

Chapter 210

Country F.

Alyssa hurriedly went to the study just in time to see Leon coming out of the study. She hurriedly took Leon's hand, "Leon, Leon, please help me."

Leon felt Alyssa's body trembling. Seeing that Alyssa's eyes were red, he hurriedly took Alyssa's hand, "I'll help you. Don't be afraid. What's wrong? What's wrong?"

"Kelly's mother was also in a car accident. She has passed away. Kelly's children have no records. Now they are going to be taken to the orphanage. I promised Kelly that I would take care of those two children. Can you help them?"

Alyssa really panicked.

She didn't know what to do.

It had just occurred to her that the children's last name could be Graham. They could be her children. Then she would let Leon help with the registration.

However, after a few seconds, Leon didn't move. Alyssa continued, "Leon, those two children are really poor. Within such a short period, their mother got sick and died, and their grandfather and grandmother also passed away in car accidents. You also saw those two children, Andrea and Jacey. It's you who named them. Leon, can you tell the police in A City that they are my children?"

Leon understood Alyssa's meaning. Seeing Alyssa's anxious look, he was heartbroken. He directly held Alyssa in his arms, "I'll handle this matter. Don't worry. I will be able to handle it."

Alyssa couldn't help but cry when she heard Leon's words.

A few minutes later, Wendy called Alyssa.

"Mrs. Hunter, they are ready to go to the registration. Don't worry about it!"

"So soon?" Alyssa finished, looked at Leon, and smiled at him gratefully. She held the phone in one hand and held Leon's hand tightly in the other. Then, she smiled and said, "By the way, Wendy, their names are Andrea Graham and Jacey Graham."

Wendy froze for a moment at Alyssa's words. However, she quickly responded, "Mrs. Hunter, Mr. Hunter said earlier that the children's last name can not be Graham. From the birth date of the children, if their last name is Graham, they will be considered as your ... This is not good to be known by the public. Mr. Hunter told the police that these two children are named Andrea Hunter and Jacey Hunter."

Alyssa turned her head to Leon and didn't say anything for long.

He had done everything for her.

Knowing that it was inconvenient for the two children to have the last name Graham, he offered to let them take his name.

He was protecting her.

Wendy was still talking on the other end of the phone.

Alyssa said, "Okay, let's do what Leon said. Wendy, thank you for your help. I'll go back as soon as I can."

Alyssa put down the phone, hugged Leon, and smiled at him.

Leon lifted his hand, wiped the tears off Alyssa's face, and said softly, "You're crying again, but what's the use of crying? No more crying. If you need anything, just tell me and I'll help you out."

"Okay."

Alyssa nodded and smiled at Leon.

"I'm so happy. Maybe no one in this world is as happy as I am. I feel like I'm the happiest person in the world. Leon, thank you for being so thoughtful. I don't know what would have happened to those two children if you hadn't helped them. I don't even know what to do."

Alyssa was really grateful to Leon this time. It was because of Leon's phone call that this matter could be handled so quickly.

Seeing that Alyssa finally stopped crying, Leon said, "As I told you before, don't panic when things happen. With me by your side, what are you afraid of?"

"I'm just afraid. Those two children are so poor. If they are sent to the orphanage, how can I explain to Kelly? I feel so useless that I can't even protect two children."

"From now on, those two children will be our children. Let's take good care of them, okay?"

"Okay." Alyssa nodded, "Leon, I have one more thing to tell you. I need to go back."

Alyssa was very uneasy about those two children. She wanted to hurry back now.

When she finished, she saw Leon staring at her.

She lowered her head and looked at the ground with an apologetic face. She didn't even have the courage to look up at Leon now.

She was the one who wanted to come to Country L with Leon, and now she was the one who said she wanted to go back. She was simply unreasonable.

Alyssa was worried that Leon would be angry, and she was worried about the two children at the same time.

"Leon, why don't you wait here for me for two days? I'll come back when I get the children settled. You only need to wait for me for two days."

"How can I stay here and do nothing and let you travel alone? I know you are worried about those two children. In that case, I'll go back with you."

"But will that ruin your plan?"

"My plan has long been different from before. Colton has sent quite a few people here. They probably want to do it here. If we go back now, we'll catch Colton off guard."

