

Chapter 3528

"I'm leaning!"

In a sentence, when it is divided into four words and shouted one by one, you will know that it's filled with every emotion you can imagine.

The Mercury man could not wait to pull out his eyeballs on the spot, then re-polish it and read it again.

This is so ing bizarre.

Because, almost at the moment George Han opened his eyes, the lock that was originally locked on the wooden box was also opened at the same time.

Yes, there was no process where George Han wasted his strength for this, and even... George Han didn't even swear at it from beginning to end, but just like this, the lock that was supposed to be incomparably sturdy naturally opened. .

Isn't this bullshit?

Mercury people of course know that the environment here is humid, but this lock is definitely not an ordinary metal lock, and it will not rust because it is here all year round...

Moreover, even if it is rusted, it will definitely not rust to such an exaggerated level.

Opening your eyes can scare you away?

He was dumbfounded, and the two people watching the show in the sky were also staring at each other, looking at each other in confusion, as if seeking answers.

But obviously, at such a time, neither of them could give each other an answer.

Bahuang Tianshu shook his head: "Maybe this is the so-called destiny."

"There is an arrangement in the dark."

Hearing the words, the sweeping old man seemed to suddenly want to understand something, and nodded heavily, as if he said it. That's true.

Sometimes, things are so impermanent and so unfair.

Anyway, it should be the Mercury people who are angry, not them.

"Om!"

And almost as soon as the lock fell, the entire wooden box began to slowly open.

A golden light burst out from the !

When the top of the box was fully opened, golden light had illuminated the entire hall.

A thing that was wrapped in golden light and could not be seen clearly flew out of the box slowly at this time, and rose all the way... Shuiyin looked obsessed, and as it rose, his eyes also went away.

“Brush!”

After rising about one meter, the golden light began to burst violently, stabbing people so much that they couldn't open their eyes.

The Mercury Man turned his face away slightly to avoid his harm, but George Han, who seemed unaffected at all, raised his eyes slightly to look at the shining golden one.

Brush brush!

In the center of the golden light, countless small golden dots flew out and quickly lined up in mid-air. From a distance, they were like a golden curtain hanging in the air.

“Da!”

Another voice sounded, and every golden dot on the golden curtain flashed again collectively.

After the light dissipated, all that was left were strangely shaped but long characters that looked like fonts.

“Remember...remember...remember.”

George Han couldn't see clearly, but the Mercury man behind him was already roaring wildly.

“These are the secrets hidden by the treasure of the moon, but, as I said, you can't understand.”

George Han frowned, this is more than incomprehensible, it's just...

dizzy . !

If someone hadn't told him that it was a character, George Han would not have thought it was a character.

For George Han, the most incomprehensible thing is that at most some ancient Sanskrit or some strange characters do not know their meanings, but no matter what kind of words, there is always its regularity, and maybe they don't know it. What it means, but at least you know what it is.

The curtain of words hanging in front of him is completely different.

It

's not even a word, it's like some big idiot spelled some English with some strange gestures, and then made you some abstract sketches in his head to put together a pile.

Even though the Mercury people had already reminded themselves to prepare themselves before entering the hall, George Han never imagined that it would be...

it would end like this.

Is this too bullshit?

“Are you sure this is a word?” George Han frowned, turned to look at the Mercury Man, and his small eyes were puzzled.

“It should be a word, right? Could it be a door curtain?” The Mercury man replied to George Han.

George Han rolled his eyes, isn't the curtain more pulled? Who is so proud to hang such a curtain?

However, I am afraid that George Han would never have imagined that sometimes the flowers will not bloom intentionally, but the willows will be shaded by the willows. The words of the Mercury people are actually outrageous...

Chapter 3529

Guess it right!

It's just that at this moment, the two of them just regarded this as a nonsense.

How would they know that this so-called treasure of the moon would actually be a front curtain somewhere!

George Han turned back depressed and continued to look at the series of curtains.

Although the order of its arrangement really looks more and more like the old-fashioned sunshade curtains used in old homes on the earth, if you want to carefully read each word.

In fact, it also has the appearance of a little bit of characters, which is also true.

“It's weird.” George Han couldn't help but say: “What the hell is this? It's not a word.”

“At the time, I was just like you, and I was confused.” The Mercury man said: “Even when I was In order to find out whether these are words or not, it took me ten years to travel all over the world, and most of my family property was used to recruit talented people to decipher it for me.”

“

But in ten years, I got nothing.”

“Some people say it's a word, and some examples are given, even some ancient fonts with similar shapes, but, to be honest, it's a bit reluctant.”

“Similarly, some people say it's something, and it's related. I don't think I need to say more about the result.”

George Han nodded, judging from what he has observed so far, in fact, whether it is a thing or a word, there is indeed a certain plausible, but you in turn find the argument hilarious.

This thing is such a strange thing, and it is just so right in the middle of the two, impartial.

“In the end, why do you insist that it is a word?” George Han asked.

“This is due to an accidental encounter.” Mercury said: “For ten years, I spent a lot of manpower and financial resources but still got nothing, not to mention whether my financial resources are enough to support , just my heart has been completely lost. Look out.”

“Actually, I was somewhat despairing about this, but at that time I accidentally heard some legends, saying that we traveled all the way to the extreme north, and that there lived a kind of half-beast in an ancient mountain. People.”

“They take animals as their bodies and people-oriented, they are strange and powerful, but unfortunately this kind of body goes against normal ethics, so they can’t cultivate.”

“For many years, they have also been bullied and persecuted because of their inability. In the end, they had to hide in the mountains and isolated from the world. According to legend, the words they used were related to these words.”

George Han nodded: “Have you found them?”

“No, it took me nearly half a year. I spent so much time searching in the mountains day and night, but I didn’t see such a person.”

“I spent so much effort, with so much hope, and paid so much, but in the end it was nothing but Do you know how uncomfortable it is for me to be happy?”

“That was the last straw that broke me. After searching for another time without success, I was completely furious.”

“I bombed the mountain for three days . For three nights, it is still difficult to calm the fire in my heart.”

George Han can imagine the anger and unwillingness he felt at that time. Yes, for anyone who spends decades of time, but can only watch the hope dwindle a little bit, and finally even directly turns into despair, it is difficult for anyone to calm down for a while.

“But also because I was too angry, after three days and three nights of bombing, I fell into a coma because of the rapid fire and exhaustion. And it was this coma that gave me an unexpected joy.”

“Oh?” George Han frowned.

“A girl rescued me and took me back to the cave where she lived. Most importantly, she saw my Moon Treasure accidentally, and she said she knew the words on it.”

“She Do you know the words above?” George Han also came to his senses.

The mercury man nodded: “Yes, she said that it was a very old text, she had seen him write it before, but it is a pity that her grandfather has been dead for many years, she is a daughter’s family, so her grandfather did not teach her. Literacy, she only knows the pronunciation of one or two characters in it.”

“The first mixed character in the upper left, and the last mang character in the lower right.”

“Is it really a character?” Hearing these words, George Han suddenly replied glance.

Not to mention, when George Han looked at the first one on the upper left and the last one on the lower right after saying the mixed and mang characters, he really felt that they were indeed somewhat similar to these two characters.

As soon as the words fell, suddenly, the golden dots corresponding to the first and last ones on the upper left suddenly changed, and a magical scene appeared...