

My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 761

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 761- Seeing Charmine hesitating, Dr. Weir convinced, 'You don't have to be concerned about not having enough time. I've taken out all of the extra knowledge, and I'll teach you a very cool one. Ultimate Seventy-Two

Needles!"

Ultimate Seventy-Two Needles?

What was that?

Dr. Weir explained, "Most people have only heard of the Ghost Door Thirteen Needles, and it can treat depression, obsessive-compulsive disorder, schizophrenia, and other mental diseases. However, they don't know that my Weir family came up with an Ultimate Seventy-Two Needles out of this Ghost Door Thirteen Needles back in the days!

'The human body has twelve meridians and eight odd veins. They run through various acupoints in the body.

On the two tendons, there are a total of seven hundred and twenty acupuncture points.

"Each point has a different effect, and with acupuncture therapy, many diseases can be cured. Learning the Ultimate Seventy-Two Needles requires one's innate potential. If one is very gifted, one merely needs a month or even just a few days to master it. otherwise, perhaps he won't be able to learn it forever. I believe you're gifted, however!"

Chris pulled on Charmine's arm. "Mommy, try it! What if you learn it? You might just master it and cure my illness!"

Charmine frowned. "Even Dr. Weir can't cure your illness, and I'm an absolute rookie..."

"Mommy, you can't compare yourself with Uncle Weir because he doesn't know how to perform the Ultimate Seventy-Two Needles himself!" Chris exposed him heartlessly.

Dr. Weir smiled awkwardly. "Well, as I said, one needs to be gifted.

Although I know the seven hundred and twenty acupoints like the back of my hand, the strength required for this Ultimate Seventy-Two Needles is different from ordinary acupuncture. It requires one thing: the feel! It can't be too much or too little. I've been lacking this feeling, and I can't master the right strength for this technique, so I can't perform it till this day..." 1

'You're saying...that if I can get the feel of it, I can master this Ultimate Seventy-Two Needles and might treat Memo's illness successfully?' reiterated Charmine, hopeful and excited.

"Of course. Memo's illness is caused by his weak immunity. He needs nutrients to make up for that. If we can trigger the nine thousand nine hundred and eighty-one nourishing points in his body, there might be a miracle," stated Dr.

Weir.

Charmine nodded instantly. "Alright, I'll learn for you!"

Even if there was only a slight chance of treating Momo, Charmine would not give up.

Many years ago, a friend of Uncle Pop-Uncle Xander-wanted to teach her medicine. She remembered seeing Uncle Xander mixing medicines during one of the visits. With just a glance, she could tell that he accidentally put in a few extra grams.

Instantly, Uncle Xavier insisted on teaching her more. Had the four Uncles not have been so worried about wearing her out, Charmine would have learned a thing or two.

Charmine believed that she was gifted, so she was willing to learn.

If she could master it, she could treat Chris even if Annabel could not give birth to a child...and even if Waverly would not help out.

Chris clapped happily. "Awesome! Good luck, Mommy! You're the best!"

"It's getting late. You must go home and sleep quickly. Also, phone your Daddy," Charmine reminded Chris.

Chris' expression fell. "No way! You can't tell Daddy, Mommy. Serves him right for being with that nobody every day, neglecting Mommy and me. Let him continue looking!"

Charmine was speechless.

This boy was more jealous than her?

“Mommy, I got to go back to sleep. Have a fruitful learning session with Uncle Weir!” said Chris as he leaned over to kiss Charmine’s cheek and walked away.

He walked toward the aisle of the room on the right. Pressing on a button, a tunnel suddenly appeared on the floor.

Charmine was dumbfounded. Since when did she build an underground tunnel? Why was she not aware of that?

The other night, Anthony seemed to have appeared in her room without making any noise...

Charmine was still in a daze even after Momo disappeared into the tunnel and the tunnel closed.

She could not just let Anthony look for Chris outside throughout the night...

She thought of how busy Anthony was during the day and felt bad for him. She took out her phone, about to call Anthony.

Just then, her phone was grabbed right out of her hold!

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 762-Dr. Weir activated the silent mode on her phone before keeping it in his pocket. “This guy caused so much headache for you” he snapped, “and he needs a lesson! You must listen to me for the next following days, and you can’t get online nor surf the internet. I’ll watch over you in the office, too!” 1

The main reason he was willing to teach Charmine was not that he thought she was gifted. He mainly wanted to distract Charmine from seeing the mess online.

