

The Charismatic Charlie Wade Chapter 4099

Although Charlie is not from Aurous Hill, he has long regarded Aurous Hill as his second hometown.

He has lived in Aurous Hill for nearly 20 years, and now that he has some abilities, he really wants to do something for Aurous Hill.

Especially for the orphans in Aurous Hill and surrounding cities.

This complex of a welfare home and a twelve-year school is a dream that Charlie wants to work hard to realize.

In fact, he often thinks back to his life in the orphanage and his friends in the orphanage.

He often thinks of his former self, his sister Lisa, his good brother Caleb, and the sad and angry William, and Jeff, who went astray and was personally cut off by himself.

Before Stephen Thompson found himself, everyone was actually not very promising.

Among them, the biggest reason is that everyone has not experienced a very good higher education.

Of course, it's not the Welfare Institute or Stephen Thompson.

After all, if the welfare home itself can provide these children with a shelter from the wind and rain, and keep them fed and clothed, it is already very remarkable. There is no welfare home that still manages these children to go to college when they are adults.

Although Stephen Thompson has the ability to manage, he does not dare to make the conditions of the orphanage too outrageous for the normal operation of the orphanage.

Moreover, in those days, most of the welfare institutions had some difficult conditions because of the funds.

It is precisely because of this that although charlie's studies in junior high and high school were very good, after graduating from high school, in order to make the other brothers and sisters in the welfare home have a better life, he went to work early in the society.

At that time, although Stephen Thompson regretted it, he also felt that for charlie, the advantages outweighed the disadvantages.

Because compared to a charlie who works at a construction site and a charlie who is studying in a university, the latter must have a greater chance of being exposed.

At this level of consideration, Stephen Thompson did not interfere with charlie's decision.

Now, charlie doesn't have the worries of Stephen Thompson back then, so he planned to build such a utopian welfare home, not only to give these children a good basic education and the opportunity to receive higher education, but also to let these children have the opportunity to receive higher education. Help children learn how to be grateful and contribute to the development of the city in the future.

Jasmine moore probably understood what charlie was thinking, so she said, "Don't worry, Master wade, I will definitely communicate with the city as soon as possible to see if the city can help solve the problem of site selection and related qualifications. " charlie nodded and instructed: "The place can be a little more remote, but the area must be large. What we need to solve is a complex of more than 10,000 children living, studying, and daily leisure, art and sports activities. In addition, It is also necessary to solve the accommodation and living problems of relevant faculty and staff, and its scale should be at least as large as that of a university with a level of 10,000 people, and it may even be larger."

Jasmine moore hurriedly said: "Master wade, don't worry, I will discuss this matter with the city in detail. If you do such a big good deed, the city will definitely support it."

charlie sighed: "I hope that through our Huichundan auction, the entire international reputation and economic development of Aurous Hill will be raised to a higher level, and when Doris Young has finalized those high-end projects, we will Call these rich people to Aurous Hill again, and let them do their best to invest in Aurous Hill, and by then, Aurous Hill will definitely become a new international favorite!"

Jasmine moore smiled and said, "When the popularity of Huichundan continues to spread, I am afraid that the world's richest people will come to Aurous Hill to invest..."

charlie said confidently, "Don't worry, this day will come soon."

Jasmine moore nodded, suddenly remembered something, and asked charlie: "Master wade, who do you plan to hand over to run this welfare home? We will hand it over to the city after we build it all up. , or do you set up an operating team yourself?"

charlie hesitated for a moment, then said, "I personally tend to let an aunt from the orphanage be in charge. She was the one who took care of us when I was young. A highly educated person, from what I know about her, she should be able to do it."

Speaking of this, charlie couldn't help sighing again: "It's just that she has gone to Canada to take care of her old age, and I can't bear to make her work harder."
