

Chapter 202

Ruby carried a child on her back and another child in her arms. She looked even thinner now.

Alyssa wanted to hold the baby, but Ruby hurriedly shook her head, "You're pregnant. I called you, but you didn't have to come. I'm sorry, Alyssa, I shouldn't call you."

She knew how annoying she was, but she had no choice at all right now. She didn't know many people here, and the only one who could help her now was Alyssa.

But Alyssa was a rich lady, and she was still pregnant. She shouldn't come to the hospital at this time.

But because of them, she came here.

When she thought of this, Ruby was ashamed. She was so useless.

"Aunt, next time when you encounter something like this, you must call me in time. If I had arrived a little earlier, uncle could have been saved earlier. Now, uncle's condition is still unknown. Just don't say that."

Ruby nodded. She had already cried before and knew that crying would not solve the problem. She could only wait aside with the children.

Soon the doctor came out.

Ruby rushed over, "How is my husband doing, doctor?"

"We did everything we could. I'm so sorry. He missed the best time for treatment and has passed away now. You can prepare his affairs."

The doctor finished coldly, turned around, and walked away.

After hearing the doctor's words, Ruby turned her head to look at the doctor's back. Her eyes were suddenly a little red.

Soon her body trembled. Alyssa hurriedly supported Ruby. Watching Ruby's tears keep falling, she wanted to say something but felt something blocked in her throat. She couldn't say anything at all.

"How could this happen? He was conscious when he was brought into the emergency room. Alyssa, I spoke to your uncle and your uncle said he was fine. Otherwise, how could I stand here and not worry at all? Your uncle really told me he was fine. How could he die?"

Ruby didn't understand how Tony died when he was fine.

He was fine before. Nothing should happen to him.

The more Ruby thought about it, the more upset she became. She felt that this was not right. She looked at Alyssa with teary eyes and said softly, "Alyssa, this is not right. Your uncle is in very good health. He was fine when he was working. How could he suddenly die? Did that doctor make a mistake? You are very powerful, and I know you know a lot of people. Can you help me one more time, please? I know I shouldn't bother you. But I can't do anything at all now."

Ruby panicked. All this time, she had been living with Tony. How could he die now?

It was impossible! Tony had said he would always be with her. Nothing would happen to him.

If he left, what should she do?

Ruby suddenly panicked, wondering what she was going to do in the future. She looked at Alyssa with red eyes, "Alyssa, that doctor must have made a mistake!"

Looking at Ruby, Alyssa suddenly didn't know what to say.

The doctor couldn't be wrong. This was the hospital, and the doctor would not joke about death. Here, life and death were the most serious things.

"What am I going to do? What should I do from now on? How can I be so miserable!" Ruby cried out in resignation as she hugged the children. In such a short time, she looked as if she had aged a dozen years.

Alyssa didn't know how to persuade a woman who had lost her daughter and husband one after another. To her, her daughter and husband were probably her everything.

Now, she had nothing left but two children who needed money.

How was this old woman going to survive?

Alyssa walked to Ruby, "You have to take care of the children from now on. You have to support everything by yourself, so you have to be strong."

Ruby heard Alyssa's words, but shook her head and didn't say anything.

How could she be strong alone with two children?

Alyssa also felt that it was useless to talk about it now. Her motivation to stay strong was gone. How could she be strong?

She looked at Ruby and said softly, "Aunt, you still have two children. You must take care of yourself. These two children still need you to take care of them."

"But what do I want with these two children now that they are gone? What's the point of me living without them?"

Ruby looked at Alyssa sadly, "Why?"

Alyssa knew what Ruby meant, of course. Ruby wanted to know why it had come to this. In fact, she didn't know why it had come to this.

She also wanted to know why things had become like this.

Alyssa squatted down and looked at Ruby, "Aunt, even if you don't care about the children, don't you want to avenge uncle? The person who hit uncle has not been found yet. The driver has fled. We still have to find that person and ask him why he did it, right?"

