

Chapter 208

Seeing that Alyssa was about to leave, John immediately stopped her, "Why are you leaving now? What am I going to do when you leave?"

"Even if I take you out now, do you dare to go out? You still owe a huge debt. Aren't you afraid that people will see you? This small house is quite suitable for you. You stay here for now. When I settle your debts, you can go out then!"

Alyssa's decision now was entirely for the sake of John's personal safety.

She had made a thorough investigation recently. Those people were looking for John all the time.

If John went out now, he would definitely not have a good end.

John was not happy, but he still listened to Alyssa.

When he thought of the debt collectors, he rushed into his small house and didn't dare to come out.

Alyssa went to the lawyer's office and started the contract process.

The lawyer said it would take three days at least to go through the process.

She had three days to settle John's affairs and repair the lake near Four Seasons Castle. It was not easy.

That night.

Alyssa was fast asleep.

Watching Alyssa fall asleep from exhaustion, Leon went over and kissed her on the cheek.

Alyssa was really tired and slept deeply.

He lay beside her. Her hands wrapped tightly around his neck.

Leon smiled and couldn't help but get a little closer to Alyssa.

In fact, he didn't dare to get too close to Alyssa. After being close to Alyssa for a long time, he was worried that he would not be able to control himself.

"Leon ..." Alyssa softly called Leon's name.

"Yeah." Leon nodded, "I'm here, Alyssa!"

"You must always stay with me."

"I will always be with you."

Hearing Alyssa's words, Leon smiled.

Suddenly, he thought that they could be together without doing that kind of thing, just like now.

They lay in bed, doing nothing, but their hearts snuggled together.

Leon felt that he might never be able to leave Alyssa in this life.

Alyssa slept soundly. She seemed to hear his response and had a smile on her face the whole time.

He went over and kissed her again. She suddenly opened her eyes and smiled at Leon, "Leon, you can't do that. It's not right."

"Then what should I do?"

"Be a good boy and sleep now. I'm so tired. But I have a lot of work to do tomorrow. I feel like I'm going to fall apart."

"It's your fault for not listening to me and making yourself so tired."

"Eh ... I just think I'll make money if I make this thing."

Alyssa's voice was small. Soon she fell asleep again.

Leon didn't disturb Alyssa.

The next day.

Leon woke up and didn't see Alyssa.

He called Alyssa and learned that Alyssa was at Country F's casino.

"I'll take care of it quickly. I'll be fine with the bodyguards following me. Well, you can really rest assured."

"I'll go over there now to keep you company."

"You seem to have a video conference this morning that will start soon. It doesn't seem appropriate for you to be late."

Leon took a look at the time. It was almost 8:30.

The video conference was a meeting of Hunter Group's top management. He had never been late for a meeting before.

Hanging up the phone, Leon hurried to prepare for the meeting.

Alyssa already knew about his schedule. She didn't listen to him at all.

But, whether she listened to him or not, he liked her.

He turned around to prepare for the video conference. The time was almost up, and he subconsciously quickened his pace.

Casino.

Alyssa got some local bodyguards.

Soon she found the casino.

In the casino, she quickly found Drew, the casino owner who had lied to John earlier.

"Drew, you and John are good friends, aren't you? In that case, you shouldn't treat your friend like that. I know that casinos operate legally here, but the normal process is legitimate. If there is any fraud, then it is not legal. Drew, I don't want to delay your business. How about we forget what John lost to you before and you stop asking him to pay the debt, okay?"

Alyssa stood in front of Drew. She looked especially delicate because of the bodyguards accompanying her.

But her aura was strong. She stood up straight, with her neck high and her chest raised.

Because of this.

She didn't look short, but rather tall.

Drew did not dare to underestimate Alyssa because of her powerful aura. He just smiled at her, "My casinos are all very formal. Miss, you better not be an alarmist. Otherwise, I'll sue you for slander!"

Slander?

Alyssa laughed at that word.

Did she slander him?

She took out a tape recorder from her bag.

