

My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 771

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 771-“Charmine, may I know what brand this car is? Why haven’t we seen this before?”

“Can you share with US the car’s manufacturer?”

Half of the reporters who surrounded Anthony and Waverly flocked to Charmine instead as they shouldered against one another to conduct the interview.

Charmine snapped out of her daze. She reminded herself that she was representing the Jordan Group that was the best in the property industry in Burlington.

The Jordan family was still rebuilding itself, and she had to stand firm.

As for Anthony and Waverly, Charmine had no choice but to pretend she did not know them both.

She composed herself, getting rid of all the emotions she should not be having, and replied to the crowd, it’s just a niche vehicle that we researched ourselves. I’m just driving for the fun of it.”

She then walked toward the exhibition hall’s main entrance right after her comment.

Born with an incredibly powerful disposition, every step Charmine took was accompanied with a mighty aura that gave off a strong presence-bold and mighty in nature.

‘Such a show-off, yet so eye-catching!’

Her stance immediately stole the spotlight from Waverly and every other lady in the scene.

No one expected a lady would look so fabulous in a black suit...

'She is a lady, after all. It's one thing that she's dealing with properties, yet Charmine is also able to research and develop a car as well? That car's astoundingly futuristic, yet she said she's just driving for the fun of it?'

'When one has spare time, one should start creating some news!'

Max, who was amongst the crowd, glared daggers at Charmine.

'It's her again! Why is Charmine such a show-off every time she makes an appearance? It's like she's got this insatiable urge to steal the limelight from everyone!' 1

'Just you wait, Charmine. I'll get you!'

The exhibition hall was different from any ordinary banquet as it was the type to dazzle anyone. The hall was covered with transparent ceiling to floor windows.

There were chairs placed beside the windows, and there were cups of tea that were prepared and placed on coffee tables.

Charmine casually found a seat at a corner and sat down. She tried her best to conceal her presence.

At that moment, Anthony's 20 security guards entered the venue and, separating into two lines, blocked off all the reporters and escorted Anthony and Waverly.

Under the escort of the security guards, Anthony and Waverly walked elegantly into the scene.

They were an enigmatic, prestigious couple—a handsome man and a gorgeous lady with indisputably powerful auras—just like a prince and princess seen on the screens.

Every tycoon and mogul turned their heads to watch as they stepped foot into the exhibition hall, and everyone came forth to greet them.

“Mr. Bailey, it’s a pleasure to meet you!”

“Ms. D’Cruz really is a beauty. You two really are meant for each other!”

“I blanked out, thinking my eyes were playing me when I thought I saw angels coming down to earth!”

“You guys really are a perfect match, a match made in heaven, destined to be together.”

A group of people surrounded Anthony and Waverly and spouted all sorts of blessings.

Charmine, meanwhile, sat in the corner alone, feeling utterly lonely.

Picking up a glass of tea, she sipped it to hide the uneasiness that bubbled within her.

‘When can I stand next to Anthony with my head held high and receive blessings from everyone?’ 2

Max noted Charmine’s behavior in silence, and his eyes twinkled in delight.

He finally got to see a pained Charmine, and it thrilled him.

‘No... It’s still not enough!’

Not only had she taken his shares, but she even threatened him and plotted against him. He wanted to see her suffer many times more than this! 1

With his red lips curling into a smirk, he abruptly turned to Charmine and said, “Well, isn’t the one sitting at the corner our Divine Bird’s director? Ms. Jordan, since you’ve come here, why don’t you have a word with everyone? Why sit all alone? Do you happen to have any objection to this diplomatic marriage between two countries?”

In a split second, his questions made all heads turn to Charmine.

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 772- Charmine had the authority to make decisions in Burlington. After all, she was from the second largest family of Burlington and the number one real property company, especially the project of Divine Bird that attracted the attention of many parties.

“Such a person will possess a much unique vision. Does she have any special idea toward this diplomatic marriage?”

Everyone eyed Charmine anticipantly.

Charmine felt as though her heart was choked. ‘Is Max trying to rub salt to my wound with that question? Is he trying to force me to comment in the public, that Waverly and Anthony made a perfect match?

‘He really is cruel. But...’

