

Chapter 341 At School Anniversary, Mr. Clark Was Jealousy

Leaving the clinic and getting into the car, Benjamin still had a headache. He leaned against the backseat, gently stroking his forehead.

Paisley took a bottle of medicated oil and kept applying it to him, expressing her concern, "Mr. Clark, let's find a neurologist. It seems like this foreigner is not reliable."

Upon hearing this, Benjamin was momentarily stunned.

He whispered, "At that moment, many things actually came to my mind, but it was like having blackouts after drinking too much. I woke up and forgot everything!"

It wasn't the hypnotist's fault; it was his damaged nerves.

Benjamin gently pushed Paisley's hand away, his handsome face filled with disappointment.

He could have regrets, but he wanted Madelyn to truly be happy.

Just then, his phone rang.

Looking at it, it was Madelyn calling. Madelyn's voice was soft, "Ben, are you still outside?"

Instantly, Benjamin's headache disappeared.

He straightened his posture, his voice slightly hoarse, speaking as if he were talking to a lover, "What's up?"

Madelyn smiled lightly.

She said, "I suddenly want to eat jade dumplings. Do you want to eat them? If you do, I'll have them delivered to your company at noon."

Suddenly, Benjamin felt a tinge of nose in his eyes.

After restraining himself for a long time, he finally made his voice normal, "Then I'll wait for you at noon."

...

Hanging up the phone, he thought that their marriage may not be perfect.

However, it wasn't that bad either.

He had her in his heart, and Madelyn was also trying to get closer to him. In her heart, he was the person she wanted to cherish... Wasn't that enough?

Compared to many others, they were already doing much better.

During lunchtime, Mr. Clark managed to nap while embracing his wife.

To be honest, Benjamin would have to be blind not to see through Elizabeth's intentions.

Just then, Vivian arrived.

After so many years, the once goddess Vivian had gained some weight. Her second husband, Grayson, elegant and charming, held her waist, and they looked very happy as a couple. Jackson sat on the corner sofa, feeling extremely complicated.

He thought they wouldn't have a good life together.

Grayson loved to play around, and Vivian had a bad temper!

But Grayson had changed, and there hadn't been any positive rumors about him since their marriage. Even though Vivian wasn't as good as before, he hadn't pursued anyone else...

Jackson's eyes were slightly red.

Vivian locked eyes with him and they stared at each other for a few seconds before Vivian looked away.

When she looked at Grayson again, it was a look of complete dependence.

Grayson had a project he wanted to discuss with Benjamin, so he patted his wife's hand and said, "Chat with Madelyn for a while, I have something to talk about with Ben."

Vivian didn't ask further.

Grayson's business hadn't been going well in recent years, but she had never asked Madelyn for help. On one hand, she didn't want to ruin their friendship, and on the other hand, she was content.

Vivian happened to have something to discuss with Madelyn.

She took Madelyn to the restroom and whispered to her.

"Madelyn, be careful!"

"I saw Elizabeth talking to Ben from afar just now, and I felt something was off. This woman is trying to seduce him... Although I no longer have feelings for Jackson, we can't underestimate her destructive power."

...

Vivian was a woman, and she was also afraid that Benjamin wouldn't be able to stay faithful and would seek external affairs.

Madelyn blinked lightly.

She turned off the golden faucet and said slowly, "In Gredax, there will always be men suitable for Elizabeth."

Vivian was momentarily stunned.

Then she looked at Madelyn and saw a newfound calmness in her expression. She thought back and realized that only when Charlotte was around did Madelyn show such a look.

Vivian understood that Madelyn intended to deal with Elizabeth.

Madelyn walked out of the restroom first.

Vivian watched her figure and couldn't help but think that if Madelyn and Benjamin were to go head-to-head, it would surely be interesting. Unfortunately, she wouldn't be able to witness it.

Chapter 342 His Jealousy

Back in the crowded banquet hall, the atmosphere still buzzed with excitement.

Madelyn had become the center of attention, not only because she had joined the prestigious Clark family, but also due to her recent fame in the media.

All eyes were on her, as everyone sought to unravel her mystery.

But Madelyn just sat beside Benjamin, leaning on his shoulder with a sense of complete trust and dependence.

She had no desire for the spotlight and instead focused on Benjamin's business conversations, occasionally chiming in with convincing words.

Elizabeth, on the other hand, stood out among the crowd of men.

She felt a surge of satisfaction and mischievously plotted to provoke Benjamin once again.

But her plans were ruined when she saw Benjamin taking off his coat and draping it over Madelyn's legs, speaking softly to her, "Feeling cold? I always tell you to dress warmly. Look at Ms. Dylan, she knows how to take care of herself."

All eyes turned to Elizabeth, dressed in a fur coat and sweating from the warmth. She couldn't help but feel a hint of embarrassment upon hearing those words.

Meanwhile, Daniel arrived late and happened to overhear their conversation.

A faint smile played on his lips.

As former lovers met again, Elizabeth couldn't help but feel envious. Despite having so many men, her heart only belonged to Daniel.

Yet, his heart was only for Madelyn!

Elizabeth managed to squeeze out a sentence, "Mr. Campbell, I have a special gift for you today!"

But Daniel's attention remained fixed on Madelyn.

He noticed the matching wristwatch she wore, one identical to Benjamin's.

Suddenly, Daniel understood Benjamin's confidence.

Perhaps Madelyn wasn't entirely content in this marriage, but she willingly stayed by his side because of their sweet memories.

He believed that if Daniel hadn't given up on Madelyn, they would have been together!

