

Chapter 3520

How is it possible? !

George Han was shocked, obviously feeling extremely incredible.

In shock, he hurriedly wiped his eyes, and then after a second look, he was completely confused.

There are still six neat monkey statues on the picture scroll, and where the seventh monkey statue should be, it is still a stroke of the pen, and nothing else.

Are you having hallucinations?

While wondering, the long scroll in his hand suddenly rose and flew slowly towards the air.

George Han tried to grab it back with his hands, but it was obviously a little too slow, and he missed the picture scroll a few times.

Just when he tried to fly to get it back, with a bang, the picture scroll suddenly caught fire, burning the picture scroll quickly.

The fire started from nowhere, but the fire was so big that the picture scroll was completely burned in the blink of an eye, and the portraits of the six divine monkeys were also completely swallowed up in the flames.

The picture scroll was quickly burned, and the ashes fell from the sky, landing between George Han's outstretched fingers...

Everything was scorched black.

The fire of the picture scroll also began to decrease, but at this time the picture scroll was only the size of a palm, and it also fell along with the ashes.

George Han was completely dumbfounded when he saw that it was falling down and was still braving the last little fire.

Because on the last piece of paper that was not burnt clean, George Han saw the seventh and first strokes on the scroll, and just under the first stroke, a figure of a human figure was stunned.

That's not a monkey, it's a complete human being.

It's just that this person George Han is really familiar and can't be familiar anymore.

Because that was clearly George Han himself!

As the last bit of fire was swallowed, the remaining piece of drawing paper was completely turned into ashes, fell into the puddle on the ground, and was completely annihilated...

But George Han's whole heart did not annihilate along with it. Instead, it was rapidly throbbing.

The seventh portrait on the six god monkeys is actually... actually... it's me.

If it was the first time, it might still be a hallucination, then the second time, it would definitely not be a simple hallucination.

George Han was extremely shocked. He didn't understand why there was a portrait of himself on the portrait of the monkey tribe.

According to what the Mercurial people said, the appearance of the 7th Spirit Monkey was in Zhang Guoshi's time, and it was not known how many years had passed since George Han.

Since it has been so long, why do they have their own portraits on something like a family tree?

Moreover, judging from the pictures and the legends, these six god monkeys are all top-notch beings in the monkey race, and recording them is naturally a bit like a human character.

But,

why did he appear in the profile of the Monkey God?

What qualifications do you have?

George Han has never had any dealings with the monkey clan, let alone qualifications, even if he has never entered the door, so why doesn't this make George Han's heart turbulent?

In the end... what the hell is going on?

"Bang!"

Suddenly, at this moment, a sudden explosion behind him directly pulled George Han back to reality.

The huge explosion brought huge vibrations, and even George Han himself was taken aback at this time, and suddenly realized that it was the stone platform that suddenly exploded.

The entire stone platform was almost shattered to the ground, so that it had turned into a pile of rubble at this moment.

George Han frowned slightly, as if he found something in the pile of rocks.

He squatted down in a hurry, and with a movement of energy in his hand, after completely sweeping away the pile of rocks, he found that at the bottom of the stone platform, there were still a few large characters vaguely engraved.

"Yes and no, no, no, yes."

George Han's head hurt when he read these eight characters, and he really couldn't understand the hidden meaning.

However, the words were written on two distinct floors, as if they were two doors.

George Han lifted his hand, and sure enough, with George Han's strength, the two doors were instantly opened, revealing a square entrance about 50 centimeters long and wide. Looking inside, the tunnel inside the entrance was deep and long.

George Han quickly got in, and as the tunnel went down for about two meters, he reached the bottom, and he went straight for about a hundred meters, and there was a bright light in front of him.

George Han understood that this should be the exit of this cave.

Sure enough, when George Han stepped up to the end of the tunnel, he saw the wonderful scene again, and a figure was standing in front of him waiting for him..

