

Chapter 291 Letting Charlotte Stay in Gredax

Madelyn coldly said, "No need!"

When she intended to leave the car, Benjamin blocked her way, deeply stared at her, and said, "It was my fault last time. I shouldn't have treated you like that. Madelyn, don't give me the silence treatment or say those harsh words, OK?"

Madelyn smiled, looked at him, and softly said, "Charlotte went to meet me and said she wanted to stay by your side as your mistress! It was disgusting! If you hadn't personally gone there to save her or looked after her in the hospital for three days, she would not have had the confidence to challenge me!"

It was all his fault!

Benjamin was startled to hear this. He had not expected Charlotte to be so clueless. He blocked her number after paying for her medical expenses and confirming her life was not in danger. He had not contacted her since then.

He lowered his voice and said, "I'll take care of it, OK?"

Madelyn lowered her eyes and smiled, "No need! I'll handle it!"

Benjamin thought she would scold Charlotte and drive her away, so he decided not to interfere.

Something had touched him tonight, so he wanted to sleep with Madelyn and said in a muffled voice, "Can you sleep in my bedroom? I won't do anything that will offend you!"

Madelyn was not interested. She also had sexual desire but could not convince herself to forgive him. So, she rejected him.

Under the pale moonlight, Benjamin leaned over to kiss her. But she shrank back, intending to get out of the car from the other side. But he quickly followed her into the car, grabbed her arm, and pressed her into the back seat, trying to kiss her.

Suddenly, there was a cough outside the car. Then, Alexander asked, "What are you doing, Benjamin?"

Benjamin stiffened. Looking down at Madelyn in his arms, he found it hard to suppress his desire.

Madelyn's slender throat tightened when she hoarsely said, "Dad, let me take a walk with you!"

Alexander waited outside, so Benjamin let go of her. Then, she fixed her clothes and got out of the car.

Alexander knew the young couple were quarreling at a glance, so he smiled, "Maddie, let's go for a walk!"

Hearing his questions, Madelyn was a little dizzy. Then, she smiled, "Yes! I am cold-blooded! I want to drive her out of Gredax! I don't care whether she will die!"

...

Benjamin intensely glared at her. Then, he walked to the end of the corridor, called his assistant, and gave several orders.

His assistant was surprised to hear his words but still did what he asked him to do.

Madelyn stood under the lamp in the corridor. She had heard his words. He wanted to help Charlotte return to the school and pay for her medical expenses. And he would let her stay in Gredax.

Suddenly, Madelyn felt extremely tired. She and Benjamin were not on the same page. He could not understand her injuries or the fears in her heart.

The crystal lamp in the corridor was bright.

Her face turned pale when she sent a message, saying, "Stop watching her. You can come back."

After Benjamin finished the call and looked back, Madelyn had left. There was only coldness left in the long and luxurious corridor.

He realized his tone had been too harsh. He didn't want to get into a stalemate with her and was willing to coax her gently. He believed Charlotte's matter would be over if they met each other halfway.

So, he knocked on her bedroom door and said, "Madelyn, open the door!"

But there was no response after a long time. She didn't want to communicate with him.

He patiently waited momentarily, lowered his voice, and said, "Please open the door. Let's talk. You don't want to wake my parents so late at night, right? Madelyn, please be reasonable."

...

She still did not come out! He stood there for a long time before he returned to his bedroom.

Their relationship had reached a freezing point!

They had barely met recently. Madelyn refused to give him a chance, and he couldn't swallow his pride.

But in the dead of night, his Physical and mental cravings told him he was attracted to her and wanted to have sex with her.

Chapter 292 Don't Touch Me

Benjamin attended a business dinner after getting off work. He was in a bad mood, so he had drunk a lot and felt dizzy when getting in the car.

The driver didn't know about his private life. While opening the car door for him, he casually said, "Mr. Clark, you are drunk! Mrs. Clark will be unhappy when you return home. Women don't like drunk men!"

Benjamin leaned back in the backseat, took a cigarette from the case, and lit it. After blowing out a puff of smoke, he chuckled, "She won't care."

Madelyn was cold to him and did not allow him to touch her. And they had not had sex for several months. He was like a single man now.

Most couples had conflicts but could become reconciled soon. However, she had moved to another room. It was difficult for him to talk to her, let alone sleep with her!

The driver sensed something wrong and didn't dare to say anything more. So, he walked to the driver's seat. When he was about to start the car, a soft voice said, "Mr. Clark!"

Benjamin looked over and saw Charlotte outside! She had a cane and could not walk steadily.

Charlotte followed his gaze, looked at her leg, and said, "The doctor said my leg will recover in two months. There will be no sequelae!"

After finishing speaking, she showed a pitiful look. She had thought Benjamin would visit her after arguing with his wife. But he had not gone to see her after she had waited for a long time. However, it did not matter. If he did not visit her, she could take the initiative to meet him!

Benjamin nodded at her and told the driver to drive.

The driver responded, turned the car around, and drove toward the main road. Watching the expensive black RV pass by, Charlotte sneered. Then, she threw away the cane and weakly fell to the ground, looking pitiful.

