

Chapter 369

People are very subjective creatures.

Sometimes, trust is something that you need to work with each other to maintain.

He trusts her, so even if in his heart he doesn't really want her to go out and act, especially some of the emotional scenes with male actors, rivalry scenes, even if he knows it's fake, someone will feel uncomfortable.

But because it was something she enjoyed, something she was interested in, he chose to respect her.

Since he had made such concessions, Jenny naturally couldn't disappoint him anymore, at least in some ways, and could avoid them, not allowing them to become a stumbling block to their relationship.

On this day, Jenny just happened to finish filming a rather intense fight scene, as it was a martial arts theme and there were more fight scenes.

Her hand was injured and she couldn't hold a heavy sword, so the director negotiated and gave her a lighter soft whip instead.

But the soft whip was something that looked easy and simple, but was actually harder to learn than sword and saber techniques.

After studying all afternoon, Jenny had finally learned the right moves to set up the afternoon's scene and was ready to call it a day and head back to the hotel.

Just then, however, a delivery worker came over.

"May I ask if this is Ms. Kingning King?"

Jenny was stunned and nodded, "Yes, what's wrong?"

"Hello, here are your flowers and a gift, please sign for them."

Jenny Jing was slightly startled, not so much by the oversized bouquet of roses, but by the diamond necklace hanging from the centre of the rose.

The necklace was heart-shaped in the middle, with a lake blue background and a thumb-sized diamond in the middle, and you could tell at a glance that it was worth a lot of money.

She couldn't help but ask, "Who sent this flower? Can you tell me the other person's name or contact information?"

The staff member smiled, "I'm sorry, but this is a client secret and we can't tell you without permission."

Jenny Jing restrained his eyebrows slightly, but didn't say anything and signed for it.

After receiving them, she naturally couldn't hold the flowers because they were too big, so she just asked the staff to put them on the ground next to her.

Then, the diamond necklace on top was taken up.

The necklace is intricately made, and you can tell that it's a little different from the ones that are circulating on the market, so it's supposed to be the private custom kind.

Plus, a diamond of this size was rare in itself, so Jenny couldn't help but be even more curious about the person behind the delivery.

The rest of the cast, too, came around.

"Wow, what a big diamond, this must be at least ten carats!"

"Oh my God! Who sent this, such a trench!"

"Jenny, are all your suitors this rich? It's fine for Lu to give you red coral jewellery, but why would a random movie fan give you such a big diamond ah."

"This has to be worth at least ten or twenty million, right? My God, it's worth my pay for a couple of movies."

"I'm so jealous of you, Jenny."

There were mostly actresses from the crew around, but Jenny Jing was a little distracted as he listened to their sighs and admiration.

Her beautiful eyebrows had been gently knitted, and her intuition told her that there was something wrong with this.

No matter how she looked at it, she didn't think that such an expensive diamond necklace would be something a mere movie fan would give away.

For some reason, she suddenly remembered that phone call from the other night.

The heart jumped suddenly and changed colour.

Collecting her thoughts, she looked at the actresses who had already surrounded a bunch in front of her and were visiting the diamond necklace, and said, "Sorry, I suddenly remembered that I still have some urgent business, I have to go back to the hotel, I'll give it to everyone for a visit some other day ha."

I said, and put the necklace away and left the set.

When she got back to the hotel, she made an excuse to branch out to Mo Nan.

Then, sitting cross-legged on the bed, holding the phone, staring at the phone number on the screen, obsessing hard over it.

Half a dozen times, I finally worked up the courage to call.

For a moment, Jenny almost felt that he was

The hands are shaking.

There was also a guilty cold sweat coming out of the back, and my throat felt like it was choked with something that made it impossible to speak.

However, just when she thought that the call would soon be answered.

But there was a busy voice from across the room.

"I'm sorry, the number you have dialed is empty..."

Jenny: "....."

What do you mean?

Her face changed slightly and she took another close look at the number on the screen to make sure it wasn't a mistake, and it wasn't like it was a random number generated from encryption, it should have been the one he used for a long time.

Why would it be a blank?

Jenny didn't give up and called several more times, yet as in the beginning, every time he called, the number was empty.

Her heart sank hard.

Suddenly there was an illusion.

That phone call the other night was like a dream.

In fact, he never showed up, he never called her, and it was all just a figment of her own overly nervous imagination.

Jenny frowned, only feeling the sudden pounding of his temples and the confusion in his mind.

She tossed the phone to the bed with it, covered her head, and lowered her head, burying her face into her chest.

Just then, the phone rang.

Her subconscious reflex body bounced, and she was busy picking up her phone, but it was Biden Lu's call.

Not a heavy sigh of relief.

