

Chapter 372

"So, you're asking me to wear this every day, to meetings, to do business with people?"

The smile on Jenny's face stiffened.

She coughed twice in embarrassment, "Well, you can actually just wear it at home, gifts, the most important thing is the thought, huh..."

"Thoughts?"

The man raised an eyebrow, then thought about it and held out his hand.

"Well, then, for the love of your heart, I'll let you try it on and see if you can put it on."

Jenny nodded, swallowed, and brought his hand over.

Biden Lu wore a diamond watch on her wrist, and she untied the watch before undoing the red cord and attaching it.

That's when the embarrassment arose.

The red cord is too short to snap.

Jenny's face swished red, straight from his cheeks to his ears.

The red rope was actually something she learned to make up with Mo Nan when she was bored on the set.

To just pass the time.

The transit beads, but also Mo Nan said there is this can drain the reverse, give people good luck, she is indifferent attitude just buy one to put on.

Therefore, the bracelet was her size, and Biden Lu was a man after all, and his wrist was naturally different from hers, which was why he couldn't wear it.

Biden Lu looked at her as her functioning froze there with a seeming smile and asked, "So, this is the gift you have prepared for me?"

Jenny was on the verge of tears.

At this point, she also knew that she wouldn't be able to fool around today.

Even knowingly begging for mercy.

"Honey, I was wrong, and I promise I'll make up a perfect anniversary gift for you tomorrow, so let's leave it at that for today, okay?"

Biden Lu stared at her, a few shallow smiles rippling out of his eyes.

"You don't have to wait until tomorrow, in fact you can give me a very nice gift today."

Jenny was stunned and asked subconsciously, "What?"

The wrist suddenly tightened, and the next second, the body was planted forward, the whole thing falling into the man's arms.

Biden Lu hugged her, placed her on his lap, bowed his head, and said in a mute voice, "You."

Jenny: "....."

Tonight was destined to be a night of indulgence.

During this time, the man had been pent up emotions for too long, jealousy, thoughts, possessions... and finally all of them turned into endless lingering, consumed with her in the middle of a long night.

The living room, the bathroom, the bedroom, the couch, and finally someone even carried her back to the dining room to sip at the table once more.

Only at the end, when Jenny was so tired that she couldn't move at all, and her whole body felt like it was falling apart, did he carry her back to the bedroom.

The room was dimly lit, and Jenny climbed on his shoulder, faintly hearing his low voice as the man claimed him viciously.

"Jenny, let's have another child, shall we?"

Jenny was already tired and unconscious, and didn't notice the word "again" in his words, and hummed in a daze.

The man was in a moment of ecstasy, followed by another wave of gusto.

All night till dawn.

The next day, Jenny unsurprisingly failed to get up out of bed.

By the time she woke up, it was afternoon.

Jenny looked out of the window at the sun's fierce daylight and rose up in alarm.

As soon as I moved, however, I realized I was so sore, especially somewhere, that it was like a tear.

She winced in pain and fell back in her entire body.

Just at that moment, Biden Lu walked in with a tray of food.

"You're awake."

Jenny looked at him and asked, "What time is it?"

Biden Lu put the plate down and looked at the wristwatch on his hand, "Two o'clock in the afternoon,

What's going on?"

"Two points?"

Jenny stared in shock, followed by a change in his face.

"Oh no, no, no, no, I have a play this morning, and now Director Chow should be looking everywhere for me."

She said, scrambling to find her clothes.

Biden Lu smiled and walked over to her, holding her down.

"There's no need to worry, I've already called and dealt with you, you're not feeling well today, rest."

Jenny was stunned, finally reacting.

"You hit that?"

"Well."

She was relieved, followed by an annoyance.

"Biden Lu!"

The man replied in a warm voice, "I am."

"Look what you did last night! If I didn't fu*k*ing know it was you, I'd think I'd been eaten by a dog."

The man raised his eyebrows and laughed lightly, "Mrs. Lu, it was you who took the initiative at the beginning last night, and if I remember correctly, you enjoyed it too, so why are you blaming me now?"

Jennyton's small face flushed red with shame, last night, he said that he wanted her to give herself to him as a gift, and she agreed because of her guilt.

In the beginning, it was indeed hard to take the initiative to make up for the man.

What do you know about this man who's going crazy in the back? No restraint at all!

Jenny sat on the bed, sulking in exasperation.

Only when Biden Lu saw that she seemed to be really angry did he restrain his smile and sat on the edge of the bed and said warmly, "Sorry, I didn't restrain myself last night, does it still hurt now?"

Jenny gave him a blank stare.

"Ouch!"

"Shall I rub it for you?"

"No!"

She said, biting her lip, suddenly having trouble saying anything.

