

The Charismatic Charlie Wade Chapter 3865

Seeing that President Pei was so excited, Jacob was curious, but still asked listlessly: “President Pei, what is it that makes you so happy?”

President Pei said with excitement: “The secretary of the association called and said that there is an overseas Chinese who was entrusted by the old family to donate the works of eight calligraphers Lincoln to our Calligraphy and Painting Association!”

“Lincoln?” Jacob asked blankly, “Is this person very famous?”

When President Pei heard this, he couldn’t laugh or cry immediately, and said, “Jacob...I told you a long time ago. You are now the vice president of the Calligraphy and Painting Association. It doesn’t matter if you have no talent in calligraphy and painting, but you must be able to speak. One, two, three, so you have to look at the collection of ancient and modern paintings and calligraphy if you are fine, but you just don’t listen, Lincoln, you don’t know, if you go out by yourself in the future, it’s easy to be asked by others in two or two sentences!”

As he said, he quickly explained: “Lincoln is one of the most famous calligraphers in the history of Aurous Hill. He has the title of the first person in official script of the Qing Dynasty. Although among so many top calligraphy masters in history, Lincoln is not so famous. , But he is after all our local calligrapher in Aurous Hill, which is of great significance to our Aurous Hill Calligraphy and Painting Association!”

Jacob smiled awkwardly, and said, “Oh, I remembered... You just said that you were anxious, but I didn’t want to understand...”

Jacob said so, but in fact he didn’t know much about Lincoln.

President Pei didn't tell him the truth, and said excitedly: "This is not the most important thing. The most important thing is that the overseas Chinese also said that she really wants to promote our Aurous Hill local historical accumulation in the field of calligraphy and painting, so Want to sponsor us to organize a large-scale Aurous Hill historical painting and calligraphy exhibition! Take out all the famous works of our Aurous Hill dynasties in the field of calligraphy and calligraphy, and organize an exhibition, and she also promised to help us find some famous works of Aurous Hill in history! "

As he said, he patted Jacob on the shoulder and said excitedly: "If this exhibition is successful, our Calligraphy and Painting Association will become famous! Let's go back to the association and meet this overseas Chinese."

Jacob was not interested in this because he was in a bad mood. Overseas Chinese and exhibitions were of little significance to him. He just wanted to fly with his Matilda as soon as possible, so that he could cut off other men's thoughts. Think, especially that Hank!

But, after all, he is the number two person in the Calligraphy and Painting Association. President Pei said so. He certainly can't drop the chain, so he can only agree and say: "Okay, let's go now!"

Coincidentally, Matilda and Hank also packed the laptops they brought. Seeing Jacob and Chairman Pei were leaving, Matilda stepped forward and asked curiously: "Jacob, are you not going to dinner?"

"Not going anymore." Jacob said: "There is something urgent in the association, and President Pei and I are going back."

Matilda nodded and said, "It just so happens that Professor Hank and I are also going to leave, let's go out together."

The four of them walked to the parking lot together. Hank's car stopped close, so Matilda said to Jacob and Chairman Pei: "Jacob and Chairman Pei, then we two will leave first and see you another day."

Chairman Pei said cheerfully: "Professor, you and Professor Hank will go first, we parked far away."

"Okay." Matilda smiled slightly, Professor Hank on the side also greeted the two of them, and then got into the car and started the car to leave.

Seeing the two driving far away, Chairman Pei couldn't help but sigh: "Jacob, don't you think that Professor Hank are a good match?"

Jacob's eyes widened, and he blurted out: "How do they match?! How can a guy with the surname He deserve Matilda!"

Chairman Pei said seriously: "You see, two of them are talents of the same kind. Although they are almost fifty, they look like they are about forty years old, and they are both high-achieving students who have returned to the United States. , There must be more topics in common, and I heard that they are both widowed. This is so good that they can't be a good match anymore!"