

Chapter 3310

George Han came out again, half an hour had passed.

Zhu Yan'er and Ning Ruyu's group were also patient and waited in place.

Seeing that George Han came back under the leadership of the old dwarf, several people hurriedly got up.

George Han smiled: "I still bought things, so the black market signboard that responds to every request is still blocked. Brother Ning, thank you for your help tonight. Is there anything else to do tonight? If there is nothing, how about a drink together?"

"There are a lot of miscellaneous things, but if you compare it with Brother Han drinking, it is naturally a chore, it doesn't matter if you do it or not, I will accompany Brother Han to drink happily today." Young Master Ruyu laughed softly.

George Han smiled: "Okay, if you don't get drunk, you won't go home." "

Ning Mou will sacrifice his life to accompany a gentleman." In less than a moment, the previous bunny girl was dressed, including nine items in boxes, and was brought up by the girls. It is said that the rabbit girl is the worst person, but now it seems that these girls are very envious of this rabbit girl, at least she can have the opportunity to follow such a superb man, even if it is just a slave, that is also a good thing. Something to be happy about. Put nine things directly into the space ring, and then led the bunny girl under the leadership of the old dwarf, a group of people quickly went out of the emperor space, and left the black market directly through the side door. The group chatted and laughed all the way back to the night market. George Han randomly chose a roadside restaurant and ordered wine and vegetables directly. "Sit down and drink." George Han smiled after glancing at Rabbit Girl, Master Lu and Zhu San. When Master Lu and Zhu Sanyi heard this, they were overjoyed and sat down with a straight laugh. The rabbit girl was a little trembling, but with the look of Zhu San, she just frightened them and leaned against Han obediently. Three thousand sat down.

George Han smiled and changed positions with Rabbit Girl so that Zhu Yan'er was on the left and Rabbit Girl on the right.

The wine came, and so did the food.

George Han raised a glass to invite, and a group of people immediately started drinking.

With George Han close to him, Zhu Yan'er, who was still quite unhappy with the rabbit girl, suddenly felt a lot better. As George Han brought up the topic, the more they talked, the happier they became, and the more happy they were, the more they drank.

After I don't know how much I drank, the group of people were all drunk. Zhu Yan'er also told some interesting things she knew, but just when she was about to rise, suddenly, a hand was on everyone's feet. Without noticing, he hugged her slightly from behind.

There was no one on her side, and George Han on the other side. After being slightly surprised, she reflected it as Yixi.

Although he was still talking about those interesting stories, his mind had already flown to other places, and his eyes would quietly look at George Han from time to time.

George Han was obviously a little dizzy, thinking that he had drunk so much wine before and the talented wine must be the effect of the wine.

Thinking of this, Zhu Yan'er was very happy and secretly delighted in her heart. She followed George Han's arm around her, leaned her delicate body slightly, and leaned halfway into George Han's arms.

Seeing this situation, Young Master Yu and the others also looked at each other and smiled, but didn't say much.

It was late in the evening, and after several decades of drinking, George Han suddenly leaned into Zhu Yan'er's ear and said softly, "Are you tired? Go back to the house with you to rest?"

" , but on the surface, he remained reserved: "Do you want to..."

George Han nodded.

Zhu Yan'er blushed and lowered her head. Although she didn't answer, her intention was clear.

Ning Ruyu smiled lightly and patted the shoulder of Master Lu who was talking happily: "Pay the bill for the wine, and then ask for a few rooms to go to the room."

"I... I'm only halfway through." Master Lu said depressedly.

"A spring night is worth a thousand dollars." After speaking, Ning Ruyu motioned to Master Lu to look at George Han and the two people in front of him. Master Lu smiled and said, "Understood, I'll settle it here."

Within a moment, several rooms were already in the room . Ready, George Han also walked into one of the rooms with Zhu Yan'er in his arms, and then...

Chapter 3311

As soon as Fang entered the room, Zhu Yan'er, who was in a daze, only felt that George Han pushed him directly onto the bed, and his body was also heavily pressed against her, which was rude and exciting at the same time. Crazy tore his clothes...

In less than ten minutes, a black figure in the city lord's mansion also quickly climbed over the city wall, and under the concealment of the night, quickly moved towards the Bieyuan where George Han lived. .

A few minutes later, a servant carried a bowl of something that smelled of medicine, slowly passed the corridor, and walked all the way to the west wing.

The door to the wing opened quickly, and the servant went straight in like an electrician.

After that, the whole room returned to its tranquility.

But at this moment, that black shadow also suddenly appeared from somewhere, and then quickly rushed to the door.

However, he was not in a hurry to go in, instead he squatted at the door for a long time, until a few shadows came around, he pushed the door and went straight in.

Sure enough, just for a moment, there was a sudden muffled sound in the house, but almost at the same time, a few black shadows from outside the house rushed into the wing instantly, followed by a few muffled noises, the whole house really this time. completely in peace.

In the room, when the three shadows stood up at the same time, all three took off the masks on their faces, and then smiled at each other.

On the ground beside them, four shadows also fell on the ground motionless.

“It’s really hard work, Master Lu.”

Looking at one of the shadows on the ground, the person who took the lead in pulling the mask off smiled lightly, and this person was none other than George Han.

The other two also smiled, pulled down their masks, and looked back, they were like Young Master Yu and Zhu San.

George Han didn’t say anything. He got up and walked in front of the strange picture at the beginning. After fumbling for a while, with a slight movement of his hand, although the room was silent, the picture in front of him suddenly moved slightly.

The painting turned to the side of the wall, and happened to leave a gap about the width of one person. With the help of the gap, it was faintly visible that there were bursts of light coming from inside.

There is indeed a problem.

George Han, Young Master Ning Yu and the others looked at each other and got into the gap one after the other.

There is a long and deep path inside. Although the light is very weak, it is better than being flat under the feet. Therefore, although it is a little dark, the three of them are still smooth.

“What a strong medicinal smell.” Ning Ruyu slightly covered her nose with her hands and frowned for a while.

George Han didn’t speak, and went all the way to the inside. After a while, the three of them reached the end of the corridor. A half-open door blocked the light and blocked the three of them from moving forward.

Looking in through the small door, the inside is suddenly enlightened. Under the candlelight, there is a large room. Although there are several servants coming and going in the room, all of them are silent and seem extremely quiet.

After turning around and nodding at Young Master Ruyu, Zhu San chose to stay where he was, while George Han and Young Master Ruyu pulled their veils and kicked open the small door one after the other, then rushed in.

As the two rushed in, the servants who had been silent at first turned pale with fright, and leaned against the wall to stare at the two in fear.

Young Master Ruyi raised his head and motioned George Han to look southeast.

There, a large bed was parked, the bed was softly clothed, and the other servants were also squatting in fear.

Without thinking about it, George Han rushed to the side of the bed in a few steps, then opened the curtain of the bed, and immediately froze in place.

What was lying on the bed was not the imagined Xia Wei, but was empty and nothing.

Did you make a mistake?

But just when George Han was extremely confused, suddenly, he frowned and looked back along the incomparably strong medicinal smell, only to find that there was half a bowl of medicinal soup on the small cabinet beside the bed.

George Han didn't say a word, just grabbed the neck of the man beside the medicine bowl and lifted him up. Although George Han didn't speak, at this time the servant was panic-stricken and stared at him. Below, I do not know what to press.

At this moment, there was a sudden burst of strange noises on the bed. When George Han looked back, his pupils could not help but widen..