"Hello."

"Doing what?"

Jenny's voice wasn't very energetic, "I just finished work, I'm at the hotel."

"A man?"

"Well, I've asked Mo Nan to go out and get a book for me, so I guess I'll be back soon."

"Have you eaten yet?"

"Not yet."

Biden Lu paused and brewed for a while, then suddenly said, "I heard that someone sent you something again today?"

Jenny was startled, subconsciously feeling a little guilty.

"Uh...yes."

"Or that guy?"

"Well."

"Oh, it's worthy of my ning-ning, and it's really popular!"

The man's tone was warm and gentle, his voice soft and faint, not bland in the least.

But Jenny felt a little cold behind.

She even explained, "I don't know him, really, I don't even know who the other guy is."

Biden Lu smiled coolly.

"That's really noble, 30 million diamonds said to give away, without even leaving a name, such unrequited admiration even I was almost touched."

Jenny: "....."

She sank, "Biden Lu, you don't suspect me, do you?"

Biden Lu snorted coldly.

No words.

Jenny didn't say anything either, and the phone suddenly fell into a stilted silence.

It took about ten seconds before I suddenly heard a man's voice.

"I'm jealous."

Jenny: "???"

Not hearing her response, the man was very upset and repeated, "I said, I'm jealous!"

The tone suddenly became heavy with undisguised jealousy and discontent.

Jenny suddenly puffed out a laugh.

Hearing her laughter, Biden Lu snorted again across the phone.

"Just laugh at me, just because I love you more, laugh at me harder! Had I known, I would have locked you up at home, forbidden you to become some kind of actor, not even allowed out of the house, only allowed to show me, and see who would dare to covet you."

Chapter 370

Jenny held back her laughter, but couldn't help herself and said, "What kind of flying jealousy are you talking about? I don't even know if the other guy looks round or flat, and besides, I don't really intend to take such a valuable thing from someone, I'm going to find out who he is and return it to him."

Biden Lu snorted again.

Jenny can only be kindly reassured, well, someone is not really angry, just know that their woman is being pursued by other men crazy, the heart will always be a little sore.

Finally, Jenny finally calmed him down, and Biden Lu said again, "You don't seem to have a show tomorrow, do you?"

Jenny was stunned, and after thinking about it carefully, it didn't seem to be there.

Biden Lu said, "Come to the company to keep me company."

Jenny subconsciously wanted to refuse.

"It's not good, you have to work..."

"There's only one early morning meeting tomorrow, the rest are in the office, so just stay with me next to me."

Jenny Jing hesitated, remembering that he had been busy filming and indeed hadn't spent much time with him, so he agreed.

The next day, Jenny Jing let his assistant, Aoi, take the day off, while he drove directly to Lu's headquarters with Mo Nan.

Everyone in the company knew her, so when they saw her walk in with Mo Nan, they weren't surprised, and one by one they greeted her respectfully.

Jenny took the president's special lift upstairs to the outside of Biden Lu's office, so Mo Nan didn't continue to follow him and turned to the secretary's office for tea.

Jenny pushed the door in.

Because of Biden Lu's explanation, everyone knew that Jenny Jing would come today, so they didn't stop her as they watched her push her way through the door.

When Jenny entered, Biden Lu was having a video teleconference.

This is probably the same early meeting he was talking about on the phone yesterday.

Jenny didn't disturb him, and after having a brief eye contact with him, he motioned for him to continue and sat down on the couch to go along with it.

Vicky soon walked in and brought her favorite milk tea and her favorite magazine.

What Jenny likes to eat, drink and play, Vicky has a very complete information there.

These days, a good special assistant not only has to serve his own boss well, but most importantly, take care of his own boss's wife.

Vicky was well versed in this, so when Lu Jing deepened his gaze as he glanced over the milk tea and the magazine in front of Jenny, his eyes were deep and deeply satisfied.

Not long after Jenny sat down, the video conference with Biden Lu finished.

He got up, came over to her, leaned over and k*ssed her on the forehead, and said softly, "Sit down, and when I'm done with this, I'll take you to dinner."

Jenny smiled and nodded.

Next, Biden Lu went back to his work.

In fact, it said that Jenny had come over to keep him company, not really keeping him company much.

Because the man is so busy.

The entire morning was filled with non-stop phone calls and calls to the heads of various company departments to talk about work.

The managers from various departments came in and saw Jenny sitting on the sofa, and they were all very gossipy, after all, although they knew that Jenny was the wife of the president, they actually rarely witnessed the two being together.

However, in front of Biden Lu, they didn't dare to show anything.

After a good debriefing, be good and leave.

Rather, Jenny was uncomfortable with the curious eyes that flew in surreptitiously, sizing him up.