Seeing this, Benjamin frowned, considered it, and said, "Stop the car!"

The driver was confused.

Benjamin lightly said, "Help her into the car and drive her home!"

The driver hesitatingly said, "Mrs. Clark will be unhappy if she finds out!"

Benjamin was a little drunk, so he stroked his forehead and said, "She will not know if you don't tell her. We will send Charlotte home. It's no big deal."

The driver fell silent, got off, and helped Charlotte into the car.

When Charlotte sat beside Benjamin, he closed his eyes to meditate without talking to her. But she could smell the pleasant pine scent on him. She quietly turned sideways to look at him. His profile was perfect. His facial features were angular, good-looking, and noble. And the car was highly luxurious. She greedily enjoyed all this, leaned over with a blush on her face, sniffed his excellent smell, and imagined herself making out with him. She wondered whether he would hold her down and whether his expression would be distorted and affectionate.

When she thought of this, her heart skipped a beat. Looking at his snow-white shirt, she came up with an idea, gently leaned over, and kissed it, leaving a light orange lip mark. It looked evident on the white cloth so his wife would not miss it.

When Benjamin frowned and opened his eyes, she quickly sat up straight.

Half an hour later, the car stopped in front of an apartment with a friendly environment.

When the driver helped Charlotte out of the car, Benjamin sat still with no intention of getting off. Charlotte bent over and softly said, "Mr. Clark, thank you for sending me back. If you need me to explain to Mrs. Clark, I make it clear to her that there is nothing between us!"

Looking at her face, he smiled without saying anything.

When the car started, Benjamin did not close his eyes to rest. He had noticed Charlotte lean over just now. She was young and looked like Eleanor. She was Eleanor's sister but courted him. He knew he could sleep with her if he gently hugged her. Then, he would have a young and obedient lover and let her be Eleanor's substitute.

she could not help

Last night, she had heard Madelyn talk on the phone about looking for a house with five bedrooms.

Madelyn was stunned to hear this. She pinched her little face and smiled, "Everest, are you willing to live with me? Our new house is close to your kindergarten. I can hold your little hand and walk you to kindergarten daily!"

And she could go to pick up Everest with Francis.

Benjamin heard she would move out with the kids when he came downstairs.

He walked over and sat down next to her. He didn't want to argue with her before the children, so he whispered, "Let the driver send Everest to kindergarten. We need to talk!"

Madelyn wiped Everest's mouth and casually nodded after a long while. She was always cold. Despite seeing the solid evidence last night, she had not lost her temper.

After Everest entered kindergarten, Benjamin picked up the car keys and said, "I'll drive you to the company. We'll talk on the way!"

Madelyn agreed.

Sitting in the passenger seat, she could smell the strange feminine fragrance in the car, although one night had passed. She thought Charlotte left it.

She took out two agreements from her briefcase. One was a separation agreement, and the other was a divorce agreement.

Then, she whispered, "If we sign the separation agreement, we will divorce two years later. If we sign the divorce agreement, we can immediately get divorced. The difference is the visitation rights in the next two years."

Benjamin casually flipped through the two agreements.

There was little difference between the two documents because there was no property division. The Everest Group was Madelyn's. And she did not want anything but the two children!

Benjamin closed the documents, threw them on the center console, took a cigarette, and lit it.

Smoke soon filled the car.

Madelyn felt a little suffocated, so she silently opened the car window.

Suddenly, Benjamin asked, "Do you think my father will allow you to take away the two children of the Clark family?"

Madelyn's eyes turned slightly red when she said, "He has agreed!"

Benjamin's fingers holding the cigarette slightly trembled before he asked in a muffled voice, "Is it because of what happened last night? Madelyn, I didn't sleep with her! I didn't even kiss her!"

It was she who had cold-shouldered him for too long!

He did not agree to divorce or to separate. He knew there was a big problem between them. He wanted to solve it, so he grabbed her hand and gently said, "Let's go out to play! Only the two of us."

Madelyn pulled her hand back, leaned back in the seat, and tiredly said, "Benjamin, I want a divorce!"

Then, she opened the car door, got off, and entered another car.

Benjamin chased after her and patted the car door, saying, "Madelyn, get out! We need to talk!"

He did not want a divorce. It was not because of his reputation. He did want Everest and Francis to become single-parent kids!

Henry was in a dilemma, so he asked, "Mrs. Clark?"

Madelyn flatly said, "Start the car!"

Then, the black RV slowly passed by Benjamin. Madelyn had thought she would not feel sad anymore, but her eyes still turned red. She was disappointed in him but had deeply loved him before.

However, a different beginning would naturally lead to a different ending.

Chapter 293 Divorce

Benjamin did not want a divorce.

He kept bugging Madelyn and showed up at the gate of the Everest Group every day when she got off work.

Others thought they were a loving couple, but Madelyn felt tired.

She could tolerate his bad temper and violence when having sex. But Charlotte's matter had crossed the line. He knew Charlotte's ambition but still allowed her to get close to him. He did not respect his wife and thought he was faithful as long as he did not have sex with other women.