"Drew, I really didn't expect things to be like this. That batch is lost now, and I don't know who picked it up. If I make a big deal out of it, then that batch will be known. That's not something that can be seen."

"Why are you so careless? How can you be so dumb?"

"I ... I was negligent, but I've never missed before."

"I don't care how you operate, you must get that batch back as soon as possible. Otherwise, you don't have to come back in the future."

"Why can't I come back? Don't you forget that I still have the last film?"

Snap!

The sound ended here.

Alyssa looked at Drew, who looked nervous, and said coldly, "The film? Drew, I'd like to know what he's talking about. It's okay if you don't want to talk to me, but sooner or later these things will come out. I suggest you might as well talk to me in advance."

"Bitch, who are you? Get your ass out of here."

"Drew, I have to tell you something. I can leave now, but that film and that batch might get out soon. When that happens, things may get even worse."

Drew's face darkened when he heard Alyssa's words.

Seeing that Drew wouldn't say anything, Alyssa turned around and left.

Drew immediately said, "I can consider what you said. The film and the goods are my personal business. You can't tell anyone. Otherwise, I will let you never get out of here. You'll definitely regret it."

"Then let's make an exchange! I can help you find the goods, and you must let John go. What do you think?"

Drew was deep in thought at Alyssa's words.

"I'm a foreigner, and I definitely don't want to get into trouble, but I have evidence of your crime. And you don't want to make a big deal out of it, do you?"

"You ... bitch!"

Alyssa turned her head and stared at Drew with an expressionless face.

Drew looked at Alyssa's gaze and subconsciously stepped back.

Alyssa walked up to Drew and suddenly smiled grimly, "You really haven't seen what a bitch is like! Soon you'll see."

Alyssa raised her fist and gave Drew a hard punch.

Drew was knocked to the ground and looked at Alyssa in horror.

Alyssa was about to approach Drew, who hurriedly blocked his face with his hands. Alyssa had never seen such a cowardly man. This kind of person would never do anything great. This could only prove that John was too stupid. How else would he be tricked by such a fool?

Alyssa didn't bother to hit him again. She walked up to him and said in a cold voice, "I have a contract and you sign it. In the future, there will be no more debts between you and John. And you can't go after him anymore. He lost all his property to you, and he won't come back to you for it. The contract is clearly written. You read it clearly before you sign. It's legally binding."

She finished and handed Drew a document.

Drew took the document.

Drew read the document to the end. He hesitated for a moment before saying, "He owes me money and that's it?"

"You mean you still want to pay him back? That's fine! I'm okay with that."

As soon as Alyssa finished speaking, Drew quickly signed the document.

He had no intention of giving John back what he had lost.

Alyssa was happy to see the signature. She looked at Drew and said, "Drew, I don't think we'll see each other again. In that case, I won't say see you."

"The batch ..."

"You'll see it soon."

Alyssa said and left with her bodyguards.

Drew's face sank slightly as he watched Alyssa's back.

He hadn't even figured out who this woman was before he signed her agreement.

But he really had no choice. He simply had no way not to sign the agreement.

He felt angry at the thought of him being forced by a little girl.

But now the anger was useless.

The situation in front of him was like this. It was impossible for him not to sign!

Alyssa went to John directly and gave him the contract.

John saw the contract and froze in his place.

Looking at John, Alyssa frowned, "Now do you believe me? I have prepared for the renovation project, but I don't have much money and there is a limit to what I can invest. As things stand now, this project will not lose money. By the way, you can't even think about meddling in that lake. I have found professional people to manage it. You just stay here quietly."

She still had to be on guard against the gambler.

Even if he was set up by Drew in the first place.

But if he wasn't that greedy, how could he be set up.

She still had to watch out for this kind of person.

So, after that lake was given to her, she wouldn't let him manage it.

"That's my lake. Of course, I have the right to manage it."

Drew looked at Alyssa very unhappily.

"Then I'll tear up the contract now and let John come after you for the debt. That way, you'll know who you are!"
