

Super Rich Dad Chapter 674-676

Chapter 674

Hearing this, Lin Yan instantly looked at Jiang Hao in surprise and spoke, 'Really, you agree?'

'They say that a woman's face changes in April, just like that. I've seen it today, a master!'

Jiang Hao looked at Lin Yan and joked before speaking, 'Really, but there's an agreement in advance, wait until when you think the crisis has passed. We'll break the marriage contract then.'

When Lin Yan heard this, she felt a little lost in her heart, but she still forced a smile and said, 'Fine. You think I'm willing to marry you, huh?'

Jiang Hao looked at Lin Yan, smiled and said, 'If you marry me, I'm still worried if I can afford you, don't forget I've already spent five million for you.'

Lin Yan deflated and took out a card from her bag, then handed it to Jiang Hao and said, 'Here, this is five million, my grandfather asked me to give it to you.'

Lin Yan then said as she ate her dessert, 'Our Lin family's crisis has passed this time, don't ask for the 50 million you found for me last time, there will be regular dividends every month in the future, give me an account number.'

Jiang Hao faintly froze when he heard this. Then he shook his head with a bitter smile and tucked the card away and spoke, 'Aren't you curious as to why I have so much money?'

Lin Yan looked at the dessert on the table and said, 'What's there to care about, everyone has a secret, right?'

After saying this, Lin Yan couldn't help but think in her heart: It's like I'm sitting right in front of you, but you don't know I like you.

Jiang Hao looked at Lin Yan for a long time, then nodded with a bitter smile and said, 'You will definitely be a very good wife in the future.'

The sudden words that popped out of Jiang Hao's mouth caused Lin Yan to freeze, then she looked up at Jiang Hao somewhat dumbfounded, her face turning a large red.

The two of them stared at each other for a while before Jiang Hao's face also unconsciously reddened, and just as they were both looking at each other in a daze, the phone on Jiang Hao's body suddenly rang and woke them up.

He then took out the phone and looked at the number, it was a call from the hospital.

So he hurriedly picked up and said, 'What's wrong. Is there something wrong with the hospital?'

When Xiao Li on the other end of the phone saw that Jiang Hao had answered the phone, she hurriedly said, 'No, Brother Shen, the hospital suddenly came to an emergency, and it was very troublesome.'

After hearing this, Jiang Hao glanced at Lin Yan, then spoke back, 'Good. I know, I'll be there in twenty minutes. You get my stuff ready.'

After saying that, he hung up the phone, then Jiang Hao looked at Lin Yan and smiled bitterly and said, 'It seems that this is all we can do today, can you take me back to the hospital?'

Lin Yan frowned and pondered for a moment and said, 'It's a bit of a problem to get to the hospital in twenty minutes on New Town Road, but it's no problem. I know a small road that will definitely get me there!'

After saying this Lin Yan grabbed Jiang Hao's hand and led him downstairs, then hurriedly drove up.

Previously, Jiang Hao had always thought that the word female driver was equivalent to killer, but after watching Lin Yan's calm and cool operation. He had to refresh his concept of this word.

When they reached the hospital entrance, Jiang Hao turned his head to look at Lin Yan with a dumbfounded expression.

'I always thought that a female driver was a road killer, but today I had to refresh my impression of the term, you are the outlaw of road kill!'

God knew how Lin Yan had come all this way, Jiang Hao could guarantee it.

If everyone could hold five driving licences, then Lin Yan wouldn't have enough points even if she had ten!

Lin Yan looked at Jiang Hao as he got out of the car in a panic and opened the window angrily, 'Hey, I just got you back from New Town Road in twenty minutes, can't you be a little grateful to me?'

And Jiang Hao, who was already walking away, heard this without looking back and reached out and waved his hand back, 'Thanks for not killing me!'

The man on the road looked at Jiang Hao. The people on the road looked at Jiang Hao and then gave Lin Yan a frightened look and scattered, as if they were afraid that Lin Yan would use the brakes as the accelerator to cause an accidental injury!

