

Chapter 36

She scanned the table in silent, unmoving silence, and sure enough, most of it was her favorite food.

The books in the study, the clothes in the cloakroom, and this table full of her favorite dishes, some of which were already owed out by Call of the Valley.

But the man didn't pick up on it, so she pretended not to know and didn't say anything.

During the meal, holding to the rule of no food and no sleep, neither of them spoke.

Until she finished eating, she went for a walk in the front garden to eat and brush her phone to catch up on today's new entertainment news.

The cold, crisp scent of pine suddenly hit the back of the room.

She was slightly startled, and when she turned her head to look, she saw Biden Lu standing behind her.

"Don't look at your phone when you walk."

He said, reaching out and snatching her phone away from her.

Jenny didn't pay attention and suddenly stepped on a stone underfoot, stumbling and falling to the side.

"Ah-!"

A short scream.

The expected pain didn't come, and the man scooped her up by the waist and easily brought her into his arms.

"If you don't listen to the old man, you're at a disadvantage!"

He lectured her with a straight face.

Jenny was so embarrassed by his words that she couldn't hang on to her face, a blush of redness, and was too biased to say anything to refute.

All you can do is glare at him and say in a malicious voice, "Uncle, don't take advantage of other girls if you know you're an old man, loosen up!"

I said, struggling a little harder.

The arm placed around the waist did not loosen, but rather became tighter and tighter.

Biden Lu smiled and whispered, "I'm talking to you, but you're still angry? I'm hugging my own wife, what kind of taking advantage is that?"

Jenny stared.

The man ended up defeated and surrendered with a loose hand.

"Okay, okay, I was wrong to take advantage of the opportunity to take advantage of you, but since you mind so much, why don't I let you take it back?"

I said, when really leaned over and showed her that she could put an arm around her waist.

Jenny was furious.

This man, shameless!

She turned around in exasperation and walked away, and Biden Lu realized that she was really angry and pulled her back.

Softly coaxing, "Okay, I'm just messing with you! And you're really angry?"

Jenny ignored him.

Biden Lu was serious: "I have something serious to tell you, will you listen?"

Jenny glanced at him briefly.

Realizing that he wasn't joking, in the end, he saw it coming, "What is it?"

"Didn't you say you wanted to see Snap Xie earlier? He's already in the country, so I'll arrange for you to meet tomorrow at noon."

Jenny thought about it, there's nothing to do tomorrow at noon, but it's fine.

In the meantime, she looked at Biden Lu, her eyebrows light, and said seriously, "Biden Lu, let me make it clear to you first, although I am grateful for what you have done for me, I am a person with principles.

If Xie Snap was indeed wrongly accused, I could clear his name, save his reputation, and even help him move up the ladder, but if all of the other party's accusations were true.

Then I'm sorry, but even if he were your cousin, I wouldn't help him!"

Lu Jing looked at her deeply and smiled lightly, "So principled? Protecting the weak?"

Jenny gave him a blank stare.

"You think I'm the Virgin Mary!"

She paused and said quietly, "I just think that a person who is really bad and unwilling to correct himself, even if I help him this time, he'll have another, and there can't always be someone following him around wiping his ass, he'll get into something else sooner or later.

If that's the case, then why waste any more energy on him? It's not hard to walk this road in the entertainment industry.

It's about going the distance and still maintaining a good image, which requires not only the ability of the PR team, but also his own cooperation."

Biden Lu pondered a little and nodded.

"Well, you're right."

After a pause, he added, "But don't worry, he's not the kind of person you think he is, you'll see tomorrow when you meet him."

"Well."

The next day at noon, Jenny did indeed see Snap Xie.

Biden Lu specially asked Vicky to book a private room in a fancy restaurant near Lu's company, and asked him to dine with him, as well as introduce the two of them to each other.

By the time they arrived, Snap of Shea was already there.

Seeing the two come in, they even got up and greeted Biden Lu with a smile.

"Cousin, you're here."

When he saw Jenny Jing, who was following behind Biden Lu, he was somewhat surprised.

Biden Lu had indeed told him before that he would be introduced to someone today, and that his PR work would be assigned to this person later.

I didn't think it was a woman!

You know, his cousin is a woman insulator!

It's a miracle that you brought a woman out today!

Xie Snap's gaze immediately became different and even squeezed his eyes towards Biden Lu with an ambiguous squeeze.

Biden Lu right as invisible.

After the three of them were seated, they heard Xie Snap smile, "Cousin, who is this beautiful woman? Introduce me to them!"

Biden Lu swept a cold glance at him and said in a deep voice, "Behave yourself! This is your sister-in-law!"

"What?"

Xie Snap stared incredulously.

He almost suspected that his hearing was faulty, sister-in-law, sister-in-law?