However, who is Biden Lu?

He wouldn't be unaware of what he'd done last night, so one look at her face and he knew what was going on.

"I'm sorry, I'll have the medicine sent over right away."

Jenny glared at him.

But in the end didn't refuse.

In the afternoon, Jenny didn't go anywhere, Vicky soon sent medicine over, Biden Lu wanted to help her wipe, she was reluctant, and as a result, she dawdled for most of the day, but was unable to wipe the wound.

In the end, the man had to be asked to help.

Jenny swore that she had never done anything so shameful in her life!

But Biden Lu is extremely serious on the drug.

He was indeed too Meng Lang last night, the little woman was so delicate, where could she stand to be tossed around like that all night.

After applying the medicine, Biden Lu helped her change into the clothes that Vicky had brought along with her before sending her home.

After this day, Jenny was hard pressed to stay home for two more days.

It wasn't that her body hurt so much that she couldn't move, but the marks were just too obvious, all over her neck and body, so how was she supposed to get to the set.

You know, even though it's a costume drama, just because you can cover your body, doesn't mean you can cover your neck.

Anyone with a discerning eye could see at a glance what she had been through.

Jenny wanted to save face, and refused to leave the house in those two days until three days later, when the marks on her neck were so shallow that she could cover them with foundation, she returned to the set.

The interiors were shot quickly, and there weren't many shots left, so it was only a week before the shoot was finished.

During this period of time, the person who sent Jenny's diamond necklace before, still sent flowers and various gifts over every day as usual.

Even when she took a few days off and wasn't on the set, things were still delivered.

People in the cast who hadn't cared about this started to take notice of it.

Everyone was wondering who was behind this curtain and who would be ungrateful enough to so openly pander to Lu's wife.

Chapter 373

The results came out quickly.

That day, Jenny received an invitation to a fashion dinner.

Since the dinner was being hosted by a brand she really liked, she decided to attend.

Coincidentally, Nina Hua and Evelin, as well as Yan Sihua Xie Snap and all of them were also there.

Although we are all in the same community, it's actually rare that we can get together in one place.

Therefore, Jenny was very happy, and was so happy that he inevitably drank two more cups.

She wasn't a good drinker, perhaps because she hadn't eaten dinner before arriving today, and it was always easy to get drunk on an empty stomach, so after a few glasses, she felt a little tipsy.

Jenny Jing then stopped drinking, greeted Nina Hua and the others, and went to the bathroom.

Mo Nan had been following her, she wore a small suit and had a cold face, she looked like a bit of a strong woman.

Jenny gave her his handbag and told her to wait outside and come out after using the bathroom.

The restroom here was fully enclosed with only one exit, so Mo Nan didn't worry about anything and let her in alone.

Jenny was washing his hands after using the restroom, when suddenly a chill ran down his spine, as if he was being stalked by some large predator.

Her mind alerted, she turned around sharply and snapped, "Who?"

Before she could say anything, however, a hand suddenly reached out from behind her, covered her mouth, and dragged her to a nearby cubicle.

The cubicle was dimly lit.

Jenny was pressed against the door panel, her mouth covered, and she didn't dare to move.

She stared, but she couldn't see the other woman's face because it was so dark.

In the darkness, only the sound of the man's breathing could be heard, as well as his own violent, thunderous heartbeat.

She tensed up almost all over, feeling the man's head rubbing gently against her ear as if he were holding back deliberately, his rapid breath spraying into her neck, hot and ticklish.

"Little Seven, it's been so long, I can't believe you don't recognize me."

Jenny opened his pupils fiercely and shuddered.

It's him!

It was a voice that was all too familiar.

After all, he had been the one who had been there for her, teaching her and helping her, those thousand days and nights.

It could be said that he was the most important person in her life, a benefactor, yet....

An enemy she wanted nothing to do with for the rest of her life!

Jenny frowned tightly and made two "hmmm" sounds.

The other laughed lightly.

It was a voice, soft and shallow, but without any warmth.

"Looks like little Seven recognized me? Luckily, I've forgotten my taste, but I remember my voice, so at least I'm not so sorry."

After a few seconds, he finally let go of her mouth.

Jenny glared at him furiously.

Even though she couldn't clearly see the other woman's face, she glared angrily and gritted her teeth, "What are you doing back here?"

The man laughed softly, "Looking for you."

"I don't have anything to do with you anymore!"

"Gee, how do you say that? How many years has it been since we were so sweet? And you won't recognize me as your brother?"

Jenny sneered.

"No brother who would do something like that to himself! Besides, I've already told you in the beginning that I've paid back the debt of gratitude I owe you, and I'm no longer your sister!"

The man shook his head, his tone seemingly disappointed.