Chapter 3521

Seeing George Han come out, It speaks.

It is the Jade Monkey.

It seems to have calculated how long George Han will stay in the cave, and has already moved from the waterfall side to the exit behind the mountain to wait for George Han.

George Han gave a wry smile and was about to ask him what the hole was and what the inside of the hole meant when he turned around and walked towards a big tree beside him.

Then he went up the tree like a monkey, picked a peach from the tree and threw it to George Han: “Eat a peach.”

George Han took the peach, he was not hungry or thirsty, he was just full of doubts.

“Eat, if you are not thirsty or hungry now, it does not mean that you will not be thirsty or hungry after asking a bunch of questions.” Jade Monkey said lightly.

George Han was really puzzled. He seemed to be able to see through what he was thinking. However, he said it all, and it seemed that it would not be good if he did n’t eat the peaches.

Thinking of this, George Han glanced at the peach in his hand.

It is big and beautiful, and it looks very tender and full of sweet juice.

When he took a bite, George Han thought it should at least be delicious in the world, but the actual situation was that not only did he not feel the slightest sense of beauty, but there was a trace of discomfort on his face.

“It’s so sour.” George Han looked at Jade Monkey with a bit of depression and said.

“Don’t you humans have a saying, good medicine is bitter, of course, this good peach must be sour to be effective enough, eat it.”

I went, George Han’s face was covered with a mask of pain, this peach was really sour, so sour that George Han couldn’t describe it in words.

If lemons are good enough, the acidity of this peach is about a hundred lemons.

Just taking such a bite, George Han’s body can’t help shaking now, and the teeth are even more sturdy, and they may fall off at any time.

Seeing George Han's embarrassed expression, the jade monkey jumped from under the tree to the ground, walked in front of George Han a few steps, and looked at George Han, he said with some dissatisfaction: "What? Look down on me?"

"For us, fruit is life and everything to us. Peaches are the king of fruits. If I give you these things, it means the supreme respect for you in my clan. If you don't eat them, That is to look down on all the ethnic groups, including me."

"Or, did I ask Monkey Monkey Sun to prepare some other food for you?"

"It's okay, I'll eat it, I'll eat it." George Han Very depressed.

The topic has risen to this level, if he George Han eats this, won't he become a sinner?

Enduring the unpleasantness, George Han closed his eyes and took a big mouth directly at the peach

. The incomparably strong sense of stimulation immediately made George Han put a hundred more pain masks on his face.

He really thinks that being besieged and beaten by several people is much more comfortable than eating these extremely sour peaches.

One, two, three.

Even until the end, George Han simply ignored the thirty-seven-two-one, and directly stuffed the half-eaten peaches into his mouth.

Instead of being sour again and again, it is better to have a good time and solve it at one time.

When this half entered his mouth, George Hanzhen's whole body was twitching, and the appearance of anti-Buddha was that a man with epilepsy was dancing.

How funny is it.

Perhaps only from George Han's point of view, can we know how pitiful he is in reality.

Being soured by a peach...

Seeing that George Han finished eating, Jade Monkey smiled lightly, without the slightest other meaning, only the kind of heart-warming deep meaning.

"Okay, as the saying goes, there is a banquet in the world. You have eaten the best fruit in my clan, and it is time for us to say goodbye to you."

"Maybe this fruit is unusually unpalatable for you now. But after a while you will appreciate its existence, because it may be the best blender."

"In addition, the eight characters in the cave hope you will keep in mind, I know you don't understand now, but one day I will wait for you When you suddenly see the light, you will find its meaning." After saying that, Jade Monkey walked up to George Han and stretched out his monkey hand.

George Han was stunned for a moment, then stretched out his hand to shake it.

However, the scene in front of George Han suddenly began to change. After it was pitch black, he suddenly found himself back in front of the stone pillar, as if it was just a dream of Huang Liang.

However, just when he thought so, he suddenly felt that his hand was still holding the other hand...
