

Chapter 3480

Looking around, the water is quietly quiet.

Occasionally there are aftermaths, all of which seem to be fish in the water frolic, swaying gently.

George Han frowned, grandma's, really didn't come out?!

Does it have to be violent?

But if you think about it carefully, this possibility can basically be ruled out.

After all, the previous commotion was so loud that it would have come out long ago. Moreover, if the ten seniors helped themselves, for the two gods of Yuetan, if they knew about it, they would definitely come to stop them. After all, they would help their enemies grow stronger. , isn't that the equivalent of having trouble with them?

But in fact, not only did they not come out to stop them, they didn't even show a shadow.

"Strange, where did you go?" George Han frowned, extremely curious.

At this moment, the gluttonous glutton on the side whispered softly. George Han looked at him and saw that it made a strange movement, and immediately understood what it meant.

"Damn, if you don't tell me, I forgot, wooden slip."

"The Moon Palace in the water has no water!"

George Han suddenly remembered the reminder in the bamboo slip.

The meaning of these words seems to be telling himself that the place where the two gods are located, that is, the Moon Palace in the Water, exists in a place without water?

That is not in the pool?!

If you look around carefully, then this jungle is too big. Where can you find it?

"No, he should be in the water." George Han promptly denied the previous speculation and analysis.

The point of these words is true that there is no water in the Moon Palace in the water, but there is one fact that cannot be ignored, and that is its name.

Water Moon Palace.

Since it is called this name, it must be a palace in the water.

So, it's in the water.

There is no water in the water, does it mean the underground at the bottom of the lake?

Is there not water,

but no water?

Thinking of this, George Hanyi slapped the gluttonous eater of evil and motioned him to wait in place, and then the whole person flew directly into the water.

After that, following the trend in the water, George Han began to look for clues about the Moon Palace in the water.

But I just thought of how excited I was here, and how desperate I was after finding this circle.

Until noon, George Han had basically searched all the grounds of the entire Moon Lake. Except for a relatively prominent place at the central and largest water inlet, the bottom of the entire Moon Lake was abnormally flat. And most of them are silt, in this case, let alone what moon palace is hidden underneath, even the most common small underground secret room can never exist.

George Han tried the silt, and it was so soft that he was confused. If the Moon Palace was built under it, it would have collapsed long ago.

“The idea is wrong

.”

George Han frowned and muttered.

Yes, it turns out that the conjectures he just made were completely wrong.

The Moon Palace in Water does not exist underground at all.

“But, where is it?”

George Han raised his eyes, looking at the road and direction leading to Suntan.

The layers of yin there formed a huge barrier, and the surroundings were quiet and silent. Thinking about it, it was a barrier.

If the Moon Palace cannot be broken, George Han believes that the barrier will never disappear, and his way forward will be completely blocked.

However, all the places that can be found have been found at the moment, and George Han really didn't know what to do for a while.

“Could it be that the information is wrong?”

George Han took out the wooden slip again and looked at the Moon Palace in the water carefully, but there were no seven characters of water. He was sure that he had read it correctly, and he should have not misunderstood it.

Where is the problem?

George Han couldn't figure it out, even if he thought about it, he couldn't figure it out clearly.

About half an hour later, George Han was still thinking about it, but the gluttonous glutton had already been waiting impatiently. I don't know if it was because of the hot weather or boredom. Have fun playing with water.

George Han smiled helplessly, looking at this guy for a while with envy. After all, sometimes not being able to speak or think is not necessarily a good thing for me, at least he doesn't have to be like himself, he has to worry about some things. It's not bad that he lived happily like this.

With a wry smile, George Han intends to recall his own question, but at this moment, he seems to have suddenly thought of something, and the whole person is suddenly shocked.

"I know what it means that there is no water in the Moon Palace in the water!"

Chapter 3481

The next second, George Han suddenly got up again and then plunged into the water.

Only this time, George Han did not waste too much time in the water and went straight to the raised platform at the largest water inlet.

When he came to this platform again and looked at its raised shape, George Han smiled.

"Sure enough."

This is not a river bed at all, it is the same thing.

Or simply put, it could be a certain key.

Thinking of this, George Han moved his hand, and Fen Ji immediately turned George Han's right hand into a fiery red soldering iron. The huge heat even made the surrounding lake water boil at this time. Then, George Han aimed at the bulge. It was a punch that smashed directly in the past.

boom!

With the powerful punch of this punch, the bulge was obviously a sudden shock, a large amount of silt mixed with the pool water, and it was muddy for a while.

However, even so, George Han's eyes were bright, staring at the bulge in the turbidity.

Soon, under the influence of the water flow, when the turbidity dissipated, something appeared in front of him.

It was a thing that was big at the bottom and small at the top, like a triangular tower, and at the top of the tower, a thing about the size of a fist stood at the top, with a little coil pattern and gaps around it, obviously, it was something like a button that could be pressed.

When he passed by here before, the place was covered with silt. George Han didn't pay much attention to it. It was not until the glutton of evil was playing in the water that George Han suddenly understood what it was that the Moon Palace in the water had no water. mean.

But that's just a conjecture. For this conjecture to become a reality, George Han needs corroboration.

And this thing

in front of him is proof.

Immediately afterward, George Han took a slight step forward, retracted Fen Ji, and placed the fist-sized object lightly with his hand, then held his breath and pressed it hard.

“Giggle!”

A crisp sound came, everything seemed to be very safe, and there was no movement.

Of course, in the next second, the entire water flows suddenly maddened.

George Han was pulled and swayed frantically as if he had entered the rushing sea.

But this is obviously nothing to George Han.

Just an acceleration of the body and energy mask is directly put on the body, and the surging water flow all over the body also changes in an instant and has nothing to do with him.

Next, George Han accelerated one by one and flew out of the water directly, hovering in the air, looking around.

At this time, the water pool was no longer calm. The undercurrent was surging underneath, and the waves were rough on the surface. For a while, it was like someone suddenly opened the gate to open the water.

The gluttonous glutton who was still playing on the water at the beginning also watched the water flow quickly and the whole person was dumbfounded and looked at the water around him quickly fading away in doubt.

“It’s really releasing water.”

George Han’s expression froze, and he could clearly see that the water in the entire Moon Lake was fading away at a speed visible to the naked eye.

It won’t be long before all the water in this lake will be completely drained, and what absorbs them is at the very center of Moon Lake at this time, which is like a huge vortex.

With a move of his hand, George Han’s energy directly lifted the gluttonous eater of evil.

A few minutes later, under the eyes of the two of them waiting, the water in the entire Moon Lake dropped by two-thirds in an instant, and all the rivers that were supposed to converge here suddenly disappeared. The water is stagnant in the sky, not entering the water.

A few minutes later, the water in the lake was almost completely dry, and almost the entire lake bottom and the entire appearance of Moon Lake were clearly visible.

The moon-like rounded terrain is about ten meters deep from the ground. When he saw the river embankments around him, George Han knew that he had found the so-called Moon Palace in the Water.

Thinking of this, George Han smiled slightly.

And almost at this moment, after the last drop of water completely disappeared in the center of spring about the size of a thumb, the whole ground began to shake wildly.

Boom! Boom!!

The surrounding trees swayed, everything on the edge of the river bank was even destroyed in the shaking, and under the riverbed, a huge crescent-shaped behemoth began to break through the riverbed and slowly rose...

“The Moon Palace in the Water, you finally appeared!”