red eyes.

"Good girl, no crying! Do as you're told! It's dark now, but you need to go see Leon and talk to Leon about this." Milo said while putting a bank card into Alyssa's hand, "I'll give you a million. It's not a lot of money, but it can help you in an emergency. This card can be used internationally. I'll send you more money when you get to another place."

"Grandpa, I don't want it."

"Alyssa, no matter where you go, you have to swipe this card. That way, I'll know where you are." Milo looked at Alyssa and stroked the top of her head, "You're the Grahams' baby. I'm suddenly a little sorry now. I really should have listened to you and let you choose who you like. Now, I got myself into this position."

"No, Grandpa, I don't regret it. Leon is very good to me. I feel very happy with Leon."

Milo was happy to hear Alyssa's words, "Well, as long as you are happy. Leon is very smart. I'm sure he won't let you suffer. I'm relieved that you two are well together."

Alyssa nodded. She was so moved that she couldn't say a word. She thought for a moment before saying, "Grandpa, I can't accept these things because I have to wait a little longer. I don't know what Leon is thinking yet. Besides, I don't want to leave here. You really mean a lot to me."

Milo got up to make the next arrangements, and Alyssa hurriedly got up to help him. But just as she stood up, she felt a weakness in her legs.

Bam!

She fell straight to the ground.

Soon there was a bloodstain on the floor.

Alyssa lowered her head and saw that the white tiles were all covered with blood. She tried to move and suddenly felt a pain in her stomach.

She covered her stomach and looked at her grandfather, and found that he was panicked too.

Alyssa tried to tell her grandfather not to worry about her, but she couldn't say anything.

Soon the pain took away all her consciousness.

She collapsed to the floor and passed out.

Half an hour later.

Hospital.

Milo stood in front of the emergency room door, supported by Jalen and Azul, his body shaking slightly.

The old man, who used to be hale, now looked very helpless and panicked.

He didn't expect his granddaughter, who was talking to him a second ago, to suddenly faint and bleed a lot.

Jalen and Azul remained silent, both looking in the direction of the emergency room.

Not far away, Leon ran over in a panic. Looking at their trembling appearance, he suddenly didn't want to ask anything.

Creak!

The door of the emergency room opened at that moment.

The doctor came out from inside, "Where's Alyssa's family?"

Leon was the first to run over and stood in front of the doctor, "How is she?"

The doctor shook his head, "She's not doing very well. We've done our best, but there's still a chance she'll miscarry. You need to be prepared. She had ingested drugs that cause miscarriage before she was brought to the hospital."

"Drugs that cause miscarriage?"

"Yes, we will do our best, but frankly, Miss Graham's life is now in danger."

Leon immediately took the doctor's hand, "No matter what, you must save Alyssa. I can do without the baby. I just want Alyssa."

The doctor nodded, "We will do our best. You can rest assured."

The doctor walked into the emergency room.

Leon watched the doctor walk in. His hands clenched tightly. He didn't care about the baby at all. He only cared about Alyssa, and as long as Alyssa was alive, he would be with her for the rest of his life. Only with Alyssa, he could feel another sense of this world.

Milo, Jalen, and Azul also heard the doctor's words.

Azul cried right away.

Jalen gently patted her shoulder, "Don't worry. Alyssa will be fine. Some years ago, she fell into the water once. At that time, she was fine. Alyssa will be able to pull through."

"You guys help me sit down for a while."

Milo's eyes were red and he wanted to sit beside them.

Would his great-grandson be gone like this?

He was so sad that his hands kept shaking.

Alyssa seemed to have a long dream.

There were children laughing and crying in the dream. She kept running forward. But the children's voices were scattered, and she didn't know which direction to run. But she kept running forward anyway. Then her foot tripped over a rock and she accidentally fell on the ground. The children's voices seemed to be right in front of her. She smiled and hurried to catch up. Finally, she saw a child.

In front of a small river, she found a child.

But there was not just one child in front of her ... but two?

Looking at both children crying toward her, she suddenly froze.

Whoa!

There seemed to have the sound of crying.

Alyssa frowned, too exhausted to pursue. But the children's cries were so loud that she simply could not ignore them. So, she had to continue to chase after them.

Luckily, she soon saw the children. They were right in front of her. If she was fast enough, she could catch them.

Alyssa happily chased forward and finally caught the children.

Outside the emergency room.

The doctor came out.

Seeing the doctor come out, Leon rushed over to him. As he walked up to the doctor, his body swayed slightly a few times.

"Miss Graham's condition is stable now, but she must take a good rest." Looking at Leon with a nervous look on his face, the doctor continued, "The children are saved."

Hearing this, Leon took a step backward.

He didn't look very happy. He just looked at the doctor and didn't seem to understand his words.

"The children are very strong. And, we found out that your wife is carrying twins."

"Twins?" Leon repeated the doctor's words.

A few seconds later, the Grahams came by. They had heard the doctor say that Alyssa was carrying twins just as they walked over.

Now, the babies were saved and Alyssa was fine. And, she was carrying twins. All their nerves were replaced with joy.

Leon reacted when the Grahams came over.

Alyssa was fine. Not only had they kept the baby, but twins?

He smiled. But the next moment, he was suddenly red-eyed.

Soon Alyssa woke up and was pushed out of the emergency room.

Seeing Alyssa being pushed out, Leon hurried over.

"Alyssa."

Alyssa replied in a hoarse voice, "Hmm."

"Are you feeling better? How do you feel now?"

"Take it easy, I'm fine. I'm better, it doesn't hurt anymore."

Alyssa felt a little tired and quickly closed her eyes.

Leon still wanted to say something, but the female nurse beside Alyssa said softly, "The patient just woke up. She is still very tired and needs to rest. Stop talking and let the patient take a good rest, okay?"

"Okay." Leon nodded.

He was too anxious. Alyssa had just woken up, and he shouldn't talk to Alyssa too much. He should let Alyssa get some rest. It was his fault.

Three hours later.

Alyssa woke up.

As soon as she opened her eyes, she smelled a fruity scent.

Here should be the hospital. Alyssa looked around and saw her grandfather.

Leon was here too.

She looked at Leon and smiled. She tried to move, but Leon held her down.

"Don't move, Alyssa. The doctor said you need to rest."

"I'm fine."

Alyssa was happy to see Leon. She tried to take Leon's hand before she realized that one of her hands was still infused with fluids.

But luckily, she could have the other hand. She smiled and took Leon's hand with the other hand.