When Jiang Hao returned to the hospital. When Jiang Hao returned to the hospital, nurse Xiaoli hastily came up with the medical records and said, 'The patient was brought in forty minutes ago, and Dr. Xu and Dr. Ren looked at him and did some simple treatment. But there is no treatment.'

Jiang Hao took the chart and read it, then said, 'Is there any information on what the patient ate? Most acute illnesses are affected by foreign substances.'

Xiao Li shook her head slightly and then said, 'No. The patient was brought in by a man who had eaten something. The patient was brought in by a passerby, it's not at all clear if he had eaten anything before.'

Hearing this, Jiang Hao frowned slightly, but considering that people's lives were at stake, Jiang Hao went ahead with his head.

After entering the emergency room, Jiang Hao looked at the patient who had tubes all over his body and frowned, 'What's going on here, have you found out the cause of the disease?'

The nurses who were busy around him shook their heads slightly after hearing this, and Dr. Ren, who was debugging the machine, heard Jiang Hao's words.

Dr. Ren, who was debugging the machine, heard Jiang Hao's words and turned around to look at Jiang Hao: 'You've finally come back! The patient is now facing multiple organ failure, the exact cause of the disease can never be found, and there is no time to find it at all!'

Jiang Hao frowned and reached out to take the patient's pulse, then looked at Dr. Ren and said hurriedly, 'Hurry up and fetch me three cardiac stimulants, I need them immediately!'

Dr. Ren gave a bitter laugh and said, 'The hospital's cardiac stimulants are already scarce, and he had already used two of them before!'

Hearing this, Jiang Hao had a headache, then pondered for a moment and said, 'All of you go out, I'll take care of this place, all of you go out!'

Dr. Ren and the others looked at Jiang Hao with a dumbfounded expression and said with some disbelief, 'Are you sure you can handle this?'

Jiang Hao nodded slightly, then glanced at the time on his hand and said back, 'Trust me, even if I can't handle it and something happens, it's still a good thing for you, isn't it?'

Dr. Ren fell silent after hearing this, so he led everyone out of the emergency room, not forgetting to close the door on his way out.

After Jiang Hao watched them leave, he hurriedly went up and lowered the curtains, then turned on the emergency room light and closed his eyes to check on Shangdian.

Just now Jiang Hao took his pulse, although he didn't find anything.

But he knew that he had eaten some kind of food by mistake, and that was why he was in this state.

Conventional life-saving methods were no longer useful, and it would be too late to follow Dr. Ren's way of using multiple instruments to maintain the patient's vital signs before rescuing him.

Jiang Hao had to put all his hopes on Shangdian, as long as Shangdian had a special medicine, then the patient would be saved!

Jiang Hao closed his eyes and gathered his mind, carefully looking through the Chinese medicine chapter of Shang Deng Dang, hoping to find a remedy for emergency use in it.

But no matter how hard he tried, Jiang Hao could not find any suitable ones.

It wasn't that the requirements were too high and could not be met at the moment. It was because of the scarcity of materials that it could not be done.

When he saw that there was nothing he could do, he opened his eyes and saw a pot of orchids on the table.

After a moment's contemplation, Jiang Hao closed his eyes and began to look through the Shangdian Medicine chapter in his mind again. This time he looked carefully at the medicine prescriptions for a long time.

Only then did he find a prescription with very low requirements. It had very low requirements, and its medicinal effects were very impressive.

This remedy is usually used for the return of light, to stimulate the potential of a person's body more completely.

However, this will also leave some after-effects, that is, if the potential is developed too much, it may cause irreversible damage to the human body.

However, Jiang Hao read the description of the medicine, and the dosage could be adjusted according to the severity of the patient, so Jiang Hao wrote down the prescription by heart.

Once he had written it down, Jiang Hao opened his eyes, and his fingers flew like a flash as he applied the life-sustaining needles on the patient's body, using them to temporarily keep the patient's breath.