And as for that damned and stupid library...

With determination, he pulled Madelyn to her feet, a smirk forming on his lips.

He declared, "Everest Group will contribute 100 million to tear down and rebuild the school library!"

He, Benjamin Clark, had the right to proclaim his love for his wife!

The room fell silent.

Everyone witnessed his overwhelming jealousy.

Benjamin led Madelyn away, gripping her hand tightly.

As they reached the entrance, a hoarse voice called out, "Madelyn!"

Benjamin's grip on Madelyn tightened.

But she slowly turned her head, calmly looking at Daniel, who gazed back at her.

Ten years had passed, they had experienced many things, and their paths had diverged.

Daniel's voice was hoarse as he uttered the words that had been weighing on his heart, "Madelyn, if given the chance to start over, I would choose only you."

Madelyn smiled lightly and replied nothing.

Meanwhile, Elizabeth was left stunned.

Wasn't Benjamin supposed to turn against Madelyn? Why was he willing to spend a billion just to demolish the library? Did he truly care about Madelyn that much?

Elizabeth trembled with anger.

Suddenly, her coal miner husband urgently called her.

His voice was filled with anxiety as he questioned, "Elizabeth, did you cause any trouble?"

Elizabeth quickly inquired, "What happened?"

He replied, "There was a surprise and intense inspection at the mine today. And they're coming back tomorrow!"

Elizabeth softly reassured him, "Don't worry, I will find someone in Gredax to help you."

Chapter 343 The Red Wine

The school anniversary celebration was filled with bigwigs, but none stood out more than Benjamin.

Elizabeth had hoped to impress him, but he had already left with Madelyn.

In the parking lot, inside the car.

Benjamin leisurely fastened his seatbelt and turned to look at Madelyn.

She leaned against the seatback; her eyes slightly moist as she gazed out the window.

It was clear that those videos had touched her deeply.

How could one easily erase the memories of first love?

Resting his hands on the steering wheel, Benjamin inquired, "Do you still miss Daniel?"

"No!" Madelyn replied.

"Then why do tears well up in your eyes?" he questioned.

Madelyn struggled to find the right words to respond.

But Benjamin gently pressed down on the accelerator, driving the car away.

Madelyn started to sense that something was amiss. They weren't heading home, nor were they on the usual route to his company.

She couldn't help but ask, "Where are you taking me?"

"To the apartment where we used to live," Benjamin replied.

Madelyn understood his intentions and said, "Benjamin, I'm no longer attached to Daniel. You can't be so relentless just because of a video."

He remained silent.

As they reached a red light at an intersection, he reached for a cigarette, lighting it lowly as his head hung low.

"Madelyn, I'm jealous!"

Madelyn was taken aback by his sudden outburst.

When they arrived at the apartment, Madelyn refused to get out of the car.

He leaned in, whispering near her ear, "Will you get out of the car and walk ahead of me. Benjamin slammed the car door and followed slowly

For a married couple, this was far too intense for broad daylight.

Madelyn looked up at him with surprise.

Benjamin's voice filled with a rough edge. "There are some questions and I need to ask you. Then, he tossed her onto the plush couch.

Madelyn regained her footing and said, "Ben, is this

Beads of sweat dripped from Benjamin's forehead. The heat between them made Madelyn want to cry out.
He tightly gripped her slender waist and asked again.
Madelyn blinked lightly and murmured, "We've kissed, but nothing more!"
Benjamin suddenly embraced her, burying his face in her neck.
They remained silent for a long time before he softly asked, "And now... do you still... like him?"
Madelyn seemed to have sobered up.
She gently caressed his warm neck and replied, "No, I don't have any feelings for him now."
Benjamin began to kiss her again.
His touch was gentle and deliberate, slowly melting her resistance.
With tender strength, he lifted her in his arms and carried her towards the bedroom.
As their desire intensified, the red wine stained the bedsheet.
It had been a long time since Benjamin had felt such a fiery intensity. He wanted their love to burn like this until they grew old together.

When Madelyn woke up, she found herself in a dimly lit, eerily quiet bedroom, lying on her side on a pillow.

She still remembered the fervent love that Benjamin had bestowed upon her and how she had eagerly tried to please him.

The red wine had unfrozen her once cold heart, leaving her emotions tangled in a chaotic mess.

The bedroom door creaked open, allowing a sliver of light to filter in.

Benjamin walked in and gently pinched her cheeks, "Do you want to get up? Everest has asked for you several times."

Madelyn glanced at him and rose from the bed, clutching the blanket around her.

Benjamin leaned his forehead against hers affectionately and whispered, "Let's go home first, okay?"

He walked into the closet, selected an outfit for her, and even helped her get dressed.

Though she was irritated, she found herself pleased.

After all, they were a married couple.

Madelyn brushed her chestnut-colored long hair and gently warned him, "No more alcohol, Ben. Promise me."

Benjamin rested his chin on her shoulder and made a soft hmm sound.

Today was a special situation, and normally he would never displease her.

Chapter 344 The Stupid Woman

As they drove home, the streetlights cast a warm glow on their path.

Madelyn leaned weakly against the seat, her cheeks flushed with a mix of excitement and guilt as they had an intimate encounter and ignored Everest momentarily.

Benjamin couldn't resist stealing glances at her, captivated by the beautiful flush on her face that only enhanced her allure.

Suddenly, a phone call interrupted their thoughts.

It was Kaleb.

He greeted and quickly got to the point, "Ben, Ms. Dylan has somehow discovered Kenneth's identity and is determined to meet him!"

