

Chapter 3786

"But..." The ant queen hesitated.

"Let go of your obsession." George Han looked at her and said sincerely: "I am not whitewashing the dragon clan, but the dragon clan also withered after the war between gods and demons."

"I have been to the scene of the war in Xuanyuan World, Ten thousand dragons are dead, and even the heart of the dragon family is buried in the battlefield and completely lost. I mean, have you ever thought that the dragon family may not have forgotten its existence."

"It's clearly them . There is no way to come again?"

"You said the dragon family..." The ant queen frowned.

"Almost equivalent to extermination." George Han said.

The ant family has spent almost their entire lives in this city of fire for the sake of the dragon ant eggs. Naturally, they do not know what is going on in the outside world.

Hearing this, the queen ant's pupils slightly opened.

It seems that she never thought that this big dragon would end like this.

Almost genocide!

However, as George Han said, when she knew the current ending of the Dragon Clan, the obsession in her heart was instantly relieved a lot.

Sometimes, things that are extremely persistent do not necessarily have to have a result, but often an explanation, which can also relieve the burden on one's shoulders.

"Let's put it down, some burdens will only make people more and more difficult to carry." George Han said lightly.

Taking a long sigh, the queen nodded: "For me personally, this matter goes against what my ancestors told me, but what you said makes sense. Carrying the ancestral training, what should be carried is the future of my ant clan."

"However, my promise to you doesn't mean you can open this place," she said.

George Han frowned slightly, and asked inexplicably, "What do you mean by this?" The ant queen smiled bitterly: "Did you remember that I told you about the characteristics of this dragon ant egg?"

"The high temperature, Hot, right?" George Han said.

The queen nodded: "That's right, and this situation has been going on for I don't know how many years. So, to put it simply, after such a long time of burning, it's like a super large furnace, once it is turned on..."

George Han understood.

In this way, the temperature below will present an extremely terrifying scene.

No wonder the Silver Armored Dragon would tell himself before he came, it is best not to take anyone down, otherwise it is very likely to be in great danger.

Now, that's true.

"I will go down." George Han said.

"What?" After hearing George Han's words, the queen ant was obviously startled. She looked at George Han and said, "I'm not joking with you, it's really hot down here, you can think about how much water is soaked up. It evaporates."

"There...it's just..."

"I understand." George Han nodded: "But being entrusted by others, he has to be loyal to his business. Since someone Han has promised others, he will definitely do it. "

Besides, the dragon clan is kind to me, and I have to do this." The queen nodded slightly: "Anyway, this matter also concerns my ant clan. Now that you have made up your mind, what do you do? If you need our help, feel free to speak."

"The queen ant can let go of everything in the past without stopping Han, which is the greatest gift for Han."

"Actually, Mr. Han knows how dangerous it is, so he doesn't need to take risks, but he wants to ask the queen ant for something."

"Tell me."

"My wife is still at the altar. It takes a lot of time to go, and please take care of my wife." The queen nodded slightly and said, "Don't worry, we will take good care of your wife."

"The energy cover on the altar will automatically automatically after a period of time. It disappears, and you must not touch it before it disappears, otherwise, the energy on the energy cover will counterattack." George Han instructed.

The queen said: "I see."

"Okay, then there will be a jailed queen, and I will not delay." George Han finished his words and made a gesture of invitation.

The queen ant moved slightly and flew directly to the aisle, leaving a sufficient safety distance.

At this time, George Han was able to move the key in his hand and turn the key slowly.

With the movement of the key, the click sounded on the mechanism, and the entire swamp land suddenly became quiet..

Chapter 3787

But the next second, suddenly, the most central place under George Han's feet suddenly began to move faintly .

Gulugulu...

Around the keyhole, blisters began to appear continuously.

But soon, these blisters disappeared completely in an instant.

The entire space fell into complete silence again.

But suddenly, George Han frowned and seemed to sense something was wrong.

boom! ! !

Sure enough, a huge explosion erupted directly from the keyhole, and flames all over the sky spewed out directly from there.

Suddenly, it was like a volcanic eruption, and countless flames rose into the sky.

Although poor George Han immediately supported the energy circle to protect himself, he couldn't hold back such a huge fire below.

It didn't even move, and the flames directly surrounded it. The temperature However, George Han did not panic at all, and a slight energy shot into the Five Elements Divine Stone in his hand. Suddenly, the Five Elements Divine Stone gave birth to countless water energy, and slowly wrapped George Han in it to cool him down. Although it still can't stop the severe high temperature, at least George Han will not be in pain right now. Immediately afterwards, George Han didn't think much about it, and drilled directly into the hole. And as George Hanyi entered, the flames soaring to the sky began to disappear, and finally, completely extinguished from the mouth, and the hole closed again in an instant.

Everything was back to normal again.

It seems that nothing happened in general.

"Damn it, what the hell is this place?"

But some people were not like that. As soon as they entered the swamp, George Han was completely dumbfounded.

Around everything, the raging fire was burning frantically, and he entered a sea of flames. The huge temperature even made his energy circle start to bang. It seems that the energy cover is about to be broken by the high temperature.

“*, I thought it would be hot here, but I didn’t expect it to be so hot, * me.” George Han scolded in a low voice.

Relying on the Five Elements Divine Stone alone is obviously no longer enough. This time, it seems that it can’t be justified without a little blood.

Directly move one hand, use the power of yin and yang with the backhand to consolidate the energy, and at the same time, the chaotic power in the body also greets it without reservation.

What George Han has to do is to ensure the firmness of the energy circle.

Otherwise, once the energy circle is broken, George Han’s fate will only be one.

Become a roast duck!

With the convergence of these two forces, the energy circle that seemed to be about to collapse finally regained its “activeness”.

With the re-protection of the outer layer, George Han regained his composure.

The most urgent task is to find eggs.

However, when I looked around, the vast area was full of fire, I couldn’t tell the direction, and I couldn’t see the situation clearly. I could only look like a blind man.

George Han tried to open his eyes, but the effect was almost the same as nothing.

There is fire all around here, and it is nothing to look at.

“Damn, why am I so stupid?” George Han scolded depressedly.

He overlooked a detail. Eggs need water to keep cooling down, so the place that has access to water should be the place closest to the egg.

That is to say, you need to explore all the way to the end.

Thinking of this, George Han accelerated one by one and flew.

The further down, the more intense the fire and the higher the temperature, although this is more dangerous for George Han.

But at least it proves a good thing.

That is, the closer it is to the dragon ant egg.

Sure enough, along with a stronger high temperature, George Han also found out that something seemed to be burning frantically at a 50-degree angle below him...

And in the innermost part, a Something that was looming seemed to come out as well.

However, seeing that vague thing, George Han had some doubts about life at this time.

Is it wrong? !

What the hell is that?

egg?

Don't say it's a dragon ant egg, even if you say he is a dragon egg, George Han thinks...

Isn't this nonsense?

That...that's not like an egg at all, but...a round mountain...