Is his brother married?

Jenny was embarrassed and coughed, "That... let's get down to business first!"

"No hurry, eat first."

How could Biden Lu be willing to let his daughter-in-law starve and work?

Jenny Jing saw this, so he no longer insisted, after all, no matter how urgent it was, there was no need to rush this moment.

On the other hand, Xie Snap had a hard time, finally getting over the shock.

He looked at the opposite side of Biden Lu like he had seen a ghost and tugged at the corners of his mouth with a smile.

"Brother, you didn't grab a temporary replacement actor for the play just to fool Grandpa Lu, did you? Don't worry, I won't tell Grandpa Lu, so you really don't have to fool even me."

Biden Lu stared at him with a cool whoosh.

"Snap Snap, your skin is itching again isn't it?"

Snap Shea:

Grievous Baba.

"Brother, who doesn't know you're not interested in women? Don't worry. What century is this? I'm very open and would never discriminate against you for liking men, I...ahh! Brother! Why are you hitting me?"

Biden Lu really couldn't hold back and grabbed a teacup and threw it over.

Jenny was laughing next to him in amusement.

Because of his handsome and feminine looks, Xie Snap has always been a melancholy national prince to the outside world, especially those deep eyes, noble and melancholy, as if he could talk, without having to speak, he has naturally captured the hearts of a large number of young girls.

Jenny had always thought that if she could maintain this image on screen for so many years, the private Xie Snap shouldn't be any worse in private.

But I didn't expect it to be vastly different.

This character...is also too funny!

Seeing her smile so happily, Biden Lu's ink pupils were slightly deeper, and the hostility on his face had finally subsided a bit.

Long fingers tapped the tabletop and coldly said, "If you keep talking nonsense, do you believe I'll have someone sew up your mouth with a needle?"

Chapter 37

In a flash of gratitude, Snap made a show of pulling his mouth shut and sat back down.

Only then did Biden Lu snorted.

After a moment, Snap looked at the two men in front of him, but eventually he didn't hold back.

Curious, he asked, "Brother, when did you get married? How come I don't even know?"

Biden Lu didn't even bother to look at him.

"Is it any wonder I have to report to you first for my wedding?"

"No, huh."

Xie Snap laughed awkwardly, "That Grandpa Lu has been looking forward to this for so many years, isn't this just the right time to make his old man happy too!"

Biden Lu's ink pupils darkened and he didn't speak.

Jenny Jing naturally wouldn't interfere in such matters.

After all, her and Biden Lu's situation was special, and she wasn't ready to meet the Lu family right now, but it was impossible to talk to Xie Snap Ming about that.

So, one has to remain silent.

Snap Xie saw that they were all silent, and although he was confused, he didn't want to ask more.

The food came up quickly, and after the meal, Biden Lu had the dishes removed and a pot of tea served.

Jenny Jing took a sip of tea before asking Fang, "Go ahead! Tell me the real story, all of it specifically and carefully."

As soon as we got to business, Snap Xie immediately restrained that hangdog look and became serious.

It's not really that complicated.

It's nothing more than the infatuation thing.

Xie Snap did have a previous girlfriend, but he is an idol and is currently on the rise in his career, so he has been practicing an underground relationship that has not been made public.

This girl had been very cooperative before, and they even had a very sweet time.

But starting about six months ago, the two became constantly fighting.

The girls began to ask him for large sums of money, and She Snap, not being a cheapskate, gave it almost every time.

But that wasn't enough, and he noticed that the girls' whereabouts were beginning to get weird and temperamental, irritable and often throwing tantrums at him.

On several occasions, even when he was filming, or preparing for a show, she had a seizure.

He also threatened him that if he didn't show up right away, she would immediately expose their relationship and ruin his career.

Snap She had no choice but to abandon the show and go forward to appease his girlfriend.

Because of this, he lost several endorsements during this time, and the cast even broke the news that he was on a big-time strike.

Where is he actually playing the big shot? It's just a matter of heartache and helplessness.

Snap Xie had always thought that the other party was tossing her around like this, probably because the underground love affair had made her insecure, and if only she gave more, things would definitely get better.

But I didn't expect that half a month ago, the woman suddenly broke up with him.

She Snap was tired after being tossed around for so long.

Not only was he tired, but even the agency team had a big problem with the girl, and he was caught in the middle, left and right.

Now I saw how determined they were, so I didn't say anything more and agreed.

After the breakup, Snapshot put all her energy into her work.

But unexpectedly, one day the news suddenly broke that this girl openly accused him on Weibo of cheating, domestic violence, and cheated away 10 million from her, refusing to return it!

Snap Shea: ????

This is a real man sitting at home, and the pot is coming from heaven.