Benjamin inquired, "What about Ken's opinion?"

Kaleb responded with a cunning smile, "Ken suggests that we quietly observe the situation. If we want to bring down the coal mine owners in the Southwest, we must gather sufficient evidence to demolish them."

Benjamin understood the underlying shrewdness behind Kaleb's words and agreed, "That's excellent! As for Everest, I'll have Madelyn bring him over tomorrow."

He ended the call, not bothering to mention Elizabeth as she was not worth mentioning.

Instead, he turned to Madelyn and shared, "Ken is truly eager to see Everest. And you'll take him to the hotel."

Madelyn softly nodded in agreement.

Benjamin stole a few more glances at her, then cleared his throat.

"Are you still angry?" he asked.

Madelyn felt a hint of unease and averted her gaze.

Benjamin reached out and tenderly clasped her hand, his touch offering comfort.

"Madelyn, was your positive attitude spurred by the red wine or being in that apartment?" he inquired.

A blush crept up Madelyn's cheeks.

Benjamin let out a soft chuckle.

He realized that his feelings for her had deepened beyond what he had even expected.

Elizabeth finally managed to establish contact with Mr. Ryan in Vadiff.

She anxiously pleaded with Mr. Ryan's secretary, "Kaleb, please inquire if Mr. Ryan has any availability to meet me?"

Kaleb replied, "Kenneth has a private schedule today and is unfortunately unavailable."

Just then, Kenneth also came down.

He first ruffled Emerson's hair before turning his attention to Madelyn, scolding her gently. "Why don't you take care of yourself like Emerson? The air conditioning is so strong, and yet you're only concerned about looking good!"

With those words, he promptly removed his own coat and placed it over Madelyn's legs.

He affectionately patted her head, exactly like when he treated Emerson.

Then he left with Kaleb.

Seated in the car, Kenneth sent a message to Eloise [Feeling jealous?]

Eloise replied. [I didn't!]

After a while, Kenneth's message finally came through. [Madelyn is part of the younger generation. Are you jealous of her?]

Eloise found herself speechless. Did he deliberately make a show of picking up the coat just to send this boring message?

There was one person, however, who cared a great deal -Elizabeth.

Despite originally looking down on Madelyn, witnessing how highly revered Kenneth treated her, showering her with care and treating her like a child, she was upset!

Why did Madelyn always seem to have everything?

She came from a powerful family and even captivated Benjamin!

Madelyn took a sip of coffee and suggested, "Elizabeth, if you were to divorce your husband now, perhaps you could still retain your assets."

Elizabeth clenched her teeth and replied, "Madelyn, are you intentionally trying to provoke me?"

Madelyn lowered her gaze, taking a moment before meeting Elizabeth's eyes again.

"In the past, you caused significant harm to Vivian's family. Even though you are now married, it appears that you still plan to hurt others and get close to Benjamin."

Elizabeth was at a loss for words.

Just then, she received a message from Kaleb, informing her that Mr. Ryan was willing to collaborate with her husband.

Instantly, Elizabeth felt reinvigorated.

She cast Madelyn a smug look. "We'll see!"

Eloise whispered to Madelyn, unable to contain her curiosity. "Madelyn, do you care about her?"

Madelyn shook her head and answered, "I find her repulsive! She caused immense harm to Vivian, and now she's resorting to the same skills!"

Deciding not to dwell on the topic any further, Madelyn handed Eloise Kenneth's coat.

Eloise was taken aback.

A faint smile spread across Madelyn's face. "Ken wants you to wear it. I'm merely relaying his message. He's concerned you might feel cold."

Eloise's cheeks flushed slightly, holding the coat that emitted a masculine scent.

There was something hard in the pocket.

Curiosity getting the better of her, Eloise reached inside and discovered a velvet box.

Slowly, she opened it...

Chapter 345 Did You Feel Good Last Night?

Inside was a flawless diamond ring, with around 12 carats.

Eloise was stunned and her eyes quietly became moist.

A few years ago, when she was still with Kenneth, many times she imagined in his arms that one day he would propose to her with a diamond ring. At that time, she was full of expectations for the future.

However, now, their child was beginning to grow up, and the diamond ring was still in Kenneth's pocket.

Eloise didn't know who was more unfortunate between them.

Emerson snuggled up to Eloise and asked softly, "Why are you crying, Mom?"

Eloise shook her head.

Madelyn caressed Emerson's little head and held him in her arms. Then she said in a very low voice, "Eloise, although I haven't asked about the ring, Kenneth has always mentioned you intentionally or unintentionally over the years. I think this diamond ring is for you!"

Madelyn did not intercede for Kenneth, because Eloise devoted four full years of youth to him.

After all, a woman's youth only lasted a few years.

Madelyn took Emerson away. Eloise still had unfinished work, but she was in a very bad state. She was crying badly in the car. At this moment, she seemed to be back to the day she was abandoned by Kenneth, full of helplessness.

Kenneth's coat was over her lap.

Eloise knew Kenneth did all this on purpose just to trap her by his side.

She thought, "This jerk! He almost betrayed himself for his so-called career. And now he's so cheeky even to take out a ring and show it in front of me!"

Eloise cried with her face covered in tears.

The cell phone rang, and the assistant found it was Kenneth's call.

The assistant had worked for Eloise for a long time and naturally knew something about her and Kenneth. The assistant said softly, "It's a call from Mr. Ryan!"

"I don't want to answer the phone."

The assistant hesitated for a moment and then answered the phone.