When he was done, he opened the door in a hurry.

At this moment, Dean Jiao, Dr. Ren and Nurse Xiao Li were standing outside the door, and when they saw Jiang Hao open the door, they hurriedly asked, 'I'm sorry. Dean Jiao hurriedly asked, 'How is the patient's condition?'

Dr. Ren also abandoned the feud between him and Jiang Hao at this moment and looked at Jiang Hao nervously and said, 'This is a manager of Xincheng Medicine, you must save him.'

The pharmaceutical company and the hospital doctor often have some unspoken relationship, hearing this Jiang Hao just faintly glanced at Dr. Ren.

Then he spoke to the director, 'I'll use the life-sustaining needle to fix his breath first, there's no problem in a short time, but it definitely won't work in a long time!'

After saying this, Jiang Hao pondered for a moment and hurriedly said, 'And now the cause of the patient's illness is unknown, and I can't rule out the possibility that it's an emergency caused by an allergy to something he ate, I need to use medicine to stabilize the condition first!'

Dean Jiao nodded at his words and said, 'Just say what medicine you need to use, I'll have Xiao Li boil it for you now.'

There was still a thought in Dean Jiao's mind when he said that. After all, Xiao Li was his daughter, and every time Jiang Hao gave out a prescription, it had miraculous effects.

He did this because he wanted to steal some of the master from Jiang Hao, so whenever he heard that he was brewing medicine for Jiang Hao, he would only let Xiao Li go.

If it were normal, Jiang Hao might not have hesitated, but this prescription was so overpowering that he didn't feel comfortable leaving it in someone else's hands.

So after frowning slightly, Jiang Hao looked at Dean Jiao and said, 'I'll just boil the medicine myself this time, and Dr. Ren will keep an eye on the patient at all times. If there are any irregularities, let me know in time.'

Dean Jiao hesitated for a moment before saying, 'How about this, how about letting Xiao Li give you a hand?'

Jiang Hao nodded at his words. After looking at Xiao Li and saying something, he took Xiao Li and hurriedly rushed to the pharmacy to grab the medicine.

At this moment, when Elder Chen saw Jiang Hao, he smiled and greeted him.

Before he could say a few words, Jiang Hao rushed straight in and then started to grab the medicine by himself.

Xiao Li looked at old man Chen as if he was about to get angry. He hurriedly said, 'There is a patient in the emergency room, his condition is very serious, we will just come ourselves.'

If it wasn't for Xiao Li's sake, I'm afraid Jiang Hao would have been given a good education by old man Chen this time.

After the medicine had finally been taken. Jiang Hao looked at Xiao Li and pondered for a moment, then said, 'Go and find me some branches from the plum tree, this medicine needs to be boiled to be useful.'

Some prescriptions in Chinese medicine require a lot of attention, and even the boiling of medicine requires a person who specialises in boiling medicine.

What kind of remedy with what kind of time, and then choose what kind of material to use to burn the fire.

All these things had its own precautions, and Xiao Li naturally knew a little about it after spending so many years in the Chinese medicine hospital.

So after looking at Jiang Hao and nodding she went to find the branches of the plum tree and then put the herbs into the pot and slowly boiled them.

During this time Jiang Hao stood by and watched nervously. The hospital's stock of these things was already scarce and could not afford to toss and turn.

Although the Life Renewing Needle was magical. But it also had a certain time limit, after that time.

The patient's breath is fixed for a long time. It could kill the patient on the bed!

When the medicine was ready, Jiang Hao picked it up and slightly observed the colour of the soup. Only after seeing that it was as bright as amber did he excitedly run to the emergency room.

Then he removed the life-sustaining needle and used a syringe to consume the soup for the patient while he was releasing this breath.

Strangely enough, the patient's symptoms slowly improved as soon as the soup was introduced into his stomach.

Dr. Ren and Dean Jiao were both surprised to see this scene.

He knew he had unearthed another treasure from Jiang Hao.