At half past five on Friday, Madelyn handed a signed document to Gloria and said, "You can get off work after dealing with it!"

Gloria smiled, "Ms. Green, Mr. Clark called and said he wanted to pick up Everest with you!"

Seeing Madelyn fall silent, Gloria didn't dare to say anything more and left with the document.

Madelyn sat in a daze for a while before packing her things and leaving.

Benjamin had been bugging her for a long time. After getting in the elevator, she thought he intended to use the kids to let her give up divorcing him. But it was precisely because of them that she had decisively made up her mind.

Benjamin was sitting leisurely on the sofa in the lobby of the Everest Group. He was wearing a light gray shirt and a classic black suit jacket, looking elegant. His handsome face was radiant. No one could see his wife was trying to divorce him.

Seeing Madelyn come downstairs, he stood up, took the briefcase from her hand, and gently said, "There are activities in the kindergarten today so the class will end a little later. It's right for us to go to pick up Everest now!"

He was smart. He knew she would not embarrass him publicly and wanted to make Everest happy.

After she got into his car, he found she didn't want to communicate with him.

She asked when he would sign the agreement daily, but he would not sigh!

His Adam's apple slightly rolled before he hoarsely said, "Fasten your seat belt!"

Hearing this, Madelyn came to her senses.

When she was fastening her seat belt, he started the car and gently ventured, "What about we take Everest to eat steak later? She kept clamoring for it and said she wanted to eat out with both of us!"

Madelyn understood his implication, so she remained silent and said, "You can see her and Francis after we divorce!"

Benjamin's fingers turned white as he tightened his grip on the steering wheel.

Then, he lightly asked, "What about you? I can't see you after we divorce, right?"

Madelyn felt bad. She had promised not to give up. But now, she went back on her word. She turned to look outside the window and murmured, "We can meet. But our relationship will change!"

Benjamin fell silent. After a long time, he said in a muffled voice, "Madelyn, can't you forgive me this time?"

"Thank you!"

Then, Madelyn had the spaghetti in silence.

Seeing this, Benjamin felt like an outsider.

Alexander suddenly snapped, "Benjamin, come with me!"

...

Then, the father and son went to the study.

Benjamin had just wiped the blood, but Alexander hit him with a paperweight again.

Then, he pointed at him and angrily said, "You brat! How could you do such a thing? Is it worth it for such a woman? Can't you see how much Madelyn loves the children? She would not have been so good to them if she had not loved you!"

Benjamin was confused.

Alexander sneered, "I know you don't remember! But you're family in the household registration book! You are Madelyn's husband and the kids' father! Why did you bother to stop that woman when she courted death?"

After venting his anger, Alexander suddenly felt tired. It was late at night. Under the lamp, his face looked particularly old!

He waved his hand, sat down, and said in a muffled voice, "Maybe it is fate! Madelyn wants to divorce you. Your mother and I are reluctant to part with her. However, she suffered from postpartum depression after giving birth to Everest. Benjamin, you can do whatever you want now. But I won't allow you to marry that indecent woman! Besides, the property of our Clark family will belong to Everest and Francis! That woman will not get a penny!"

...

Benjamin lightly sat down, took out a cigarette, and lit it.

After being stunned for a long time, he hoarsely said, "Dad, I don't want to divorce Madelyn!"

Alexander lightly sighed and tiredly said, "Benjamin, I am also a man! I know what you are thinking. But you don't know you and Madelyn were in love before you lost your memory! You used to have a crush on Eleanor. But you and Madelyn went through a lot together. You loved her much more than Eleanor! She loves you, but you disappointed her!"

Benjamin sat in the study until dawn.

When the sky became bright, he slowly stood up and went to see Everest.

She had fallen asleep. And her eyelashes were long and cute. Her face was fair, tender, and warm, making him want to bite.

He looked at her for a long time and kissed her. She was intelligent and cute, so he liked her.

He had a necessary court hearing in the morning, so he went back to his bedroom to change clothes, intending to go to the office.

Unexpectedly, Madelyn was quietly sitting on the sofa in his bedroom. It seemed she had waited for him for a long time.

Seeing the divorce agreement on the coffee table, he froze.

She wanted to get a divorce without separation!

Chapter 294 You Are Still My Wife

The sunshine was weak in the morning.

Madelyn's face was pale when she calmly said, "Sign it!"

Benjamin stared at her.

After a long time, he gently closed the door, slowly walked over, picked up the agreement, and whispered, "Madelyn, what happened yesterday is an accident. I promise she will never appear in front of Everest again!"

Madelyn sneered. She didn't want to hear his promises anymore but wanted to protect her children.

So, she calmly said, "Sign it. We will move out when Everest's mood gets better."

Madelyn was sad. When she had moved here, she had had some hope. She had thought he could feel the warmth of family here. But maybe she had been wrong since the beginning. She should have given up when he had left his family to rescue Charlotte.