Expression tranquil and unperturbed, Charmine smirked. "I'm sorry, but I never like gossiping about other people's love life to begin with."

It felt like a backhanded comment, calling out everyone for being busybodies.

Max's face stiffened momentarily at her comeback, but not a moment later, he said coldly, 'The engagement between Mr. Bailey and Ms. D'Cruz isn't just a personal matter. It's also a grand occasion for both countries, a diplomatic marriage between two countries. You, as the top ten richest people in Burlington, should at least comment and voice out your opinion." 1

"What if I say they're not a match? Will they just call off the marriage?" Charmine counter-questioned.

"Of course not!" snapped Max. "It's just that—"

"Then why bother asking me?" Charmine immediately blasted, rendering Max speechless.

That woman had a way with her words. Regardless of the occasion, she would never let anyone have the opportunity to step up.

A babble of talk broke out among the crowd. 'They're right about Charmine; it's no surprise everyone calls her Boss Jordan!"

Anthony's eyes seemingly glinted with faint pride and love.

'She really is my lady. A stellar comeback!'

Mr. Hahn noticed that the atmosphere was rather agitated and went forth to calm the scene, “Everybody, let’s just chat casually. It’s only normal for everyone to express their ideas! Mr. Bailey and Ms. D’Cruz are a perfect match, and Ms.

Jordan’s characteristic is also very unique. I’m sure she’ll meet her Prince Charming in the future as well.”

Anthony’s brows furrowed as his eyes dulled unpleasantly.

Charmine’s expression grew darker as well. ‘Prince Charming?’

Mr. Hahn wiped off the sweat over his forehead. ‘Why is the atmosphere growing more awkward the more I try to fix it?’

Noticing Charmine’s displeasure, Max’s thin lips curved into a smirk again. Oh, how he wanted to hurt Charmine badly!

He then said with a cold smile, half-teasing, “With a personality like Ms. Jordan,

I wonder what kind of man she’ll look up to. I’m afraid she’ll look for someone who has no self-opinion and is afraid of his wife, right?” 1

The assistant following beside Max added, “Haha! That’s right! Maybe she’ll even find someone with a temper that’s even worse and quarrel every single day. Still, Mr. Bailey and Miss D’Cruz are the best. They’re just like angels, meant for each other, the perfect match!” 1

That comment basically meant that Charmine and Anthony were not a match to each other, and they would only end up yelling each other’s ears off if they did get together. Waverly, on the other hand, was the perfect match for Anthony!

Charmine turned her gaze to Anthony and Waverly.

One was prestigious and charming while the other was elegant. They both were like statues created by the gods. 'They really do look quite a match to each other, but..'

"As the saying says, to beat is to care, and to scold is to love. Mr. Bailey and Ms. D'Cruz both have incredibly pleasant characteristics, but won't life be boring if they're both like that, together? Is it going to be all business and doing things professionally?" 1

The crowd was utterly dumbfounded.

'How dare Charmine blurted such a comment!'

'How dare she say that at a public occasion, at the masses, no less!'

The problem was that her words slowly sank for the people present in the venue, and they realized Charmine was rather right.

Regardless of the occasion, Anthony and Waverly were always very polite to each other. People like them were like living a purely curt, disciplined lifestyle. 'How can they ever have fun in their life like that?' 1

Max initially thought of making Charmine heartbroken, but he did not expect Charmine to blurt such a statement! 'She's so shameless!'

He looked at Anthony and asked, "Mr. Bailey, aren't you supposed to say a word about your life with Waverly?"

Are you guys having fun?” 1

When facing so many people, Anthony could not possibly look at Charmine.

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 773-He wanted to see how Anthony denied Charmine in public!

Then...

Anthony parted his thin lips and said, “Indeed, I’m having fun with my wife. To beat is to care, and to scold is to love. That makes sense.”

The crowd all exchanged looks at each other, finding it hard to believe.

‘Anthony and Waverly will even argue with each other privately? Will they, considering their personality?

Impossible!’

As for Max and Waverly, their expressions looked awful.

Anthony’s statement sounded like he was protecting Waverly, but in fact, he was supporting Charmine!

