I'm Sorry My Love Novel Alternative

Chapter 2656

The

woman in the movie is heavily makeup, and her face is like a layer of plaster.

As for the woman in front of her, her facial muscles were stiff, and her face was like a plaster cast.

like zombies.

For such a woman, Galia felt bad for her at first.

Since this woman is watching her here, Galia simply refuses to enter the door, she just doesn't want this woman to know where she is going.

After standing outside the gate of the community for five minutes, the woman was the first to hold back.

She came to Galia and asked hastily, "Ma'am, you...why didn't you go in?"

The hoarse voice made people feel like they wanted to cry.

Galia looked at the woman suspiciously: "Ma'am, I don't know you, if I remember correctly, this is the second time you've spoken to me, right?"

Who are you?

What do you want to do?

You can be truthful . Answer me?

If you can't, I'll call the police, okay!" The woman's face suddenly panicked, and she stepped back twice in a row, since she ran in a hurry.

Galia sneered.

Watching the woman go away, Galia came to the guard at the gate and said, "Security, there are elderly people in this community and the children are not around. You can help and pay attention, don't let the elderly be deceived.

" Head: "As long as we see it, we will prevent such idle people from entering the door."

"Thank you." Galia then went to Galia's house at ease.

The old couple welcomed Galia as always.

Galia also regards the old couple as her relatives more and more. In the past, she just did housework and listened to the old man's story. Now, whenever Galia came over, she would rub the legs and shoulders of the two old men and accompany them. Take a walk in the neighborhood or something.

This time, Galia even told the two old people directly: "Uncle and auntie, I know that you are all high-level intellectuals. Normally, no one can deceive you, but uncles and aunts, there are really all kinds of liars out there now.

What are you going out to buy food for? Yes , if you meet a woman of that kind of person who is warm and of unknown origin, and chats up with you and greets you, you must never ignore them. It's always right to ignore them.

Even if they ask you for directions , don't pay attention to them. If you really ask for directions, ask the old people who can't smell it, and they will ask the young people on the roadside, so as not to delay them.

You just need to protect yourselves, do you understand uncles and aunts?"

Seeing that Galia treated her parents like her parents, she repeatedly told them for fear that they would be deceived. It was too late for Yan's father and Yan's mother to be grateful. They must have nodded quickly and agreed in unison: "Understood girl, we will definitely listen to you."

"No matter what happens . What's the matter, my brother Christopher is not at home, you must call me as soon as possible, do you hear?" She repeatedly urged.

The second old man replied obediently, "I heard it." Galia really agreed on this matter.

On the third day Galia told them, that is, on Tuesday, the two old people went out to buy vegetables together. Just after they went out, they were followed by a woman. They didn't notice at first, but after following them for a while, he finally I noticed it, but I couldn't get rid of it. Wherever they went, the woman behind them followed them unhurriedly.

The two frightened old people took out their mobile phones and habitually called Galia.

At this time, Galia was two stops away from the company. She immediately got off the car decisively, took a taxi and went to Yan's father and Yan's mother. When she got there, she saw that it was the woman!

A haunted woman!

"What do you want! I'll call the police now, call the police immediately!" Galia took out her mobile phone and called the police without hesitation.

The woman was frightened and fled in a panic, and in a few minutes she ran away without a trace.

Because of this, Galia did not go to the company for an hour until the director of the fashion department called her to come back as soon as possible. There was a new customer to discuss, and Galia sent the old man home and then returned to the company.

After entering a company, Galia went straight to the conference room. There are new clients waiting for her, as is the director.

"I'm sorry I'm late for something urgent today, that...how...how is it you?" Galia was half-speaking, and the whole person was stunned.

Chapter 2657

"Galia, why are you here?" The other party's male voice was low and repulsive.

Even the director heard it.

The director asked Galia: "You... know each other?"

Galia: "..."

Of course they do.

This is the person she has always tried to forget, and has already forgotten, but she never thought that in the vast sea of people, the huge Nancheng, with a population of tens of millions, would allow them to see each other again.

Moreover, it was encountered in such a small space.

The bond between people is really amazing.

"Mr. Liao, hello." Galia was stunned for a moment and then calmed down. She politely greeted the man.

Mr. Liao glared at Galia with extremely cold eyes, and his tone was also cold: "I'm asking you, why are you here!" Remember that before Galia could speak, the director said, "Mr. How do you say it? I can see that you met before. Did you have any unpleasantness in business?"

But work is work, the previous work has passed, and you can no longer bring it into the current environment.

Besides, we belong to two companies, and our two companies have a cooperative relationship. Mr. Liao doesn't have to be so serious, right? If Galia has anything wrong with you or your company before, I will apologize to you for her.

Calm down, Calm down, okay?" The director is the director.

He settled the matter without hurting his temper.

Seeing the director looking at the overall situation like this, Galia didn't say anything. After the director apologized, Galia also said humbly, "Mr. Liao, I'm sorry." Mr. Liao snorted again gone.

: "Humph!"

"Mr. Liao..." Galia shouted immediately.

Director: "..."

He gave Galia a puzzled look.

Galia bit her lip.

She holds a stack of documents in her hand. These documents show that the other party's fashion company is very strong. This company is a peripheral city that the Fu Group has been looking for in the past six months. Whether it is production cost, production quality, or design strength. is the best company.

Fu's Group is an upstream group and is located in an international metropolis. Obviously, such a city is no longer suitable for some procurement of raw materials. The fashion brands under the Fu Group have to find such powerful factories in the periphery to provide themselves with raw materials, as well as processing and production.

The group company searched for half a year before finding the company that best met the requirements of the Fu Group.

Although Fu's Group is upstream, and Mr. Liao's company is a supplier, it stands to reason that suppliers are not qualified to challenge the group company, but a fashion factory with strong strength and good quality, Fu's The group also does not want to let go easily.

These are all clear to Galia, a professional.

Therefore, the moment she saw Mr. Liao leave, Galia quickly chased him out: "Mr. Liao! Mr. Liao, wait a moment, Mr. Liao!" But the man had already walked away.

Behind him, the director stopped Galia: "Galia."

Galia looked at the director with an apologetic expression: "Director, I'm sorry, this..."

The director also sighed: "Galia, I know that you have always worked hard, you can't pick out any flaws, and you have never been late for work, I just want to know, why are you late today? How about an hour and a half?"

Galia bit her lip: "I'm sorry, I'm sorry director..." The director continued: "This fashion company is indeed excellent in every aspect, do you know that people have They came from out of town and attached great importance to picking up large orders like ours. They took the high-speed train for two and a half hours at four o'clock in the morning, and took another one-hour taxi from the train station before they came to our company

. Eight o'clock!

It's still an hour before we go to work, and people are already waiting here.