Xie Snap immediately contacted the girl, but the call went through only to find that they had already blacked him out.

The company issued a clarifying announcement on his behalf at the first opportunity, but to little effect.

After all, audiences are the most fun to watch.

Especially the buzz about the popular male celebrities.

It's the kind of thing that is most likely to give some psychologically dark silk keyboard warrior an inexplicable sense of superiority and pleasure.

Look at that!! I told you this guy was unreliable, and now it's true!

There was a sudden outcry on it.

That's not all, but a few days later, the girl put out a few more pictures on it.

The pictures are all bruised up with her.

She identified them all on Twitter as left by Snap Xie, and made a recording detailing the beating he gave her.

The incident quickly took the world by storm, dominating a few hot searches for several days in a row.

Several hot takes have come in and crushed the reputation of the male artist who is on the rise.

Soon, all of Snap's endorsements and business activities were suspended due to security and other concerns.

Even a film that was being filmed was temporarily suspended.

Although he was Biden Lu's cousin, this relationship was little known within the company.

It is even less likely that you will impress him because of their relationship.

Thus, Snap She really had a hard time saying it.

The only way to do that is to quickly find this girl and confront her face to face.

But for half a month, he, as well as the company team, had tried every possible way to find out where the other party was.

It's as if it had been premeditated and the girl just disappeared after sending those messages.

Snap Xie has no choice but to temporarily send someone to find her while trying to find a more experienced PR person to stabilize the situation.

Jenny fell silent after listening to Xie Snap's account.

She didn't say anything, and the man beside her had already given her full authority over the matter, so naturally she wouldn't open her mouth.

Only Snapshot, across the street, was staring at her nervously.

"Is this thing with me...easy?"

Jenny looked at him and smiled, "What do you think?"

She Snap slumped.

Hard to do!

It's not hard to do, so why hasn't it been resolved by now?

Jenny Jing saw him looking depressed and smiled, "Difficult because the other party has been silent, and then no action, even if we have the strength, it's like a punch on cotton, it will do very little, so you must find this person first, and the rest will be solved."

Snap Shea frowned.

"I know the reasoning, but the point is that it's like the fu*k has just vanished off the face of the earth, where am I going to find someone?"

Biden Lu stared at him with cold eyes, "Watch what you say!"

Only then did Xie Snap remember that the person in front of him was not only his PR person, but also his sister-in-law.

He piled on a smile, "Sorry, little sister-in-law, I'm a hot-tempered person, and I'm prone to mouth mistakes! Sorry sorry."

Jenny didn't mind and laughed.

"Actually hearing it now, I've been thinking about it."

"What's the problem?"

"Most people in this world make trouble for two reasons, either for money or for people, and your ex-girlfriend has gotten you into such a situation that it's naturally impossible for her to think about renewing her previous relationship with you.

But to this day, she hasn't contacted you much less asked you for a penny, so what is she trying to achieve by going to all this trouble to frame you?"

Xie Snap was startled.

Biden Lu curved his lips and looked at the woman beside him with approval.

The question had actually occurred to him.

Just kept it to himself and waited for Jenny to find out.

Chapter 38

His little woman proved to be really clever, and a little goes a long way.

Jenny Jing took a sip of tea from his cup and said in a soft voice, "You first find someone to help you figure out this problem, and I'll find a way to help you with the rest."

Snap Shea nodded.

Reminded by Jenny, he also realized the strange nature of the situation and was busy calling his agent to help him look into the issue.

After making the call, Jenny Fang continued, "Next, I'll explain my plan, and you guys can see if there's anything you want to change or add."

Snap Shea nodded, "Well, you say."

Jenny told the two roughly about the plan he had drawn up, and they both listened with great approval.

Snap Xie was even happier as if he had found a straw to save his life.

After all, this case has been dragging on for half a month and we haven't found a viable solution.

Now this plan of Jenny's was only drafted, but just listening to it, it already felt almost perfect to the point of being flawless.

The three men came out of the restaurant and parted at the door.

Jenny didn't go with Biden Lu, after all, it was already late and he had to go back to work.

And she had her own car to drive over, so she didn't need a ride, and after we parted, she drove off on her own.

Jenny didn't go straight back to the land garden.

She drove back to her small flat.

Although she had now promised Biden Lu to live over there, she still had many of her own household items here.

Lu Jing deep considerate for her in every way, Jenny is not unintelligible, but in the end some things are still more comfortable with their own, so naturally to take over.

After packing up her things, she was on her way out with her suitcase, when out of the corner of her eye she accidentally glanced at a box placed in the corner of the sofa.

The box is black, of excellent texture, and wrapped in a jacket of black velvet.

She paused, turned back and opened the box.