He had never greeted Waverly as his wife. The ‘wife’ that he mentioned was obviously hinting at Charmine!

‘Great one, Anthony. Nice one, Charmine!’

It was as if Waverly did not wish for the situation to become more awkward as she said, “Anthony, let’s go over there to have a seat.”

In public, she would always greet him as Anthony.

Anthony eyed Charmine from the corner of his eyes. Max might never let Charmine breathe so long as he was in the scene.

Feeling as though he could not make the situation a stalemate, all Anthony could do was to bring Waverly to the side of the hall and stroll around.

That conversation was just a small interruption. The crowd once more surrounded Anthony and Waverly and gushed at them, casually talking to them to get into their good side.

Of course, many went to where Charmine sat at the corner, asking her about the Divine Bird project and also about her new car.

Charmine actively engaged herself in the conversations and tried her best to avert her attention.

Not long later, the attendance was full as all the tycoons had made it to the venue. The broadcaster then made an official announcement, "Ladies and gentlemen, we have another ten minutes till the business meeting.

Everyone, please make your way to the conference room."

Everyone then got up and made their way to the conference room, all while making way for Anthony and Waverly, and the crowd surrounded them.

While Charmine was also headed to the conference room, she was behind the crowd.

Anthony and Waverly truly looked like royals as the crowd made way for them, and she was just like a little slave who followed behind everyone else.

The atmosphere in the conference room was intense.

There was a stage upfront, and there were a few seats for the few higher-ups.

On the left side was a podium for one to give their speech.

Below the stage were rows of bright-colored chairs with long modern tables placed before each row. Everyone's name plate was placed on top of the tables.

The top ten richest people's seats were arranged in the first row.

As Charmine got closer, her brows knitted together.

Max and Waverly were the special honorable guest from Kansas, and they were placed in the first and second seats.

Anthony was also placed near them, which was the third seat.

Charmine, meanwhile, sat at number four.

In other words, she got to sit with Anthony! 1

Charmine's eyelids twitched. 'Why am I placed right next to Anthony on such a huge occasion, and at his right side, nonetheless?'

Knowing how Anthony would behave, Charmine grew uneasy. 'We're done for if he tries anything funny!' 1

Alas, at this official conference, the seats were fixed.

Someone then came forward and pulled out her seat for her politely.

Without much of a choice, Charmine walked over and sat beside Anthony.

Waverly sat at Anthony's left while Charmine was on his right side. 1

Just as Charmine settled on her seat, Anthony's eyes that were once tranquil all this while twinkled with warmth.

His leg under the table suddenly tilted over to her side, bit by bit.

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 774-Charmine had just settled in her seat when she suddenly felt something rubbing against her leg, as if something had come near her.

She wanted to look down and see what it was, but when she subconsciously felt that it was Anthony's leg, her body stiffened.

'This is the conference room with hundreds of people sitting behind US, yet Anthony's so close and even rubbed his leg against me! Oh, the chaos if anyone found out..!'

She swung her knees slightly, signaling for him to remove his leg, but Anthony shook his leg too as if he was answering to her. 3

That felt so flirtatious to Charmine at that split second, and Charmine felt her face warming.

'This man really can't behave himself. How dare he tease me with so many people around?!'

Fortunately, the conference table was a very long wooden table, and with a piece of solid wood board in front, others would not know what went down below the table.

Charmine anxiously prayed, 'Please, don't let anyone know. Please don't let anyone find out...!'

Not long after, the conference began.

"Welcome, everyone, to Burlington's business conference in the year 2020!"

Even as the master of the ceremony extended a long paragraph, the representatives from Kansas showed no reaction. It was as if they were not satisfied with the clauses.

At that moment, the person in charge from Burlington announced, “A round of applause as we welcome Mr. Bailey and Ms. D’Cruz to come up the stage for a speech.”

Everyone’s attention zeroed in on Anthony and Waverly.

At that split second, Anthony retrieved his long leg that leaned against Charmine. He got up and walked up the stage with a prestigious stance. Waverly followed closely behind, elegant as ever.

Anthony faced the crowd below the stage, and when his gaze landed on Charmine, he felt a sense of unwillingness deep within him.

