

The Charismatic Charlie Wade Chapter 4100

Jasmine moore thought for a while and said, "Master wade, the scale of your project is still very large. Even if we have no problem with funds, it will take at least two or three years for the hardware to go from site selection to construction to completion acceptance. Since you We tend to set up our own team to operate, then I think the person in charge is not in a hurry to decide immediately, we have time to find out slowly."

"Yes." charlie nodded and said, "You just have to come up with a plan with the city. Let's try to complete the site selection as soon as possible, and then come up with the project design as soon as possible!"

"Okay." Jasmine moore said, "I'll touch it as soon as possible."

Thinking of Mrs. Lewis, charlie thought about calling her and Lisa to ask them how they were doing recently.

charlie calculated that the two of them settled in Vancouver, 16 hours later than Huaxia. It should be around 6 o'clock in the afternoon, and the time should not disturb their rest.

So he said to Jasmine moore, "Jasmine, I'll make a call first."

"Good Master wade."

charlie picked up the phone, found Lisa's WeChat, and sent her a voice chat.

It was quickly connected there, and Lisa's happy voice came: "Brother charlie! Why do you think of calling me!"

charlie smiled and said, "I miss you and Mrs. Lewis, so I just called and asked how you guys are in Canada. Are you still used to it?"

Lisa smiled and said, "We're pretty good here. I used to work in a laundry in Chinatown, and Auntie Lewis grew flowers and vegetables in her yard every day. Auntie Lewis's previous employer used to work every month. I would give Mrs. Lewis a lot of money, but Mrs. Lewis felt that it was boring to be so idle every day, and the money in the account was getting more and more, so Mrs. Lewis opened a convenience store in China Street, and I am a convenience store now. Store manager and cashier!"

Charlie asked in surprise, "Have you opened a convenience store? Is it just you and Mrs. Lewis?"

Lisa said: "In the beginning, it was just the two of us, but after getting on the right track, I was a little too busy, so I hired another clerk."

charlie hurriedly asked, "It must be tiring to run a convenience store, right?"

"It's okay." Lisa said with a smile: "Our convenience store is about the same size as the convenience stores that can be found everywhere in our country, and there are special suppliers. Just make a phone call and send it directly to the store. When you come, you don't need to run by yourself, and the daily work is very simple, that is, collecting money, loading goods, cleaning, and nothing else."

Having said that, Lisa said again: "Auntie Lewis is working very hard, she is a nice person, she is polite to everyone, and she is also willing to help others, so although the store has not been open for a long time, there are already a lot of regular customers. !"

charlie hurriedly asked, "Is Mrs. Lewis here? I'll have a chat with Mrs. Lewis."

Lisa said: "Mrs. Lewis is going to the community nursery school to help now."

"Tuoban?" charlie asked curiously, "Where is it?"

Lisa explained: "This place is called Day Care, which is actually similar to our domestic nursery school. Many Chinese families here have both parents to work, and most of the parents are first-generation immigrants who have just come and struggled, so the elderly are temporarily unable to do so. Come to help, so the child can only be taken care of by the nursery during the day;"

"The community in Chinatown organized a semi-public kindergarten to help these parents take care of their children during working days. Auntie Lewis has worked in the welfare home for so many years, and she has the best way to take care of children. She also likes children and knows that the kindergarten is short of staff. I took the initiative to ask Ying for help, and now she is the most popular aunt in Tuoban!"

charlie couldn't help sighing: "People like Mrs. Lewis are really like candles, no matter where they are, they will burn themselves and illuminate others..."

"Who said it wasn't." Lisa said with a smile: "Brother charlie, Mrs. Lewis always talks about you, she misses you...and I...I miss you too...if you have time, remember Be sure to come and see us!"