"You mean Colton is in A City now?"

Leon nodded.

Alyssa, however, was even more puzzled. She looked at Leon, "If Colton is in A City, how does he get so many people to come here? If he wanted to do it here, how didn't he show up here?"

Alyssa really didn't understand what Colton was thinking and only wanted Leon to give her an explanation.

Leon hugged Alyssa and whispered in her ear, "Colton is being watched by grandpa's men in A City. It will probably take him a while to get out. Now if we go back in secret, Colton won't know about it, which is good for us."

Alyssa understood and nodded at Leon.

"Now you can let me go back with you!"

"I'm worried about those two children, but I feel that something is wrong. Kelly's father was in a car accident, and we've found out that his accident was related to Kyle. But you have no proof. Now Kelly's mother also had a car accident. I suspect it was caused by Kyle as well. This man has done a lot of evil. He doesn't deserve to live free."

"I see. I'll have someone check on Kyle first."

"Thank you, Leon."

"You don't have to say thank you to me."

"I will make it up to you after I have the baby." Alyssa came up to Leon, wrapped her arms tightly around Leon's neck, and whispered, "We don't just have our two babies now. We have Andrea and Jacey. Leon, thank you for accepting them."

"As long as you like it, I'll do anything."

Alyssa nodded and hugged Leon even more.

After all they had been through, she knew they couldn't leave each other.

Three hours later.

Alyssa and Leon sat on the plane to A City.

Alyssa leaned against Leon and suddenly got a little nervous.

"Are you uncomfortable?"

"No, I'm just a little nervous. Leon, I want to sleep, but maybe I'm too nervous, I can't sleep at all. How about you read me a story? Then I won't be nervous."

"Well ..." Leon hesitated for a moment before saying, "I don't know how to read a story!"

"You don't?"

Alyssa's voice sounded obviously disappointed.

"I remember that I fought with my grandfather a long time ago," Although Leon didn't know how to tell a story, he could say something about his past. Watching Alyssa take off her eye mask, he suddenly got a little shy and helped her put it back on.

"How do you ..."

"Shh, listen to me!"

Alyssa was silent.

Leon looked at Alyssa leaning obediently against him and continued, "That day, I did something wrong and grandpa was going to punish me. I was very defiant. I asked grandpa why he was so lenient with George. Why can't he be more lenient with me? Grandpa told me that George is my younger brother and I am his older brother, so I have to set an example for him."

Alyssa didn't say anything, but her thoughts drifted away with Leon's words.

The plane had already taken off, but she didn't feel the same nervousness she had just felt.

Leon's magnetic voice soon sounded again, "Since that day, I feel that I was actually quite good. At the very least, I could give George a role model. It's a pity we didn't spend much time together because of his mother. The only time I remember was when he didn't know how to play with the new Legos that grandpa bought for him, and he cried. It happened that Audrey was not home that day, so I helped him assemble the Legos. At that time, George smiled at me with an innocent face."

"You seem to like George?"

"Well, grandpa has punished me a few times, and he was the one who brought me food secretly."

"Then I'm even more confused. You guys don't seem to have a good relationship like that."

"That's because of George's mother. She didn't want me to get too close to George. Later, he grew up. I was busy with my company work and even moved out. Then, we got further and further apart."

"Did something happen the day you saved me?"

"Yes." Leon looked at Alyssa and smiled, "That day, I was scolded by grandpa. Grandpa said I was untalented, but I worked really hard for a long time. I was sad and felt that it was grandpa who didn't see my efforts. That day, I was so desperate that I wanted to leave home. Then, when I was about to leave, I ran into you who had fallen into the water."

"I called for help, but no one paid any attention to me." Alyssa could still recall the time she fell into the water. That day, her grandfather took her to a party on a cruise ship. She and Ella had been playing together. Later, Ella left first. She was then pulled aside by several children. She had been somewhat solitary since she was a child and was soon isolated by those children. While playing the game, she was accidentally pushed off the boat by two children.

Thinking about that scene now, she still felt scared.

"I heard you." Leon felt Alyssa's nervousness and hugged Alyssa tightly, "Don't be afraid. I can hear you as long as it's your voice. I will save you as soon as I can."

Alyssa nodded and hugged Leon.
