

Chapter 246

The little bun in the heart beautiful thought, Jenny still does not know her thoughts, just look at her good look only feel more and more heartache.

They held her for a while and then released her, Jenny was worried that she was hungry, so she was busy about to feed her, but was stopped by Biden Lu in a deep voice.

The man looked serious, "Don't spoil her, let her eat on her own."

Jenny was stunned and subconsciously wanted to say that the child was still young.

But then, unexpectedly, Ann suddenly took a small spoon herself and scooped a mouthful into her mouth.

Drumming up her tiny cheeks as she ate, she said, "Mommy, Ann is old enough to eat on her own, so she doesn't need to be fed to me anymore oh."

Jenny couldn't help but laugh as she watched, her heart also swelled with warmth, and she gave a light nudge on her nose.

"Well, Ann's awesome."

Bobbie smiled happily.

Across the street, the old lady couldn't help but smile in delight at such a harmonious scene.

After dinner, the family returned to their room to rest.

Ann pestered Jenny to tell her a story, so Jenny took her to her bedroom.

Biden Lu came out in a hurry this time, many of the work things Vicky couldn't handle, still need him to personally finalize, so as soon as he returned to his room, he went to work.

The old lady was also tired, she had always been in the habit of taking naps, so she greeted them and went back to her room to sleep.

The afternoon hours were quiet and beautiful.

On the other side of the spectrum, King Clara's life was not so good.

She searched everywhere for Jenny, looking for a long time with no results not to say, the original had bribed the driver surnamed Liu also suddenly revolted, a mouthful, it was she who paid to let himself to drive Jenny to that place.

The driver, surnamed Liu, also submitted a bank account of the two's dealings, saying that before Jenny's accident, she had transferred a large sum of money to her account.

It was later verified that the money was indeed traded out of Jing's account.

The police did not withhold this information and once it was confirmed, it was immediately released.

There was renewed uproar on this news.

But this time, King's side did not respond any further.

That night, several police officers showed up at the Mou residence and took Clara away.

Because there had long been suspicions about Clara and the call for her had been high, a number of entertainment reporters had been guarding outside the Mu family's gate.

Just in case there was any news, it would be too late to get here from the office.

But I didn't realize that they were really still squatting.

Seeing the police officers escorting Clara out of the Mu mansion, the reporters were all going crazy with excitement, and one by one, they all surged forward to ask questions.

But where would the police, working a case, give them that opportunity?

It didn't take long to quickly have these reporters stopped and escorted to the car with Clara in tow.

But spare a thought, the journalists were very content.

After all, even though they didn't get an interview, the photos and videos were enough to earn them a ton of clicks.

That night, the news that Clara had been taken away by the police spread on.

Along with the attached, there are photos of the escort from the Mu House, which can be described as hard evidence.

At this point, Clara's fans were all confused.

It never occurred to them that the little fairy of their hearts, Miss Gentle, would actually be taken away by the police.

One can't help but raise a question.

Being taken away by the police...does that mean that Clara really had something to do with this

What does it matter?

All the evidence that was circulating up there before, is it true?

There were also questions raised in the present.

The claim is that it's just a take away and there's no conviction, so maybe it's just cooperating with the investigation.

But that claim was immediately shot down.

Because Clara was handcuffed when she was taken away. Who would help with the investigation and wear handcuffs?

Now, even the last wave of Iron Fans who wanted to argue for Clara's justification had nothing to say.

While Clara's iron fans were still silently aching to pay their respects to their dead love.

At the police station, Maya Jing is being interrogated.

She hadn't expected the driver surnamed Liu to turn against the water, so her heart was almost completely unprepared to be brought here by force.

Therefore, at this point she had nothing but panic and fear in her heart, so how could she say anything?

And those truths, Tong Shu had already warned her, never to speak out.

So she couldn't say anything, and had been silent for a full half hour after entering the police station, refusing to say anything else except that I wanted to see my lawyer.

When the police saw this attitude, they knew she was a public figure and not good enough to use tactics, so they had to allow her to see a lawyer.

It didn't take long for Tong Shu to arrive with his lawyer.

With the help of her lawyer, Maya Jing finally stumbled through her statement.

Although there are so many things that are so inconsistent that they are not convincing at all, the lawyer gives the reason that she ended up being subjected to so much cybernetic violence that it caused a trance and physical discomfort, but she is still temporarily muddled.

Immediately afterwards, Tong Shu asked for money to insure the policy.

