Catch Me If You Love Me

Chapter 197

Liam Lu stretched out his hand too quickly and too quickly. He accidentally touched the wound covered by her long hair and tore off the gauze at the corner of her forehead.

Hearing Zoey Gu's painful scream, Liam Lu shook his whole body, and lowered his head to see a bloody gauze on the floor.

Liam Lu suddenly raised his head, and slid away her scattered long hair with a probing hand, and a shocking wound instantly hit his eyes.

"what happened?"

In an instant, all the chill in the man's eyes faded, and he reached out to touch her face.

Zoey Gu turned her head coldly.

Liam Lu curled her brows, bent over and picked her up, strode to the sofa not far away and put it down.

He easily pulled the rubber band from her wrist to tie her hair, his black eyes stared at the wound on her forehead tightly, and asked in a dumb voice.

"What happened? Why didn't you tell me the first time?"

Hearing this, Zoey Gu looked up at him with blushing eyes, and a mocking arc appeared at the corner of her mouth.

"Tell you the first time? Listen to the live broadcast of you and Du Lanfu on the phone?"

Liam Lu's eyebrows blinked, his heart suddenly became clear, and his black eyes instantly became cold.

He opened his mouth to explain, but he just looked at her distressedly and said in a low voice.

"Sorry, it was my negligence."

After speaking, he turned upstairs, looked for the medicine kit from her room, and quickly returned to her and squatted down.

"I'll help you re-treat the wound. It will hurt a bit, so bear with it."

Zoey Gu kept silent, like a lifeless doll, looking sideways out the window, never looking at him from beginning to end.

The smell of disinfectant water quickly dissipated in the air.

Even though Liam Lu's movements were minimized, Zoey Gu still frowned at the first moment.

Liam Lu's movements paused.

"It hurts?"

Hearing this, Zoey Gu inexplicably felt her heart pull, and her nose immediately became sore.

"It hurts! How could it not hurt?"

When she was on the street late at night, full of blood hoping to get help from her lover for the first time, what she heard was him and others on the phone.

Every time Zoey Gu thinks of that kind of heart-piercing despair, it hurts like a knife.

I don't know how long it took, Liam Lu closed the medicine box, got up and hugged Zoey Gu into his arms.

"Zoey…"

The man possessed and leaned against her neck, and his dark voice contained affection and even helplessness that she could not see.

"You are obedient, give me some time. I will give you an account of everything."

His chest is warm.

But Zoey Gu still felt cold all over, and couldn't feel the warmth, so she looked outside quietly and said in a low voice.

"It's getting late, you should go back. I don't want to talk to anyone, I just want to be alone."

"Zoey…"

"Liam Lu, I am a person, not your plaything, don't let me hate you."

The night is deep.

Liam Lu walked out of Gu's house slowly, subconsciously frowned and looked up.

At the same time, a lighted room on the second floor closed the curtains with a "crash".

The lights are also off.

He lowered his head and laughed at himself, but didn't panic, walked up to the flowerbed on the roadside and sat down, took out a cigarette and lit a cigarette quietly, spitting out bite by bite.

It wasn't until the phone in his pocket rang that he threw the cigarette in his hand, raised his foot to stamp it out, and got up and left.

As everyone knows, there is a car parked quietly in the night a hundred meters away from him.

In the car, Logan Fu squinted his eyes to see Liam Lu leave, then raised his thin lips and gave a cold laugh, and started the engine to leave.

As a result, just as the car crossed the corner and drove onto the road, a figure suddenly appeared from the side of the road.

呲…

Logan Fu slammed on the brake, and his whole body bounced forward fiercely with huge inertia.

As soon as it stopped, the person standing in front of the car suddenly rushed over like a gust of wind, opened the door of the passenger seat, bent over and sat in.

The woman's delicate and boneless body instantly clung to Logan Fu.

"My dear, I miss you so much, I'm going crazy thinking about you…"