

Chapter 729

When she found her, the old lady was startled.

After hearing Christopher's explanation, the old lady was relieved. Thinking of Suzi's mother, the old lady couldn't help but shed tears: "That's a good woman. She looks very earthy and doesn't have the jewels worn by our wife. But I saw that woman was very polite and elegant, like a lady, kind.

I'm an old lady, and I can't bear to do that kind of hurtful things.

Then I thought, saving a life is better than building a seventh-level buddha, so I saved the woman.

However, I just let her go, and then I never contacted her again. She doesn't have a mobile phone. I am also a poor person without a mobile phone. She is not young anymore. I am older than her, neither of us. I know how to use a mobile phone, so I disconnected.

Hey, I don't know if that woman is alive now?

I miss her a lot.

That woman can compose poems, and she even memorized a poem that she composed herself, which is very nice. "

This was what the old lady of the Lin family said to Christopher at that time. Christopher burst into tears at the time.

However, he also had some hope from this.

That is, Suzi's mother may still be alive.

Hearing Arron telling himself this, Suzi had already burst into tears.

Her tears wetted Arron's clothes: "Arron, are you comforting me by telling me this?"

"No." Arron said. "Arron, do you think I can find my mother in this life?" Suzi asked again.

"Yes!" Arron only said one word, but he was a little tight with the strength of his arms around her.

"Actually, you don't know if you can find my mother, do you?" Suzi muttered to herself: "After so many years, six full years, she has not returned to her hometown, she has no money, she is older, She is in poor health, Arron...I may never see my mother again in this life. Not only can I not see my mother, but I may not even be able to find my mother's bones... ."

She cried silently.

The crying finally awakened Shen only.

"Mom..." Shen Only yelled softly in a childish voice.

Suzi turned around and hugged his daughter in his arms: "The only one..."

"Mom, I love you, Dad and I will love you, mom, don't be sad." Lilly raised his little hand to wipe the tears for his mother.

Arron also put his hands on Suzi's face and gently wiped the tears from her face.

After wiping, he kissed her on the forehead again.

At this moment, Arron's cell phone rang. He thought it would be the local staff in this county who wanted to eat with him. When he picked it up, it turned out that it was the security captain of his own community.

What will be the security call?

Arron immediately connected: "Hello? What's the matter?"

At the other end, the head of the security team heard a respectful voice: "Fu...Mr. Fu, there is a female tramp who scavenges waste just now inquiring about your situation in a community like ours."

Arron suddenly sat up straight: "What are you talking about, a female tramp who scavengers?"

Chapter 730

Arron glanced at Suzi subconsciously.

Suzi didn't pay much attention because he was immersed in sorrow. When he saw him sitting upright, he asked him: "What's the matter with Arron? What's wrong with the scavenger girl?"

Arron shook his head: "It's okay."

To be sure, he said to the security guard briefly: "I see." Then he hung up the phone.

Putting the phone away, Arron hugged Suzi again.

Suzi's face was buried in his chest, and he didn't see what Arron was doing. In fact, Arron was making eye contact with Christopher.

Christopher has been the most personal bodyguard who has been with Master Forty for more than a decade.

What Master wants to do and what needs to be done, Master just gives Christopher a look, and Christopher immediately understands.

At this moment, Christopher knew that the Fourth Master needed him to immediately mobilize his hands to check the female tramp.

Both people thought at the same time that this tramp should be the woman who crashed into Suzi's car on Sunday.

There seems to be a certain number in the dark?

At this moment, Arron was relieved.

The man who has always been calm and calm has an impulse to blurt out his guess, wanting to tell Suzi of his guess. However, when he thinks that Suzi is so sad now, if he tells Suzi at this time, Suzi will definitely be very happy.

But what about after being happy?

If it's not what he and Christopher thought, then after making Suzi happy, his mood plummeted?

Arron could no longer look at Suzi sad.

For every point of Suzi's sadness, Arron would be very troubled in his heart.

At this noon, Christopher drove the family of three back to the hotel where Suzi had already stayed. The four of them ate Chinese food in the hotel.

After eating and returning to the room, Suzi is still depressed

After all, there are three things that have been demolished in one day, the husband and wife raised their graves, and the mother's whereabouts are unknown. Before that, they almost fell asleep. Anyone who was replaced would be gloomy and listless.

Therefore, this afternoon, all the people in the county who have a reputation will call in to invite Arron, and they want to see Arron.

However, Arron rejected all the people with many scenes.

There is only one reason for his refusal: "Sorry, my wife has been busy all morning, she is tired, and I have to take care of my wife in the afternoon."

Hearing Arron's words like this, the men in the entire county were stunned.

This is the king of a city in the country's largest trading city, the current president of the largest and most famous company in Nancheng?

It's not like it.

Where is he the president?

He is simply here to protect his wife.

That's right!

This afternoon, Arron didn't go anywhere. Anyway, he came here just to do one thing, that is, he picked up the grave of Suzi's father and moved back to Nancheng not far away. Once this is done, nothing will happen. Arron personally took a bath for Suzi and massaged her whole body in the large suite of the hotel where they lived.

Then, Arron knelt on one knee again, letting the foot of his body step on his knee, and he personally massaged the sole of her foot.

Suzi: "..."

She couldn't be more moved.

"Arron, you really don't need to wash my feet. I can wash myself. When did you serve others like this when you grew up? For a long time, even if you are exiled and have no inheritance rights, you have no shortage of people around you. Maid, when have you done these things?" Suzi asked her husband gently.

The man did not speak.

He always talks less.

But the movements of his hands were very good, and the toes massaging her made her very relieved.

She was indeed tired today. She went to Murakami early in the morning, but was caught by Shen Cuishan, and then went to the village with Arron, and then picked up her father's ashes.

Tossing back and forth, she was really tired.

After the man massaged her feet and toes, he hugged her to bed: "Take a good night's sleep, the only one and I are here looking at you."
