

Warning My Mommy is A Savage! by Seeking A Peaceful

Chapter 298-300

Chapter 298

"You've all bashed Scarlet from the start, but did any of you blame Johnson for what he did? When a woman and a married man has an affair, should the woman be the only one to shoulder all the blame while the man can return to his family and be forgiven, completely scot-free?"

Charmine's powerful and well-articulated words were like a slap in the face for everyone.

Netizens on the live-streaming platform gushed with praises for her.

[Boss Jordan is right, Johnson is the one at fault! The douche deserves to be dead!

[Scarlet is too unlucky! Not only did the jerk lie to her for seven years, but he even took advantage of her. Now, she's ridiculed and called the third-wheeler!

[Douchebag Johnson Spencer! Let's attack his Twitter! Bombard him!]

Everyone went on a verbal rampage.

Meanwhile, Scarlet's assistant helped her out of the company. Scarlet had a thick layer of bandages on her wrist, her face pale and weak. As she gazed at the scene outside the company building, tears rolled down her cheeks unceasingly.

Scarlet never thought that the truth would reveal itself; she had long accepted that no one would believe her even when she died. She was ready to die an unjust death, yet she never thought Charmine would successfully prove her innocence... 1

Scarlet had talked about marriage with Johnson on the phone only once in all those years. She could not believe that Charmine could find the recording!

She bowed a ninety-degree bow toward Charmine as she tearfully and hoarsely spoke, "Thank you... Thank you, Ms. Jordan. If it wasn't for you, I wouldn't be standing here, still alive. Thank you s o much! Also..."

Scarlet straightened herself and turned toward the live-streaming man's phone.

"From the start of all this, I didn't come out with any statement, but that's because I don't even know what to say. I've never thought that the man that I loved so dearly would be a married man.

"Before this incident was exposed, I still wanted to give it another shot to propose to him. I reserved an engagement ring, and I even bought us a wedding house..."

Her eyes turned redder as she spoke, and after pausing a moment to sob, Scarlet continued, "I'm not trying to gain sympathy here... I just want to remind all the girls out there to not be like me. Remember: If a man is unwilling to officiate your relationship with him, he's hiding something.

"Finally, I want to take this opportunity to show my sincere apologies to Gigi. Even though I was cheated o nas well, I did cause damage to your family. I feel guilty at the thought of you and your child. I don't even have the courage to say this to you upfront, so I can only say this through this live: No matter what you ask for, please get in touch with me. I'll do my best to make up to you." 1

With that, Scarlet made another ninety-degree bow at the camera, a display of her genuine sincerity.

Scarlet was a victim herself. She was the vulnerable one with her swollen and reddened eyes, but she did not mind nor care. All Scarlet wanted was to apologize sincerely. Her assistant, Amy gazed at Scarlet with her aching heart. "I'm Scarlet's manager and assistant," said Amy to the live-streaming phone, "and I've been with her for six years! I can swear to God that Scarlet really had no idea of all these things! She didn't know that Johnson was married, and as a matter of fact, none of the people in and outside the industry knew he was married.

"I'll have you know that Johnson had taken a lot of Scarlet's money! He'd always tell her that his companies weren't doing well before asking her for almost a hundred million bucks! 1

"These companies can't be tracked down, and his reasoning was that these companies of his were still in their infancy and were low-profile. Thinking back at it now, that's rather peculiar!

"I hope that with the immense manpower of the internet, everyone can help find out what these companies are and what they do!"

The viewers stormed with fury. Almost a hundred million bucks? It was bad enough that Johnson lied and cheated on Scarlet, but he also took so much of her money! One hundred million was no small amount! Had that jerk Johnson really taken all that money?

Chapter 299

Scarlet, despite her reddened and swollen eyes, managed to compose herself as she straightened her body. "Amy, that's enough. Let's go."

Scarlet was more than content with how the situation has turned out for her, thus she did not want to linger on it any longer. Moreover, news reporters were hot on their heels as they rushed toward the scene, thus Amy had no choice but to help Scarlet leave the scene quickly.

Despite not accepting any interviews, however, articles about the situation quickly surfaced on the internet

(Johnson Spencer lied to the world!)

(Scarlet was cheated off of her money and body!)

(Johnson's foreign company is on sole proprietorship, involving the transfer of his marriage funds!)

[Scarlet cut her wrist and has yet to get treated in order to avoid accusations!)

The news went viral and made it to the headlines in no time. The discussion page was filled with the following:

[Have Johnson Spencer fooled us? Have Scarlet truly been wrongly condemned?]

[Ah! The gentle and happy little foodie had painfully endured all that burden for the past few days, without even deserving it!]

[She's the person with the most heartache, she had to be. Not only was the man she had loved so much turned out to be a married man, but he even cheated on her for so long! She was even too afraid to commit suicide, afraid that people would mock her for faking it...]

(Johnson is a real jerk! According to sources, his foreign companies were created behind Gigi's back. He must've thought of divorcing her, and that's why he started transferring the funds!]

