

The Charismatic Charlie Wade Chapter 3835

Charlie continued to look down.

On the list, there was another person named Jian who attracted his attention.

This fee Jianzhong, the amount of assets registered at the time of registration is 100 billion US dollars, but the information of this person has never appeared on the Forbes rankings.

There are several other people in similar situations.

These people are not named in the Forbes rankings, and there is little news on the Internet, but the assets declared one by one are about 100 billion US dollars.

Charlie faintly felt that the actual assets of these people should be far above 100 billion US dollars.

The reason why they are all declared at 100 billion U.S. dollars is probably because they don't want to be too obvious, and they want to firmly lock a quota, so they only take out part of the assets for capital verification.

What surprised Charlie the most was that the British royal family appeared on this list!

He couldn't help sighing: "I thought the British royal family would not come this time."

Jasmine Moore smiled and said: "They just submitted the application a few minutes ago, and Britain's registration for the auction this time is not the Queen herself, but the Queen's eldest grandson, Prince Arthur."

After that, Jasmine Moore was also a little surprised, and said in confusion: "Prince Arthur seems to be born in 80s, but he is only about 40 years old. I don't know why he came to participate in the auction of Rejuvenation Pills."

The Prince Arthur, who married a commoner princess in high profile a few years ago, and is also the second heir to the throne of Britain, has been a topical topic in recent years, and his popularity is also very high.

He suddenly signed up to participate in the auction, which really surprised Charlie.

However, Charlie soon wanted to understand the motives of the British royal family.

He smiled and said: "I don't see that the Royal Family of Britain had never thought about competing for the Rejuvenation Pill this year. The reason why Prince Arthur was asked to sign up was probably to send him over to see with his own eyes what kind of magical effect the Rejuvenation Pill has. Let's find out."

Having said that, Charlie said again: "And to be honest, the British royal family's money is enough to get a bidding qualification, but they really want to bid for the Rejuvenation Pill, they don't have that strength at all, it's just to join in the fun."

Charlie didn't reject this kind of fun, because he knew very well in his heart that most of the 700 applicants should know that he has no ability to compete with the top rich.

But this still failed to stop their enthusiasm for signing up.

Charlie estimated that the motivation of these people should be to broaden their horizons and gain insights.

After reading the list of the top 300, Charlie said to Jasmine Moore, "Jasmine Moore, take my grandfather's name out of the list. There is no need to sort him."

Jasmine Moore hurriedly asked, "Master Wade, are you planning to let your grandfather participate?"

Charlie smiled and said: "It's not that he must be invited to participate. I have reserved a few VIP seats on the spot, and I will reserve one for him when the time comes."

Speaking of this, Charlie sighed softly: "Recently, many people have slighted the Wade Family because of the Wanlong Temple incident. It is time for them to respect the Wade Family more."

Jasmine Moore said immediately: "Okay Master Wade, then I will make arrangements."

Charlie asked again: "By the way Jasmine Moore, I didn't see any information about the Nordic royal family. How many are they currently ranked?"

Jasmine Moore said embarrassingly: "Mrs. Alyssa Iliad of the Northern European royal family ranks sixth from the bottom of the 700 list."

Alisha Iliad is the name of the former empress and grandma Helena.

Charlie immediately pulled the list to the end, and immediately understood the embarrassment of the Nordic royal family.
