

Chapter 3298

At the end of the front, as far as the eye can see, it is just pure darkness. It seems that it is already the end of this night market. It doesn't look like someone is looking for it.

Seeing George Han frowning, Zhu Yan'er couldn't help but chuckle: "Why? Don't you dare to go? Afraid I'll eat you?"

George Han glanced at Zhu Yan'er strangely, and then looked at passing by. When they heard this, they looked at George Han as if they had seen a ghost.

After all, it's okay for George Han to say this to Zhu Yan'er, but if Zhu Yan'er said this to George Han, then it would be ridiculous to open the door and get home.

"I'm just curious, it's dark and blind, let alone looking for someone, there's not even a ghost there." George Han said helplessly.

"Come with me." Zhu Yan'er smiled lightly, and just wanted to walk away, but a bold and thoughtful idea arose in her heart. She grabbed George Han's hand and headed towards the end of the street. And go.

George Han was all thinking about finding people, and there were many people in the night market, so he didn't think so much.

On the contrary, after the two left, the scene was full of ghosts and wolves, screaming and screaming, and if there were exaggerations, they beat their feet and chest on the spot, and they were depressed.

After all, when the goddess in their hearts took the initiative to pull the hand of another man, it already meant that their hopes were completely shattered, how could their hearts not be broken?

The two walked all the way through the end of the street at the night market. During the uproar, the lanterns and hustle and bustle also came to an abrupt end. Although they were behind them, they were in contrast to the darkness they were in now, even though they were not far behind. But there is also a kind of serenity and loneliness separated from the world.

Zhu Yan'er did not stop, pulling George Han and still walking forward, and the further she went, the more desolate the front became.

Just when George Han couldn't help but want the sound of the pit, the front suddenly became bright, and several large lanterns were hanging around. , the light is actually not enough.

However, even so, George Han, who was in a darker place, could clearly see that there were a lot of people gathered under the lantern.

"That's...?"

"Underground black market." Zhu Yan'er said softly, "The largest black market in the city, or the largest black market within a thousand miles.

" The only way to go through the four major areas of the center of the clan is also an important city from the four major areas of the center of the demon clan, so there is an endless stream of passers-by.

If there are normal transactions, there will be other illegal transactions, and the underground black market will also be derived from this.

“In the land of the demons, only daily necessities can be purchased from normal channels. If you want to buy other things, you have to go to the black market. Maybe you will be scammed or you will make a fortune.” Zhu Yaner said while pulling Han Three thousand walked there.

“At least this is true when the city should be settled.”

“My brother has strict management. In order to promote commodity trading, he strongly supports the formalized market, such as the market and night market you can see during the day.”

“However, this is the land of demons. , it is the law of the demons that the weak eat the strong , it is more exciting, and there are naturally more good things.”

“What does this have to do with me finding someone?” George Han was a little depressed.

“It must have something to do with it, you’ll know it after a while, come with me.” After the words were finished, Zhu Yaner pulled George Han directly to speed up.

After a while, the two walked into the lantern area one after the other.

There was no shouting from the night market outside. Although there were a lot of stalls here, and the crowds were so dense that people were a little phobic when looking at it, it was extremely quiet here. If it weren’t for the fact that many people wandered around the booths, or made some noises from inquiries, George Han really thought he had entered a ghost market.

Zhu Yan’er didn’t care about this at all, and dragged George Han all the way to the depths. With her appearance, the eyes of those stall owners began to become a little weird and gloomy.

Simply, the two of them passed all the way without staying, until they reached a mass grave, the number of people began to become much less, and Zhu Yaner finally stopped..

Chapter 3299

The street stalls that were still very large are almost completely gone, and there are only a few dead trees around, plus the dark night and the nameless solitary graves in front of them, it has made this place look extremely. gloomy.

Although George Han was not afraid, he still felt a little uncomfortable in this kind of place. The most important thing was that George Han was puzzled.

Those who know are here to find people, and those who don’t know they think they are here to find ghosts.

After all, when you come to this mass grave at night, what is it that you are not looking for ghosts?

Without waiting for George Han to speak, Zhu Yan’er was stunned and touched her head, as if trying to recall something.

George Han was stunned, what does this mean? Shouldn’t this girl have forgotten the way? !

But just when George Han was in despair, suddenly, Zhu Yan'er patted her head and suddenly remembered something, then muttered some words that she couldn't hear clearly, and finally, loudly opened the door.

Another unexpected thing happened. Just in front of the two of them, the only grave with a tombstone suddenly rumbled with a loud bang, and then, while the ground trembled slightly, the tombstone actually moved slowly.

As the tombstone moved, a cave about the same size as the tombstone soon appeared behind it, and the warm yellow light shone lightly inside, and at the same time, bursts of noise could be heard from inside.

"What are you still doing, let's go in." Zhu Yan'er smiled softly and walked into the tomb first.

Although George Han was puzzled, he still followed in.

The entrance to the tomb cave is not very big, but as soon as you enter it, the inside is suddenly open. It is more than two meters wide and two meters high. There are stairs all the way from the ground to several meters underground.

Approaching the end of the stairs and turning a corner, there is an incomparably huge space, the noise, the smell of wine and the thick smoke also hit.

The space inside was unusually large, something George Han never imagined. There were at least two football fields, and there were rows and rows of long tables, and the seats were almost full.

The bursts of strange music with a strong sense of rhythm shook people's hearts. If it wasn't for Bafang World, George Han would really doubt whether he had entered the disco.

The huge bright lights swayed and swept the various people in this space.

They were talking eloquently, or clinking glasses and drinking with each other. At the center of the stage, several beauties dressed in fruit were frantically twirling a strange dance to the rhythmic music.

Perhaps it should be said that it is strange in George Han, but in the eyes of this group of demons, it is charming.

Because of the scene, the whistle kept ringing.

Among the crowd, there are many beautiful women, wearing strange and not many cloth clothes, busy serving wine, food, and serving all beings.

Isn't this the disco of the earth? !

When George Han and Zhu Yan'er entered the arena, many eyes turned to the two of them. The already lively scene became even more frantic and restless.

The whistle sounded one after another, and in this space it was almost piercing one's eardrums.

"Yo, where's the little girl, she's so damn energetic."

"If you want a figure and a face, you need a face, it's the best, it's the best." A group of people said haha, they didn't care about themselves like a wolf. His eyes stared at Zhu Yan'er beside George Han so viciously.

Although she is the younger sister of the city owner, many people have never even heard of it, let alone seen it.

Even if Zhu Yan'er was shocked by George Han's violent performance in the ring today, she was shocked, but from that perspective, it was not easy to be seen at all.

Secondly, most of the people who hang out here sleep in vain at night, and have no time to participate in the competition to recruit relatives. Even if they participate, they may not recognize it.

"It's a pity that a flower was stuck on the cow dung, look at the stinky boy next to her, he's as thin as a grasshopper. A little girl is a little girl, I don't know what kind of man, is the strongest."

"Little white face, you can talk with your mouth, of course you can deceive." They not only tasted Zhu Yan'er, but also commented on George Han without any scruples.

Even as these guys talked, they moved closer to Han 3,000 people and completely blocked their way.

Zhu Yan'er was calm in the face of danger, and said coldly, "We are here to find the blood ghost."