Still, as he thought of the public and the arrangements needed during these ten days, he ended up opening his thin lips and said, ‘Ten days from now, Ms. D’Cruz and I will be engaged.’

His comment was meaningful and influential.

As soon as he blurted the comment, a round of applause came down like thunder throughout the hall.

Everyone clapped. Some were those who expressed their blessings to Anthony, while others applauded as their eventual diplomatic wedding would liven up business relations between Kansas and Burlington.

Indeed, the representatives of Kansas exchanged glances with one another as their eyes gleamed with satisfaction.

Initially, they thought that Anthony and Waverly's issue was just a work of the media. However, from the looks of it, it seemed to be real.

The D'Cruz family was a symbol of royalty in Kansas, and according to ancient texts, they truly were similar to such status.

As Anthony grasped the authority of Burlington's finance, it would be an alliance between two powerful organizations when both Anthony and Waverly were united in a diplomatic marriage.

The scene was filled with applause of sincere celebration as camera shutters flickered incessantly.

Charmine witnessed as the pair stood on the stage, not having any other choice but to join the crowd as she clapped. She had to clap as her man was together with another lady...

She tried to fight the gnawing feeling.

'Bear with it... Just bear with it...'

Once they could relocate Chris and Annabel someplace else and they were secure in a foolproof plan, she could then reveal her relationship with Anthony to the public without worrying about anything... 3

Meanwhile, Max eyed Charmine, gaze filled with provocation as if he telepathically sneered, 'You can keep up that arrogant act, Charmine, but your man will still leave you in the end! At the end of the day, you'll only be applauding them!

Max thought Charmine would be heartbroken, shameful, and utterly sad, yet he did not expect...

Charmine met his gaze just as intensely as she brushed her long hair to the back, which was utterly gorgeous that she was showing her alluringness. Hair pulled back, Charmine's earrings were exposed

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 775- Hanging on Charmine's ear were rectangular, small customized earrings with a photo...that bore a photo of

Max and that lady on their first night! 3

The photo had been edited to the point it looked salaciously scandalous, and it looked extremely fashionable.

Max paled in an instant.

'Charmine's crazy to have used that photo for her earrings! How dare she wear them to this public occasion?!

Max would crash and burn if cameras in the hall caught the image, when citizens of the entire nation knew what it was!

He hardened his gaze to threaten Charmine and even warned her.

Charmine smirked. 'Weren't you mocking me just seconds before? Weren't you having a good time seeing me suffer, rubbing salt over my wound? If I can't breathe in peace, don't think you'd get any either!' 1

She found it interesting when seeing him restless. 'How fascinating.'

Regardless of Max's shifting gaze to hint at her, Charmine merely turned a blind eye and paid attention to the stage.

Max clenched his fists tightly and wanted nothing more than to tear her into pieces.

'Why must it be at this conference? Many television stations are shooting right now!'

At that moment, the camera shifted toward their table.

Max felt as if his heart was about to leap out from his throat.

Noticing she had scared him enough, Charmine then straightened herself.

Languidly leaning against the chair, Charmine's hair that was brushed to the back fell to her neckline once more, effectively hiding her earrings.

Even though she wore a western-inspired black suit, Charmine was still gorgeous as she wowed everyone.

Max let out a breath of relief. TH deal with her, once this conference is over! »

Usually, a conference would go on for two whole hours, and once it ended, a prearranged celebration banquet would be held.

Representatives from Burlington and Kansas went forth to Anthony and Waverly and led them to the celebration banquet, all while they engaged in conversation with the pair.

Charmine was the last to leave the conference room. It was only when everyone had left did she take in a deep breath before stepping out.

All of a sudden, someone blocked her just as she got closer to the entrance. Max's silhouette, standing at 1.9 meters in height, blocked her pathway. His vicious eyes glared into hers. "Are you trying to dig your grave, Charmine? Remove those earrings right now!" 1

"Who do you think you are? Why should I listen to you?" Charmine turned a blind eye to him.

'You-!'

Max gritted his teeth. "Are you still in your little dream land, Charmine? Anthony and Waverly had publicly announced their engagement, and today's news will be known throughout the entire globe. It's going to be broadcasted on tens of television stations all over the world!