Charmine was taken aback.

Just like that, her phone was confiscated and she could not contact Anthony.

Chris slept soundly while Anthony looked for him throughout the night.

It was only the next morning when the worn-out Anthony returned to wash up, that he saw Chris fast asleep on the bed...

Charmine, on the other hand, was forced to sleep early. When she woke up early in the morning, Dr. Weir handed her a thick ancient book. 1

This ancient book recorded the exact locations of the 720 acupoints in the human body as well as their functions.

“As long as you can memorize this book, you’ll have completed fifty percent of the course,” added Dr. Weir.

In order to perform the acupuncture, one need only understand the location and usage of each point, some principles, and then to perform the procedure.

As for the strength, it was all down to the ‘feel’... 1

Dr. Weir had initially assumed Charmine needed a long time to learn it, but it shockingly took her only ten days to memorize all 80,000 words in the book! 1

When Charmine walked up to him and returned the book, the startled Dr.

Weir asked, “You learned them all?”

“You may test me,” Charmine answered.

“Point LU Eleven,” began Dr. Weir.

“It belongs to the LU Meridian, located on the outer side of the thumb, twenty five point four millimeters away from the nail. The needles have to be directed from the outside...”

Charmine answered without flinching.

She recited with familiarity, not missing one word!

Dr. Weir was over the moon. “How... How is this possible? There are eighty thousand words! Some people can’t even memorize the front page in ten days!”

‘To be honest with you, I’ve been quite capable from a young age. I’m quite gifted in many ways.’

Charmine remembered pronouncing consonants and vowels that others found hard to utter during her primary school years. She could also easily get full marks in exams. 1

She could feel that her IQ was different from the rest, but Tiffany would always say to her, “Charmine, don’t come off too strong. The Jordans hate you so much, and if you steal the spotlight of the other children, they’ll hurt you somehow...! Do you know, we have a cousin who accidentally died...”

Back then, she was merely an adopted daughter who had to live her days cautiously and humbly.

Furthermore, having a high intelligence quotient did not mean having a high emotional quotient. Tiffany's dark whispers scared Charmine witless as Charmine tried her best to minimize her sense of existence.

Eventually, she could feel her intelligence quotient deteriorating.

Everything changed five years ago when she passed out after being kicked. Perhaps the heavens pitied her, or perhaps it was the blessing she received from not dying, but Charmine had a significant breakthrough when she woke up in Africa.

No matter what she learned, she could master it right away. Her hearing and vision became more sensitive.

She also noticed that while she could not remember everything with just one look, she merely had to read through each sentence three times to remember them all.

She asked Dr. Weir, "Can you let me look at my phone now?"

In the past three days, Dr. Weir did not allow her to touch the phone at all. 2

He went as far as sitting beside her even as she worked, not allowing her to click onto news sites.

She did not know how Anthony was doing, whether Anthony missed him, and how things were with Waverly...

As she had finished memorizing the entire book, she wanted to look at her phone!

Unexpectedly, Dr. Weir denied, "Absolutely not! What happens next is the key; whether you succeed or not depends on this!"

He brought over a body model and placed it in front of her. He took out a set of silver needles and handed them to her.

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 763-“Use this figurine to learn how to apply needles,” spoke Dr. Weir profoundly. “Learn the technique of application and the basic strength.”

“Didn’t you say that the strength required for the Ultimate Seventy-Two Needles is different from the ordinary acupuncture? How will I know if my strength is correct?” asked Charmine. 1

‘You asked a very good question. Normally when a needle is applied to the body, it won’t move, but the Ultimate Seventy-Two Needles is different. If applied correctly, all needles will vibrate! Remember, it’s not just one or two needles vibrating-all needles on the body would vibrate! This will only occur when all needles are correctly applied, and the body will be miraculously healing itself,” explained Dr. Weir.

Charmine processed to do as told. In other words, she needed to find the right ‘feel’.

She raised an eyebrow at Dr. Weir. “If I master it, don’t forget to return my phone.”

“Don’t worry. If you master it, I can even give you a phone factory!” claimed Dr. Weir.

Truthfully, he did not believe Charmine could master it. After all, he himself could not master this set of techniques for decades. 1

He even taught it to a few more disciples of the Weir family. Even though they had all memorized the acupoints, only a few of them were able to make a few needles vibrate after practicing for tens of years, up to date, no one could make all needles vibrate.

Luckily, he was not expecting Charmine to do so.