Kenneth didn't know it was Eloise's assistant who answered the phone. He said in a soft and gentle voice, "Eloise, have you seen the diamond ring in my pocket? Keep it for me. I will use it to propose in the future."

The assistant got goosebumps hearing this.

Unexpectedly, they got married.

Thinking of this, Madelyn had some regrets in her heart, but she said nothing.

Benjamin certainly noticed it sensitively.

He tightened his arms around Madelyn's waist and said in a low and gentle voice, "Madelyn, we have a lifetime, and I will be with you forever."

Madelyn smiled faintly.

She turned around and kissed Benjamin on her own initiative...

The two were kissing in the kitchen.

If it were in the past, Benjamin would really close the door and hold Madelyn to the kitchen countertop to fuck her hard, and it would be best to make her cry. However, he could feel that she didn't want it.

This kiss could be considered as a reward, and even as a pity for Benjamin.

In the dead of night, Benjamin sat in his study and considered, "On the school anniversary that day, after recalling the past with her first love Daniel, would Madelyn feel that our married life was too dull? After all, she has no passion for me anymore."

When they sobered up, Benjamin thought the sex that happened because of two bottles of red wine was very pathetic.

Madelyn got a psychological illness, and Benjamin was a hopeless case!

Even if they were not satisfied with their marriage, Benjamin would not let Madelyn go, and he also believed she would not ask for divorce for the sake of their children.

Benjamin began to worry about gains and losses in love and had no sense of security.

He was doubly nice to Madelyn, for fear that she would feel uncomfortable.

He rarely socialized and took care of the children after getting off work.

He only had half of the shares of the law firm now, and he also hired a professional team to manage the Everest Group. He set aside a lot of time for Madelyn to do her own things.

Their marriage was just seemingly perfect.

The negative news of Madelyn's visit to the psychiatrist was gradually forgotten by the public. When the people in the upper circles mentioned Benjamin and Madelyn, they only thought the two were a loving couple.

However, only Benjamin knew that even if they wanted to have good sex, they had to do it when Madelyn drank a few glasses of red wine.

After a few times, Benjamin didn't want Madelyn to still drink.

He started to work overtime at home. After putting the children to sleep, he always had unfinished business.

He would be in the study and wouldn't return to the bedroom until after midnight.

At that time, Madelyn was already asleep.

Naturally, they didn't need to face each other, not to mention having sex. It seemed that both of them were comfortable in this way and that they had finally found a balance.

Chapter 346 You've Lost the Happiness as a Woman

Half a month later, the coal mining company of Elizabeth's husband was investigated completely.

It was widely disclosed that five people were killed four years ago, and the deep-pocketed coal boss was directly detained and could be jailed for at least 20 years.

Elizabeth was utterly devastated.

She wanted to see Kenneth but was stopped by Kaleb.

Kaleb earnestly said. "Ms. Dylan, Mr. Ryan originally intended to have a long-term cooperation with you, but we didn't expect your husband to commit a crime, so the cooperation could only be canceled!"

Even if Elizabeth was thick-witted, she noticed something unusual.

But with her status, she didn't dare to offend Kenneth at all, and she could only beg him to spare her.

Kaleb smiled calmly.

"Ms. Dylan, just think about who you have offended."

Elizabeth was stunned.

It took a long time before she murmured, "It's Madelyn!"

Kaleb just said, "Mr. Ryan's younger sister passed away early, so he devotes all his affection to Ms. Green. How he cares about her! Ms. Dylan, just think about it carefully. You didn't even inquire clearly before doing things. It's foolish of you to make such a mistake!"

Kaleb left after speaking.

Elizabeth was sitting alone in the seat, shoulders dropping thoroughly!

She picked up a cup of coffee, and although she tried her best to hold the cup steady, her hands kept trembling... She didn't want to believe that she had worked hard for many years and still lost to Madelyn.

She thought, "Madelyn didn't even do anything to me, and I lost to her badly just like a drowned rat! No! No way! Christian cannot fall from power. Even if I humbly plead with her, I must keep him."

When Elizabeth walked out of the cafe, it was raining outside. The hot and dry weather in early autumn became much cooler by the drizzle.

Outside the villa, the drizzle was misty.

Madelyn was sitting in the pavilion in the backyard, fiddling with a vase.

The flowers in the vase were all planted by her.

A servant came over and whispered, "Mrs. Clark, Ms. Dylan wants to meet you!"

Madelyn blinked gently.

She had already seen today's news and guessed that Elizabeth would come to beg her, but she didn't expect it to be so fast.

She smiled faintly and said, "Just tell her I'm out!"

The servant nodded and left.

At the gate of the villa, Elizabeth walked back and forth anxiously with an umbrella.

As a last resort, She could only beg Madelyn.

Elizabeth thought no matter how ruthless Madelyn was, they were still old classmates, and it was reasonable to help her for old time's sake as long as she was willing to beg Madelyn.

From a distance, the servant came over with an umbrella.

"Ms. Dylan, I'm sorry. Mrs. Clark is out! You can come next time!"

Elizabeth certainly knew that it was Madelyn's excuse.

She was sure Madelyn was at home.

Elizabeth was not reconciled and shouted at the gate regardless of the circumstances, "Madelyn! I know you are at home. Why do you refuse to see me? Yes, I did something bad to you, leaking your privacy. But that didn't really affect you, did it? Are you going to hound me to death?"

The servant said with a gloomy face, "Ms. Dylan, don't embarrass me!"

She thought, "Mrs. Clark has a good temper and won't care about it. But if Mr. Clark goes home, he will definitely blame me."