"Do you really think you'll get to have him again? Do you really think that Anthony will still marry you? You being ditched is just a matter of time!

You're crossing me right now; have you ever thought whether or not there will be any good outcome doing it?"

His words were dipped with a venomous threat.

Charmine's expression turned dark as Max's words undeniably worried her. The situation at hand seemed to have spiraled out of control, so much so that it could not be resolved. 'Can I really retrieve him back?' she doubted to herself. 2

Regardless, that was her matter alone, and it was not up to Max to interfere, let alone for him to mock!

'You think blocking my way will do something for you?' she scoffed.

She then stretched out her hand and took down her earrings from her ears. Then, she raised her hand, and threw it ruthlessly to a far-away distance!

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 776-Just like that, the earrings Charmine threw flew straight to the streets where many stood and chattered.

As the earrings dropped to the ground, they quickly attracted the attention of many people.

Everybody shifted their gaze to inspect the item.

Max's pupils immediately dilated as he felt his heart felt like it was coming up his throat.

"Unbelievable...! Charmine actually threw those earrings out here! I'm dead if people see them!"

He walked in large strides and rushed toward where the earrings were. He, who always had a prestigious outline, was overwhelmed by a sense of anxiety he had never experienced before.

As he walked to the spot where the earrings were, he eventually realized that Charmine had not thrown her earrings. She threw, instead, a hairpin common among the ladies. 1

The hairpin had black alphabets on it that spelled, [SB],

Max's eyelids twitched. Charmine played him badly.

These were not her earrings!

Bystanders gazed at Max curiously as they started to assume randomly.' Why is the young master from Kansas this anxious?'

Max became exasperated as he felt all eyes on him. Picking up the hairpin, he marched back to Charmine.

“Charmine,” he seethed through gritted teeth, “you’re fooling me!”

“Did I ever say I’m going to throw my earrings? Did I ask you to go pick it up for me?” Charmine counter-questioned coldly.

Max was exasperated and speechless.

Just when the flame of rage was about to explode from his chest, Charmine suddenly added, “Besides, there’s no fun if everyone finds out about it now.

What else am I going to hold against you then? It’s only natural that I keep such evidence with me so that I can enjoy the fun of it.

“Bear in mind, Max, that if you ever offend me again, I can just upload this picture for the whole nation to see whenever I want to.”

Her lips parted as she uttered those well-thought-out words. Giving him a stern gaze, Charmine then passed by him in a collected yet bold manner.

Max, rooted on the spot, clenched the hairpin in his hand.

‘Hadn’t I already given her enough proof? How dare a lady, who’s about to be dumped, be so arrogant! Argh, I must make Charmine suffer and cry!’

He took out his phone and made a call to give his order, “Carry out the plan.”

The entire afternoon was the celebration banquet, and all the men of Kansas and Burlington were present.

By the time Charmine got to the celebration banquet, many were already present as they talked to one another. The luxurious hall was filled with the aroma of wine as people poured some into their glasses.

Anthony and Waverly, who were in front, were the most attractive thing that occurred. People gravitated to them, surrounding them from the start.

Despite that, this was still inadequate...

An assistant came into the scene. "Mr. Bailey, Ms. D'Cruz, many of your fans had sent you gifts the moment news of your engagement was spread."

Following his comment, the security guards started entering the scene with presents at hand.

There were 99 roses, a table lamp depicting a couple kissing, a meter high of pillows, a poster of them both seemingly made haphazardly, and so on...

Every gift had something in common, however, as they had an eye-catching logo that wrote, [Anthony Bailey X

Waverly D'Cruz].

Countless gifts had occupied half of the scene.

A few security guards placed a poster before Charmine and curtly said, "Please move aside."

That poster was a high-definition picture of Anthony and Waverly standing on the stage. A handsome man and gorgeous lady just seemed to attract everyone's attention. 1

Charmine's gaze changed. There were plenty of Anthony and Waverly's presents beside her legs, and the atmosphere felt rather suffocating.

At that moment, a person came forward and said, “The fans really put in a lot of effort. Mr. Bailey, don’t you guys suppose to give something back to Ms. D’Cruz?”