Seeing that Charmine was inside the office, applying the needles onto the body model, he smiled and was pleased.

All that mattered was he gave her something to focus on entirely so she would not overthink things.

After all, the current situation was...not well...

He thought of the matter with Anthony and Waverly, brows furrowed.

How he hoped this young lady could keep practicing. If only she could work on this forever.

Alas...

It did not take long, approximately an hour later for Charmine to walk out of the room. She lifted up her arms and asked, "Uncle Weir, did you mean this effect?"

Dr. Weir was chewing on sunflower seeds as he watched Tom and Jerry when he heard her voice.

Looking up, his eyes widened in shock.

He saw that on Charmine's upper and lower arms nine needles were applied, and every single one vibrated slightly!

How... How could this be?

Were his eyes playing tricks on him? Was he hallucinating?

He rubbed his eyes and took another look... There it was, needles still vibrating!

In other words, Charmine truly mastered the Ultimate Seventy-Two Needles!

He actually witnessed someone mastering it before he died!

He shot up from his seat excitedly, tears pooling in his eyes. "How did you do it? How did you actually do it?"

He had been trying for decades. All of his disciples had been trying for almost 20 years and nobody was able to master it, yet Charmine merely spent a while to have mastered it?

How could it be?

Charmine pulled out the needles from her arms. She said calmly, "By feel."

Feel...

Merely by feel!

Dr. Weir did not believe her, but Charmine merely said, "Give me my phone."

She was too worried. Ten days had passed, and she wondered how Anthony and Waverly were doing.

Anthony had not been able to contact her in the past ten days. Would he have given up on her?

Perhaps... Was he forced by his family to marry Waverly?

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 764- However, Dr. Weir's grip on Charmine's phone tightened inside his pocket, not wanting to complete his end of the deal. I'm not giving you, not unless you tell me how you actually did it!"

Helpless, Charmine had to explain, "Maybe you've all learned about the ordinary acupuncture, and that's why you're held back by concerns when applying. I simply apply accordingly to how I feel, and as long as it doesn't harm me, I just continued to prod. Never did I expect that the more I did it, the better and more comfortable it felt."

Dr. Weir was shocked. That made sense!

Since they mastered ordinary acupuncture, they needed to keep their hands stable, and to get that, they had to control the pressure and be incredibly precise.

However, the Ultimate Seventy-Two Needles required one thing: to feel it!

If he could clear his mind and find the feel, he would be able to master it soon!

Over the moon at the revelation, Dr. Weir gushed, "Very well! I can die a peaceful death now! Finally, someone can pass on this Ultimate Seventy- Two Needles!"

Unperturbed, Charmine stared into his eyes. "Give me back my phone."

Her tone was determined and urging.

Dr. Weir was at a loss for words.

Could she not say that and ruin this exciting moment?

Alas, Charmine's steely gaze made it impossible to not return her phone.

He had to ask, "Are you sure? Well... How about you learn the Ultimate Thirteen Needles..."

"I'm leaving."

Charmine kept the needles and marched out.

She had stayed here for ten days, and she should get going.

If he did not give back her phone, she could buy a dozen more!

Dr. Weir instantly went forward to stop her. "Here's your phone. You better read the news and make mental preparation."

Charmine frowned. Mental preparation?

Had things gone so wrong?

Charmine took her phone from Dr. Weir...and reeled back at how staggeringly shocking the news locally and internationally were.

[Anthony and Waverly Admitted to the Hospital!]

[Waverly Suspected Pregnancy!]

[Getting Engaged In Ten Days!]

There were all kinds of contents in there.

The articles stated that Anthony and Waverly frequented Royal Hospital together. They would enter in the morning and come out at night, and there were times they did not even come out!

There was even a leaked list that stated a few nutritious recipes, as if Waverly was pregnant.

Most shocking of all, some media exposed that the two would get engaged in ten days. The seniors of the D'Cruz family had flown over to Burlington to discuss the details.

When asked about these rumors, Anthony and Waverly did not deny any of them.

Everything seemed fixed!

Charmine frowned. Why would things turn out this way?

How would the seniors of the D'Cruz come to Burlington? Also, getting engaged in ten days?

She opened her WhatsApp suspiciously, noticing that Anthony had not contacted her at all over the past ten days. Even Chris only sent some emojis to tell her that he missed her. 1

Alas, the call did not get through as the automated voice greeted her, "Sorry, the number you dialed..."