Elizabeth was so angry that she threw away her umbrella, grabbed the black carved gate, shook it desperately, and cursed, "Madelyn, come out! Don't play dumb! Do you think you're better than me? Have you forgotten how you pursued Daniel in the first place?"

Half a month later, Elizabeth's husband was basically sentenced to 20 years in prison with hard evidence.

The sentence led to breaking up his family.

As his current wife, Elizabeth got 71 million dollars in cash. This was a bit far from her wealthy life.

Madelyn didn't hit Elizabeth when she was down.

Unexpectedly, Madelyn would meet Elizabeth again at the party held by the Jones family.

Madelyn was going to make a movie, and she was surrounded by a group of handsome young men. All of them wanted to take part in a play with Violet.

Vivian was usually not allowed to look at any man for a long time by Grayson.

Now, she was going to have fun tonight. Looking at the handsome young men one by one, she touched her face and regretted that she wasn't well-preserved.

Madelyn whispered to Vivian to let her calm down.

If something really happened to Vivian, Grayson would kill Madelyn.

Vivian was just about to explain but suddenly saw a familiar person from the corner of her eye. She whispered to Madelyn, "Elizabeth is here. She is really something. Her husband is still in prison, while she quickly becomes a lover of a big shot in the entertainment industry."

Madelyn raised her eyes subconsciously and then saw Elizabeth in a silver dress coming over with her hand around a potbellied man's arm.

Elizabeth had lost a lot of weight, looking a little quiet and magnificent, very attractive to men.

At this moment, she was staring at Madelyn viciously.

However, Madelyn was not afraid of her at all.

Madelyn whispered to Vivian, "The producer next to her has been very bad at making movies and losing lots of money in the past few years! He is just trying to get some money from Elizabeth!"

Vivian admired Madelyn very much.

Madelyn smiled lightly, "I had coffee with Ms. Harris two days ago, and she told me."

While Madelyn was speaking, Elizabeth sat far away.

Madelyn ignored Elizabeth and continued to socialize with others. When it was 10 o'clock, Madelyn spoke to Vivian. "I'll go back first. Have a good time!"

Vivian was surprised. "Is Benjamin so strict with you?"

Madelyn smiled faintly.

In fact, it was not that Benjamin asked her to go back early, but since the school anniversary, she felt that he had no sense of security. She could understand it.

Their feelings had gone away a little. Besides, after watching Daniel's video, Benjamin manipulated Madelyn a lot. She thought there must be one normal person between the two of them.

Therefore, even if Benjamin manipulated her a lot, she still had a very tolerant attitude.

Usually, when he wanted to make love, she never refused.

Madelyn said goodbye to Vivian and left first.

In the Jones' manor, the hallway was quite long, and the servant brought Madelyn her coat.

Behind her, Elizabeth's voice came.

"Madelyn!"

Madelyn turned her head and saw Elizabeth's deathly pale face. She frowned slightly. "Ms. Dylan, can I help you?"

Elizabeth held a slender cigarette for women between her fingers.

She lowered her head and slowly lit up it. Then she raised her eyes and carefully looked at Madelyn for a long time before she said softly, "Madelyn, you won! Christian was sentenced, and I can only rely on myself from now on."

Madelyn smiled very faintly.

Elizabeth drew deeply on her cigarette and said, "I know you are very happy! You did all this for Vivian, right? As her best friend, when she was heartbroken back then, you must be very upset too! Now you got what you wanted."

Elizabeth squinted suddenly and laughed.

"One thing is strange to me. You obviously don't love Benjamin anymore, but why are you still with him? You are not short of money, are you? In any case, the Ryan family can make you have a good life! With such a powerful uncle, what are you afraid of?"

...

Madelyn said calmly, "Elizabeth, do you think everyone is self-centered just like you? Benjamin is not only my husband, but the father of my two children."

Elizabeth laughed, bursting into tears with laughter.

She thought, "The father of two children... Sure enough! This is Madelyn's innermost thought. She is not happy and her life is not good! She is still with Benjamin just for the sake of the children, and it's just a compromise. In fact, she is no better off than me."

Madelyn ignored Elizabeth, turned around, and was about to leave.

As soon as she turned around, she saw Benjamin standing at the door.

He looked at her quietly.

His eyes were deep, like a thick fog that couldn't dissipate on a cloudy day...

Chapter 347 Madelyn, Let's Have Another Baby!

The dim lights fell on Benjamin and Madelyn, casting long shadows.

They looked at each other, but no one spoke.

For a long time, Madelyn's words were lingering in Benjamin's mind.

"He is also the father of my two children."

In fact, Benjamin always knew that Madelyn was willing to make up with him because she wanted to give Everest and Francis a complete family. Otherwise, she would never forgive him for what he had done.

But when he heard her say something like she didn't love him, he still minded it.

Finally, Benjamin said in a low voice, "It's very cold outside. Why don't you put on a coat?"

He slowly stepped forward, thoughtfully helped Madelyn drape the coat over her shoulders, and then buttoned the coat.

Madelyn stared at him.

She wanted to say something but felt unnecessary.

Elizabeth looked at them. At this moment, her jealousy of Madelyn reached its peak. Elizabeth thought, "Why? Why is Benjamin still passionately devoted to her? He clearly knows that she doesn't love him!"

When Benjamin holding Madelyn left, Elizabeth couldn't help but speak behind them.

"Mr. Clark, she is not worthy of you!"

Benjamin turned his head slowly.

His face looked even colder in the light, and his voice was cold and indifferent. "Ms. Dylan, you should be glad that Madelyn has a kind personality, otherwise do you think you can still attend such a party?"