Benjamin stared at her. Seeing the tears in her eyes, he threw the agreement on the coffee table and went into the walk-in closet to change clothes. But he couldn't find suitable clothes after a long time!

Finally, he stood inside and said, "Madelyn, do you think I have no feelings for you? I would not have moved back with you if I had not liked you!"

He refused to divorce and asked, "Don't you love me?"

Madelyn calmly replied, "I'm too tired to love you! I want to live a stable life now!"

Benjamin had put on a shirt. But he suddenly took it off, threw it aside, and put on another one. After repeating it several times, he finally came out, looked at her, and softly said, "I do not agree to divorce!"

Madelyn lowered her eyes and smiled, "I will find another way! If you don't sign, you can't blame me for harming your woman!"

Benjamin sneered, "My woman is you instead of her!"

She scoffed, thinking his joke was not funny at all.

She stood up, slammed the door shut, and left without looking back.

Before Benjamin left home, he went to see Francis. Seeing a servant feeding him milk, he couldn't help asking, "Isn't Francis breastfed?"

Madelyn's breasts were plump and produced more milk than Francis could finish.

Benjamin aggressively threw Madelyn onto the soft sofa. She buried her head in the fabric when she felt his overwhelming attacks. And even her groans were disjointed.

Benjamin bit her soft ear and murmured, "It feels so good!"

They were in the Clarks' mansion, so Madelyn could not loudly scream. Otherwise, the servants would laugh at her. Besides, Benjamin's parents were taking a nap upstairs. She uncomfortably turned her face aside, and a seductive light blue vein appeared at the end of her eyebrow. Benjamin loved it the most. When Madelyn have an orgasm, it would appear.

After a while, he gently touched it with his slender fingers and gasped, "You are still my wife. If I don't sign the agreement, you will be Mrs. Clark!"

He repeatedly had sex with her. He had not touched her for a long time and missed her smell too much, so he had imprisoned her in his arms for more than three hours.

When it was over, he still held her and refused to let go.

Madelyn had been f*cked for several hours. When she regained a little strength, she kicked him and cried, "Enough! Get off me!"

Benjamin lowered his head and kissed her.

After a long time, he whispered, "You're finally obedient!"

Madelyn pushed him away and sat up, although she was naked. She gently combed her coffee-colored hair with her fingers and tremblingly said calmly, "Do you think I will change my mind and become submissive to you after you f*cked me for a few hours? You think too highly of yourself!"

Although they had had sex, she would still divorce him!

After speaking, she walked straight to the bathroom to shower.

He had put on his wrinkled shirt and trousers when she came out. He stared at her and asked in a muffled voice, "Why are you wearing such clothes? Are you going out?"

Madelyn picked up her phone from the sofa and walked outside.

He grabbed her by her arm and asked her where she was going.

She shook off his hand and said, "I'm going to buy oral contraceptives! Do you think I will continue to give birth to your child?"

She had stopped producing milk last night, and her period would soon return. They had had sex today so that she might get pregnant.

Chapter 295 Signing the Divorce Agreement

After a long time, Benjamin hoarsely said, "I'll buy them!"

It was improper for a woman to buy such things alone!

Since he had offered to run errands, Madelyn didn't refuse. Besides, he had f*cked her so hard that she felt weak in her legs.

When he returned with the pills half an hour later, Madelyn was in the bedroom. She opened the bottle and swallowed the capsules with warm water. And she felt uncomfortable when eating.

After taking the pills, she turned to look at him and said, "Please get out!"

Men would become more easygoing after satisfying sex. So, he did not get angry when she chased him away. Instead, he sat beside her and hoarsely said, "You are squeamish when taking pills. But you did not get hurt when having sex."

Madelyn lowered her eyes and whispered, "Benjamin, it's boring!"

He knew she minded Charlotte's matter, so he whispered, "I did not help her anymore!"

"Really? Can you explain why you offered to give her thirty thousand dollars?"

...

He had not expected her to know about it and immediately guessed Paisley had told her.

He gently stroked her coffee-colored hair and hoarsely said, "Madelyn, you need to leave some leeway when doing things! I have no feelings for her. Can you believe me?"

Madelyn sneered. Even if they had had sex, they still parted on bad terms.

Benjamin refused to divorce and became attentive to his wife and children.

He knew Madelyn had found a house and was waiting for him to sign the divorce agreement. But he had had no chance to get close to her for half a month. When Madelyn returned home, she always slept with Everest.

Everest continued to see the psychiatrist, and Madelyn treated him even more coldly.

Half a month later, Benjamin closed the document in Bravo Legal Firm and said, "Paisley, book two air tickets to Esrand. I will be on a business trip for a week."

Paisley nodded, "Yes, Mr. Clark!"

When she was about to leave, he stopped her and weighed his words before saying, "You have a good relationship with Madelyn. Can you help me persuade her?"

Paisley fell into an embarrassing position. When the big shots fought, she was implicated!

So, he leaned over and whispered into her ear like a lover, "As you wish, we will divorce! It's not because of Charlotte. It is because we are not suitable!"

...

