

Chapter 209

"You ... I'm wrong. I'll listen to you."

"You'd better get your head straight and stop saying such childishly ridiculous things. Otherwise, I will be very angry. By then, I'm not sure what I'll do to you."

Hearing Alyssa's words, Drew was too scared to say anything.

Looking at Drew, who kept his head down, Alyssa curled the corners of her mouth. She turned around and planned to go to the asset management company she had previously found. The lake was now hers, and she didn't want to manage it herself, so she found an asset management company to take care of it. It was exactly three days later when she had completed all the procedures.

On that day, Alyssa went back and put all the legal procedures in front of Leon.

Leon looked at them one by one, nodded his head, and said, "You did a very good job."

"It really only took me three days. Am I great?"

"A typical fishing with no bait."

"No, it's not! I spent money too. I gave half a million dollars to the asset company, and that was all I had. I almost sold my ruby bracelet."

Leon immediately checked Alyssa's wrist and noticed that she didn't have the bracelet on her wrist, "Why didn't you wear the bracelet? You didn't sell it, did you?"

"I didn't." Looking at Leon's anxious look, Alyssa couldn't help but laugh, "How could I sell the bracelet you gave me? Unless it's because of you, there's no way I'd sell that bracelet."

Alyssa would not sell such a beautiful bracelet.

She loved it so much that she didn't bear to wear it.

She said that just to prove that she had input too.

"Do you like that bracelet?" Leon looked at Alyssa and suddenly felt a little nervous.

"I like anything you give me. I know that bracelet must be very expensive. At that time, you didn't trust me yet, right! That's why you gave me such an expensive thing. You wanted me to worship you and think you were rich and attractive, didn't you?"

"I ... I didn't. I didn't know what you liked at that time."

Leon lowered his head.

His mind had been exposed.

He was still a little nervous.

Alyssa looked at Leon's nervous look and smiled gently, "Forget it, I won't bother with you about what happened before. You just have to know that I'll keep everything you give me, including the kindness you've shown me and the love you've given me."

"That's good. You've been exhausted these past few days. Let's rest for a few days before we go to Country L."

"So soon?"

"Colton's people are here."

"His people came pretty fast."

"In addition to that, people who are against the Koherrs are here as well. I told our bodyguards to go to Country L and wait for us before. It would be safer for us to go to Country L now. You have finished your things here. Then you only need to find a suitable asset management company. You don't have to worry about the rest."

Leon looked at Alyssa, "Don't worry. I will get my friends to help you watch the project here. I guarantee that nothing will go wrong. Can you rest assured now?"

"Hmm."

Alyssa had long been prepared to leave at any time.

Otherwise, she wouldn't have taken care of everything within three days.

Colton always acted quite fast.

She was also worried that something might go wrong.

Alyssa looked at Leon and said softly, "Okay, you just do it. I'll do everything you say."

"Good." Leon nodded. Looking at Alyssa, he apologized, "I said before that I would take you out for a walk, but the current situation does not seem to allow it. I will definitely show you around when I have time later, okay?"

"Okay, as long as I am with you, everywhere is beautiful. I feel very content."

Alyssa didn't even think about going out to see the beautiful scenery here.

Anyway, with Leon, she didn't seem to care about the nice scenery anymore.

In her mind, she had already taken Leon as the most beautiful scenery long ago.

"In the next few days, you just rest at home. I'll ask the doctor to prepare airsickness medicine for you that pregnant women can take."

"No, I'm okay."

Alyssa thought she would be fine once she got some sleep on the plane. Besides, with Leon by her side, she wouldn't feel uncomfortable at all. If necessary, she could also let Leon cuddle her.

She looked at Leon, "The medicine is all bitter. I don't like them."

"I know you don't like to eat bitter medicine. I'll ask the doctor to prepare sweet medicine for you."

"Then I won't take it either. That kind of medicine might affect our children. I don't want it."

How could she affect the children?

She was determined not to take the medicine.

Leon really wanted to spank her hard. But he couldn't, so he could only say softly, "I told the doctor about your condition earlier. The doctor said that kind of medicine will not affect the baby."

"I won't take it. I want you to take care of me."