However, this request was denied by the police.

Because Jenny Jing is still missing, Clara has great value as an important suspect.

And she hadn't explained herself clearly just now regarding those kinds of evidence, so she couldn't be let go until Jenny found her.

Tong Shu immediately panicked at the news.

The photo of being taken away by the police has already been taken, and if we don't get out tonight without incident, there will be a lot of public outcry, and there's no telling what it will be like then.

Most importantly, she wasn't confident that she could really stand up to the pressure and not let up if she left Jing alone for a long time.

But Rao Tong Shu was so worried that he couldn't do anything about it in the face of the selfless police.

Clara was also confused, she looked at Tong Shu, afraid that she would leave her here.

Trembling, "Sister Tong, you have to find a way to bail me out, for any amount of money, I don't want to stay here."

Tong Shu frowned, very helpless.

"There's nothing I can do about it now, it's gotten too big for me to fix."

She paused and said in a deep voice, "You were brought out of the Mu family by them, didn't Mu Shao and Chairman Mu say anything?"

Clara stalled.

When she was taken away, neither Rovell nor Patrick Hong were home.

But it's now almost an hour since that time, and they won't be unaware of the uproar.

But they were slow to appear.

Tong Shu said, "The Mu family has been in Visterdem for many years and has deep roots in the city, so they must have a better way to deal with this kind of thing than we do.

And one of them is your husband, and the other is your father-in-law, so if anything happens to you, it will have an effect on the reputation of the Mu family, and I don't think they'll let you off the hook."

Chapter 247

After a reminder from Tong Shu, Clara reacted.

She mumbled, "Yes, as long as I'm still Brother Azawa's wife and the Mukai's daughter-in-law, they won't ignore me, Sister Tong, you call Brother Azawa for me."

Tong Shu nodded and walked out.

It didn't take long for the call to end.

She walked in to Jing, "Mu and the others are already on their way over, they must have heard the news that you've been arrested, when I called him, he said it's almost here."

Clara was relieved to hear this.

Luckily, it's a good thing she's still lording over Mrs. Moo.

Even though Rovell no longer loved her now, even for the sake of the Mu family's reputation, he couldn't see her actually become a female prisoner.

Tong Shu waited with her for a while longer, and not long after, Rovell and Patrick Hong arrived.

As soon as Clara saw them, she felt only the endless grievances that had been pressed up against her chest, all exploding out at this moment.

She couldn't help the red tears that welled up in her eyes and cried out, "Dad!Rovell."

Patrick Hong was still the same, his face nonchalant, and nodded his head.

"You guys talk, I'm going to go negotiate with the other side."

Rovell nodded.

The Mu family still had some connections in Jin City after all, and knew that Clara had a special status, so everyone didn't bother them.

Empty the entire interrogation room and let them talk.

Clara sat on the chair, at the moment full of grievances and sorrows, all turned into tears drops rolling down.

Rovell sat opposite and looked at her indifferently.

"You don't think, after all the trouble you've broken into, you're going to solve the problem just by crying, do you?"

Clara stalled.

She collected her tears and looked up at him, her tears clouding her eyes.

"I'm sorry for the trouble I caused you, Brother Asawa, thank you for coming to get me out of here, I promise I'll be good and never get into trouble again."

Rovell Mu tugged at the corner of his lips in mockery.

"Later?"

He smirked, "We'll talk about that later, but first, let's talk about your current situation."

Clara nodded her head incessantly, grieving, "Sister Tong has just gone to submit her bail, but they won't allow it, Brother Azawa, you must help me think of a way."

Rovell nodded.

"I can save you, but you have to cooperate with me, okay?"

Clara agreed in succession.

"How do you want me to cooperate with you, Brother Azawa? You tell me, I'll do it all."

Rovell lightly mocked the corners of his mouth, "Where is Jenny?"

Clara: "....."

She paled, only to feel the tight chord in her head suddenly snap, like something buzzing and exploding.

She looked incredulously at the other party and shuddered, "Even you think that I hid Jenny from you?"

Rovell looked back at her with an icy cold stare, "I know very well what kind of person you are, I also know how much you hate Jenny, Clara, for the sake of us being husband and wife, if you're willing to reveal her whereabouts today, I'll save you, how about it?"

Clara suddenly felt absurd.

She'd never encountered anything so funny.

Her own husband, in her most desperate hour, had to force her to reveal the whereabouts of another woman before he would save her.