After speaking, he sat up, climbed into the driver's seat, casually buttoned his shirt, lowered his head, and lit a cigarette.

Charlotte was patting the window outside while the coupe in the car was silent. It was ironic.

Madelyn fixed her clothes and slowly sat up. She knew she had pissed Benjamin off. Charlotte was a taboo not only for her but also for him.

He wanted Charlotte to be clean and pour. But Madelyn had ruined it.

She thought Benjamin hated her now.

After he finished smoking a cigarette, the car was full of smoke. Then, he lightly said, "I will sign the divorce agreement after I return from my business trip."

Soon, Benjamin's love affair with a young actress was exposed in Esrand. They had been photographed together many times!

The actress hired the reporters to excite the love affair, but Benjamin did not deny it. He allowed the love affair to ferment and become headlines.

Madelyn had seen the news but had not asked him about it. After all, they would divorce soon.

After Benjamin returned to Gredax, he didn't go home for a week. But he had promised to sign the divorce agreement.

When Madelyn bumped into him at an Edofordian restaurant, he was having a meal with the young actress, who looked pretty and elegant.

Seeing her, Benjamin smiled.

He did not avoid her but thoughtfully ordered a dessert for his female companion. The actress overlooked Madelyn and happily accepted it.

Madelyn looked a little pale when she passed by them. She thought they would get married soon. After all, Mr. Clark had accompanied the actress from Esrand to Gredax.

The person she made an appointment with didn't show up, so she ate alone. Looking up, she occasionally met Benjamin's deep and thoughtful eyes. So, she didn't look at him.

A tall figure blocked her view when she lowered her head to cut the steak. When she raised her eyes, Benjamin sat opposite her. Before she could speak, he calmly asked, "Are you still living at home?"

Madelyn's slender fingers paused before softly saying, "I'll move out after you sign the agreement!"

Benjamin leaned back, gently touched his noble white shirt, and said with a half-smile, "You can move out even if I don't sign! But if you insist, we will sign it tonight!"

He deliberately bullied her! Although they would divorce, he should have maintained a good demeanor. But he wanted to see her calm face crack into pieces! He tried to hurt her!

The actress had chased him to Gredax and asked him to be her legal advisor. He didn't like her. But when she had let the reporters expose their "love affair," he had not denied it. He knew Madelyn would feel uncomfortable about it! He had decided to give up on her. They would have nothing to do with each other after signing the divorce agreement!

He was hateful and spoiled Madelyn's appetite. So, she put down the knife and fork and said, "Good! We can sign it now!"

Chapter 296 Diary

When Paisley sent the agreement late at night, Benjamin and Madelyn sat in the study room.

He decisively and readily signed it.

When it was Madelyn's turn, she held the agreement and looked at it for a long time before leaning over to sign her name with tears in her eyes.

Benjamin leaned back on the sofa, looked at her for a few seconds, and said mockingly, "Isn't it what you want?"

He felt happy because he finally made her uncomfortable.

Madelyn was in a bad mood. She was different from him. He did not love her, so the divorce could not hurt him. But she had divorced him without losing her memories.

From now on, they would be like strangers.

Madelyn gently put down her pen, stood up, and whispered, "I will move out with the kids tomorrow morning!"

Benjamin was startled because he had not expected them to move out so soon.

Madelyn fell silent. She held the doorknob, gently opened the door, and went out. Then, the door lightly closed.

When Benjamin stared at the door, his happiness slowly disappeared.

People from the moving company began to work early in the morning. When Benjamin tied his tie and went downstairs, he saw many people coming in and out.

Madelyn was in the living room.

She calmly said, "I'll have the things in the villa moved away in a few days. And I want the piano."

Cemetery!

Benjamin picked up the car keys and hurried downstairs. When he got in the car and touched the steering wheel, his heart was widely beating. He didn't know why she had gone to the cemetery but had a hunch that something must be important!

After reading the diary, he didn't know what he should do but wanted to stop her.

It was March, so the roses Benjamin had planted for Madelyn had not bloomed. The Clarks' Cemetery looked deserted.

Madelyn quietly stood before the stone wall carved with Benjamin & Madelyn in a white coat, mourning her dead love.

After a long while, she softly said, "Benjamin, I'm sorry. But I'm going to break my promise!"

She gave up because she did not think that day would come.

She always remembered they had been deeply in love. Perhaps only the love in her memory was beautiful and worthy of her protection. She should not have tried to change a man who did not love her.

A faint smile appeared on her lips when she murmured, "Benjamin, I'm back. I will only guard you from now on. There will be no one else between us!"

She moved the stone wall aside and took out the diamond ring. After many years of sleeping, it was as dazzling as before.

She shed tears when she gently put the diamond ring on her slender ring finger and repeated, "Benjamin, I'm back!"

At the cemetery entrance, Benjamin stopped the car and jumped out.

He saw Madelyn from a distance! He saw her gently put a diamond ring on her finger and kiss it with tears in her eyes. It was like a ceremony and a confession!

Benjamin's face turned pale when he shouted, "Madelyn!"