As long as Madelyn wanted, let alone 71 million dollars, Elizabeth would get nothing.

Elizabeth didn't believe it.

She thought she lost to Madelyn just because of Kenneth. Now that she and Madelyn were making movies at the same time, she was confident that she could win this time.

Her lips curved in a smile as she watched the two leaving.

She thought she had found a breakthrough.

At this moment, Vivian came over, leaning on the wall, and sneered, "Hey, what bad idea are you thinking again?"

Elizabeth turned around suddenly.

She and Vivian were mortal enemies. Back then, she hooked up with Jackson, but Jackson was more concerned about Vivian, so he refused to divorce. Then she came up with the idea of gaining one sperm. But she didn't expect that she would lose both Jackson and wealth in the end.

And she gave that child to someone.

Elizabeth raised her head slightly and snorted, "Just wait and see!"

Vivian didn't care about her.

She knew that with Madelyn's power in the business world for several years, Elizabeth was far from an opponent!

It just depended on if Madelyn wanted to deal with Elizabeth.

Downstairs, Benjamin opened the car door for Madelyn.

She sat in, but he did not close the door, staring at her deeply.

Madelyn fastened the seat belt and said slowly, "Benjamin, if you want to quarrel, go home first!"

In November.

On Madelyn's birthday, the villa was lively for a whole day.

At night, Madelyn walked back to the bedroom after a shower.

The sofa at the end of the bed was filled with gifts from friends and family.

Madelyn picked up a small pink envelope, which was a letter written to her by Everest and Francis, and there was also a very childlike painting. Madelyn looked at the gifts quietly, feeling very warm when she was thinking of her children.

The bedroom door opened, and Benjamin walked in slowly.

At this time, Madelyn opened a box, and the gift inside was very valuable.

It was an emerald green necklace.

Madelyn knew its value, guessing that this gift cost at least 7 million dollars and it was very rare.

The person who sent it was...

Madelyn was quietly in a daze.

By the door, Benjamin leaned there and looked at her quietly.

When Madelyn found him, he lowered his head and lit up a cigarette. He asked indifferently, "Who gave such an expensive gift?"

Madelyn knew what he was driving at.

She closed the box and smiled faintly, "There's no name!"

Benjamin's eyes deepened.

He walked over to play with the exquisite box and said a little casually, "Madelyn, I don't believe you don't know who gave it!"

He thought, "Expect Daniel, who else would give such a valuable thing?"

Madelyn was no longer in the mood to open gifts.

She got up, walked to the dressing table, slowly combed her long hair. Then she spoke after organizing her language. "Ben, today is my birthday. Can we not quarrel? I wasn't going to accept it!"

Benjamin came behind her.

He hugged her from behind, titillating her.

Madelyn's breathing was slightly quicker.

Benjamin whispered in her ear, "On your birthday, can you make love with me without taking pills?"

Madelyn closed her eyes gently.

She thought, "He knows!"

Benjamin took out a small medicine bottle from the drawer, which had contraceptives in it.

He gently bit behind Madelyn's ear and said in a very gentle voice, "Madelyn, I want a child! With this child, we will still be together no matter what, okay?"

Madelyn couldn't bear it anymore and pushed the little bottle away.

The cap came off the bottle and the pills inside were spilled all over the ground.

Benjamin looked at Madelyn quietly...

After a long time, he said with a wry smile, "Madelyn, you always wanted my love in the past! Now I love you, but I don't know how to treat and please you. You can't abandon me when I have fallen in love with you! Who you love is the one who has been with you for five years. But it's not me!"

...

After speaking, Benjamin walked out quietly.

When he walked to the door, Madelyn suddenly said, "Benjamin! I don't know how much affection I still have for you, but I won't love others or be devoted to them!"

She thought, "From beginning to end, he could not see my connivance to him. Loyalty and uniqueness. Isn't that my love for him?"

Madelyn felt emotionally exhausted.

Chapter 348 They Give Each Other the Silent Treatment!

Madelyn couldn't help crying.

She cried very depressed.

In this relationship, she was really too passive.

Madelyn quarreled with Benjamin many times, and she compromised most of the time eventually because of her feelings for him and a sense of guilt. After all, he lost his memory because of her, and he had risked his neck for her once.

So no matter how irritating Charlotte was to her later, she could only choose to forgive.

Otherwise, what else could she do?

Madelyn bent down to pick up the pills one by one and put them in the small bottle.

There were many small white pills.

Madelyn was even thinking, "If I swallow them all, would it be possible to end all of this? Would it be possible to never worry about whether I love Benjamin or not, or to never face his accusations?"

...

Madelyn and Benjamin gave each other the silent treatment, but it didn't affect the children.

Madelyn got up early in the morning.

Opposite, Benjamin came out of the guest room, still wearing last night's clothes. He saw Madelyn's dark circles and said lightly, "I will take Everest to kindergarten in a while."

His simple words made Madelyn know that he was going to be stuck with her.

Madelyn nodded.

She went to make breakfast for the children as usual.

During breakfast, Everest said she wanted Madelyn and Benjamin to send her together.

Madelyn raised her eyes and just looked into Benjamin's gaze.

After a shower, he changed into a formal suit, his eyes slightly deep at this time.

The atmosphere was a bit strange. Madelyn wanted to coax Everest, but Benjamin said suddenly, "It's a rare time. Let's go together! I'll send you back later."

Madelyn was a little surprised, but she still nodded.

Everest looked at them and gently pulled Madelyn's hand. "Do you like the card from Francis and me?"

