

Chapter 4386

The old lady at this time was also overjoyed, wiping away her tears while saying impatiently,

“Quick! Help me go outside! I want to see Charlie come down from the plane with my own eyes!”

Marshal hurriedly helped the old lady to go outside,

And Charlie’s second uncle, third uncle, and aunt also subconsciously followed.

Seeing this, Marshal hurriedly said, “Marcus, don’t come, stay here to guard Dad,”

“In case there is any unexpected situation, you have to respond in time.”

Marcus was a little hesitant, but after thinking about it, he agreed.

In fact, he was eager to go out with everyone to see if it was Charlie who had returned or not.

After all, among the An family siblings, although everyone had deep feelings for Margaret,

Marcus’s feelings for his sister were the deepest among the siblings.

Don’t look at him as he has always been thunderous and extremely strong,

But that was only gradually developed after the death of Margaret.

When she was alive, he was the most devout follower around her.

It was only after Margaret’s death that he began to involuntarily imitate,

His sister’s style of acting and gradually became what he is today.

But deep inside his heart, he felt that his own ability was not as much as his sister’s.

At this time.

In the sky at the end of the runway, a plane had gradually approached from high to low, from far to near.

The An family member's hearts became more and more nervous.

The old lady couldn't help but ask the children around her,

"Do you think ..... Charlie will be on the plane?!"

Everyone one by one did not dare to answer, after all,

Charlie had been missing for nearly twenty years,

They simply did not dare to hope that he would return at this time.

Previously, they had also made several false calls,

Several times thought they found Charlie, but in the end, all confirmed through DNA, they had just empty joy.

So this time, everyone is also worried that this time is still a dream.

With the roar of the plane's engine getting closer and closer,

The plane Sara was on finally landed smoothly at the end of the runway,

And then the counter-thrust device of the plane's engine turned on,

And there came an even louder whistling sound.

A few moments later, the plane's speed had slowed down,

And under the guidance of the ground guidance vehicle, it slowly glided to the front door of the main building.

The moment the hatch opened, the An family's hearts were in their throats.

And at that moment, Sara was inside the hatch, her mood was also tense to the extreme.

Immediately after, the hatch opened.

The moment the An family saw Sara, several young grandchildren immediately exclaimed, "It's Sara Gu?!"

As the top stream in Chinese singers, Sara's popularity was indeed very high.

Several of Charlie's younger siblings knew her and all liked her songs.

Therefore, when they saw her come down from the cabin, each of them was surprised beyond measure.

The old lady was so nervous at this time that she kept looking behind Sara,

But when she saw that there was no longer anyone else behind her, her heart was suddenly lost again.

She knew that her grandson was definitely not on the plane.

Sara had walked up to the crowd at this time, forcibly suppressing her nervousness,

And spoke, "Hello everyone, I am Sara Gu ..... Charlie's childhood fiancée ....."

"Sara ....." The old lady looked at her and hurriedly asked,

"Are you the young girl from the Gu family that Margaret had told me?!"

Sara nodded hastily and said respectfully, "That's right, it's me ....."

After saying that, she asked politely, "You must be Charlie's grandmother, right?"

The old lady nodded gently, "It's me ..... good child,"

"You can call me grandma, do you have the whereabouts of Charlie?"