

Chapter 834

Her lips quirked up in an ironic smile, and tears rolled down her face when she was clearly smiling.

"Gu Siqian, you never trusted me from start to finish, it's obvious that I didn't do it but you want to force a murder charge on me, now why are you here falsely talking about benevolence?"

"I know that as long as I stay here, I'll be a stumbling block to you and Yusra Lin being together, fine, I'll just leave, it's just that Gu Siqian, don't forget that you owe me Bella Qiao for the rest of your life! From now on, even if I'm down and out and have nowhere else to go, I won't come back to you, and we'll never see each other again in this life!"

After she said that, she saw Gu Si Qian's eyes shocked hard.

Followed by a laugh.

"Never to see each other again in this life? Very well, Georgie, remember what you said, and since you want to go, go ahead and get out of my sight! Don't ever come back here again. Get out!"

Afterwards, he knocked down the nearest flower stand with a wave of his hand and strode away without looking back.

Until he was already gone, the house seemed to still hold the anger he left behind.

We all looked at each other for a moment and didn't know what to do.

It's a really mixed bag of emotions and sympathy for QoQi.

And Ober was sorry in his heart, having thought that the two lovers would always get along in the end, after all the ups and downs.

But how could one think that this would suddenly turn out to be like this, when it was fine before?

But at this point, he didn't have the heart to think about it.

That violent temper of Gu Si Qian, now that he has spoken to this point, he might even do something out of the ordinary, he has to immediately go out and follow closely, keep an eye on him.

So, he hurriedly said to Bella Qiao, "Miss Qiao, young master he is momentarily angry, you don't have to take it to heart, I'm going out to see him."

Bella Qiao's lips quirked up sarcastically.

"Uncle Ou, thank you for taking care of me this time, but as you can see, it's not that I won't bow down, it's that no matter how much I beg, he won't believe me. Put it down, Ober, you don't have to worry about me, I'll pack up later and leave naturally."

Ober frowned tightly at the news.

I don't know why, but Bella Qiao and Gu Siqian were clearly not the kind of people who would do things capriciously on impulse.

But the reactions of both of them today were a little too impulsive, a little too strange.

However, he didn't have time to think too much about it, and it was long past his time as a steward to worry about things as they had come to this point.

So, one could only bow slightly and regretfully say, "Then Miss Qiao, take care of yourself along the way, if there's anything you need to help, just tell me, even if it's not here."

That's the equivalent of saying it already out of personal friendship.

After all, he was Gu Si Qian's servant, the steward of this castle.

If Bella Qiao got out of here and asked him for help with anything, if he helped again, it would inevitably give the impression that he had betrayed Gu Siqian.

But spare a thought, Ober still said such words to Bella Qiao, which showed his sincerity and heart.

Bella Qiao also quirked her lips slightly and smiled.

"Thank you, Ober."

She didn't refuse, nor could she resist.

Only then did Ober say nothing more and turn away.

As soon as he left, the rest of the servants naturally followed.

So it was soon just Moon and Bella Qiao left in the house.

Xiao Yue also panicked a bit at this point, just now she was standing outside, but she heard the conversation in the house clearly.

I really don't understand, they were just fine just now, why did they become like this in the blink of an eye?

She cried and came over to Bella Qiao and said, "Miss Qiao, are you all right?"

Bella Qiao didn't say anything, still sitting there with a cold face, as if he had residual anger.

Moon was on the verge of tears.

She crouched down and looked up at her, anxious, "What the hell happened? I thought we were just going to talk about it. How did it come to this? Miss Jo, I don't suppose you're really going to move out, are you?"

Only then did Bella Qiao look down at her.

She said quietly, "Sorry to scare you."

Moon shook her head repeatedly.

"I'm fine, it's just that you..."

Bella Qiao forced a smile.

She said quietly, "Please help me pack my things, I'll be leaving this afternoon."

Moon stared in shock.

Rao had already heard from them herself that Bella Qiao was leaving, but she had gotten away with thinking that they were just talking out of breath.

It's not so much that she's really asked to leave.

But to hear her say that now, was it a real gamble to leave?

Xiao Yue was busy advising, "Miss Qiao, don't be angry, Young Master was only speaking in anger, how can you be serious with him? You're not even healed from your wounds yet, so where are you going to go alone."

It had to be said though that the rest of the people Jochie hadn't cared about during her time at the castle.

