

Chapter 3722

“Three days?”

Ming Yu murmured in response!

The light that exploded from the attack also lit up Ming Yu’s stunning face with infinite doubts!

boom! !

Big explosion!

Somebody in the anti-Buddha detonated two huge-yield bombs in mid-air at the same time.

The air waves hit the sky and scattered.

call!

The huge air waves passed by, and thousands of people fell. The stone piers in front of the hall that weighed thousands of kilograms were like shreds of paper in the wind, rolling over and over again, and the people on the ground were not to mention.

The masters are still in a hurry with luck. Although the elite soldiers can barely resist it, they can’t stand such a strong explosion. When they are blown down, they can only stop fighting and hug each other tightly. It was reluctantly messed up in the strong wind, but fortunately, it was not blown away by a large area.

Beside Zhu Yanshuo, several commanders quickly joined forces to set up a barrier to protect Zhu Yanshuo.

But even if there was a barrier, several masters who were still blown by the huge wind took four or five steps back between the resistance.

The white-clothed masters also joined hands to support the barrier, their bodies bent slightly, and they resisted desperately.

The leader woman didn’t dare to be careless, and several followers also closely guarded him behind him to ensure his safety.

boom!

And those unprotected buildings were completely ruined at this moment.

The stone railings were directly pulled up, the eaves were overturned, the glazed tiles were rolled up, and even the nearby dwellings outside the city lord’s mansion also suffered bad luck.

Although it is far away from the explosion, the strength of the building is far less than that of the City Lord’s Mansion. With the onslaught of wind and waves, a large number of houses are released as if they had experienced a super hurricane.

Large areas of the house were directly destroyed on the spot.

Some cats peeked at people fighting outside in the middle of the night, and they were confused on the spot.

It's okay to watch the lively and splatter blood, it directly misses half of his house, which is too much of a mother****.

The point is, there's no way anyone can justify it.

For those who were far away, although the house was spared, the eyes were still unable to escape the catastrophe.

The white light produced by the explosion was almost like a flash.

The instant light almost turned the entire night into a bright white.

And this kind of white flash, the damage to the eyes is almost irreversible huge damage.

If it is an ordinary person, under such a flash, blindness is almost inevitable, and most of them are permanent blindness.

Fortunately, this is the Bafang World, a world where everyone can cultivate, and even the most ordinary residents are far stronger than ordinary people.

But even so, most of the residents still felt that their eyes were flooded with stars, and tears fell from their eyes unconsciously. When they opened their eyes, they seemed to be blind. It took a long time for them to slowly recover their vision.

Although most of the people on the battlefield are more than a few grades stronger than those of the residents, but because the distance is too close, under the flash, they can't see anything around them for a while.

But just as they slowly got used to their surroundings and their eyesight began to recover, they looked up at the sky, but their breathing stopped one by one.

In the mid-air, George Han and Ming Yu still collided with their fists, each also showing a tendency to attack. It seemed that they were still fighting crazy with each other.

A group of people are eagerly watching, waiting, looking forward, and even cheering silently.

They are all waiting for this Jedi's attack, who is better.

All of them also understand that this blow is not only related to their personal loss, but even affects the entire battle.

Suddenly, at this moment, the two people in the sky suddenly moved.

George Han lifted his mouth slightly, and a stream of blood flowed directly from the corner of his mouth.

Seeing this scene, the people present were completely divided into two camps. On the one hand, they were worried about George Han, but on the other hand, they were very proud at this time.

Seeing how George Han was injured like this, it was obvious that George Han should have been defeated.

“Three days of farewell, when you look at it with admiration, Ming Yu, I must admit that I underestimated you, and underestimated the enemy on the battlefield will have to pay a heavy price, and I have received the punishment I deserve.” George Han finished his words and added A lot of blood gushed out from his mouth...

But even so, George Han didn't feel any pain at this time, instead the whole person smiled gloomily...

“He... what is he laughing at? ?”

Chapter 3723

Some people have doubts.

Some people are also puzzled.

Some people are even more confused.

Dying people, what's so funny?

“Is this George Han a fool?”

“Yeah, even he admits that he has paid a heavy price for underestimating the enemy. He's dying, and he's still laughing?”

“This fool It's so funny, you're still trying to save face when you die, and you're still here to support yourself.” A group of people pointed and whispered, but they were all full of ridicule.

Some people also stood up at this time and said a fair word: “You guys, don't be too poisonous, and gather some virtue. People who are about to die, what's the matter with a smile, this is all death anyway, no matter how you smile. Wouldn't it be better than crying?”

Although it was persuasion, it was actually sarcastic. As soon as these words came out, someone immediately echoed and said, “That's right, everyone has lost, and they are still not allowed to laugh. This shows us. It 's still too much.”

“A mockery is a mockery, and a joke is a joke. In fact, George Han can persist until now, which is obviously beyond anyone's imagination. Although he is an enemy, he must pay tribute to such an enemy, let alone him. When I want to laugh, even if he has any other requirements, we should meet them.” After the words were finished, many people nodded, and the words were indeed reasonable.

To be able to carry it up to now is already a miracle, no matter who wins or loses.

On the side of the man in white, a few followers moved away in time as the danger was lifted, but at this moment, the woman in white remained motionless, just staring at a man and a woman in midair, seemingly sluggish.

“Cough!”

With a light cough from the entourage, the woman in white finally regained her senses.

“It doesn’t look very good.” The follower said softly: “I think, let’s withdraw quickly.”

“Yes, the opponents are many and powerful. Although our masters are far superior in quality, they are always invincible with both fists. Four hands, now that George Han has been completely defeated, there is no need for us to take unnecessary risks.”

From a tactical level, this is indeed the case.

In fact, when they came to save George Han, they have seriously violated their original intentions and orders, and they were already very wrong. Now, if even the people they want to save are completely defeated, then it will be even more difficult to persist in this matter. There is no meaning.

The white-clothed leader groaned softly and said, “Do you think he lost
?”

“Alas!”

Before waiting for the follower to reply, she sighed secretly. In fact, as long as a fool can see it, how could she have Can’t see it?

It’s just, taking such a big risk and even going against the original order, what is the picture?

Isn’t the picture just hoping that George Han can be rescued, the picture is not... It’s a pity, but Huang Liang’s dream is hard to accept the reality for a while.

“Let’s go, I’m afraid there won’t be a chance if it’s later.” The entourage sighed helplessly: “They shouldn’t have the opportunity and time to come to trouble us now.” The woman in white nodded. The only option to choose was.

If the stalemate continues, once the situation is completely controlled by the opponent, with their strength, it will be almost impossible to leave at that time.

“Okay, tell everyone, don’t fight, start retreating.” The leader in white commanded softly.

After the words fell, several followers nodded again and again, and several of them escorted the leader in white to retreat, while the other follower picked up a small whistle and blew at everyone.

Suddenly, those white-clothed masters quickly recovered, and then followed the leader in a hasty and orderly manner. When several commanders saw that the other party was about to withdraw, they hurriedly looked at Zhu Yanshuo, and Zhu Yanshuo’s expression tightened:

“Hmph, when I should go to the city, is it a teahouse? Come if you want? Give it to me.”

At this moment, there was a sudden “pop” in the air, and everyone hurriedly turned back..