It's a good thing the morning was already relatively short and rushed by quickly.

up.

Biden Lu gave himself a rare vacation, not going to work in the afternoon, to take her out to wave.

Jenny was naturally happy.

Not that she herself wanted to play, but she thought the man was too tired to be obsessed with work all day and rarely rested.

It's good to have a chance to relax.

So, in the afternoon, they went out to dinner and did a little shopping.

I don't know if it was Jenny's delusion.

She always felt that there was something odd about the man today.

I couldn't tell where it was odd, but it always felt as if there was something hidden from her.

For example, after shopping, he suddenly and inexplicably has to drag her back to change clothes.

Change clothes just change clothes, out to play, Jenny still prefers to dress more casual, so changed into a long-sleeved t-shirt and jeans.

But the man frowned at the sight of it, and pulled her hard back to the cloak and chose a more elaborate sky-blue dress for her to change into.

Jenny was almost speechless.

But since he wanted her to wear it, so be it.

It didn't matter to her anyway, as long as he didn't drag her on a hike, it didn't make any difference if she wore a skirt or trousers.

After forcing Jenny to change into a long skirt, Biden Lu himself went back to his room to change into a more formal suit.

It also replaced the tie used at the office during the day with a black bow tie.

It looked like Jenny thought he was going to attend someone's wedding today.

But laughing aside, Jenny felt that this man was good-looking, looked good in everything, was simply a walking coat hanger, and being able to stare at such a person every day, she felt that even her own aesthetics had improved a lot.

Once they were changed, they were out the door again.

In the evening, Biden Lu directly rejects the request of An An, who learns that Jenny Jing has the day off and noisily wants to come over to see Mommy, to spend time with Jenny Jing for two.

The two went to a nearby resort.

The Maple Bridge villa is nice, but Biden Lu feels that after living for a long time, there are so many maids at home, sometimes it is inevitable to lose the eye fun.

The villa, which was opened by a friend of Tailor Feng's, is of that kind of private nature, not to mention the secluded environment, the key is to know few people, ordinary people with money can not come.

Especially the wine here, I've heard that the owner is a wine lover, and in order to be able to drink the wine of his choice, he bought a winery in France, planted the grapes himself, and personally participated in making the wine, so even though the vintage is not high, it tastes great.

This was Jenny's first time here, and everything he saw felt new.

The moment the wine was delivered, she took just a sip and noticed the difference.

"It's so mellow, slightly bitter in the mouth but with a great aftertaste afterwards, it's delicious, how is it made?"

Biden Lu sat opposite and smiled, "If you ask me this question, then I can't answer it, but if you like it, we'll just buy the recipe for this wine."

Jenny was stunned and shook his head incessantly.

"Forget it, people have carefully researched something, we'll just taste it when we're in the mood, there's no need to go so far."

Lu Jing deeply smiled.

He was actually just saying that casually because he knew that Jenny's personality wouldn't do that.

She has always known how to treat others with respect, and is also very good at respecting the fruits of other people's work, so it is unlikely that she would do something to force people to sell their formulas for a mouthful of her own personal grain debt.

The atmosphere was very relaxed as they drank wine and chatted.

Chapter 371

This guest room was specially prepared by Biden Lu's order.

The room wasn't particularly large, but a hundred or so square feet, but it was well laid out, with the emphasis on the fact that it was a couple's room that had been specially set up for them.

Whether it's the clear bathroom glass or the rose petals and candles that are everywhere, it shows the romance of the evening.

Biden Lu cut the steak on the plate and handed it to her and brought the plate in front of her to cut.

Since the two of them had similar tastes, they ordered the same meal, so Jenny didn't refuse and ate a piece with her fork.

"Biden Lu, why are you so laid back today, thinking of coming here to play?"

The man who was cutting the steak lifted his eyelids to look at her.

"You don't know?"

Jenny was slightly stunned, "What do I know?"

The man's eyes had a look of frustration that was so true.

Jenny was a little confused, then he saw him suddenly put down his knife and fork and take a red gift box out from under the table beside him.

"Happy first wedding anniversary, wife!"

Jenny was completely startled.

One year anniversary?

Ahem!

Hearing those three words, she almost choked on the steak in her mouth, coughing a few times before staring at Biden Lu with incredulous eyes.

"You said that today is our first wedding anniversary?"

The expression on Biden Lu's face was a little stiff.

After a few seconds of silence, he smiled and spoke, "What do you think?"

Jenny: "....."

She sort of responded now.

No wonder this man is so strange today!

Specially called her from the set to run over to accompany him not to say, out to play a bit, but also had to drag her back to change clothes.

Booked such a romantic couple's room again, and drank wine....