But for Xiao Yue, who was always there to take care of her and serve her, she really saved a few feelings.

When I saw her weeping and anxiously, I couldn't help but feel a little touched.

It was just too big to tell Moon, and she wasn't going to.

Not because I didn't trust her, but I just didn't want to get her into trouble.

Thinking that, Bella Qiao sighed.

"Whether it's gas or not, I know it by heart, Xiao Yue, thank you for taking care of me this time, if there's a chance in the future, let's get together again."

Moon was startled and looked up at her incredulously.

"Miss Jo, do you really have to go?"

Bella Qiao nodded.

Xiao Yue was in a panic, "Then you said before that you were going to go to the lantern festival with Young Master tonight? It's not going anywhere either?"

The words froze Georgie for a moment.

Xiao Yue seemed to have realized that she had lost her temper and explained, "I just thought, what a great opportunity, maybe you two can really take advantage of this opportunity to get back together, and not only that, you can also catch those who want to harm you..."

Bella Qiao laughed.

There seemed to be some faint glow flowing in that gaze.

The first time I saw her, she said, "We're not going to make up. As for tonight's incident... I did have the intention of luring the snake out of its hole, but now it looks like there's no chance of that happening. It's not my place to stay, and even if those guys want to arrest me, we'll have to see if they have the skills."

When she finished, her face was all glowing with confidence, and she was actually different from her previous decadent appearance.

Chapter 835

Moon saw it and barely smiled.

"But didn't we all find out before that someone poisoned that soup for you to drink? It was someone who wanted to harm you, so why would Young Master suddenly think that the poison was you who came down to harm Yusra Lin?"

Bella Qiao rubbed her forehead as if she had a headache at the news.

She said in a soft voice, "Perhaps... this is called chaotic flowers and gradual valley owes charming eyes, even the evidence in front of him does not believe, but must be biased to believe Yusra Lin's side of the story, what can I do?"

I said, and sighed.

"I shouldn't have gotten my hopes up for him a long time ago, should I? I should have been able to tell from the previous incident, the fall, that it didn't really matter if I did it or not, he just hated me and had to make me feel bad so he could be happy."

"So what does it matter what the truth really is? To him, it's the ability to stab me hard that counts."

And here's another sad smile.

"Just as well, I don't want to bother with him anymore, Xiao Yue, after I leave here, you have to take care of yourself, Yusra Lin hates me because you've been by my side for such a long time, when I'm gone she might even be angry with you, if you really can't, just resign and work somewhere else, there's no place you can't go in the world."

Moon's eyes also showed some emotion.

"Miss Jo..."

Bella Qiao waved her hand, "No need to say anything else, I've already made up my mind."

Moon held back in the end and asked, "So where are you going to go?"

Bella Qiao thought about it and said, "There are people out there who want to harm me now, and it's not safe for me to go anywhere else, so I'm going to go back to my home town for a while, although the dean's grandfather has passed away, the house he left behind is still there, so I'm sure no one will say anything if I go live there for a while."

That's when Moon nodded.

"You must be careful yourself, then."

Georgie nodded, "I know."

They talked for a while longer, and only then did Moon, reluctantly, go and pack her things.

4:00 PM.

Georgie was alone, in a car out of the castle gates.

Of course, since she's physically challenged right now, she can't really walk out.

So, Gu Si Qian also seemed to be particularly generous in arranging a car for her, which certainly wasn't a nice car, just an ordinary Audi.

And naturally, the person driving the car would no longer be the same, either Qin Yue or someone particularly competent by his side.

Rather a regular driver.

The car slowly drove out of the castle gates, and behind it, Yusra Lin proudly curled her lips.

Gu Siqian, on the other hand, had dark eyes and stared at the direction the car had left, not moving for a long time.

Inside the car.

Bella Qiao's mood was calm instead.

This plan was something she and Gu Siqian had secretly agreed on, so she wasn't afraid of anything.

Since she wanted to show that she'd never come back after she left, she asked Moon to help her pack up when she left, and seeing that she'd wrapped up all those things she normally used, Georgie didn't stop her.

Through this poisoning incident, it showed her that there must be someone on the other side of the castle.

So only the more realistic you make it, the more the other person will really believe that she's now alone and ready to do it.

In fact, Bella Qiao had originally wanted to play a rekindled old flame with Gu Siqian, to go to the Beggar's Day lantern festival.