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 777-“Kiss! Kiss! Kiss!”

Someone from the crowd started to chant loudly and, soon enough, everyone started shouting at the top of their lungs. 1

Charmine’s gaze flitted to Anthony and Waverly who stood at the center, surrounded by the crowd, and it felt like her heart was pinched. ‘They want Anthony and Waverly to kiss?’

On such an occasion, them objecting to kiss would only raise suspicion. It might dissatisfy the people from Kansas.

‘But if they don’t object, will he kiss Waverly?’

It was obvious that someone was trying to create trouble. There was a certain someone who wanted to see his lady go through hell.

‘How am I supposed to bear with such a condition? Even if it’s going to raise suspicion, I can’t kiss another lady!’

Just as Anthony wanted to reject it...

“Daddy, Daddy...!”

An innocent voice was heard.

Everyone turned to look and saw a five-year-old boy running into the scene. The little boy had a little bag with him. He held a big, fiery red rose in his hand as he ran full-throttle to the front of the two people.

“Daddy, I heard that you’ve found a mommy for me! Is that true? I love this Mommy! This is a gift for you both!” 1

He handed the big, fiery red rose to Anthony.

Anthony received it and quizzed with his deep voice, “Why are you here?”

He sounded like he was unhappy about it, but his gaze was silently encouraging him.

‘He came just at the right time.’

“I’m actually here for a class, but I heard from the news saying that you, Daddy and this Auntie have officially declared your relationship,” he childishly rambled, “so I want to come to get to know about Auntie.”

He turned to Waverly as he spoke and then muttered, “Auntie, will you love Momo? Will you turn me away? Will you end up being a cruel stepmother?”

At that split second, everyone’s attention was focused on Waverly.

‘Oh, yeah. How can we forget that Anthony still has a test tube baby who always tagged along?’ 2

Anthony pampered his kid, no doubt about it. Even if he were to get married, he would surely not ditch his son. This would mean Waverly would have to be a stepmother.

'Waverly is still so young! Can she bear with it? Will she get along with this young master?'

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 778- Anthony put on a prestigious yet aloof expression as he came closer to Charmine, and it riled up the crowd.

"What is Mr. Bailey trying to do?"

'What is Mr. Bailey planning to do, holding a big bouquet of red roses and walking toward Charmine?'

Charmine's heart raced as she felt butterflies swarming her belly the closer Anthony got.

Eventually, Antony came to a halt in front of her and handed her the big bouquet of red roses. 1

Charmine was at a loss for words.

'Unbelievable. What the heck is this man doing? Is he trying to screw me?'

The crowd had their jaws drifted apart, and left petrified on the spot.

"Anthony, the Boss Bailey who announced his love relationship with Waverly, is giving Charmine flowers?"

"Are we seeing someone sailing two boats at the same time?!"

The atmosphere shifted into a momentary standstill.

Just as the media held up their cameras and about to take photos, Anthony suddenly said, "These flowers are for Ms. Jordan, stated here in this bouquet."

"Name?"

The crowd looked over at the name card on the flowers, only to realize that it was indeed Charmine's name.

‘That means...’

‘These flowers should be for Ms. Jordan from her supporters, and Momo just grabbed the wrong bouquet, so I’m returning it to its rightful owner,’ uttered Anthony all while he wore a civil expression, not blushing nor letting his heart run rampant.

The crowd paused for a moment before they finally regained their senses.” So that’s what it’s all about!”

“Like I said, how can Mr. Bailey give Ms. Jordan flowers? These two can never interact peacefully.”

People then escorted Anthony back.

Charmine held the huge bouquet of red roses and felt all warm and fuzzy.

‘Misunderstanding, my foot! I can’t believe Anthony and Momo would use this method to give me flowers in public. I’m stunned silly! But if anyone caught on to this...’

She found a seat at a corner and sat down, trying her best to water down her presence. She then continued discussing business issues with the one she was talking to before to change the topic.

The entire celebration banquet ended at 10pm that night.

Charmine had successfully scored ten contracts and was able to successfully set up branch shops of Divine Bird and jewelry shops in all cities of Kansas.

