

Catch Me If You Love Me

Chapter 72

The car made a loud noise and instantly knocked Alina Yin's small body out!

Zoey Gu instantly entered Zuibingjiao.

The next second, she went crazy, staggering all the way towards the child who fell on the ground, "Alina Yin!"

The little girl was surrounded by blood, and also on her body and forehead. She was lying on the ground dying, her body trembling constantly.

Zoey Gu almost fell on her knees and rushed to her side, holding the child tightly in her arms, raising her head and roaring at the security.

"Call Liam Lu, call the hospital! Go and drive her to the hospital! Hurry!"

Bao Quan looked at Alina Yin in her arms and was so scared that she turned and rushed towards the security booth behind her like a gust of wind.

Zoey Gu held Alina Yin trembling all over, and kept pressing her face against the cold cheek of the little girl, his voice broken.

"Alina Yin, hold on, please hold on! Please be good. Otherwise, I will die forever, life is better than death."

"Please, little girl..."

At this moment, there was a loud car engine in front of him.

A woman leaned half of her body out of the car window suddenly, waved back desperately, shouting hoarse.

"Get out of the way! I, my mind is confused, I can't tell whether to brake or reverse, I can't stop!"

Zoey Gu looked up when she heard the sound, and saw the car that caused the accident suddenly rushing back in their direction without warning...

There was a panicked voice around the security guard, "Quickly get away, danger!"

Zoey Gu trembled all over, subconsciously hugged Alina Yin in his arms, and instantly protected her under her.

When it was too late, it was fast, a dazzling car's high beams came from a distance in an instant, and a smooth body wind flew past Zoey Gu and rushed to the car that caused the accident.

Bang!

The car that caused the accident was knocked out with great force and slammed into a fence not far away. There was no movement in an instant.

Zoey Gu raised her head with a pale face, even the side door of the black Bentley opened, and a figure strode towards them.

Only when she was near did she see the tight and terrifying handsome face, and subconsciously shouted, "Lu..."

The man directly bent over, picked up Alina Yin who was covered in blood, and pulled her away.

With tremendous strength, she relentlessly threw her away for several meters.

Liam Lu was full of horror and murderous air. Without even looking at her, he turned around holding Alina Yin.

Zoey Gu's heart throbbed like a knife.

"Liam Lu!" She shouted vigorously in a dumb voice.

Before Liam Lu opened the car door, she got up all the way and chased him, grabbing his hand firmly, and begging him with red eyes.

"You drive, give Alina Yin to me and let me go to the hospital with her."

"Liam Lu, please. Time is precious. When she is safe, even if you want to break my body into pieces, I will admit it."

The night light is cold.

Liam Lu's face looked like frost, he gave her a cold look, raised his hand to give her Alina Yin, and quickly opened the car door.

Zoey Gu tremblingly took Alina Yin.

Sitting in the back seat, she gritted her teeth and tried to calm down and tell him, "I didn't know this would happen. I was with Alina Yin because..."

boom!

The roar of the car instantly overwhelmed her voice. In the next second, the car flew out like a sword...
