

Chapter 3358

The light of black gold exploded directly from George Han's body as if it was detonated by someone.

After that, a huge golden figure expanded behind George Han, and above his head, a black magic dragon also roared in the sky, accompanied by the sound of the beasts from all directions. At this time, George Han also exploded.

Long white hair, blood-colored eyes, surrounded by black and gold, Huan is like a god!

"Come on, fight!"

An angry voice roared, and almost at the same time, dozens of black pillars suddenly approached George Han from all directions. Long huge scroll.

It twists frantically and quickly, driving extremely strong pressure and turning force, like a super violent tornado, and anything in it will inevitably be destroyed by it.

in the black column.

Clap!

puff!

With the sound of bursts of tearing, George Han's clothes instantly turned into strips of cloth and were taken away by the rolling force, and the strong muscles on his body also began to shatter during the pulling.

First came the skin, followed by the flesh. There were tens of thousands of ferocious beasts who were frantically tearing apart George Han's body with their bloody teeth.

Enduring the huge pain, George Han suddenly activated his energy.

hum!

Frost Jade Armor appears directly.

Whoa!

Immortal Profound Armor followed closely behind.

The two supreme defenses protect the master in time, and the totems of the four divine beasts in the body suddenly appear!

boom!

The golden body also stood up, wrapping the whole body of George Han in golden yellow, and in this black and huge tornado, he stood steadily like a king of immovable Ming.

"Little black stick!"

Boom!!!

A black streamer once again wrapped the inextinguishable profound armor, so that the inextinguishable profound armor at this time was like a pair of black armor, and the ferocious black qi began to gradually slow down around .

“Very strong magic energy.”

Almost at the same time, the voice of the magic dragon sounded in George Han’s mind.

George Han didn’t speak, and concentrated on urging the energy in his body to protect his body.

It was really strong, so strong that it completely exceeded George Han’s expectations, so that at this time George Han had to face it with all his heart.

“Being able to beat you George Han to the point of being unable to fight back, it seems that the guy outside is incredible.” Molong said softly.

“However, you are not bad.”

“The person who can trap Lao Tzu can’t be compared to others.”

“You have to get out of here quickly, this black pillar alone is not enough to resist, even if your The body is perverted to the point of being outrageous.”

George Han frowned: “What do you mean?”

“The magic pillar falls from the sky, rises from the ground, and drives the demonic energy between the heaven and the earth

, although he has the ability to so urge There are very few people who move, but once it is activated, it will become extremely strong.”

“It won’t stop, because it relies on the rotation of the magical energy between heaven and earth, so the longer it is trapped, the more difficult it will be to contend. , even you.”

Rush out?

However, some things are easier said than done.

At this time, George Han had almost exhausted all his strength to resist here. Although such a huge black column had no way to take him under such circumstances, George Han himself did not have any extra strength or extra actions.

Once you relax and your defense is broken, you will be faced with a rout of the entire line, and then you will fall into a doomed situation.

“How to break through?” George Han asked anxiously.

The magic dragon laughed, then disappeared and retreated, and there was no movement.

“Fuck you.” George Han scolded in a low voice, saying that there are some things, but the key is to distract himself, that is, the distraction of this moment, the outer energy defense is immediately pierced by the black scroll.

Even though George Han had three major defenses on his body, he was still directly slandered by Heijuan.

If it hadn't been repaired in time, and the three major defense abilities were there, George Han would have fallen into a doomed situation.

However, scolding and scolding, George Han who should listen should still listen. If this magic pillar is so perverted, staying in it is indeed no different from courting death.

After all, no matter how strong the energy in the body will always be consumed, this black pillar will never.

However, I want to get out of here.

How easy is it to talk about? !

George Han's brows were furrowed, the whole person fell into hard thinking, exhausted his methods, and seriously thought about what to do.

Suddenly, George Han seemed to think of something...

Chapter 3359

"Honey, do me a favor." He whispered softly, moved his hand, and the Five Elements Divine Stone appeared directly. After that, George Han A burst of energy entered, causing it to rotate slightly to help him consolidate his defense.

At the same time, George Han circulated all the energy in his body, ready to use it to break through the black pillar's shackles at any time.

That's right, he wants to use the help given by the Five Elements Divine Stone to turn the current evenly matched situation to a certain extent. And because of this twist, George Han can have the opportunity to pull out and launch an external impact.

Of course, the risk of doing this is huge, because once all the strength is focused on breaking through, all of George Han's defenses will instantly lack support. At that time, how long the defense can last is a huge unknown.

Once his own attack fails and the defense system collapses, it will also be the time when Han 3000 will be defeated.

But the current situation is in front of him, and George Han has almost no other choice.

Thinking of this, George Han gritted his teeth.

Fight hard!

In the next second, George Han directly took his breath, luck, and then suddenly urged all the energy, like a long dragon, sprinting frantically towards the edge.

Inside the black pillar, the gust of wind swirled like a thousand knives, as if it would cut all creatures into pieces. George Han's body passed by, just like the huge food that appeared in the jungle of hungry ghosts. Not only were they madly smashed by them, it was even more frantically pulled by them, not allowing George Han to move forward at all.

Even though George Han used all the energy in his body to get rid of himself, the effect was very small. Although George Han was moving forward, his speed was hundreds of times faster.

decline.

Seeing that the radius is only a few meters away, except for the initial sprint, George Han almost walked forward like a turtle, so slow that he was speechless.

However, George Han's defense at this time has already begun to shatter.

Without a huge energy support, the outer energy cover is almost like a blister, and it is directly broken by a stab.

And as the outer layer was broken, the ferocious blade wind quickly rushed straight into George Han's body.

In the past three days, the little black stick just barely raised by George Han, he almost only lasted for a few seconds, and then his face changed instantly. When the gods like the inextinguishable mysterious armor lacked energy support, they also began to shine. dim.

George Han only felt that his skin began to be torn off again, and his flesh began to be torn apart. The ferocity of the knife wind even penetrated directly into his own bones and slashed violently.

George Han was in so much pain that he was about to faint, and his subconscious was constantly telling him that he needed to transfer his energy back for defense.

Otherwise, it won't be long before he falls into the abyss of eternal doom.

But George Han didn't do this. He clearly knew that once he gave up breaking out and chose to go back, he would be completely trapped here, and then slowly grind to death.

It is impossible for the injured body to launch a surprise attack again, and he has already been riding a tiger.

Thinking of this, Han Sanqianqiang endured the pain, gathered all his strength again, and rushed forward desperately.

Above the perimeter, looking at the looming golden and black light in the black column, Ye Shijun smiled coldly. He naturally knew that George Han was trying to break through.

It's still smart for him to know that he can't stay in it for a long time.

But so what?

If you don't have to die if you are smart, then why do you need to practice Taoism? Isn't it enough to be smart?

"Idiot." With a cold snort, Ye Shijun was full of disdain.

On the ground, the four masters and a group of people also clearly saw George Han's intentions, but it was clear that George Han's power was too insignificant compared to this monstrous black pillar.

He didn't have any chance to rush out of it directly.

This is by no means meager, but it is also what I think is the same as my own person, Ying Ji.

Then, after a while, the light in the black column completely disappeared.

This also means that even if George Han uses his tenacious will to support him, it is still difficult for him to jump in the face of absolute power.

Just like when he absolutely suppressed others.

At this time, George Han among the black pillars...
