

Catch Me If You Love Me

Chapter 46

Zoey Gu's heart trembled and he turned his head abruptly, and he saw that Liam Lu had lost consciousness and his tall body was falling straight back.

"Liam Lu!"

She ran over without thinking, stretched out her hand to hold him, but didn't want to be dragged by his huge strength, and the two fell together.

There was a "plop".

When the man was down, she fell directly onto Liam Lu's body.

The two people were close to each other, and she could clearly feel the scorching breath between his lips and the burning skin.

He has a high fever!

Zoey resigned in a panic, trying to get up to check his situation in a panic.

As soon as he raised his hand, there was a stick of blood in his palm.

"Liam?" She twitched fiercely in her heart, and she suddenly took possession of her body, and tremblingly stretched out her hands to hug him, "What's wrong with you? Don't scare me..."

There was the sound of a car's engine not far away.

Shiyue rushed from the night and saw Zoey Gu still pressing on Liam Lu, his face changed, and he rushed over a few steps, pulling Zoey Gu away forcefully.

"Liam!"

Zoey Gu fell back violently with his strength, knocking his knees to the ground hard. A heart-wrenching pain hits the whole body instantly!

She bit her lip and struggled to get up from the ground, subconsciously trying to explain, "You misunderstood, I didn't..."

"Miss Gu," Shiyue interrupted her, raising his hand to invite the doctor who was with him, "In my opinion, it makes no difference whether it is you or not."

Shiyue, who has always had a good temper, looked at Zoey Gu with cold eyes.

“On the day of your accident, Liam was injured in a car accident in order to chase you. The first time he heard the news, he rushed to Wuming Island with the injury. How do you think you were free? Liam spent 30 million and did it yourself I stabbed a leg and almost lost my hand.”

“In order to save you, I jumped into the sea without treating my wounds. Knowing that you might seek revenge from Lydia Lin, I ran over with a high fever overnight. For you, how many times I have died in my life these days.”

Zoey Gu quietly lowered his head to listen, a heart that seemed to sink and float in the boiling water, hot and painful.

The hands hanging on her side tightened. After a while, she raised her head with difficulty, looked at Liam Lu who was carried on the stretcher by the doctors, and said in a dumb voice.

“I’m not worth it.”

Shiyue immediately mocked.

“Of course you are not worth it. You abandoned Liam back then, but now Liam hurts you. The death of your brother and father was the result of your choice back then. Liam treated you with all kindness and justice.”

I don’t know what happened, Shiyue’s eyes became more cold.

“In my opinion, you are just squandering the love of those years. Those who have been with Lu Shao these years, it is Miss Yun who has paid and sacrificed. And you are nothing but Lu Shao bought...”

I thought it was too much, and Shiyue shut up suddenly.

Zoey Gu raised his eyes, his face was bloody.

Those words, like loud slaps, hit her face fiercely. She opened her mouth and squirmed hard for a long time before laughing lowly.

“I know, I’m just a recreational tool he bought with money.”

She clenched her hands and pressed the moisture in her eyes.

“You don’t need to remind me of my identity, I understand. I have no other requirements, just follow to the hospital, see if he is out of danger, I will...”

Before he finished speaking, a cold question came from the dark place.

“What qualifications do you have?!”

Immediately afterwards, a figure rushed over like a gust of wind, and slapped Zoey Gu, who hadn't reacted yet.

Snapped!