Nobody picked up.

Charmine hung up and felt a storm hitting her at full speed.

"I must go there," stated Charmine. "Thank you for the past few days."

"Charmine, why don't you-" Dr. Weir wanted to stop her, but before he could finish, Charmine already left with the key.

She put on her motorbike helmet and raced away.

Anthony and Waverly were about to get married? 1

She did not believe so. She had to know what happened!

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 765- Charmine pulled over at Royal Hospital and parked her motorbike. She then keyed in the passcode Anthony told her and walked into the VIP lift.

Annabel was fast asleep on the ward of the top floor, her skin pale as sunlight shone on her.

Not wanting to disturb Annabel, Charmine walked to the resting lounge only to find Anthony and Waverly nowhere in sight.

Of course, she eventually found someone at the medical laboratory-Nial.

He was sorting out a pile of documents when he saw Charmine coming, and the sight of her shocked him.

“Charmine, you’re finally out?”

‘Yeah.’

Coming closer to him, she asked suspiciously, “Where’s Anthony?”

“He...” Nial hesitated and tentatively looked at Charmine. “Did you see all of the news online?”

Charmine nodded. “What actually happened? You may tell me everything, or I can find out myself.”

Nial fell silent for a good while before he eventually mustered, “Some of the news online aren’t true...but the article about them getting engaged in ten days is true.”

Charmine jolted. It was true?

“Annabel wasn’t doing so well in the past few days, haunted by her nightmares and was nauseous. Brother and Ms. Waverly had to stay overnight in the hospital to take care of her, afraid that she might have a miscarriage, but reporters got photos of them both staying overnight here. Someone even found out about the pregnancy and the pregnant meals. If they found out that it was Annabel, Mother won’t let her go. At the height of it all, Ms. Waverly had to tell Mother that it was her preparing to get pregnant and nourishing her body. What happened next went completely out of hand...”

Nial’s expression turned grim. “After Mother found out, she ran to buy lots of supplements, and it wasn’t long until many of the reporters found out and this went to the ears of the D’Cruz family. Master D’Cruz, Waverly’s father, really takes this daughter seriously. He rushed over the night and discussed this matter with Mother. The seniors of our family settled this.”

Charmine listened on with a frown. Not only was Annabel’s situation not getting better, but it even got to this?

She asked, “What about Anthony? What does he think?”

He would definitely not accept his family for arranging this.

“Him, well...” Nial let out a sigh. “Of course he fell out with the family. He told Mother to fix what she did, no excuses. Mother had handed the family items to the D'Cruz already and thought she had no need to take back her words, considering they were in a relationship. They could slowly develop their feelings after engagement. If Anthony resisted too much, Mother might get suspicious and eventually find out about Annabel. Due to all this mess, he was entirely hands-on-deck to sort it all out. He made it clear that he's going overseas with Ms. Waverly, while he plans to secretly arrange for Annabel and Momo to be sent to another country."

Charmine frowned. To send them to another country?

Right, Annabel and Chris had always been their biggest concerns.

Charmine would have officiated her relationship with Anthony had Chris not been ill. The situation was already dire, so if Susan found out about Annabel's role in all these, she would have done something to her or even to Chris! 1 Arranging for them to leave was indeed the best solution.

However...

Would Annabel's illness be fixed after leaving the country? Would she be able to hide from Susan's potential schemes? 1

Hiding was never the best solution.

"Give me all of Annabel and Momo's medical records," Charmine said to Nial. "I'll look into them."

'You?'" Nial was shocked.

It was then Nial recalled what Chris said to him, and Nial then gasped anticipatively, "Have you... Have you mastered the Ultimate Seventy-Two Needles?"

'Yeah. Let me have a look," said Charmine.

Nial reeled back, astounded. He had heard about the Ultimate Seventy Two Needles and nobody had ever mastered it in the past 100 years, yet Charmine managed to master it so quickly? He quickly retrieved Annabel's and Chris' documents and handed them to her.

'Take your time to look into them. Tell me if you need any help!"

It would be perfect if she could treat Chris' illness!

Charmine wanted to discuss more when footsteps were heard outside.

They were strong and steady, accompanied by the sound of heels clicking. 1 Anthony and Waverly were coming!

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 766- Charmine turned to look at the glass windows. True enough, they were Anthony and Waverly walking in from the outside.

The suit-up Anthony displayed a powerful temperament while Waverly walked behind him dressed in her Chanel suit with pearls, elegant and exquisite.