Under the morning light, she slowly turned her head back and quietly looked at him.

In the breeze, she blossomed like a summer flower. But she no longer belonged to him. After all, they were divorced.

Chapter 297 Is There Any Possibility Between Us

Benjamin always lived his life freely. He had never been so panicked, feeling lost in something meaningful. He wanted to catch it. But Madelyn had decided to let go.

After he had read the diary and listened to the recording, he kept thinking about his attitude toward her these days.

He had let Charlotte work in his firm and left Madelyn behind to save her on New Year's Day. He had blamed Madelyn for being cruel. After she had given him the silent treatment, he had allowed Charlotte to approach him because he had wanted to test his feelings for her. And he had let the actress spread their love affair in anger.

Madelyn had not made a fuss but calmly signed the agreement. She had finally given up on their relationship. She no longer wanted him!

Benjamin slowly walked over and said, "Madelyn!"

When she stood upright in the sunshine, the 52-carat diamond ring on her finger sparkled, stinging his eyes.

He hoarsely said, "I read the diary and listened to the recording!"

He had a lot to say but couldn't make a sound, although he was a famous lawyer who was eloquent in court. He was at a loss.

The overwhelming emotion in the recorder was much more intense than his crush on Eleanor when he was young. He had never expressed his love for a woman so passionately and had been shocked to hear his voice say such words.

Madelyn was stunned to hear this but soon recovered from the shock. Then, she asked, "Where are the things?"

He hoarsely replied, "In my car!"

She said, "I'll go to grab them!"

Then, she walked toward the entrance of the cemetery. When she passed him, he grabbed her thin wrist, refused to give them back, and said, "Madelyn, you promised not to give up on me! I need more time!"

She lightly blinked, lowered her eyes to the diamond ring, and said, "Benjamin, hasn't I waited long enough? Didn't I give you enough opportunities? When I promised not to give up, I did not expect Charlotte's appearance. I have never expected you to think she and the actress are more important than me! My husband could never bear to do this to me!"

...

After finishing speaking, Madelyn felt exhausted.

She pushed his hand away and walked toward the entrance of the cemetery. The sun was bright, dazzling her eyes.

Benjamin stood and looked at the stone wall carved with Benjamin & Madelyn.

He suddenly realized she had left her love here before he could love her.

Everest cutely said, "She is back! She smells great! But I still miss you. I want you to read me fairy tales."

Benjamin's heart melted. He had always been iron-hearted. But listening to her soft voice, he greatly missed her and wanted a family.

Then, he picked up a fairy tale book and gently and patiently read it to her.

As the night became increasingly dark, Everest slowly fell asleep.

Finally, Madelyn picked up the phone and whispered, "She fell asleep!"

Benjamin's heart skipped a beat when he heard her soft voice. Then, he asked the question he had wanted to ask just now in a muffled voice, saying, "Madelyn, is there any possibility between us?"

Madelyn was startled to hear this. After a moment, she whispered, "No!"

Then, she hung up the phone.

She didn't cry because she had cried for him too many times. She had looked indifferent for the past few months but had suffered a lot inside.

Benjamin slowly put down the phone and poured himself a glass of whiskey. Then, he took out the video and repeatedly watched it, seeing Madelyn control his desires.

Now, he knew he had deeply loved her. They had been deeply in love. It was hard for him to accept that she would fall in love and sleep with someone else one day. He could not stand even thinking about it!

She should be his!

Suddenly, there was a knock on the door. Benjamin turned off the video and hoarsely said, "Come in!"

Eloise came in with a late-night snack and softly said, "Benjamin, you haven't eaten well for days."

Benjamin smiled and accepted her kindness.

She sat down and said in embarrassment, "Many people are pursuing Madelyn. Don't you have a sense of crisis?"

Benjamin lost his appetite. He wiped his lips and calmly asked, "How are they pursuing her?"

Eloise whispered, "They send her gifts."

"Do you know what she likes?"

Eloise carefully thought for a long time and said with tears in her eyes, "She likes you the most."

Benjamin was stunned because he had not expected such an answer.

He took out a cigarette, lit it, and silently smoked it. Then, he repeatedly thought about Eloise's words and bitterly smiled, "But she doesn't want me now!"

He wanted to get back together with her, but she was unwilling to give him a chance.

Chapter 298 I Am No Longer Mrs. Clark

When Benjamin was reading a document in the office early in the morning, Paisley pushed the door open, lowered her voice, and said, "Mr. Clark, Miss Tanner's agent, has been here several times. He wants to talk to you."

Benjamin sipped coffee and asked, "Who is Miss Tanner?"

Paisley was stunned before she bit the bullet and replied, "She is the actress Kaylee Tanner!"

It turned out to be her. Benjamin almost forgot that he had deliberately suppressed her after she had posted that tweet. No director dared to cooperate with her now.

He coldly said, "I won't meet him! Don't bother me with such things anymore!"

Paisley nodded and went out.

The agent was disappointed. He had tried many ways, but Benjamin still refused to meet him. So, he knew he was angry.