Clara lost her voice and laughed, the more she laughed the crazier she became, and eventually even tears rolled down her face.

She looked at Rovell like she was watching a joke.

"Rovell, you don't still think that Jenny Jing will break up with you, do you?"

Rovell frowned fiercely.

Deep in his heart, there was a certain soft threat of Min-Dare that she touched, and it irritated him a little.

"This isn't about you."

"Yes, it was nothing to do with me! After all, I'm only your nominal wife now, and you can divorce me any day, any time you want!

But who do you think you are? Do you think that if you find out from me where Jenny is and then save her from the sky, she will be grateful to you and rekindle her old feelings?

Muyenze, are you really stupid or pretending to be stupid? Leaving aside the fact that Jenny will let go of Biden Lu and choose you instead, with the fact that I don't even know where she is, you won't be able to fulfill your wish!

Hahahahahahahahaha..."

She said, and then laughed madly.

Rovell's face fell into a livid state, and he clenched his fists in a death grip, desperately trying to suppress the anger in his chest in order to keep himself from striking out and throwing the crazy woman in front of him.

"You say you don't know where she is?"

"Of course! If I'd known, why would I still be stuck here?"

"You lie! You're the one who kidnapped her, obviously!"

"Yes, yes, I kidnapped her, but she had escaped halfway through, so what? You're thinking about her so intensely, and she doesn't contact you to tell you where she's landed?"

Oh, look at that, how ridiculous! You're making a fool of yourself, he's probably out there somewhere! Rovell, I always thought I was stupid, but I didn't think you were even stupider than me, hahahaha..."

Rovell Mu's handsome face went blue and white as she was sarcastic.

Clenched fists, creaking, bones all whitened from the effort.

Finally, in the end, he took a deep breath and stood up.

Looking across at the woman who was sitting in a chair, crying and laughing, already paralyzed, she couldn't help but show a touch of disgust under her eyes.

"Crazy!"

After that, he walked out without a trace of attachment.

Rovell didn't end up bailing Clara out.

Tonshu didn't know what was going on, but could about tell that something was wrong between the two of them.

She's an eye candy, and after so many years in the business, the best thing she can do is nothing more than take stock of the situation.

Clara has brought herself to this situation, she is to blame for everything, now even the Mu family has abandoned her, she, the agent, is powerless even if she wants to save her.

Therefore, in the end, Tong Shu only gave her a few hasty explanations and then also left.

It was as if Clara had lost her soul, and she was a different person from how she looked before.

Even when she left, she didn't say anything more to stay or ask for help.

Just sat there, head down, with a wooden hmmm.

When Tong Shu saw her like this, she knew that her life was ruined. She had a bright future, but she wanted to dwell on the little grudge between the two people, and ended up folding herself in.

She's helped out with a lot of ideas, but she generally wants her well and isn't trying to get her into this mess.

Finally, all one could do was sigh in frustration and turn away.

It was only after everyone had left that two police officers came in to take her to where she was being held temporarily.

Chapter 248

Halfway there, but Clara suddenly faltered.

She turned to look at one of the officers and said quietly, "I'd like to make another phone call."

The police officer looked at her impatiently, "How many calls have you made today? You really think someone's going to save you? Don't dream about it, stay well and think about it and honestly confessing your crimes is the right thing to do, understand?"

Clara coldly hooked the corner of her lips.

She took a step to the side and suddenly slammed her head into the wall.

The two police officers were bewildered and were too busy eye-to-eye to hold her back.

"Are you crazy? What do you want?"

"I want to call!"

Two police officers: "..."

Finally, one of them waved a helpless hand.

"Okay, okay, give it to her! It's crazy."

Clara got the phone as promised.

She gripped the phone, only to feel her fingertips trembling.

It was only after the two police officers had been told to exit for privacy reasons that the call was made.

Across the street, a soft female voice picked up.

"Hey, which one?"

"It's me."

The other side was quiet for a moment.

Followed by a light laugh, "I thought you were in custody, but you can call? It seems to be quite capable."

Clara said coldly, "You also have a part in this matter, if I'm not rescued, you don't want to have a good end either."

"Heh, you're threatening me?"

"You clearly said it would be okay, and now I'm in this mess, and as an ally, isn't it your job to get me out?"

"An ally? What allies? Why can't I understand what you're saying? Clara, do you have any evidence to prove that I did this for you? I just talked to you the whole time and gave you a few phone calls ah, I did nothing else, how can you frame me like that?"

