Catch Me If You Love Me

Chapter 77

Alina Yin flattened her mouth and let out a very soft sound, "Um…"

It's not hard to guess everything next.

Alina Yin, who had run away from home, ran into Zoey Gu, who was the same single figure and had the same birthday.

The two ate the cake together, and Zoey Gu sent Alina Yin home.

No one could have predicted that Alina Yin would go back and forth, and something went wrong at her door.

Knowing the truth, Liam Lu did not speak for a long time.

Closing his eyes, he seemed to be able to see the scene where Zoey Gu knelt on the ground, holding Alina Yin covered in blood tightly in her arms.

He misunderstood her again…

"Alina Yin."

Liam Lu took a long breath and suddenly raised his eyes to look at the daughter on the bed, "I will ask the nurse to take care of you, and dad will go back."

After he finished speaking, he lifted his hand to open the chair, and the tall and tall figure left the ward in a blink of an eye and went straight to the emergency room downstairs.

As soon as he arrived at the door, a doctor recognized him familiarly and immediately greeted him respectfully.

"Mr. Lu, why did you suddenly arrive…"

Liam Lu didn't even look at the other person, but interrupted him coldly, "Where is the woman who waited here last night and gave my daughter a blood transfusion?"

The doctor was taken aback, and then he was relieved.

"That lady, I just woke up ten minutes ago. I heard that your daughter is out of danger and has just left."

Capturing the meaning of the other party's words, Liam Lu frowned, "Just woke up?"

"Yes. That lady drew too much blood for your daughter and almost fainted several times. We tried to persuade her to rest, but she insisted on waiting for your daughter to come out, so she sat on the bench over there all night. "

Liam Lu looked in the direction of the doctor's fingers, and could vaguely see a few drops of dried blood on his head.

Liam Lu's body stiffened, and the apex of his heart was immediately scalded by boiling water.

He remembered it afterwards.

Her hand was hurt last night, and she held Alina Yin from home to the hospital, and drew enough blood for Alina Yin.

In addition, sit all night.

Liam Lu couldn't imagine how such a thin Zoey Gu persisted…

Zoey Gu didn't last long, the dizziness in front of her became more and more obvious.

When she reached one place, she subconsciously raised her hand to support the wall, trying to slowly get out of the hospital and take a taxi back.

As a result, she accidentally slipped his feet, and the whole person suddenly lost his balance and fell forward.

The person next to her who was passing by turned his head and hurriedly reached out and supported her.

"Be careful!"

When I saw that it was her, I couldn't help but cried out in surprise.

"Miss Gu, why are you still here? I drew so much blood last night, and today I have to take a good rest at home!"

As the other party said, he took a piece of chocolate from his pocket and tore it open, and couldn't help but put it in her mouth.

"Eat quickly to replenish your energy."

Zoey Gu looked up and recognized that this was the nurse who was responsible for drawing her blood yesterday, and she was grateful again.

"Thank you, this is the second time you have helped me."

The little nurse smiled immediately and waved indifferently.

"It's all trivial. On the contrary, Miss Gu, you are too thin and too weak, and you donate blood because of anemia. Even if you have already given birth to a child, this will cause great damage to your body in the long run."

Zoey Gu curled up her mouth subconsciously.

Hearing the second half of the nurse's sentence, her smile froze suddenly.

"what did you say?"