A fine quality men's shirt is on display.

That was the birthday present she bought for Rovell Mu.

It was originally meant to wait until his birthday to give it to him, but unfortunately, before that date, he crashed his adulterous affair with Clara early.

Thinking of this, Jenny smiled to himself.

In just a few days, she had gone from being sad at the mention of the man to now being numb and insensitive.

Man ho! It seems all are fickle.

Jenny put the stuff back, thought about it, and then packed it up and put it in his suitcase to take away.

After all, it cost a fortune, over a hundred thousand!

It's a shame to leave such high-grade goods here to eat ash, so I might as well sell it and get some of my money back.

King.Businessman .Ning Meizhi dragged the box outside.

After going downstairs, you put your luggage in the car and drove to Land Park.

After returning to the land garden, she locked herself directly into her room and began working on Snap Xie's PR plan.

What I told him today at noon was just a draft plan, specific because I didn't know enough about the actual situation to do much detail.

Now, she just had to refine the plan in more detail.

After making the plan, Jenny sent the file to Snap Xie.

The two had already added WeChat at noon, and after Jenny sent the documents over, Xie Snap didn't reply, thinking that he was probably busy, so he didn't care, and threw down his phone and went downstairs.

It is now six o'clock in the afternoon.

Counting the time, it was time for Biden Lu to return.

The kitchen was filled with the enticing aroma of food, and Jenny stretched out and strolled around before returning to the living room.

There's a car outside.

The sound of the engine.

Jenny knew that it was Biden Lu who had returned and went out to look, and sure enough, he saw the man just getting off the bus.

He was wearing a white shirt and a suit jacket on his arm, poised.

Mrs. Liu also ran out of the kitchen at the sound of her voice.

Seeing him, he immediately smiled and said, "Sir is back!"

Biden Lu nodded slightly, his gaze falling on Jenny Jing, his eyes tinted with a warm smile.

He reached out and hooked his arm around the woman's waist and brought her inside.

"You always stand at the door every day waiting for me, it's going to make me think you're already in love with me."

The man's voice was mellow and low enough that only the two of them could hear it.

Jenny, however, still couldn't help but blush pretty and reached out to push him away.

"Don't flatter yourself, I just came down for a walk and happened to run into you coming back."

"Yesterday it was a sunset, and today it's a walk, Mrs. Land, and it seems like we're really meant for each other! Always such a coincidence?"

Jenny: "....."

Knowing that she couldn't speak to him on this, she simply stopped arguing with him and turned to walk to the restaurant.

Biden Lu smiled, self-assured.

After dinner, he went into the study, as if he still had to be busy.

Jenny didn't bother him either.

She also had her own business to attend to.

Two of the three companies that were previously wanted from the Mu family have been sold, and the remaining entertainment company is called Starlight Culture.

She stayed with the company because she was in public relations herself.

She had always wanted to set up her own company, but building a temporary team was too complicated, and she happened to have such an opportunity in front of her, so naturally she gladly accepted.

Jenny hadn't gone to the company to check on the situation yet, having only gotten a general idea of the company from outside sources before.

At the time of signing the transfer papers, Patrick Hong had asked the secretaries to give her the company's information as well.

Only after Jenny took a closer look did she realize that the company's current situation was worse than she had imagined.

Come to think of it, no one would have transferred the company if it hadn't gotten to a very bad, almost unmanageable state.

Founded almost forty years ago, Starlight Culture was considered a very famous and large entertainment company in the early days of China.

There was a time period, even considered a benchmark for the entire entertainment industry, that not only produced a large number of superstars, but also personally created dozens of movies and TV shows of extraordinary impact.

It is reasonable to assume that such an old company should not be mixed up to this point.

But in fact, since the beginning of the decade, the star has gradually started to decline due to the then ace publicist Tong Shu's move to become an agent, taking with him a number of top stars of the time.

Tong Shu had taken away three batches of artists from Starflight, all of whom were key training targets for Starflight, undoubtedly the equivalent of draining Starflight of blood.

The reason why these people were willing to go with Tong Shu was undoubtedly because of the very harsh conditions of the contract they signed with Xing Hui at that time, and the extremely low pay.

So, most people are willing to pay a large termination fee, even if it hurts for a moment, but it's a strong move.

Although Starlite doubled its revenue in a short period of time, but the company was drained of blood, like a zombie, can only gradually see its decline and decay.

Add to that the changing industry and the dumping of its rapidly emerging peers, and Starlight shrinks smaller and smaller.

To this day, the entertainment empire, which originally represented an era, has been encroached upon to the point where less than ten artists remain, and all of them are small artists who are mixed up in the eighteenth tier.

The resources are even worse.

For over a whole year, no better resources were received for the company's artists.