So it's an anniversary!

Jenny Jing now only felt that he was incomparably miserable.

If you want to say that her memory is not bad ah, people a pregnancy stupid three years, she is not pregnant yet, how come her memory is so bad?

Can't even remember an anniversary.

Jenny awkwardly accosted twice, "That... I'm sorry ah... I... I didn't know that today was... I forgot to prepare a gift, but I can fill you in tomorrow!"

After the words, even she felt guilty!

It's Memorial Day! It's only an anniversary if it's that day. It's not an anniversary if it's been a day.

Immediately afterwards, they slandered someone under their breath.

It's obvious that he already knew, but he didn't warn her, causing her to be so embarrassed now, this man is really....

Biden Lu's skinny smile tugged at the corners of his mouth, "It's okay, you can open it first and see if you like it."

Jenny looked at the red gift box on the table and swallowed his saliva.

After another glance at Biden Lu, making sure that although the other party was smiling falsely, he shouldn't really be angry, this was the moment when he reached out, carefully opening the gift box.

The red gift box was covered with black satin, and lying on the satin was a bright green bracelet.

Jenny's eyes lit up.

"Wow, that's a beautiful bracelet!"

Lu Jing gazed at her with deep eyes, "Do you like it?"

"Like!"

Extremely high quality imperial green emeralds were inherently rare, not to mention that looking at the colour of the bracelet in front of her, it was actually a bit greener than the kind of imperial green she had seen at the auction before.

Jenny belongs to the cool and noble type, and the usual jewellery doesn't set off her temperament.

Only Fei.

Jade jade and stones of this kind of things, other young girls wear afraid of showing the old gas, she wears a kind of end square atmosphere, but also a pleasing feeling.

Therefore, Jenny didn't like gold or diamonds, but only jadeite jade.

Biden Lu saw that she liked it, which gave her a satisfied expression.

"I'm glad you like it, here, let me put it on for you."

Jenny was busy extending her hand over, and Biden Lu took the bracelet and put it on her wrist.

The green to the point of almost dripping out of the bracelet had a thrilling beauty against her arms that were as white as snow.

Lu Jing deeply held such a hand, and his eyes touched such a beautiful view, and his heart swam with some rare and uncontrollable feeling.

"Jenny."

"Well?"

Jenny was still studying the bracelet on her wrist with her head down, so although her mouth was responding, her eyes weren't looking at him.

Biden Lu said in a deep voice, "You've already received your gift, what about my gift?"

Jenny stiffened.

She looked up, looked at the man, and smiled awkwardly.

"That...didn't I just say that I forgot."

"Oh, that means I don't have a present tonight."

The man said, withdrawing his hand, his face not hiding his loss at all.

Jenny where to look, this man was already born good-looking, used to his usual gentle and calm, or laughing, or coup, or cold and serious look.

But never saw him grieving and pitiful.

Jenny couldn't take it anymore all of a sudden and said, "I promise you, I'll find a way to make it up to you tomorrow, don't be mad, okay?"

Biden Lu barely smiled at her.

"I'm not angry."

Jenny: "....."

"It's just a little sad, it's fine, you can eat, don't worry about me."

He said, going back to cutting the steak from his plate.

Jenny's heart was breaking as he watched, where else at this time, he even got up and ran over, hugging him from behind.

"Honey, I'm sorry well, I was wrong, I promise I won't forget next time, really, just forgive me this time, okay?"

Jenny wrapped her arms around his body from behind, so she didn't even see the flash of a smile that lifted the corners of the man's mouth.

Biden Lu continued to put on a lonely expression and said, "Oh, so we'll forget about it this time?"

Jenny was embarrassed.

Alas!How can you break it if your husband is not nice?Wait online, hurry!

She thought about it, freeing a hand to touch something on her body, and suddenly she touched something, and her eyes lit up.

"Actually, bar, it's not like I didn't prepare anything today, but it's just that I was afraid you wouldn't like it, so I never dared to take it out."

Biden Lu's eyebrows raised, "What is it?"

Jenny even let go of him and came forward, pulling out a small bracelet made of red string from his pocket.

Biden Lu: "....."

The bracelet is so plain, so plain that it's...not a gift.

The only thing I could see was a ring braided with red string, and on the ring hung a very simple gold transit bead, with a very obvious blessing engraved on the bead.

Biden Lu almost didn't throw this bracelet right out of the window.

He stared at Jenny with an eerie smile on his face, "Is this the anniversary present you prepared for me?"

Jenny smiled pleasingly and looked at him with an expectant face, "Yes, I made it up myself, look, I even changed the pattern on my side, isn't it beautiful and heartfelt?"

The smile on the man's face grew even grimmer.