This one idea coincided with Kuskan.

But just as she met up with Kusken and they pushed her back into the room, her thoughts suddenly changed.

It occurred to her that it would be more convincing for her to leave on her own than to let her and Gu Siqian go to the lantern festival together and be gracious and love each other, whether or not she and Gu Siqian would fight.

After all, Yusra Lin's poisoning had already provided them with the best material.

Although there were many people on this side of the secondary building at the time, those people were actually in the clouds even though they were listening to their analysis of the poisoning theory in the courtyard.

It has not yet been found out who poisoned it.

As soon as the back, the people Gu Si Qian sent out to investigate, found out a little something, the evidence of this thing pointed to Bella Qiao.

Then he would have a reason to be angry with himself, and then he would justifiably topple back and get rid of her in a fit of anger at Gussie.

This way, the other party would only think that she and Gu Si Qian had fallen out over the existence of a third party and would never think of anything else.

At this thought, Georgie turned her head and looked out the window.

Those people, they'll do it today!

Don't miss this opportunity, she's been waiting for it, I'm sure they'll come.

The car drove all the way out the gate.

Jackie was a little tired and closed her eyes for a while in the car.

We didn't get to town until 8pm.

She opened her eyes to find the car parked at the curb.

The driver turned to look at her and asked, "Miss Jo, the address you were talking about earlier is here, do you see if it's here?"

She turned her head and saw a small grey building in front of her, the former residence of the dean's grandfather.

She nodded and echoed, "This is the place."

When you finished, you barely held the door open and had to get out of the car.

The driver was so busy getting her wheelchair out of the boot that he took her luggage down for her after she sat on it.

In fact, even if she brought all the things she used in her daily life, Bella Qiao's luggage wasn't much, but just two suitcases.

She smiled a little and said thank you.

The driver looked at the grimy courtyard in front of him and asked, "Do you want me to drive you in?"

Bella Qiao shook her head, "No, go ahead, I'll just go in by myself."

The driver saw the situation and couldn't say anything more, so he turned around and got in his car and left.

Jackie didn't rush into the house and kept watching the car leave, which was why she looked down at the suitcase at her feet.

I was about to turn around and enter the house when I heard a loud noise from across the street.

Right after that, everyone ran in that direction.

She froze, subconsciously stopping what she was doing.

Seeing everyone on the street running in that direction, she raised her hand, grabbed one person and asked, "What's going on?"

Because she's been out of town so long, people don't recognize her and see her as a little girl in a wheelchair, as if she still has a disability.

So they kindly explained, "There's a dead body over there, they say they dug up a corpse, everyone went over to see what was going on, you're a little girl better hurry home, don't go looking, be careful of scaring you."

I said and ran off pulling my sleeve.

Bella Qiao was slightly startled.

A dead man? A corpse?

I don't know why, but she suddenly had a bad feeling in her heart.

Even though it should have nothing to do with myself, I couldn't help it, so I put my luggage in the corner of the door and followed it with my wheelchair.

Chapter 836

The body was recovered from a river.

It's a simple thing, too.

Because there is a long, big river right on the edge of the town, there are usually many people in the town who make their living by fishing in this river.

When they fish, they usually cast their nets in the morning and just collect them in the evening.

I was delayed by a little something today, so I collected the net two hours late.

Originally thinking that maybe we wouldn't get much today, the fish finished their food and ran away.

But I didn't expect to find it heavy when I went to pull the net.

Everyone was overjoyed and felt that today was going to be a great day.

But the more you pull that net up, the more it feels wrong.

For there was no fish in the net, but a man's hand was showing on the surface of the water.

This scared everyone and they called the police, while a group of people worked together to pull the net up.

The police arrived soon after.

After screening, the deceased was a young girl, about eighteen years old, the cause of death was due to drowning and suffocation, everyone did not know her, so it is obvious that she should not be a local.

Just as the police were about to take the man back for a proper examination, Jackie saw the body.

She shook hard.

In the next second, the face turned white.

Maybe it was also because the police noticed something wrong with her face and came over and asked, "Do you know her?"

Bella Qiao sat there for half a day.

This reaction on her part added to her suspiciousness.

The police men immediately came around, watching her warily.

"Are you okay?"

Georgie reacted.

She looked up, startled, at them, then, with a roll of her throat, said, "I know."