As she exited the venue, she coincidentally bumped into Anthony and Waverly who were bringing Momo to enter in the same car.

They looked like a harmonious family of three.

“They really are a perfect match,” chirped the crowd. “I can’t wait to see them getting engaged.”

“I want to see them getting married.”

‘Their child will surely be cute!’

Charmine overheard it all and sat in the icy-cold car alone.

Anthony’s car took the right turn while her car took the left, and the two cars coincidentally passed by each other.

They then grew further...and further apart.

Brows furrowed, Charmine watched as the car they were in faded from her rear mirror.

‘Them sitting together like that, surely they’ll have lots to talk and laugh about, and I’m here, completely alone.’

Charmine could not walk out there with her head held high until Chris’ illness could be cured. All she could do was watch Anthony and Waverly together, with her own two eyes...

Charmine abruptly stepped on the gas pedal and drove the car back at full throttle.

She got to be familiar with the Ultimate Seventy-Two Needles; she had to find a way to cure Chris’ disease!

'Everything will remain passive unless something is done.'

Meanwhile, Waverly had just returned to her hotel.

As soon as she entered the room, Max instinctively changed her slippers and asked with a concerning tone,

"Are you tired after wearing high heels the entire day?" 1

"I'm still alright with it."

Waverly changed her shoes and walked into the room.

Max caught up to her. 'Today's issue is quite successful, but you guys are still too low-profile, and a kid suddenly popped out of nowhere, ruining my plan!"

He wanted Anthony to kiss Waverly in front of Charmine, and he wanted her to suffer in misery. What a shame...

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 779-A devilish gleam was seen in Max's eyes as he spoke to Waverly, "For the next ten days, just follow my instructions and act grandly. You gotta do something to shake up Charmine."

Max then handed a few name cards to Waverly.

Taking them, Waverly glanced at the names and noticed they were contact information to exclusive experts on clothes, photography, and everything in between. She frowned. "Max, do you want to contact these people that badly? Anthony and I are just putting on a show. Do we need to take things up to the next level?"

"Of course! You gotta make the show look realistic. I won't blame you."

Max hugged her from behind and stuffed the name cards into her hand. 1

The night was long-lasting.

From that night onward...

[Engagement of Anthony Bailey and Waverly D'Cruz. Private Gown with Sky-high Price!]

[The Surprisingly Pricey Wedding Shoes!]

[The World's Number One Fashion Designer Came To City!]

[The Arrival Of Hollywood's Movie Scenographer!]

Grand news after another sprung up about Anthony and Waverly, much to everyone's jealousy.

Regardless of which forum it was, one would see the news displayed so blatantly. News of their engagement was even sent through phone messages.

It was just an engagement ceremony, yet it was far grander than any ordinary people's wedding.

Charmine was at home, using a computer to work remotely while researching Memo's disease when news about the grand engagement started popping up on her screen.

She forced herself to remain calm and bore with it.

After a few more days, everything would be much better once they found a cure for Chris.

She used all sorts of white rats to conduct experiments, suffering for five whole days and nights when, at long last, she found the cure on the evening on the fifth day!

With that method, she would help Momo recover fully.

Charmine was so excited that she immediately packed her needles, opened the underground tunnel, and went in. 1

At the same time, in another villa...

Waverly brought another person over.

“Anthony,” she called out sweetly, “your mother insisted that I bring a designer to customize a necktie for you.”

Anthony had no choice but to open the door.

Waverly purposely entered the room with him in a skillful manner, and the designer followed in as well. Taking out a measuring tape, the designer politely measured Anthony’s neck.

Charmine came out from the underground tunnel, excited and all set to jump into Anthony’s arm, only to realize she was in a small room on the first floor.

She heard commotion outside of the room’s door.

Peeking through the door gap, Charmine saw Anthony standing elegantly as Waverly-standing next to him-held tens of colorful cloth materials and was making gestures at Anthony’s neck.

It was like watching a gentle scene between a couple that was deeply in love with each other.

It felt like cold water splashed onto Charmine as all her excitement left her, and nothing but the ice-cold chills were left in its wake.

It was indeed all for show at the start, but they seemed to be getting more realistic about the act.