Just when the crowd was happy, Jiang Hao exhaled a foul breath and looked at the patient with an embarrassed face.

Because he knew that drinking the medicine was just the beginning, it was only next that he had to slowly find out the cause of the disease from the patient.

Otherwise, even if he survived this time, he might not have such good luck next time.

Jiang Hao shook his head at this thought and then used the golden needle to examine the patient's body one by one from top to bottom.

He finally determined that the patient's recent loss of vital energy, coupled with prolonged exertion and an inappropriate diet, had caused the current consequences.

Looking at the tips of the gold needles, Jiang Hao laughed bitterly and muttered, 'What's wrong with people nowadays, are they not afraid of death?'

As soon as the words left his mouth, the patient lying on the bed gradually opened his eyes and woke up.

He stared at the ceiling with somewhat confused eyes and froze, then murmured in pain, 'Where am I?'

Dean Jiao's heart eased after seeing this scene, then patted Dr. Ren's shoulder and said, 'Leave this place to Xiao Shen, you go back to the office first.'

Dr. Ren glanced at Jiang Hao with some reluctance, but nodded and left.

And Jiang Hao looked at the patient and snorted before speaking nonchalantly, 'You're in heaven, have you thought about what you want to do in your next life?'

The patient's eyes sobered up for a moment when he heard this, then his eyes rounded in horror and he said, 'What the hell, heaven? Shouldn't I report to the Palace of Hell first?'

He had just finished saying this and then he came back to his senses a bit, how could a dead person still smell the hospital sterilized water?

Chapter 676

Noticing this he turned his head to look at Jiang Hao who was standing next to the hospital bed, writing something in his hand with a medical chart.

He had short hair, a straight face and a pair of square-rimmed glasses. He didn't look like a good person to deal with.

What was worse was that Jiang Hao was writing something on the chart while looking at him every now and then.

So he smiled dryly and said, 'That, hey hey hey, doctor. You see, I'm already in my thirties, I can't stand to be scared like that.'

Jiang Hao rolled his eyes at him. Then he threw the medical record sheet at him and spoke nonchalantly, 'I heard you're from a pharmaceutical company, so you should be clear about the process, write your name on it yourself.'

It was not easy for everyone to be born and they only had one life to live, Jiang Hao had never liked people who were not responsible for their own lives.

That's why he didn't have any good feelings towards this middle-aged man with a slightly fat round face and a beer belly in front of him.

After seeing that the other party had written his name on it, Jiang Hao picked up the medical record and took a look at it, then frowned and said, 'Zhou Hongqi? What do your parents think?'

Seeing this name, Jiang Hao almost let out a giggle.

Zhou Hongqi, on the other hand, shook his head with a bitter face and said, 'My parents are more patriotic, so just call me Fatty Zhou. That said, I came to the hospital to resupply you with medicine. How come I fainted?'

Fatty Zhou hadn't realized that he had already walked through the ghost gate, if not for Jiang Hao's timely return.

If Jiang Hao hadn't come back in time and found that prescription, I'm afraid his life would have been over.

Jiang Hao looked at Fatty Zhou who didn't notice his physical condition in the slightest, so he sighed and shook his head.

'It would be good if you really fainted, you'd better give yourself a break to adjust your condition a little lately, otherwise I can save you once, but I may not be able to save you a second time.'

Hearing this, Fatty Zhou looked towards Jiang Hao with a white face, 'This this this, what is wrong with me, what does this mean?'

When he said this Fatty Zhou's expression was terrified. Shivering, he looked towards Jiang Hao, afraid of hearing the slightest bit of bad news.

And Jiang Hao looked at him and laughed lightly twice before speaking, 'Don't worry, it's not that serious yet, but if you continue to exert yourself so much the problem will be big.'

Fatty Zhou looked at Jiang Hao and saw that his face didn't look like he was joking, so he sighed as he lay on the hospital bed.

'I don't want to be like this, but who made me a manager, even if I have to run around every day. And I have to socialise with people.'