Because Benjamin suppressed Kaylee, her career became sluggish!

...

A new product seminar was happening in the conference room on the top floor of the Everest Group.

An ignorant man enthusiastically said, "Ms. Green, I recommend Kaylee to endorse our newly developed shower gel!"

As soon as he finished speaking, the conference room fell silent. Sitting next to Madelyn, Gloria did not dare to breathe loudly.

Surprisingly, Madelyn was not angry. Instead, she calmly asked, "How much does she quote?"

"2.8 million dollars!"

Madelyn stood up and said, "Ask her to come to Everest Group with the quotation."

When Kaylee came in the afternoon, Madelyn met her at the company gym.

Benjamin was sitting on the soft bed and smoking with his head high.

He was dressed in black and looked handsome. When he smoked, he looked sexy. But Madelyn was in no mood to admire him. She tightened her bathrobe and coldly asked, "Why are you in my bedroom? Do you need me to remind you that we are divorced every day?"

Benjamin looked at her and softly said, "I'm here to see Everest and Francis!"

Madelyn combed her long hair at the dressing table, saying, "You shouldn't have come to my bedroom. We can talk in the living room!"

Benjamin stubbed out the cigarette and said, "You don't like Kaylee. Why did you let her endorse your product?"

Madelyn slowly combed her long hair and smiled, "Do you want me to tell the truth?"

Benjamin's eyes darkened.

While applying skin care products, she slowly said, "I have invested a lot of money in the shower gel, but the smell is average. And the sample feedback is not good. Then, Kaylee came to beg me! She is cheap. She is a superstar, but her price is only three hundred thousand dollars. Moreover, I can use her scandal with you to excite."

Madelyn chuckled, "People want to know what smell you like, right?"

After finishing speaking, she sniffed at her neck. And the simple action was full of temptation in Benjamin's eyes. Although she was hateful, he was deeply attracted.

He stood up, walked over, put his hands on both sides of her body, leaned over, and hoarsely said, "What if I like the smell of you?"

Madelyn's face turned cold when she snapped, "Sorry, you won't enjoy it anymore!"

Seeing her tender flesh, he wanted to hug her but did not dare.

After talking nonsense with him for a long time, she thought of something important and asked, "Where are the diary and voice recorder?"

"Do you want them? I will give them to you if you let me sleep here tonight. I won't do anything. I want to spend some time with you and the children."

...

Madelyn knew it was a trick. When she was about to push him away, the nanny shouted in panic, "Madam, Francis has a fever!"

Chapter 299 You Have Changed a Lot

Madelyn hurried to the nursery. Francis was sick. She was distressed to see his face turn red because of the high fever. She quickly changed her clothes and said to the servant, "Get the car ready. We will immediately go to the hospital!"

Seeing her panicked, Benjamin held her hand and said, "It will take at least half an hour for the driver to arrive here. I'll send you to the hospital!"

Then, he picked up Francis.

He was tall and could easily hold the child. Madelyn quickly followed behind him.

The night was cold.

She soon opened the backseat door and got in. When Benjamin carefully handed Francis to her, she raised her head and met his eyes.

He whispered, "Madelyn, I know you are disappointed in me! But Everest and Francis are my children. I also love them!"

Madelyn's eyes slightly turned moist, but she didn't say anything, thinking they could not quarrel at such a time, no matter what.

The black car ran fast at night, so they arrived at the hospital half an hour later.

After an examination, the doctor diagnosed Francis with acute pneumonia. It was not a severe illness, but he would be hospitalized for a week.

After being put on a drip, the several-month-old child suffered a lot, so he cried so severely that his face turned red. Madelyn felt distressed.

Late at night, Francis's body temperature finally dropped. Madelyn sat on the edge of the hospital bed and gently touched his little face. She felt guilty because moving house once after another was not good for his health.

Benjamin stood in front of the window and quietly looked at her.

He had always regarded her as a member of the opposite sex. But now, she was a fragile mother who only cared about their son.

Benjamin couldn't help walking over. He gently stroked her long hair and let her rest on his belly. Madelyn was too tired, so she didn't break free and even lightly closed her eyes. However, the tenderness lasted for only ten seconds. Then, she pushed him away.

Benjamin hoarsely said, "Get some sleep! I'll look after him!"

Madelyn nodded but could not fall asleep. She went to the bathroom, wetted a towel with warm water, and gently wiped Francis's body. Then, she returned to the bathroom to wash the towel.

Benjamin stood behind her and asked in a muffled voice, "How did we get along in the past?"

Madelyn paused as she hung the towel. She knew him too well. His behavior tonight and question showed he wanted to return to his family. So, she calmly replied, "It's meaningless to ask about it now!"

Benjamin touched her shoulder and whispered, "Madelyn, can you tell me?"

They had known each other since they were young. After over ten years, he could not help feeling emotional to talk with her again.

Madelyn maintained her smile. She had promised to inject 28.5 million into his company and remained calm when talking to him.

When looking at her face, Jackson was a little absent-minded because he thought of Vivian.