Hearing the other party's toe-curling and even gloating tone, Clara was furious.

"You're a member of the Kyoto Guan family, aren't you afraid that I'll spread the news about this so that you won't even be able to hold your head up as a human being in the future?"

The other laughed indifferently.

"I'm known as a gentle and filial good girl, and I've always been well liked by Old Mrs. Guan, and everyone knows that I'm not well, so I've always rarely gotten involved in outside affairs."

And you, a man who is full of lies, a mistress on top and persecuting your sister, like a mad dog that bites people all over the world, whose words are more trustworthy when you say the two of us speak out?"

"You!"

The person opposite said: "Oh, I forgot to tell you, actually I quite admire your sister, a long time ago, I once met her, she saved my life, but then she did not remember me.

I guess one should know how to repay a kindness, so it's nothing to help her out a little this time, just pushing the envelope.

You don't have to be so annoyed, if you didn't have bad intentions in the first place, you wouldn't have been used by me, Clara, you should be thankful that something didn't really happen to Jenny Jing, otherwise, you wouldn't have had the chance to call me today.

Well, that's all I have to say, so you're on your own from now on."

The other party hung up the phone right after.

Clara was simply furious.

I never thought they'd play her like that!

She suddenly thought of what the other had just said.

A long time ago, Jenny Jing had saved her life....

Knowing grace and pushing the envelope....

Suddenly she was in a state of shock!

It was as if a cold snake was slowly creeping up from her own tailbone, causing chills to run down her spine.

She got it!

She understands everything!

from the outset

In the end, it was all just a trap for Jenny.

Everyone inside, even the strong bodyguards that the surnamed Guan had introduced to her in the beginning, might have been people Jenny knew.

Otherwise, she couldn't have a picture of that secret room!

She wondered how Jenny could still be able to fu*k over four well-trained men and escape when she had already injected her with an inch of the drug.

It all made sense now, those guys weren't defeated by her, they were deliberately draining the water so she could escape!

Thinking about all of this, Clara was suddenly like an ice cave, only to feel chilled to the bone.

She clasped her arms tightly and crouched down slowly along the wall with her whole body shaking slightly, even as she couldn't help the slightest tremble in her teeth.

Outside, two police officers were shocked to see her like this through the glass, and thought something had happened to her, running in.

It was a relief to see that she was fine, just a little off in her whole state of mind, and sent her back to her room.

The same night.

Jenny was sleeping drowsily when his phone suddenly dinged.

She opened her eyes slightly and picked the phone up sleepily.

The only thing I saw was a text message from an unfamiliar number with a simple message.

"Long time no see, Seven."

Jenny was stunned.

The subconscious snapped awake with a jolt.

She held her phone and looked at the text number on it, thinking for a long time about who this person was.

Her memory had always been good and she was even more sensitive to numbers, but now she had no memory of the number, so that should be someone who hadn't been contacted.

Who's the other guy?

Next to her, Biden Lu was awakened by her movements, reached over and took her in, asking, "What's wrong? Wife."

Jenny turned pale and shook his head.

"Nothing."

She turned her head to look at the man in the dim light, his eyes closed and sleepy.

She pursed her lips and said, "I'm going to go to the bathroom."

I said, getting out of bed.

But unexpectedly, Biden Lu also sat up.

"I'll go with you."

Jenny couldn't help but laugh.

The bathroom was in the room, and not far away, and the man....

She pressed him back.

"Get your sleep, I'll be right back."

Afterwards, without giving him another chance to react, he quickly slipped away.

Entering the bathroom, Jenny locked the door, flipped out the message, and dialed the phone number on it.

But there were a few busy tones on the other side, and I couldn't get through at all.

Jenny was stunned.

Seven is a name that only so few people know.

And those people would never send her such a message at this time.

And she's been gone for so many years that even K, recently, didn't want to get her involved because of internal matters within the organization, so she hasn't been contacted again.

Who could it be?

She was puzzled, and outside, the man had seen her for a long time and was already calling out to her.

"Honey, are you okay?"

Jenny even replied, "It's fine, I'll be right out."

She put her phone away, washed her hands and walked out to open the door, but she didn't realize that some man was already standing outside the door.

Jenny was shocked by him and asked, "What are you doing?"

Biden Lu gave her a grudging look.

"I'm afraid you won't be able to get out if you fall in the toilet, so if you don't come out, I'm going to go in and retrieve you."

Jenny: "....."

That slimy retard!