(That's a fraud! This is against the law! He can be sued!)

(With the fact that he stole a hundred million bucks from Scarlet, he should be put to jail!]

(According to one source, Boss Jordan had filed a report, and an investigation is conducted as we speak!]

With that, the tides have shifted and the tables have turned.

Meanwhile, in the ward...

Gigi, with eyes red and swollen, held her daughter tight in her embrace.

Johnson rushed to the bedside as he frantically blurted, "Gigi, dear, believe me. These are all fake! Everything's fake! They made up the recording,"

Slap!

Gigi slapped Johnson squarely in the face before he could even finish his sentence.

"Why?" she growled. "Why did you do this? Why do you keep lying to me?!"

"Gigi, 1—" Johnson covered his face in pain as he tried to continue.

Gigi picked up the pillow and threw it against him powerfully. "What about your foreign companies? How will you explain the abnormal activities in our joint account? Guess you've had it in your mind to leave me, huh? You lied to me just to steal my money, right?"

"Waa... Bad Daddy! Bad Daddy!" Their daughter ran toward Johnson and hit him with her tiny fists.

Instinctively, Johnson pushed his daughter away, and she fell to the floor. 1

Gigi's eyes turned red instantly. She tore away the IV on her and got off the bed to pick up her daughter. She glared daggers at Johnson, her eyes still red. "Johnson Spencer, are you even a human? Back then when I had my youth and career, I fell for your words and gave up on everything to marry you!

"Whenever you needed money, or anything at all, I'd ask my parents and give them to you. I gave you my everything just to help you, but you? Is this how you treat our daughter and me!?"

"Enough! Shut up! Don't you mention your parents ever again! I'm sick of it." Johnson's eyes turned malicious. "Do you really think that you're not responsible for how our marriage ended up? You're right, you were perfect back then, but I was already the company's vice president when I married you. Just because my family isn't as established as yours doesn't mean you get to look down at me forever!"

Chapter 300

"We had to join your family for every important occasion and celebration, and whenever I ran out of money, you'd get it from them. Whenever your parents see me, they'd tell me to never let you down, all while they stared at me with concerned looks. I'm a man, you know? I'm the man in this relationship!" Johnson growled as he smacked his chest in extreme agitation 2

Gigi was shocked and transfixed, her expression bewildered at his outburst. All these years, Johnson would visit her parents on every important occasion. Gigi would always feel blessed and lucky for that, and she would give up everything for him. Little did she expect that this was how Johnson truly felt under that façade of his!

Their daughter had never seen her father so furious. Terrified, she curled up in Gigi's arms.

At that moment, Johnson's phone rang. He answered the call and was instantly greeted with his assistant's report, "Scarlet is suing a hundred million out of you for fraud. The police officers are coming to the hospital as we speak."

Johnson's face morphed in displeasure as he marched away. He had no intention to even talk to Gigi.

Motionlessly, Gigi watched as Johnson left the ward, and silent tears rolled down her cheeks.

Meanwhile, at RisingHawk...

After Charmine dispersed the crowd and asked for the cars to be repaired, she went back to her office. She stared at Wendy with suspicion as she began, "May I know what brought Ms. Morrison here?"

"Mr. Bailey sent me here. He's very thoughtful about it. Whoever came to deal with this situation might be harmed, but since I'm pregnant, I'd get to say anything without provoking anyone," explained Wendy. 1

Admittedly, Anthony's speculation was correct. Although the vandals were paid to carry their deed, they upheld justice and detested third-wheelers. How, then, would they have the heart to attack a pregnant lady?

Charmine frowned. Mr. Bailey? So, it was Anthony...

Wendy continued, "Mr. Bailey made me come out, and he even sent out hundreds of his staff to help search for that specific recording among others much earlier than you did. He's very nice to you and respects you dearly. My friend, do treasure this man." Wendy patted Charmine's shoulder and gave a suggestive wink before she left.

Charmine's face turned pink as a strange feeling blossomed in her heart. Although Johnson and Scarlet met up often in the company, they would still call each other for hours even when they went home. There were at least a thousand phone records over the years. Some of the calls were longer while some were shorter, and their topics were mostly unrelated. In order to pick up useful evidence from the conversations, they had to listen repetitively up to three times, and that was why her people failed to find anything despite working overnight.

Had Anthony not helped out, Charmine might only find the evidence the following day. She had told him to not get involved in her business, yet Anthony still helped her out silently...

Charmine's eyes turned solemn and thought at the thought of all the help Anthony had given her. If it was not because of the incident five years ago, she would not hesitate to make him a bunch of kids!

Unfortunately, Charmine needed to end the turmoil in her...

Charmine could only thank him. She turned to Rio and Eric. "Take care of the company, and take care of Scarlet. I might be busy in the next two days."

"Don't worry. You've solved the big problems, so let me handle the small cases! I'll be alright!" Rio patted his chest.

As he watched Charmine leave, Eric thought of the retired Wendy and his gaze darkened. It seemed that Anthony Bailey had helped Charmine. Was Charmine ready to love once more?