Hearing Alyssa say this, Ruby finally regained some sense. She took Alyssa's hand and nodded, "Alyssa, you're right. I shouldn't be like this. I'm going to catch that man. I'm going to ask him why he did it. What did my husband do that he hit and killed my husband? You're right. I'm going to find that man."

"Since you want to find that person, we need to be patient. Our people are already looking for him, and the traffic department police are helping us. We will soon be able to find the driver."

"Good, we must find that person. My husband has never offended anyone in his life. How could he end up like this?"

Seeing that Ruby had the hope to live, Alyssa was finally relieved. No matter what belief she had to live, as long as she wanted to live, it was a good thing.

"Aunt, that's the situation now. As for uncle's affairs ..."

"I'm not going to do Tony's affairs now. I want to find that person and know what happened. I want to ask that person why he hit and killed Tony, and after I figure it out, I can do Tony's funeral. Otherwise, I have no way to give Tony an explanation."

After thinking about this matter, Ruby became very strong.

There must be an explanation for this. Otherwise, even if she died, she could not close her eyes.

"Okay."

Alyssa nodded. She had understood Ruby's meaning. Ruby wanted to find the murderer.

She was about to call for someone to find the driver as soon as possible.

In the distance, Leon hurriedly came running. She waved at Leon, who immediately ran over.

"Why are you here? Why don't you call me and just let me handle it!"

"I can handle it, too. I've already got someone to look into it. However, I don't know exactly what happened for now. There should be results soon." Alyssa was also curious about what the driver was thinking. How could he hit someone and run away?

Justice had long arms.

This person knew that he would be caught and he still ran away, so there must be something wrong with him.

Alyssa wanted to catch this person quickly.

He was worried that there was something else going on here.

"Alyssa, I have something to tell you. You come with me for a minute." Leon pulled Alyssa toward the corner.

"What's up? What's the matter?"

"The driver has been caught."

"Hmm? So fast?"

"It was Kyle who got someone to try to scare Tony. He wanted them to hand over the house and drive them away. But Tony wasn't scared at all, and something happened."

"Kyle really deserves to die!"

"He does deserve to die, but now there's nothing we can do. We can't solve the problem." Leon looked at Alyssa and whispered, "But what should Ruby do now?"

Alyssa froze and lowered her head without saying anything.

Yes, what should Ruby do next?

Ruby seemed so vulnerable. Would she be able to take care of two children?

Alyssa looked at Leon, "No matter what, we have to get Kyle to jail first. He should not live in this world. He's a disgrace to humanity."

"We can't find anything on Kyle. I have some evidence, but it's not conclusive evidence."

"This man is too vicious."

"He is quite smart. He can't wait for Ruby to die now. That way, he can get the house where Kelly lived before."

"He's so shameless. You paid for that house."

"But he doesn't know that. It doesn't matter. Let's just let him try to fight for the house in any way he can!"

Leon looked at Alyssa's angry face and smiled, "You don't have to be angry either. There's no need to get angry with such a man."

"So what do we do now?"

"Do what we have to do."

"Hmm." Seeing Leon made Alyssa feel like she had support. She leaned against Leon, "I'm glad I have you by my side. Without you, I don't know what to do."

"I'll always be by your side, so you don't have to worry."

Alyssa leaned into Leon's arms and felt warm.

All her worries seemed to have disappeared.

Tony's body was temporarily placed in the hospital morgue.

Ruby wanted a result, but the result was not what she expected.

The driver was found. But he only said that he hit Tony by mistake.

As for the runaway, he said it was because he was too scared.

He now regained his senses and knew that he had hit and killed someone.

But the driver never said who was behind him.

The driver had no job, so he couldn't afford to pay much money.

Hearing such a result, Ruby could only swallow her anger.

Three days later, Tony's body was cremated from the hospital morgue.

The Wilsons only had one person left, Ruby.