Madelyn kissed Everest's fair and tender face. "I like it!"

Then she pressed her face to Everest's face and didn't want to move.

Benjamin kept staring at Madelyn.

After breakfast, Madelyn went upstairs to change clothes. She picked a silk shirt and fishtail skirt before taking off her clothes. At that moment, the bedroom door opened.

Benjamin was a little surprised and then slowly closed the door.

He was originally going to leave at 9 o'clock, but the mobile phones of the people around him kept ringing.

[I will be back soon!]

[You think too much again! It's just socializing, and there's no hostess here!]

[OK! OK! I'll coax you when I come back!]

...

The men dealt with their wives, and when they put down their phones, they looked helpless. One said, "So sorry. My wife is strict with me!"

As he said, he hugged the young girl next to him.

At that moment, someone flattered Benjamin.

"Mr. Clark is different from us! It's so late, but Mrs. Clark hasn't called him yet. That's because she always has a high degree of trust in him!"

The others agreed with the man, laughing.

Amidst happy laughter and cheerful voices, Benjamin was very uncomfortable.

He knew the reason why Madelyn didn't call him was not because she trusted him, but because she didn't care about him!

Benjamin usually drank in moderation, but he couldn't help but drink a few more today. When he felt uncomfortable, he went to the washroom to wash his face. Then he went back to the private box when he sobered up a little.

There was a new person in the private box.

It was a very young girl, who was seemingly a newcomer to a certain film company. She was 21 years old, as tender as a flower. However, obviously, she had plastic surgery before.

She looked a lot like Madelyn.

When Benjamin opened the door, he was slightly stunned.

The young girl behaved in a measured way and didn't make a nuisance of herself. She just sat next to Benjamin and listened to these men socializing and talking about business.

The people here were all very clear-sighted and tactful.

They could tell that the target of this newcomer named Willow Colton was Benjamin.

Then they started to tease Benjamin and Willow.

Benjamin ignored them.

He lowered his head and lit up a cigarette, slowly smoking and holding the cigarette between his slender fingers, very manly.

When the dinner party was over, he took his coat and left.

As soon as Benjamin got in the car, the girl walked to the car and asked in a soft voice, "Mr. Clark, can you give me a ride?"

Benjamin still had half a cigarette between his fingers.

He slowly finished smoking the cigarette before he said, "Don't get entangled with a married man."

After speaking, he asked the driver to drive.

While driving, the driver looked in the rearview mirror and couldn't help but say, "She's pretty and still looks a bit like Mrs. Clark when looking at her carefully! But it's obvious that she had plastic surgery. Well, did she have plastic surgery according to Mrs. Clark's appearance on purpose?"

Benjamin was a little absent-minded.

He thought of Madelyn in his heart.

He wondered, "I'm coming home so late. Will she ask me where I went or will she care about it?"

Chapter 349 Daniel Died in a Car Accident!

When Benjamin arrived home, it was close to midnight.

A light was left in the hall, and it was quiet everywhere.

Benjamin went upstairs to see the children first, then loosened his tie, and went to the master bedroom. Madelyn was already asleep, and there was only dim moonlight in the room.

Standing at the end of the bed, Benjamin watched for a moment, then walked into the bathroom.

His coat and shirt smelled of tobacco and alcohol, and he took them off in the laundry basket.

After taking a shower, he lay behind Madelyn.

Madelyn's breathing was very even, but Benjamin knew she was awake. She just didn't want to talk to him.

Benjamin kissed the back of her neck and whispered, "Don't you ask me anything?"

Madelyn's body froze slightly and she didn't speak.

Benjamin thought of those people's teasing tonight and her words that she asked him to find young girls. Dissatisfied, he held her slender waist and pressed his body tighter.

They had never had such a silent sex, and no one spoke from start to finish.

It was just like giving a silent vent.

Even so, Benjamin still remembered to use a condom. Madelyn even didn't take a shower after the sex and fell asleep while still lying on her side...

Benjamin lifted the covers and got up.

While taking a shower, he wondered how they got to this point.

Benjamin didn't see Madelyn's expressions, so his mood was even worse because of this sex.

Early in the morning.

Madelyn stayed at home to do housework.

The clothes that Benjamin took off last night were packed in a laundry bag, ready to be sent to the laundry by a maid for dry cleaning, but Madelyn smelled a faint smell of perfume when she picked up the shirt.

That perfume was the one used by young girls.

Madelyn was stunned.

She thought, "He came back so late last night. Did he retaliate against me or declare war on me by allowing a woman to get close to him?"

Madelyn checked again and found no lipstick mark on the shirt.

However, when she smoothed the coat, a business card with fragrance fell out of the pocket.

[Great Times Media, Willow Colton.]

Half an hour later, Willow's information was delivered to Madelyn.

Willow, 21 years old, a new actress, was young and beautiful, with good acting skills.

Madelyn pinched the photo.

The Willow in the photo looked very like Madelyn. If someone looked at it carefully, he would find that Willow had plastic surgery. Clearly, Willow's goal was Benjamin.

And Benjamin even took the scent of perfume home.

Madelyn thought, "When Willow stuffed her business card into his pocket, he possibly might know, but he just wanted to sound out my attitude."

Madelyn slowly burned the information.

Daniel was not naive or stupid.

But he didn't mind sleeping with Elizabeth.

He thought it was no big deal.

In addition, Daniel came to the hotel today intending to sleep with Elizabeth, because he found that a despicable person like him just matched her. He didn't need to pretend in front of her and could give full vent to his feelings. He even didn't need to keep a little bit of a sense of shame.