Next to one another, they looked like a perfect couple.

The sight caught Charmine off-guard, and it felt as though her heart was punctured repeatedly.

The first time she saw Anthony in ten days was him with Waverly...

The moment Anthony spotted Charmine, his stoic face shifted into faint delight. "My lady?"

Just two words, yet there was an apparent hint of surprise in them.

'You two should talk," said Waverly, i'll go check on Annabel."

She turned away elegantly.

"I have some matters to sort out too, so you two talk." Nial walked out of the medical laboratory and thoughtfully closed the door behind him.

That left only Anthony and Charmine in the laboratory.

Eyeing Anthony who stood not too far from her, Charmine felt her heart weighed down as her feelings overwhelmed her. There were so many things to say, but she did not know where to start.

Anthony also remained silent for a while before walking toward her.

'The reason why I didn't text you in the past few days is because I'm waiting for you to come out. I want to explain everything in person."

His voice was formal and serious.

"Oh, Nial had told me everything," said Charmine.

Told her?

Anthony frowned as he stood before her.

He asked, including Annabel's situation?"

'Yeah," Charmine nodded as she said calmly, "I can understand. Annabel can't live without Waverly. No matter if it was the pressure from the outside world or her illness, they have to maintain a good relationship.”

“It’s not just that. The reason why Annabel’s illness has worsened is due to her physical and mental problems,” added Anthony. “As I’m always taking care of her in the hospital, she feels guilty and hopes that I can get engaged and married soon.” 1

Charmine was dumbfounded.

Annabel genuinely thought of that, even though she spent so much time with him? Did she genuinely have no desire of being with Anthony at all?

“It peaked my suspicion at first, but Annabel remained determined. When she learned that I’m getting engaged with Waverly, she was genuinely happy for US, and her condition progressed on that day. That only showed that we had nothing to fear for back then.” Anthony looked her in the eyes. 1

Charmine’s eyes narrowed.

She was afraid of officiating her relationship with Anthony and worried that it would trigger Annabel, yet they never expected she would be so headstrong on the matter. Moreover, she even supported Anthony to be with another woman! 2

Suddenly, Anthony placed his arms around Charmine’s waist.

Charmine’s body jolted. Even though they had not met for ten days, and despite getting engaged to another woman, he could still embrace her so lovingly...

Anthony pulled her into his arms and gazed into her eyes. "Once I make arrangements for Annabel and Momo, we can officiate our relationship with nothing holding US back. The person attending the engagement party will be you."

Charmine's heart suddenly skipped a beat.

The person attending the party would be her...

News of their engagement was all over international news outlets.

Everyone in every country knew Anthony was getting engaged to the heiress of Kansas' D'Cruz family...yet

Anthony said that the person who would attend the party had to be her?

Would he announce their relationship to the public on that day?

Would Waverly agree? 4

Amid Charmine's growing thoughts, Nial rushed toward them. "Brother, Charmine, it's bad. Mother and Amid Charmine's growing thoughts, Nial rushed toward them. "Brother, Charmine, it's bad. Mother and Master D'Cruz are on their way here!"

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 768-Fredrick insisted that Anthony and Waverly make a proper announcement of their relationship to stop the speculations. After all, they had yet to provide a satisfactory answer.

'The paparazzi followed around because of your attitude," added Fredrick." If you admit it to them, they'll stop trying to dig in deeper. Everyone will feel at ease. 1

"Coincidentally, tomorrow happens to be the trade fair between Burlington and Kansas. If you can announce your engagement then, the economy of both countries will benefit from this."

With narrowed eyes, Anthony eventually relented, "Okay."

Susan and Fredrick sighed in relief with that.

What a delight! Anthony finally wanted to admit it to the public. What a grand improvement!

Overjoyed, both Susan and Master D'Cruz left in satisfaction.

The moment the door closed, Anthony stood up right away and walked to the equipment room to open the door.

Charmine was still rooted where she stood, unable to react.

Anthony and Waverly would announce their engagement tomorrow...

Anthony gazed at her and comforted, "Fret not, my lady. Ms. D'Cruz has agreed to swap you in on the engagement day." 1

"Yes. I'll clarify to everyone that you two were held back by the Bailey family," spoke Waverly in an understanding tone. "As your friend, I volunteered to help you both, and I volunteer to help till the engagement day."

Nonetheless, everything felt like it spiraled out of control for Charmine. "No one will accept it then. The D'Cruz family won't simply forgive you either."