After saying this he pointed to his suit and laughed bitterly, 'You see me dressed like a man, but you don't know that I'm even harder and more tired than a dog.'

Jiang Hao didn't care about these things at all. No one in this world lived without some difficulties.

If we really counted up, Fatty Zhou's affairs were not even a drop in the bucket in front of what he was carrying.

Thinking of this, Jiang Hao shook his head and left after giving an instruction. He just asked Xiao Li to take care of it as much as possible.

Don't let Fatty Zhou get up and move around at will. He wasn't worried about Fatty Zhou having any accidents, he was just worried that if he fell into something in the hospital the hospital would still be responsible.

When he looked at Jiang Hao's words, Fatty Zhou raised his middle finger at Jiang Hao in righteous indignation. But he received a blank stare from Jiang Hao.

After Jiang Hao left, Fatty Zhou looked at Xiao Li and said, 'Hey, Xiao Li, that guy is new to your hospital, how come I don't seem to have seen him before?'

Xiao Li looked at Fatty Zhou and sighed helplessly, then shook her head and said, 'Uncle Zhou, if you don't take care of yourself, I don't want to attend your funeral.'

Fatty Zhou often came to this hospital to resupply herbs. He had gotten to know President Jiao and the others well, and was familiar with Xiao Li.

In order to boost his performance and improve his treatment. He had even developed a brotherly relationship with Dean Jiao.

It was because of this that Dr. Ren put himself down and begged Jiang Hao to save him back.

Fatty Zhou smiled after looking at Xiao Li's helpless face. Then he spoke thoughtfully, 'I remembered in my daze that I had drunk something and then woke up.'

Xiao Li nodded and said, 'Of course. The prescriptions given by Brother Shen are golden, and he even knows the lost Life Renewing Needle and the Over the Mountain Fire Needle Technique.'

Only when he heard this did Fatty Zhou understand why Jiang Hao could be so arrogant, even Dean Jiao looked like he was a bit afraid of Jiang Hao.

'So powerful? Then what remedy did he just use for me, I'd like to see it.'

Xiao Li gave Fatty Zhou a blank look and naturally knew in her heart what he had in mind.

So she laughed and said, 'Just give up your heart, Shen said that this prescription is too potent even the person I brewed it for doesn't know about it!'

After saying this, Xiao Li saw that Fatty Zhou's body did not seem to have any more problems, so she frowned slightly and then left.

But as Fatty Zhou looked at Xiao Li's back, all he could think about in his mind was the way Jiang Hao had treated himself.

Although he was unconscious, he could still feel the way Jiang Hao had applied the needles to him, which was indeed different from ordinary people.

Moreover, it looked like the other party also knew some new remedies, no, maybe not new remedies, but more likely lost remedies.

Since Jiang Hao knew how to make a mountain fire, if he had one or two lost remedies in his hands, he would have made a fortune!

If he could patent the prescriptions and start mass production, he wouldn't be able to sell anything!

Thinking of this, Fatty Zhou's eyes could not help but become a bit misty, and he could not help but imagine his happy life in the future, with his mouth watering.

While Fatty Zhou was daydreaming in the ward, Jiang Hao sat down a little tired and almost passed out.

I don't know if it was Jiang Hao's illusion, but ever since his strength had increased, it seemed that every time he opened Shangdian, he would consume a lot of energy.

Thinking about this Jiang Hao couldn't help but sink his mind down and think carefully, could it be because the stronger he was, the more he saw, the more energy he consumed?

Jiang Hao shook his head at this thought, this was the first time he had opened the Shang Dian in a short period of time in succession since he had acquired it.

Moreover, the Shangdian had originally been book-like before, but since he had become one with it, it was as if it was a memory.

As long as he closed his eyes and thought of Shangdian, then it would appear, something so magical that Jiang Hao didn't know how to explain it.

After shaking his head slightly Jiang Hao put this matter behind him, he was supposed to accompany Lin Yan today, but was delayed by this matter.