"Surely the cold man is still cold, and the infatuated man is still infatuated, alas!

When you said you've paid me back, you didn't mean that, did you? But little Seven, I saved your life in the first place, if I hadn't rescued you from the sea, you'd only be afraid that your body would have been soaked and turned into bones and sunk to the bottom of the sea now, do you think that little thing you did is enough to repay me for such a great kindness?"

Jenny was extremely angry, almost gnashing his teeth.

"So what do you want?"

The man laughed again.

He even reached out and touched her head.

"I've told you, I want to marry you."

This time, it was Jenny's turn to snicker.

"Sorry, I'm married."

"It's okay, I'll wait for you to leave."

Jenny: "....."

This man is as annoying as ever!

She didn't want to talk to him, so she turned around and walked out.

When she got out of the cubicle, the light outside was bright, and she was finally able to see the man's face.

He was tall, at around 188cm, about the same height as Biden Lu, but with a very different temperament.

Biden Lu is the kind of handsome that is distinguished and elegant, and cold and noble, while he is evil, the evil with an innate debauchery, even the eyes with a compelling brilliance, making people feel at first glance that this man is poisonous and must not be touched!

Jenny Jing coldly said, "So those things from the previous crew were also from you, right!"

The man narrowed his eyes with a smile, "Yes, like it?"

Jenny Jing coldly hooked his lips, "I threw away the flowers, the necklace is in my bag, I'll return it to you later."

The man shook his head, "Little Seven is still so ruthless!"

Jenny turned around and was about to leave, when she heard him say this, she couldn't bear to look back and warned, "I'm warning you, don't ever call me little Seven again, I don't want to hear that name again!"

The man raised his eyebrows, "So I call you Seven?"

Jenny: "....."

The man smiled again, those peach blossom eyes with a compelling glow, "Xiao Qi, haven't seen you for four years, did you miss me?"

Jenny only felt that his chest was about to explode.

She didn't know why she was so angry, but she knew that just by looking at his face, the past could be vivid, and she just wanted to punch him in the face.

She said coldly, "Don't want to! I'm not interested in you either! So please stay out of my life, and don't ever bother me again!"

Afterwards, turn around and walk away.

It was then that a man's somewhat cold voice came from behind him.

"Old K is dead!"

Jenny stepped forward.

It was stiff.

She turned back, looking at him incredulously, her voice muffled, "What did you say?"

The man's face was devoid of a smile, but his eyes were calm, and he couldn't see any emotion, as if he was stating a very normal thing.

"Old K is dead, he was assassinated half a month ago, the other guy is supposed to be the same people who were after you, I found that flower symbol on Old K's body."

Jenny was dumbfounded, his head blank and his ears buzzing.

She couldn't believe the news at all, and it took a long time for her to find her voice.

"What the hell is going on? Hasn't he...been in the country lately? Why..."

"It was in China that he was assassinated, and it was in his own home, and K's wife and daughter were there, but the other guy just knocked them out and didn't do anything to them, so I suspect that K knew something.

From what happened seven years ago, they would have been a very principled group that wouldn't kill innocent people, so that's why they spared his wife and daughter."

Chapter 374

Jenny was trapped in shock, and it took a long time for him to calm down.

"Did you call the police?"

The man shook his head, "No, K has too much shady stuff to call the police on, this will have to be looked into privately and then resolved privately."

Jenny nodded his head.

I just felt like a stone was pressing down on my chest and it was so stuffy.

The other smiled lightly when he saw her looking disoriented.

A handsome face came towards hers again and smiled, "Enough business, little Seven, tell me the truth now, haven't seen you for four years and you really haven't missed me at all?"

Jenny's originally pale eyebrows were tinged with a sullenness, and he took a step back, glaring at him warily.

"Gu Si Qian, I'm warning you! Stop trying to tease me with your dirty tricks! I don't eat your shit!"

Gu Siqian smiled, a pair of peach blossom eyes narrowed slightly like they were full of wine, making it unbearably mesmerizing.

"Little Seven is hurting my heart too much, four years ago he was calling someone good brother and four years later he's calling someone Gu Siqian, why are you so cold and heartless?"

Jenny was speechless, not wanting to stay here and talk nonsense with him, and turned around to leave.

Behind him, Jin Si Qian's ghostly smile said, "Little Seven, I've got your number, I'll call you tonight, don't you dare not pick up."

The tone was laced with laughter, but Jenny felt a slight chill with a threatening warning.

She sank down, said nothing, and walked away quickly.

After going out, because he was pretending to have something on his mind, Jenny Jing had no desire to linger at the dinner, and after greeting Nina Hua and the others, he left the venue with Mo Nan.