"Don't worry-my father loves me. The most he'd do is to say a few words.

Helping you will also help my reputation, too, so it's no big deal," assured

Waverly. 1

Anthony placed his arm around Charmine's waist and comfortingly vowed, "We'll also show them the ring contact and marriage certificate on the engagement day, and it'll be too late for the Baileys to reject. In the next ten days, without monitoring them, I can make arrangements for Annabel and Momo. We don't have to worry anymore."

Charmine could only nod.

She wished for that, ardently. She hoped things could go on smoothly...

However, why was Waverly willing to help them with no intention?

That felt odd for Charmine, but alas, she could not point her finger at it.

"You two continue on with what you're doing," said Charmine to Anthony and Waverly, "I'll go home to look into their medical records."

"Okay, I'll walk you out." Anthony took Annabel's and Chris' documents and escorted her out.

Standing before the lift, he did not hurry to press the button. Instead, he reached out to caress her hair. "My lady, you've been wronged in the past few days."

Charmine's eyes darkened. Wronged? Oh, she was wronged, alright.

She had to watch him and Waverly walking about while she had to stay hidden.

However, thinking of his hard work and his goal, her red lips curled up. "It won't last for long. After all, we still have forever ahead of US."

When Anthony heard that word-forever-his eyes were filled with warmth.

His lips parted, "My lady is right, it's the final ten days. I'll oversee everything to its best."

"Okay, but there's no hurry to send them out. I'll look into their medical records, and only send them off if I can't help," Charmine reminded him.

Anthony had already guessed that she had mastered the Ultimate Seventy-Two Needles. His woman had always been stellar.

'Take care, my lady," he bade her.

He personally held the lift door open for her and sent her out.

Charmine held the documents close to her as she watched the lift closing.

Through the tiny gap of the door, she could see Waverly helping Annabel to walk over. One was conceiving

Anthony's child and the other was a perfect match to Anthony's background: the heiress of the wealthiest, Waverly D'Cruz.

Once she left, Anthony had to spend time with them, and he spent almost every day and night with them... 1

Tomorrow, Anthony and Waverly would announce their engagement to the public...

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 769- Charmine felt like a mess. She did not expect so many things to happen within ten days.

Ah, forget it! She had to cure Chris and Annabel as soon as possible!

If Chris' illness was treated, the three of them could live together in peace even when faced with sneers after she announced her relationship with Anthony.

Once she got home, Charmine started going into medical books and their records.

Although she had mastered the Ultimate Seventy-Two Needles, Chris' and Annabel's conditions were quite complicated. Each acupoint could treat different things, but putting them all together could give off thousands of combinations, and only one combination could cure them...

Charmine immersed herself in work for one whole day. That evening, Senior Jordan suddenly called her.

"Charmine, are you busy?"

"No, Grandpa. How are you feeling in the past few days?" asked Charmine caringly.

Thinking carefully, she had not returned to the Jordan mansion nor seen Senior Jordan for quite some time.

"I'm fine, I'm good," he assured. "Don't worry about me, do take care of yourself.

Don't make me worry about you."

“Don’t worry, I’m no three-year-old anymore,” teased Charmine.

“Right, you’re all grown up, and you’ve upheld the entire Jordan family. How time passed!” Senior Jordan sighed and, after a while, he finally asked, “The reason I called you is to ask you... How are you doing with Anthony?”

With Anthony...?

Charmine thought of what happened today and repressed everything to the bottom of her heart. “Same old, same old,” she replied, “it’s not bad. Once Momo is treated, we’ll make our official announcement.”

“Is it? But...” Senior Jordan hesitated for a while. “I heard that they’re announcing their relationship tomorrow, and they’ll do so during the Trade Fair.”

His tone was filled with caution and worry; he was afraid to upset Charmine.

Charmine merely said, “Yeah, I know. I’ve talked about it with Anthony today, and I agreed. He should be able to make arrangements for Momo and Annabel within ten days.”

“Truly? Yes, that’s good, that’s good...” Senior Jordan exhaled in relief. “Since you’re well aware and consented to it, then I don’t have to worry. I thought you didn’t know, and I didn’t want you to feel upset. The Trade Fair happens at eleven tomorrow morning. You have to attend.” 1

Charmine was dumbfounded. “Trade Fair? Do I have to go?”