A few hours of intense sex filled the loss in his heart.

The sky was dark.

Daniel leaned on the sofa to smoke, while Elizabeth put her arms around his waist and said softly, "Don't leave tonight!"

But he pushed her away and started to get dressed.

He thought, "It's just a one-night stand. And hugging each other intimately and spending the night together is only a joke..."

After Daniel left, Elizabeth was so angry that she threw away her pillow.

Downstairs in the hotel, Daniel was sitting in the car.

His sexual desire was satisfied, but his heart was extremely empty because he would never get what he really wanted.

Madelyn! Madelyn!

Daniel was driving a black sports car, in a daze.

He did not believe in reincarnation.

But at this time, he really wanted to have the next life. If there was the next life, he wanted to cherish Madelyn... He wanted to give her happiness and make her suffer less!

On the late autumn night, the drizzle was misty.

Daniel drove to the villa where Madelyn lived and found the lights inside were warm.

He imagined her in there, teaching the children to play the piano, and that she made them cupcakes.

On the way home, Gabriella called Daniel and told him about the chores at home, as well as his sister's unhappy marriage.

The wiper was swinging from side to side.

But the rain gradually got heavier, and Daniel couldn't see the road ahead clearly.

Daniel held his mobile phone, absent-mindedly, and he did not notice that a large muck truck on the left turned over... After a sharp braking sound, the behemoth squashed the black sports car.

Blood slowly flowed from Daniel's forehead, blocking his view.

He hurt everywhere!

His body could hardly move. It was dark all around, and he knew he was dying.

Daniel unfastened his seat belt with difficulty.

He gently put his bleeding hand into the pocket, and there was an emerald green necklace in a soft cloth inside.

He took it out with his trembling hand.

The necklace was not broken!

It was that Daniel had bought Madelyn with many sincere wishes. Fortunately, it was not broken!

Daniel hadn't known how much he loved Madelyn before, and he finally knew he loved her extremely on the school anniversary. In his thirties, he was sitting next to his beloved girl... But she had an unhappy life.

He knew then that it was his retribution.

He thought, "Madelyn... I'm just a despicable person. I dare not beg you to shed tears for me, but I just want to beg you to accept my love... Maybe you don't believe it, but I, Daniel, really loved you very much!"

Darkness slowly enveloped Daniel.

At the last moment of his life, he remembered that night.

He went home and opened the door. Under the warm light, Madelyn was waiting for him bending over the table after cooking...

Chapter 350 Daniel Died in a Car Accident! (2)

At night, Madelyn received a call from Daniel's sister Sophia. Sophia said in a voice choked with tears, "Madelyn, Daniel is dying! Can you come to see him one last time?"

Madelyn was in a daze for a moment.

The last time she saw Daniel was on the day of the school anniversary.

Sophia cried and said, "He had a car accident! He is on his deathbed but keeps calling your name. He even still holds the necklace for you in his hand."

The phone in Madelyn's hand dropped...

Late at night, she appeared in the hospital dressed in black.

Daniel still passed away before Madelyn's arrival.

The white cloth covered his face.

The Campbell family cried sadly. Putting aside Daniel's character, he had always been his family's pillar, but at this time he was gone all of a sudden.

Seeing Madelyn, Sophia burst into tears. "Daniel, Madelyn is here!"

Madelyn walked over slowly.

Under the incandescent light, she gently uncovered the white cloth. Daniel's face had been wiped clean and looked the same as usual, except that it was paler than usual.

Madelyn gently stroked his face and whispered, "Daniel, the grudges between us have long gone, and I stopped blaming you a long time ago! Why bother?"

Daniel was in a car accident near Madelyn's house.

When the ambulance came, he still held the necklace in his hand.

Madelyn had mixed feelings.

She had loved Daniel and also hated him deeply, but these feelings would dissipate with his death. There would be no more Daniel in this world.

Tears rolled down from the corner of Madelyn's eye...

When she went downstairs, the night wind blew, making her face cold.

Madelyn didn't know if they would have a good life if Daniel hadn't betrayed her back then, but she knew that there was no turning back for all the choices. She had loved him, but when he was dying, all she could do for him was cook a meal....

Downstairs, the scene was a bit chaotic.

Elizabeth was here and there were a few members of the Campbell family. In particular, Sophia was pulling Elizabeth and cried with tears, "Daniel has already passed away. Elizabeth, what on earth are you going to do?"

Elizabeth lost her wits.

She was so emotional that her chest heaved violently. She stared at Madelyn and shouted, "He died for you!"

"He found me and interceded for you! After leaving, he went to see you. He was still thinking of you even if he was dying... He also kept this place well, and he came to clean the house every week and waited! Madelyn, have you ever missed him at all?"

Elizabeth was desperate and jealous.

She seemed to be crazy, and the people around her were pulling her.

Madelyn said very calmly, "I'm married!"

She got married, so how could she miss her former lover?

Daniel was dead...

Madelyn might be sad, but she couldn't return the same feelings. They indeed lost each other, not to mention that Daniel once did something bad to the Green family.

Henry opened the car door for Madelyn.

Madelyn got into the car. The end of her nose was slightly red, and she said softly, "Let's go!"

The black RV drove away slowly.

Elizabeth was still crying and shouting. She thought, "It was me who did the most intimate thing with Daniel before he died. But why did he only think of Madelyn? Even the Campbell family gave her what he cherished most!"

On the autumn night, the rain became heavier.

Elizabeth knelt on the ground and cried bitterly...
