

Catch Me If You Love Me

Chapter 70

When Zoey Gu heard the sound, he saw a small figure sitting under a not-so-bright street lamp in the distance.

She has short hair, beige children's casual wear, a plush backpack on her back, and a cup of milk tea in her hand. She is sucking happily.

Zoey Gu only felt familiar, and couldn't help taking two steps forward.

The little figure turned his head when he heard the sound of footsteps, and the two immediately recognized each other at the same time.

"Alina Yin?"

"Pretty aunt!"

The moment the little girl recognized her, she jumped up from the ground and rushed towards her like a locomotive.

Zoey Gu took a few steps back when she was hit by her strength, and subconsciously hugged her with his uninjured hands.

"Alina Yin, it's so late, why are you here alone? Where's the babysitter?"

Alina Yin immediately flattened her mouth.

"Pretty aunty, Alina Yin ran away from home."

At the end, I didn't know what to think of, and suddenly said with a little excitement, "The babysitter thought I was sleeping, I ran out secretly, no one found it."

Zoey Gu was startled.

Before she could ask, the little girl said to herself.

"Today is Alina Yin's birthday. But Alina Yin didn't receive the gifts and blessings from my father. He even forgot my birthday. He went out early in the morning and didn't come back for a day."

"Alina Yin is not happy, Alina Yin doesn't want Dad anymore. Humph!"

Zoey Gu saw that the little guy looked serious and angry, and she was rarely amused. She laughed out loud.

Finally, she looked at her and said softly.

“Dad forgets your birthday, Alina Yin should be angry. But Alina Yin ran away from home without saying hello. Dad will be very worried when he finds that you are gone.”

The little girl pouted her mouth and hugged her neck, unwilling to compromise.

Zoey Gu smiled helplessly, and happened to see a cake shop with lights not far away. After thinking about it for a while, he whispered to discuss with the little girl.

“Do you think this is okay? Auntie eats birthday cake with you, and then secretly sends you home before Dad finds you?”

The little girl blinked, seemingly moved, and then asked uncertainly.

“really?”

Zoey Gu smiled and nodded, and raised her hand to her like a child.

“Really, I promise!”

She took Alina Yin’s hand into the cake shop, and the little guy quickly picked a pink cartoon cake for children.

Zoey Gu led her to the front desk to check out. When he took out the phone, she subconsciously scanned the time above her eyes, and was startled.

Immediately afterwards, some nasal soreness inexplicably.

A few seconds later, she led Alina Yin around again, picked a small piece of cake in her hand, and went to the front desk to check out.

The two found a place by the window, put down the cake, and she intimately ordered the little girl a cup of hot milk.

In order to make the little girl feel that she was valued, Zoey Gu also specially reminded her to make a wish and blew the wax paper. In the end, I helped her cut the little cake.

Incidentally, she also cut his own piece.

Alina Yin was puzzled, staring at her with a pair of watery eyes, and asked Zoey Gu milkly.

“Pretty aunty, why are you buying two cakes separately for Alina Yin’s birthday?”