“Yes,” replied Senior Jordan, “this is the trade fair between Burlington and Kansas. The association called US up and requested the person in charge of each sector to attend. I wanted to go on your behalf, but they insisted that it has to be the company director.”

Charmine’s eyes narrowed at that, but after a moment, she answered, “
Alright,

I’ll go tomorrow.”

‘Thank you, Charmine. You and Anthony will get better,” Senior Jordan comforted her.

‘Thank you, Grandpa. I’ll work harder.”

Charmine only hung up after exchanging a few more pleasantries.

As she gazed at the silent night sky outside, her brows knitted together.

Anthony and Waverly would announce their relationship to the public tomorrow. Did she have to go?

Her heart felt like it was stabbed.

The Trade Fair took place in an exhibition hall.

Many of the moguls had already arrived at the exhibition hall early that morning. They were people of high reputation, and the top 100 wealthiest people in the country had all come.

Luxury cars lined up at the parking lot outside the lobby, and each was worth an amount no ordinary person would ever get in their lifetime.

Standing before her dressing mirror, Charmine inhaled deeply and gave herself a pep-talk.

Anthony and Waverly would announce the news to the public soon, and she had to be there to witness...

Alas, this was instructed by the association, and she had to go. 2 She must...

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 770-
Charmine faced the mirror, and after encouraging herself, she went to her underground garage to get the car.

Kay handed her the car key. 'Take this car, Boss Jordan.'

Charmine spared no long glances at the car as she ignited the engine and drove away.

She had done enough mental preparation. So what if Anthony announced his upcoming engagement to Waverly? It was not true anyway; she was the person Anthony loved.

She must not show any emotion... She had to remain as calm as water, no matter what...

The best would be to find a corner to sit in and try her best to minimize her sense of existence... 1

Never did she expect, much to her shock, that Anthony and Waverly would arrive the same time she arrived outside the exhibition hall!

The two cars pulled over outside the exhibition hall.

Anthony came in an extended Lincoln. The body of the vehicle was elongated, showing the status and prestige of its owner.

An assistant went over and politely opened the door for them.

Anthony and Waverly got out of the car and she hooked around his arms habitually. He was in a suit while she was in a satin suit. The two of them complimented one another well.

Masses of paparazzi were present at the fair, arranged by the Bailey and D'Cruz families. When they saw the two of them, they instantly took up their cameras and started snapping photos.

Many of them went up and asked hurriedly,

“Is it true that you’ll get engaged in ten days?”

“Ms. D'Cruz, you're too beautiful, you're like a fairy! You're glowing! Are you ready for your pregnancy?”

‘This will be the marriage of the two most powerful families in two countries. Please tell US more about it!’

They gawked and chased after Anthony and Waverly like they were bright, shining stars in the sky.

Meanwhile, Charmine's car pulled over by the side, completely neglected.

Since it was a matte black compact car, its appearance did not stand out from the rest. Even the car's logo was not seen by many. 1

Thus, everyone thought it was an ordinary car and assumed the owner was a nobody. Even Anthony did not notice it.

Nobody paid her any attention.

Charmine sat inside the car and saw through the window how everyone celebrated Anthony and Waverly. It felt like a deranged cat clawed and scratched at her heart. 1

Although she was mentally prepared, she did not expect to actually bump into them. She never expected people would uphold them like some prince and princess.

Watching more of them would send her into depression. 1

She pressed on a button of the car, wanting nothing more than to leave.

All of a sudden, a mechanical sound was heard.

Clack, clack, clack!

The car doors automatically flew upward like the outstretched wings of an eagle.

The vehicle shifted and retracted into a black mechanical umbrella! 1

The mechanical umbrella opened widely like a loyal knight waiting for its king.

Such extravagance quickly caught the attention of many people. When they all looked over, they were blown away and gawked in Charmine's direction.

How was there such a cool car in the world? Which mogul was driving such a cool car?

Inside the car, Charmine desperately wanted to remove herself from this place, and yet...

She was done for if she showed her emotions to everyone present at this fair.

After taking in a deep breath, she got out of the car.

Her black heels met the ground and her long and beautiful legs strode out.

She was dressed in her customized black suit along with her soft white shirt in lace. Charmine, to put it simply, was haughtily beautiful and formal.

The paparazzi instantly recognized her the moment they saw her.

“I heard she alone saved the entire Jordan Group!”

‘The Jordan Group’s market value is now right beneath the Bailey Corporation! They’re the second wealthiest company in Burlington!”