It was already ten o'clock at night when she arrived home, and Biden Lu was reading a book in his study, knowing that she must not have eaten much when she went there at night, and specifically asked Aunt Liu to leave her her favorite seafood congee.

Jenny, however, had little appetite and put it down after a few hasty bites.

At night, Biden Lu had been staying with her.

The phone buzzed twice, the man keenly heard, no response, Jenny looked at the caller ID, knew in his heart who it was, was hesitant to answer, then listened to Biden Lu said, "The person who often gave you flowers recently, did you find out who it was?"

Jenny was stunned, not sure if it was because of a guilty conscience or a shaky hand, and accidentally pressed hang up.

She looked up at him, dazed, and it took her two seconds to respond.

"Oh, not yet."

Biden Lu's eyes darkened.

"Can I help you?"

"No need."

She was too busy to speak up, afraid that he would really help her out if he couldn't think of one thing, and then it wouldn't be easy to answer in the end, no matter what she could find out or not.

Biden Lu gave her a partial glance.

"You're not feeling well?"

Jenny barely smiled and shook his head.

It was then that the phone buzzed again.

Biden Lu raised his eyebrows, looked at the caller ID on that and asked her with a look that indicated, "No answer?"

Jenny only felt himself starting to stiffen, hovering on the edge between picking up and not picking up before finally pressing hang up.

"It's too late for work, let's talk tomorrow."

She said, and lifted the blanket and got underneath it.

Biden Lu's handsome eyebrows rested imperceptibly, and in the end, he didn't say anything, followed by turning off the light and lying down as well.

One night at peace.

The next day, before Jenny got up, he was woken up by a ringing phone.

She opens her eyes in a daze and can't even see.

With a quick open, he got on the phone.

"Hello?"

"Sister Jenny, it's bad, something's happened!"

She frowned, a little disgruntled, "What's wrong? Early morning panic."

Across the street, He was smoking fast.

"You're spreading gossip! The other side is still a remarkable person, alas, one or two sentences can not be said clearly, you first log on to the ruff and quickly take a look!"

Jenny was stunned, his original drowsiness that was still confused instantly awake.

She hung up the phone and sat up, opening her ruff and boarding up.

Only the number one on the hot list was himself.

She even clicked on it and saw the headline on it: surprise! A young man's night out with the rich and famous, and a passionate battle in the bathroom!

Jenny's face changed and he pulled down to look.

The only thing that was published on it was a few blurry photos.

The angle of the photo was so bizarrely clear that even she, a semi-professional, couldn't figure out which angle it was taken from, but even so, the two people on it were very clear.

Jenny was facing the camera, so she could see her face clearly, and a man was walling her up on the doorstep with his head down looking at her, and the camera was shooting from behind, so it happened to block the man's face.

Jenny's face instantly sank.

That bastard!

These pictures, think with your nose, she knows who took them too!

In the bathroom yesterday, there was no one else but her and Gu Si Qian!

The man with the dog! It must have been a deliberate tactic to warn him because he didn't answer his phone last night.

I haven't seen you for four years, and you're still a sc*mbag!

Jenny scolded Gu Siqian in her heart, but that couldn't stop Biden Lu from knowing about it.

Just the thought that the man would see these pictures gave Jenny a headache.

Says Cao Cao, Cao Cao arrives.

It's rare for Biden Lu to be out so late today, he looks like he's just finished taking a shower, he's not wearing any clothes, just a pair of knee-length shorts.

With a towel hanging from her body and still hot and steamy, she saw her awake and asked, "Awake?" as she wiped herself with the towel, "Awake?"

Nina Hua smiled stiffly, "Mm."

Biden Lu's face looked a lot better than she expected, but only some coldness was unexpectedly installed between his eyebrows.

He tossed aside the towel he'd finished wiping down, then, walked toward her.

"Does Mrs. Land have anything to explain to me today?"

Jenny looked at his face and gulped.

"That...you saw that?"

Biden Lu raised his eyebrows and gave a "hmm".

Jenny smiled dryly and explained, "It was a misunderstanding, at that time bar I just happened to bump into him in the bathroom, he had to stop me to talk to me about something, I couldn't help it, so I stayed, I didn't expect to be followed by paparazzi, really, I have nothing to do with him."

Biden Lu narrowed his eyes slightly, those cold and steely eyes carrying some coldness in them.

"Is it? What a coincidence that he actually managed to bump into you in the ladies' room, I just realized today that the second youngest of the Gu family is a demon?"

Jenny was startled and shook hard.

"What did you say? What Gu's second son?"

This time, though, Biden Lu was a bit surprised.

"You don't know who he is?"

Jenny opened her mouth, thought about it, then closed it, and shook her head.

"I don't know."