Alyssa obstinately refused to take the airsickness medicine.

Leon frowned, "Silly girl, of course, I'll take care of you."

Alyssa nodded obediently at Leon's words.

She came to Leon's side and gently kissed Leon's cheek. Seeing Leon didn't move, she said softly, "I just don't believe you can really stand it ..."

"If you move again, I can't be sure that I will remain untouched. By then, I might just pounce on you and kiss you hard."

Alyssa was so scared that she took a few steps back.

Looking at Alyssa's frightened look, Leon couldn't help but laugh, "I'm just kidding. You really think I'm serious?"

"You don't look like you're joking at all. I can see that your eyes are not right."

His eyes were clearly filled with desire.

She'd been with him for so long.

Surely she couldn't be wrong.

Alyssa looked at Leon and frowned. She didn't say anything but slowly began to step back ...

"Don't move."

Leon simply moved closer to pick her up and walked steadily in the direction of the bedroom.

For the next few days, Alyssa was at home.

Leon dealt with some Hunter Group business.

Alyssa thought it was nice to be here. The environment here was similar to home, and the temperature was comfortable.

However, recently she noticed something different.

There were more and more people outside staring at them.

Alyssa had heard Leon's analysis before and knew that these people might be Colton's people, or they might be the people who were against the Koherrs. They were now abroad, not in A City.

As she watched the increasing number of people outside, Alyssa felt for the first time that they were close to danger. She felt they needed to get out of here as soon as possible now.

It was just unsafe here.

At that moment, her phone suddenly rang.

Seeing that it was an unfamiliar call from A City, Alyssa hesitated for a moment but finally answered the phone.

"Excuse me, are you Alyssa?"

"Yes, this is Alyssa. What's up?"

Hearing a very formal voice on the other end of the line, Alyssa was suddenly a little nervous.

"I'm a nurse at A City First Hospital. A patient has just passed away. Several of the phone numbers in her phone didn't work, so we had to call you. The patient was in a car accident and passed away quickly. Can you come here as soon as possible? Besides that, there are two babies here. We have asked the police officers to come over and check their identities. Do you know the deceased ..."

"Are you kidding me!"

Alyssa's hands started to tremble as she spoke.

"Miss Graham, how can I be joking?"

"I can't go back now. I'll call for someone to go there right away. Is it First Hospital?"

"Yes."

Alyssa hung up the phone in a daze.

She felt as if everything that had just happened was a hallucination.

She must have heard wrong!

How could Ruby have been in a car accident?

Ruby had to take care of two children every day. How could she have been in a car accident?

Yes, there must be a mistake.

Alyssa calmed down and called Wendy.

Wendy found out what had happened and rushed to the hospital.

An hour later, Alyssa received a call from Wendy.

"Wendy, how is it? Did they make a mistake? I think they must have made a mistake."

"Mrs. Hunter, it's true. Ruby did have a car accident. And, she has passed away." Wendy continued, "Mrs. Hunter, now the problem is about the children. The police said that the children have no records and they have to go to the orphanage. They are so poor. If they are sent to an orphanage, what will happen to them?"

Wendy's tears fell out of her eyes as she thought about the future of the two children.

Alyssa froze. She didn't expect this accident to be real.

She had never imagined that such a tragic thing could happen in this world.

Alyssa closed her eyes.

She suddenly thought of what Kelly had said when she called her before she died. Kelly hoped she would take care of her children. She wished nothing but the best for her two children.

The children couldn't go to the orphanage. They were already miserable enough.

Alyssa calmed down, "Wendy, I won't let the children go to the orphanage. I'll take care of these two children. I'll go to Leon right now and talk to Leon. Please don't let them take the children away."

"Okay, Mrs. Hunter, I will not let them take the children away."

Wendy immediately put down the phone and stopped the police, "I can guarantee that these two children have records. These two children are ours. Don't take them away. Please wait a little longer."

Looking at Wendy's red eyes, the police sighed and said, "We have checked, and these two children don't have any records. Otherwise, we would have found their records. You'd better let us take them away! The orphanage is very good now and will not treat them badly."

Hearing the words of the police, Wendy refused to let them go even more. She directly blocked the door with her body.