She was Anthony's lady, yet she could only hide in the little room and could not even leave...

Charmine ended up waiting for almost an hour for them to finish.

In order not to invite any other people's attention, after the designer had left, Waverly stayed back all alone before leaving.

She talked things through with Anthony about Annabel's illness and about the arrangement for the next few days. They were like friends who could talk about almost everything.

Eventually, Anthony sent Waverly out of the room.

Anthony helped her close the car door and saw her off before entering his house so that they could prevent paparazzi from sneakily taking pictures.

Charmine came out from the room then, and she could still make out the sweet scent of a lovely vibe within the atmosphere.

Spotting her, Anthony's brows furrowed. "Darling? Why are you here?"

The shock in his tone was evident.

"Why? Surprised?" quipped Charmine. "I shouldn't have come, then?" There was jealousy in her crystal clear voice.

Anthony looked at Momo.

Momo, who was on the sofa, wanted to run toward Charmine right off the bat, but he instead went up the stairs after noticing Anthony's gaze.

Anthony covered the curtains properly and ensured that no one could take photos from the outside before he made his way to Charmine.

The distance between the two grew smaller by the second

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 780- Charmine turned around to evade Anthony as he got rather close to her, and she walked aside. "I'm not here for you-I'm here for Momo."

Anthony hugged her by the waist and yanked her into his arms.

He clung around her waist, stared at her, and asked, "Are you jealous?"

"Not at all," replied Charmine coldly. 1

Anthony's thin lips curled and his eyes gleamed with pampering love.

"Your jealous look is very cute."

"I said I'm not jealous. I won't be jealous." Charmine gently shoved his hands away, not noticing that the way she spoke was much like a little girl's

Anthony did not pull her in anymore as he merely remained his hold on her from behind.

"Just bear a while more, darling, there are still five more days. All the routes have been arranged properly; we can't afford to make a mistake."

Charmine frowned. 'Is it the route to send Momo and Annabel overseas?'

She weighed in on the grave matter and spoke, "I already found a way to cure Momo."

Anthony frowned. It had only been a few days, and she already managed to find the cure?

That meant she came to share the good news with him and to cure Momo, but she ended up seeing him with Waverly instead...

He spun her around and said, 'I'll let you go find Momo...only after you kiss me.'

The last two words were spoken with a husky, attractive voice.

Charmine quickly struggled in his hold. "Stop fooling around."

"Since you're not jealous, and we're legally husband and wife, it's only natural for you to kiss me." 1

Anthony's arms were like strong iron pliers that held her effectively and strongly so.

The more she struggled, the tighter he grasped her.

Charmine was baffled. Momo was his son, but it did not seem as though the thought of a cure for Memo's five-year illness excited him. Instead, he was teasing her.

'You better let me go, seriously,' she grumbled, 'I'm in a rush to cure Memo's illness.'

'I'm sick as well,' Anthony suddenly blurted. His eyes bore into hers as he reiterated, 'Lovesick.' 2

Charmine was speechless.

Before she could speak, Anthony suddenly held onto the back of her head and gave her a passionate kiss.

Dominance, aggression, and loyalty.

The feeling of missing her and the separation during these few days felt as though it was fulfilled at that moment.

It was only when Charmine was almost out of breath when Anthony released her. Ruffling her head, he said,

'Off you go upstairs.' 1

Charmine felt her heartbeat rather speedily. She was initially disgruntled, but their kiss nearly made her forget about the serious matter.

After composing herself, Charmine marched up the stairs with Anthony close to her.

Meanwhile, Momo was playing with his Lego set in the room as he piled up the cute little rectangle blocks into three puppets.

One of the puppets was made entirely of red blocks, which would remind one of Charmine who had a bright personality. Another was made of entirely black blocks, much like the firm Anthony. The last one was a little blue puppet, and an adorable one at that.

He placed the three puppets together and his mouth curled into a happy smile.

Creak! The sound of the door being pushed open was heard.

The moment he noticed it was Charmine, Chris shot up immediately.”
Mommy, Mommy! I want Mommy to carry me!”

Charmine carried him in her arms like she was used to it. She pinched his chubby cheeks as she greeted,

“Did you miss Mommy?”