The police man's face changed dramatically.

The deceased Georgie certainly knew him.

Because she was the same maid who had been evicted from the castle a few days ago for picking up a box of bird's nests.

She never would have thought that it would take but three days to see her again, but she was already a corpse.

What's going on here?

When it came to this, Bella Qiao naturally had to go back with them to be investigated.

She had nothing to hide about the matter, so she told them everything that had happened.

Just despite the words, there was no way to improve the shock inside her.

She couldn't believe that the man who had been alive and walking away from her eyes was now a lifeless corpse.

According to the coroner's test, it said she had been dead for two days.

But judging by the extent to which the bodies were soaking, the time spent in the river was no more than an hour at most.

This means that she was first drowned in water, and then thrown into the river two days later.

Bella Qiao felt a chill rise up his spine for no reason.

She suddenly thought of the boxes of bird's nests.

Those bird's nests, which she had previously said she had found in the garden, but because of subsequent checks, all the evidence pointed to her lying.

So at the time, no one thought much of it, and they all thought she refused to admit it because she was afraid she would be punished.

At that time, even though Georgie felt a little strange, she didn't come out and say anything for her.

Could it be that there's really something strange about this?

Thinking about this, Georgie frowned.

Because she had only returned here today, and her previous movements had all been supported by alibis, as there was no suspicion.

So after taking her statement, she was released to go home.

Perhaps seeing as she was alone, and not driving, and in a wheelchair, the police force called a new police officer to drive her.

All the way home, Georgie was silent.

The mind was as if the heavens were at war, constantly going back and forth over the events of the day.

First someone assassinates her, and after that fails, she is inadvertently abducted by another group of people.

The men seemed to be trying to capture her alive, so they didn't hurt her.

Immediately afterwards, she was rescued by Gu Si Qian.

During the convalescence, everything was calm and quiet around them, only Yusra Lin jumped out from time to time to make a demon.

Then suddenly one day, the cook, Zhang Feng, is pointed out by Yusra Lin for changing the ingredients, leading her to go out to relieve the situation and find out that the ingredients were not changed by Zhang Feng, but by another young maid.

Ober makes the decision to throw the maid out, followed by the poisoning.

The bowl of silver ear lotus seed soup that was intended for her was poisoned with a fierce arsenic poison, and was almost killed when Yusra Lin snatched it from her and drank it.

And then she makes plans with Kusken, who is driven out of the castle and arrives to find the maid's body.

This one, one, seemingly unrelated thing was now in front of her eyes, but it was as if it had become a series of clues that could be related.

Just, not even close.

What's the difference?

Bella Qiao had been knitting her eyebrows in thought, when the voice of the young policeman sounded ahead.

"I've heard she's a servant in your house, so do you normally know anything about her life and interactions?"

Georgie reacted.

Slightly stunned.

In fact, this question has just been asked over at the police station.

She didn't know why the police officer in front of her wanted to ask again, but didn't avoid it and answered truthfully, "I don't know, she doesn't usually do much work where I live, so I don't have much contact with her, and other than her name and some basic information, I don't know all of the rest."

The policeman smiled.

It didn't seem surprising, and there was no desire to ask further questions.

Just a quiet change of subject.

"I just looked at your file and you have a criminal record?"

Bella Qiao's eyes darkened.

Nodded lightly.

The young police officer smiled slightly and seemed to scratch his head in embarrassment.

"This is just going to sound like a lack of rules, but I'm really curious to see what a quiet, quiet girl like you would commit. That's not clearly written on there either..."

"Murder."

Without waiting for him to finish, Georgie answered the question directly.

"Huh?"

The other party seemed taken aback, and opened his mouth slightly in shock.

Bella Qiao thought of something and suddenly came to the fun, quirking her lips to look at him with a frown.

"Surprised? Don't I look like it?"

The young constable shook his head and said, very seriously, "Not like that."

"Heh!"

Bella Qiao smirked and tilted her head out the window, not speaking again.

The car drove silently down the road.

Through the rearview mirror, Jackie could see, in the distance behind her, a faint flash of car lights.

She knew that it was the man Kusken had sent to protect her, and had been following behind her.

This matter...seems to be getting more and more complicated.

It didn't take long for the car to arrive in front of the old house.

The young police officer got out of the car first, moved her wheelchair from the boot, and helped her out of the back seat of the car.