While they were silent, a person sat at the table. It was none other than Benjamin!

When Vivian and Grayson had entered the ward, he had come over for fear that Madelyn would be sad alone.

Unexpectedly, she was having a pleasant talk with Jackson.

Benjamin felt a little jealous, thinking Madelyn was too attractive. After all, she was good-looking and good at flirting.

Benjamin wanted to proclaim sovereignty, so he gently asked, "Why have you sat there so long?"

Although Jackson was a scumbag, he could see Benjamin's jealousy as a man. So, he felt happy. Karma was a b*tch! He wanted to see how Benjamin chased after his wife.

He stood up and said attentively, "I will go to the Everest Group to sign the contract in a few days!"

Madelyn nodded.

As soon as Jackson left, Benjamin asked, "Is he chasing after you?"

"You are sick!"

Madelyn didn't want to talk to him, so she fixed her shawl and stood up.

He grabbed her thin wrist and said, "Madelyn!"

She pushed his hand away. He grabbed her hand and dragged her in when she passed by the women's lavatory.

She dared not scream in the cubicle, so she lowered her voice and said, "Benjamin, are you insane?"

He held her thin waist with one hand, leaned forward, and gently sniffed her slender neck. Then, he hoarsely said, "Promise you will not date other men!"

"We're divorced!"

"But I still want you! I want you to be my wife! Madelyn, please give me a chance!"

Madelyn snapped, "Psycho!"

...

Behind a thin door, Charlotte covered her mouth in disbelief. She could not believe Benjamin was in love with Madelyn. He was so noble that she didn't dare to touch him. So, she had never expected him to beg for a woman's love in such a humble manner.

Chapter 300 I Miss You Both

The partition in the lavatory was thin.

Benjamin rested his head on Madelyn's shoulder and hoarsely said, "Madelyn, I don't know my feelings for you. But I feel uncomfortable when I see you getting along with other men! I'm jealous of Daniel, Joseph, and even Jackson!"

He lightly kissed her hair and said, "I don't know how to love. Madelyn, Can you please teach me?"

Madelyn felt a little sad. He had lost his memory. It would be great if Charlotte hadn't appeared. If he had said this to her earlier, she would... She stopped herself from thinking about it because of her pride.

When she lowered her eyes, she looked gentle. Benjamin couldn't help wanting to kiss her. So, he pressed her against the thin door and kissed her deeply.

But Madelyn did not want it. She struggled but failed to push him away, so she desperately slapped him.

Then, they were both stunned.

When Madelyn leaned against the door, she lumped in her throat. Then, she said in a nasal voice, "Benjamin, do you want me to make it clear again? There is no possibility between us! We will never get back together!"

Did he think divorce was a game? Did he think it was fun for her to move out with her children? No, it was not fun!

When she pushed the door open and went out with red eyes, he stood still and stared at her straight back. He suddenly realized he might never get back together, although she still loved "Benjamin."

He quickly caught up with her. There had been a dispute between them, so they did not talk to each other after they returned to the ward. Even Vivian noticed something was wrong.

When Benjamin told Madelyn he would go to pick up Everest in the afternoon, she adopted a cold attitude. So, he was frustrated.

After he left, Vivian softly said, "His attitude is different from before!"

Madelyn had also noticed it. She knew he liked her and cared for her more than before. But she had lost confidence in their marriage and did not want to wait any longer. She thought it would be easier for them to separate.

Madelyn didn't want to talk about such things in front of her, so she sat beside her and gave her several math problems, ignoring Benjamin.

He was jealous but had no reason to get angry and dared not ask more questions!

Late at night, Madelyn hugged Francis on the hospital bed and looked at his pretty face in a daze. He resembled Benjamin very much. Especially his eyes. So, she gently touched his face with her slender fingers with nostalgia.

Francis was well-behaved. But he refused to drink milk in the middle of the night. When she pressed her face against his, he crawled into her arms and greedily sniffed her breasts through the thin fabric.

She felt distressed because he had been weaned at two months. Then, she looked at the door to the small room where Benjamin and Everest were sleeping. After a moment's hesitation, she unbuttoned her pajamas.

Francis found the place and contentedly sucked it. Even if he couldn't get any milk, he felt satisfied. In the dark, the sucking sound was alluring.

Benjamin didn't fall asleep, so he heard it. After lying still for a long time, he couldn't help lightly getting up.

Madelyn turned her back to the door so he could not see her face. He touched Francis's soft hair and asked faintly, "Does it hurt?"

Madelyn felt embarrassed. After a while, she whispered, "Go back to sleep!"

Francis will be discharged from the hospital tomorrow. And then, he could no longer harass her.

Looking at her slender back, Benjamin wanted to hug her. But at the thought of her rejection, he retracted his hands and walked back to the small bed.

When Everest quickly crawled over and lay in his arms, he felt her little butt was chubby and soft.

Benjamin couldn't tell how he felt now. He wanted to be with them every day. Maybe they could have more children. After all, Madelyn seemed to like children very much.

Then, he couldn't help wondering whether she would change her mind if he regained his memory.
